If you want rubbish or taking down do not read this, for I don't sell hens for cocks; I only sell hens as hens, and cocks in full song as cocks. If you require a genuine cock Canary, on full song, I can supply beauties from 6/3 each; genuine songsters, not thinkers or hens. I want your confidence and your custom that you will recommend the high qualities of my birds to your friends. I have rooms full of birds to select from; just call and inspect them. If you cannot call, send your order by post, and I will send you the birds you require carriage paid to your door, on seven days' approval at my risk, that you may be thoroughly satisfied with your purchase before deciding to keep them. Please do not condemn the quality of my birds on account of the low prices, for this is accounted for by the thousands I sell yearly; the large quantity enables me to sell good reliable quality at low prices. I have for the last eight successive years supplied large quantities of birds to the largest and leading bird clubs in England, Africa, Australia, etc., giving satisfaction every time, and receive repeat orders. Let me send you a bird on seven days' trial at my risk. I guarantee to give you satisfaction. My stock of Rollers is second to none. Genuine trained St. Andreasburg Roller cocks, in full song by day and artificial light, with long waterbubble runs, harp, bell, and gong notes, deep rolls, bass rolls, etc., 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- each; pure Roller hens, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6. If you want a real noisy songster, a genuine workingman's friend, I have them. Hartz cocks, in full loud free song by day and gaslight, 5/3, 5/9, 6/3 each; match pairs, for breeding songsters, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6; neat travelling cages, 3d. each; price list free; all Canaries carriage paid; on seven days' approval: Miss E. L. Storey, Crowle, via Doncaster.

SCHULZE'S

champion strain. We have imported these for 30 years with unparalleled success, sale increasing yearly, and, mark you, not through lavish or bragging advertisements—purely recommendation from delighted purchasers. It stands to reason we could not advertise them for 30 years continually, unless they are all that we claim, with their soft purring rolls, sweet silvery trills, Nightingale and Woodlark changes, double harp, gong and flute notes, including the jug jug pipe, heat hollow and water-bubble runs—indeed, a continuous mental feast for music lovers. We allow seven days' approval for you to judge. Each bird properly and warmly packed for 24 hours' rail or sea journey. We guarantee safe arrival on receipt of P.O. or cheque (or you can deposit cash with Editor). Try a Schulze's songster against any other strain (real or imaginary): we will abide result with confidence. Prices, 10/-, 12/-, and 15/- each; premier Bandmasters, 21/- each. Thousands of testimonials can be inspected here. No waiting; all birds sent same day as ordered. Cheques or P.O.'s should be crossed and made payable to Augustus Zache and Co., Bird Importers, 218, Gt. Portland-st., London, W.

"YORKSHIRE Canaries: How to Breed, Manage, and Exhibit." By H. W. Battye, President of the Yorkshire Union. It deals fully with the Yorkshire Canary, and its sub-varieties, and should be in the hands of every breeder; it gives the fullest instruction upon pairing, breeding, moulting, exhibiting, and how to treat both in health and disease. Illustrated by Messrs. H. Norman and A. J. Simpson; price, post free, 1/2: From the Publisher, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

9 Firsts, 2 Seconds, 1 Third, 4 Specials.

With 16 entries in Yorkshires, at Swansea, Penzance, Whitehaven, on November 10th and 11th. My winnings in Yorkshire classes this season exceed those of any other exhibitor (or firm), and is without doubt the best strain living.

Read this note received from 25, Wellington Street, Lincoln, November 14th, I had the pleasure of paying a visit a short time ago to the home of that famous breeder of "Yorkshires," Mr. L. Dykes, and was well repaid for my long journey by seeing one of the best collections of that particular breed it has been my lot to look upon. I am now the fortunate possessor of two birds of this gentleman's breeding, and hope ere long to add further to my collection. Intending purchasers would be well advised to apply to him before going elsewhere, as the prizes he has won is sufficient testimony of the quality of his birds. G. H. Boucher to L. Dykes.

I am receiving flattering testimonials daily from satisfied customers, and birds I have sold are winning at leading shows throughout the country.

If you want a winner or stock birds to breed winners, place your order with the old reliable breeder and exhibitor, who breeds his own winners, and can therefore give you best satisfaction.

The following ready for immediate disposal, in Clears, Ticked or Marked. All cold-room bred and kept, and feathered like boxwood. Yorkshire yellow cocks, at 6/-, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each upwards; buff cocks at 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; all on full song, and for length, style, and quality, cannot be beaten. Hens, splendid length and full of quality, yellow or buff, at 3/6, 4/6, 6/6, 8/8, 10/6, 12/6 upwards.

Pairs, properly matched to breed winners, at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- per pair, honestly worth double. All on seven days' approval at my risk; cash or deposit with Editor. Travelling cages 3d. extra on all orders.

Exhibition cocks or hens, at lowest possible prices; inspection invited, or kindly state wants. Illustrated Price List post free.

PURE YORKSHIRES,

Direct from strains which won at Crystal Palace this last 20 years, including Mr. Bates', Mr. Binns', Mr. Blackhurst's, all big winners up to 1910. I have supplied scores of winners and can do so yet, not exhibiting this variety myself; some grand yellows and buff cocks, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-, 12/-, 15/-, 20/- each; hens, yellows or buffs, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-; matched pairs to breed winners, 12/-, 15/-, 16/-, 18/-, 20/-, 25/- pair; any on approval; full guarantee given; breeder 30 years this address: Sandiford, Canary Breeder, Preston, Lancs.

I am Anxious to make money. What business man isn't? But at the same time I want to make it fairly, squarely, and honourably. Anxious as I may be, however, to make money, I am more anxious to make friends. I have made hosts of them already, but I want them all over. My method makes friends of my customers. It could not well do otherwise, seeing they have the birds in their own hands for a full week on approval, and they may deposit the cash. There is no risk now. Remember George Taylor, of Bradford, when in want of birds, and you will receive value for money every time.

YORKSHIRES.

I have the following now ready in clears, ticked, greens, Cinnamons, green marked, Cinnamon marked, etc., etc. Long, stylish Yorkshire cocks, 5/8, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- each. Grand, slim, upstanding hens, full of type and quality, 3/6, 4/6, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/8 each. Splendid matched pairs, sex guaranteed, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 25/-, 30/- upwards. All on seven days' approval, my risk.

Some grand specimens ready for immediate benching at reasonable prices.

Also Plainhead, Norwich, Crests, and Crest-bred, Cinnamons, Lizards, Lancashires, Border Fancies, Mules, etc., etc.

Before purchasing Canaries, no matter what variety, see my 58 Page Catalogue and Current Bird Price List (both profusely Illustrated), gratis and post free, from

YORKSHIRES

are the only variety of Canarics I have ever kept, and during the last 17 years have given them my undivided attention, therefore you can rely upon getting good value for money, also that the strain is as clear of impurities as is possible, thus getting better results with breeding from my strain than is possible with any other. Note the prices! Cocks, yellow or buff, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; hens, yellow or buff, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, upwards; pairs, properly matched to breed winners, from 10/- per pair upwards.

SAMUEL DEAN,
6, Ash Mount, Great Horton, Bradford.

SHAW'S YORKSHIRES.

Notice, if you want real good, upstanding Yorkshires, write or call, and you will see one of the finest stocks of Canaries in London, yellow cocks, in song, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; buff cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6; yellow hens, 4/-, 4/6, 5/6; buff hens, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-; these are splendid birds, in prime condition, on 6 days' approval; send the money to me or deposit it with Editor: Wm. Shaw, 97, Essex-rd., Islington, London.

I CANNOT WIN

It would be impossible for me to win a lot of 1sts and specials under my system of trading. This you will readily understand when you order exhibition or stock birds from me. I send you absolutely the best possible quality for money. Every bird personally selected from the largest and best stock, where there is not even one bird reserved, or any ridiculous prices asked. Were I desirous to advertise my birds by winning, I could easily select from my own stock teams of birds that would be continually winning; but if I did so, I could not possibly supply so many winners to my customers, for you know full well that two persons cannot have one bird. If I exhibited all my best birds you could not possibly win with them. Therefore I am satisfied to let you win, and I share in your glory knowing I have supplied you with the right birds at the right prices. When scanning below prices bear in mind I supply birds to win, and you do the winning. Just call and inspect my stock, and see the thousands of unsolicited testimonials from delighted customers. Smart long typical Yorkshire cocks, feathers like wax, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/0, 12/6, standard length and on full song; splendid lengthy hens, full of quality, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6 each; pairs, matched to breed winners, 8/6, 9/0, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; pairs in clears, ticked, variegated, greens, etc. Large cobby Norwich, astounding value; birds that will satisfy the most sceptical buyer. Cocks of the right quality, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; thick-set cobby hens, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6; accurately matched pairs, to breed winners, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; Yorkshire, Norwich and Hartz songsters, cocks, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6; genuine trained Seifert Rollers, cocks, 7/0, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-; all birds forwarded carriage paid on seven days' approval: Miss E. L. Storey, Bird Specialist, Crowle, via Doncaster.

Finest Talking Parrots. I only deal in Parrots that will make first-class talkers; no rubbish. I am willing at all time to send my Parrots on four week's trial and three months' talking guarantee. Why? Because all my Parrots are young, strong, and reliable. My lifetime has been spent among Grey Parrots, both at home and abroad. I guarantee every customer every satisfaction. Grey Parrots are my special fancy. I have trained them, know their wants, and can give every purchaser a bird that will please him in every way. I can supply grey talkers, not thinkers, that will say almost anything, at reasonable prices. Before you purchase a grey or green Parrot, send for my Booklet, entitled "Talking Parrots." All my birds are sent on four weeks' trial, at my risk. Send postcard for catalogue.—Mrs. Forster, Princes Park Avinries, Violet Street, Liverpool.

PARROT PROBLEM

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, 'Parrot Prattle," now containing 168 pages. This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 46 Morecambe.

*My Redpoll.

One day, while walking along a road near Bradford, I heard a peculiar noise in the hedge. On going there I found a lame Redpoll, which I quickly picked up. When I examined it I found it had the end of one wing broken. So I brought it home and cut the end off; then I put him in a cage. He soon got all right again, and became very cheerful and also very tame. —Sent by Willie Wood (age 12), 37, Fieldhead Street, Listerhills Road, Bradford.

*The Cowardly Hawk.

A Hawk was hovering over a Sparrow, intent on its capture. At that moment a larger "Hawk" appeared on the horizon, but as it grew larger it made a buzzing noise. The would-be murderer could stand this no longer, so it flew away as if for its life; and so the Sparrow escaped. The Sparrow's preserver turned out to be M. de Lesseps on his memorable flight from Lichfield to Nottingham.—Sent by Edward Adcock (age 12), 85, Horninglow Street, Burton-on-Trent.

A Faithful Friend.

Four years ago, one cold November morning, I found my little friend, a Robin, half starved with cold and hunger. I took him home, and after warming him by the fire for awhile, he began to show signs of life. Crumbs were put before him which he ate quickly; and upon opening the door he disappeared with a "Chip, chip" ("thank you"). But he has not forgotten us. Every winter since, he has appeared for his daily meals, placed on the window sill. He is with us again, helping once more to relieve the monotony of the coming season. —Sent by J. F. Huckvale (age 15), Stratford-on-Avon. (Will Master Huckvale kindly send us his full address?—ED.)

Accept my hearty congratulations on your coloured plates of last week. I consider the Greenfinch-Bullfinch one of Mr. Norman's best efforts.—J. A. TYLER, hon. sec., Leicester C.B.S.

I have been a reader of CAGE BIRDS for four or five years, writes Mr. Geo. Bates (New Southgate), and have gleaned much valuable information from it. I am always eagerly looking forward to Friday, when it is delivered to me in the morning, and shall continue to do so for many years to come, I hope.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

WIMBLEDON.

Wimbledon C.B.S. sixth annual show, held Nov. 15 and 16, in the Queen's Hall, Queen's Road. Although a very comfortable, well lighted building, this hall is barely large enough for a big open event; but by care and thoughtfulness in the staging, the management managed to spread the birds so that the visitors were not much pressed for room, although at times a few more inches between the rows would have been very acceptable. The Yorkshires were the chief feature of the show, the patronage of the Southern Yorkshire C.C. bringing many well known exhibitors of these popular birds to the front. Mr. H. Knight, of Cambridge, did exceptionally well, having a winner in nearly every class. Some good birds were also staged by Messrs. Mabey, Easterling (a grand buff of his own was quickly claimed), Cook, Rorke, Whittome, etc. In the novice section Miss Hall, Messrs. Yeo, Penton, Allum Bros., and others sent some fine typical specimens. The Norwich were a fine lot, particularly the Yellows, although that old stager Mr. T. Irons, of Northampton, sent one of the grandest buffs ever seen at Wimbledon. There was a nice show of Borders. Mr. Edwards, of Dorset, staged the winners in the two classes. Some typical Lizards remained unplaced. British birds were not numerous, but they were of grand quality and staged to perfection. Only eleven Hybrids came out in the three classes, which is not encouraging. Where have they all vanished to? The management was all that could be desired, being in the capable hands of Mr. H. Smith, the popular secretary, who was ably backed up by Mr. Smith, jun., his son, who made a most excellent assist. secretary, Messrs. Wright, Priest, Marley, Day, Dewhurst, etc. The President, Mr. F. Piper, lent valuable aid; we noticed him busily explaining the points and exhibiting the beauties of some of the birds to the Mayor and Mayoress of the Borough, who visited the show during the day. The committee consists of Messrs. W. H. Stoakley (chairman), J. Carson, E. W. Dell, A. H. Dyke, F. P. Found, G. Griffiths, P. Rorke, and E. J. Whittome. Mr. P. Mason judged Yorkshires and Mr. J. Robson the remainder.

WEST LONDON F.A.

The 22nd annual show was held at the Bush Hotel, Shepherd's Bush, on Nov. 9th and 10th, when the entries in the cage birds section turned up well. Mr. R. L. Crisp judged the Canary classes, and Mr. C. T. Maxwell the British and foreign birds and Mules; and their awards were well received. Mr. J. Dewhurst, the Hon. Secretary, is to be congratulated upon the excellent arrangements made.

KING'S LYNN C.C.

Third annual show, held Blackfriars Hall, Nov. 5th. There were 340 entries, which was a record for a bird show in the town. All the exhibits were staged in good clean condition, the substance and quality of the birds comparing favourably with those of other exhibitions held in the Eastern Counties, reflecting great credit on the members. The judge, Mr J. Howard (Norwich) complimented the committee on the way the show was arranged. Competition in some of the classes was very keen, and the judge had a difficult task, several very fine specimens standing cardless. In the Mule class several good specimens were to be seen. The Bull finch class was well supported, grand birds being shown. The Goldfinch class contained the finest set of these birds seen in the district; all of them were large, showed good blazes, and well buttoned and barred wings. Mr. R. Edmunds won club challenge cup with 72 points. Rev. J. Woollerton obtained the medal for most points in Mule and British bird classes; medals were won by Mr. Cole for best clear buff Canary, bred 1910; Mr. Bennell for best variegated yellow, and Mr. R. Harrod for best variegated buff. Challenge cup, medals, and special prizes (presented by various tradesmen) were on view. Mr. G. Woodward kindly consented to present the cup and prize.

WELSH CAGE BIRD CLUB.

Fourth annual show held at Abertilliery, on Nov. 2nd. The president, J. R. Leech, Esq., opened the show at 12 noon. The entry was less than last year, but Norwich and Yorks. were very good, many well-known champions being present. Mr. T. Oriel was an excellent secretary, and had everything in good order, and Mr. R. Cleeves made an able show manager. All exhibits were nicely staged and looked after. Keen was the competition for the excellent array of cups, medals, and specials, one or two points only dividing the first two or three winners. In the absence of Mr. Tedstone, the appointed judge, who could not come, Mr. T. H. Melhuish placed the cards.

16/17.—Blackburn.
17.—Fellnfoel.

Licences can be granted to mixed shows to hold same under C.B.U. Rules, on application being made to the Secretary, giving date of show, one month prior to the holding of the show.

Manager. "CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet St., London,

Thanks for CAGE BIRDS of November 5; the coloured plate is a rare production, indeed.—W. O. BROOKE (Bournemouth).

Your grand autumn Double Number of CAGE BIRDS is a budget. Why, the coloured plate alone is worth sixpence! It will take me a week to read such a number through, it is so large, and full of good reports. I wish it still greater success.—CHAS. HY. HILL (Wellscombe).

I think your coloured plates in last week's CAGE BIRDS were really splendid, and a great treat to all lovers of Hybrids. I find your excellent paper is eagerly sought after in our district for its splendid reports and most useful information. I wish CAGE BIRDS continued success.—E. W. NAWTON (Pickering).

The "Avicultural Magazine" for November contains a deal of interesting matter. Lady William Cecil contributes "Some Notes on a few Egyptian Desert Birds"; Dr. A. Gunther on "Birds in Confinement, especially with reference to their age"; Mr. Ralph A. Holden writes on "Hybrid Weavers," and Mr. W. R. Fancy on "Some Experiences with Parrakeets." Book reviews, correspondence, etc., complete a capital issue.

Your last Double Number I cannot speak too highly of, not only for the amount of reading contained therein, but also for the wonderful coloured plates you have placed before us; also kindly allow me to thank not only you but your brilliant artist, Mr. Norman, for giving us those beautiful plates, especially the Siskin Canary one. Please accept my sincere thanks, too, for the gummed slips so thoughtfully inserted, which will be of benefit to a good many, nay, all, of your readers.—E. R. EVERETT (London).

I am pleased to inform you I have had a very successful season, having bred and reared 29 grand Norwich from 2 cocks and three hens. I have shown 8 birds (young ones) this year, and have won three 2nds, one 3rd, two 4th, one bc, and one c—not a bad start. I must thank CAGE BIRDS for my success. I have bred birds for 15 years and always had good luck at breeding. My idea is: feed the birds to breed, and they will; and at the same time study CAGE BIRDS. There is nothing, by the way, to beat the "Deposit system"; I always advise the use of it.—F. J. CHILD (Burley, Leeds).

The few cage bird classes at Dartford show were cancelled, writes Mr. A. E. Enfield, the judge-elect.

Entries for Inverness show will be accepted if posted on Saturday, November 19, writes Mr. A. Urquhart, the sec.

The winner of the B.F.C.C. medal at Liverpool show, writes Mr. J. W. Metcalfe, the hon. sec., was Mr. C. Cuhby, of Carlisle.

At Wolverhampton C.B.S. open show, Mr. J. Robson is again elected to judge on October 27 and 28, 1911, writes Mr. J. Gibbons, the hon. sec.

We have 25 classes for cage birds, writes Mr. A. Mackie, sec., Inverness C.B., etc., Association. The judge is Mr. W. B. Mackie (Aberdeen).

I have been a weekly reader of CAGE BIRDS for eight years, and have never once missed a copy of any week's issue.—A. E. LLOYD (Birkenhead).

Liverpool show report credits the 3rd prize in the amateur clear etc., yellow Norwich class to Bixter, whereas I won 3rd and vhc.—S. BELL (Nelson).

I am a regular reader of CAGE BIRDS, which I find to be the best medium for Canary breeders.—JOHN T. JONES, show sec., Ashton-under-Lyne Society.

Our 50th annual show takes place on February 3 and 4, when we hope to have a good jubilee show, writes Mr. F. Powell, sec. of the Nantwich Society.

We have a record show, and have just closed with an entry of over 330, write Messrs. Forse and Son, hon. secs. of the Leyton and Dis. C.B.A. members' show.

Liverpool show report should have included my name as the winner of an extra 4th prize in the selling (20s.) class for a Green Crest.—J. DARLINGTON (Birkenhead).

Our entries are 530, seven more than last year, and, I believe, constitute the actual record for any club show, writes Mr. V. Wynn, hon. sec., City and Suburban A.C.B.

A large number of schedules have gone astray in post; will those who have not received one kindly accept this notice, writes Mr. J. Irlam, hon. sec. of the Sale Open O.S.

Will fanciers kindly note, writes Mr. T. J. Walker, sec. of the Oakham and Dis. F.S., that ours is a £3 limit show, with a 1s. entry fee. It is hoped there will be a large entry.

Schedules have been posted; will anyone overlooked please apply to me? writes Mr. G. H. Barnwell, sec. of the Harrogate C.B.S. We trust fanciers will give us a good entry.

Mr. Easterling will judge the cage bird section of the combined annual show of the Ilford and Stratford Societies on December 6, write Messrs. Priestman and Lant, the hon. secs.

All schedules for Sheffield show have been sent out; will anyone not getting one please drop us a postcard, addressed to 202, King James Street, Sheffield?—LINDSAY AND HOBSON, secs.

The South London Col. and F.A. show, writes Mr. G. A. Jeffery, the hon. sec., is for members only. I have had numerous applications for schedules, which speaks well for CAGE BIRDS.

The Lincoln and Dis. C.B.S. will hold their 2nd annual members' show at the Central Hall, Lincoln, on December 10. Mr. G. Browning, of Rotherham, has been engaged to judge.—W. SINDELL, hon. sec.

I have removed from Princess Street, Birmingham, to 55, Langham Street, Kirkdale, Liverpool, where I shall be pleased to make the acquaintance of fanciers who like to give me a call.—J. THORP.

Mr. Robert Hall will, we are informed, give medal, value 10s. 6d., for most entries in novice classes at Leek show. All birds will be despatched by first train on Monday unless other instructions are received.

The members' social and prize distribution takes place on November 24, when a good programme of music and songs will be provided, writes Mr. C. W. Law, sec. of the Highgate and Hampstead and Dis. C.B.S.

On opening my CAGE BIRDS of November 12 I was surprised and delighted to see the picture of my yellow hen therein. You have my most grateful thanks for same.—MRS. E. LITCHFIELD (Streatham, London, S.W.)

Schedules have been sent out for Darlington C.B.S. show, November 26; if anyone has been overlooked and will send to me for one, I will supply a copy, writes Mr. H. Todd, sec., 15, Chelmsford Street, Darlington.

Owing to illness, Mr. J. Ferguson has to cancel his engagement to judge at our show, but we have engaged Mr. R. Lambie (Whitburn) in his stead, writes Mr. T. W. Peel, hon. sec., Lochore and Glencraig F.A.

Will those gentlemen who had tickets for the annual show kindly pay for same, so as to enable us to balance up our show account, write Messrs. Tomsett and Richardson, show managers of the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. show.

I visited Barnsley show on Saturday last, writes Mr. C. Bennett, and was very pleased to see Mr. W. Brotherton bring old Rotherham to the front with an unflighted yellow Yorkshire, one of the best I have seen for many years.

Owing to a printer's error the prizes in Class 26, 27, and 28 in our schedule are given as 1st 9s., 2nd 6s., 3rd 3s., and 4th 2s., whereas they should be 10s., 5s., 3s., 2s., writes Mr. T. Mayne, sec., Larne and Dis. show, December 8 and 9.

I have just heard that the entries for the Roller classes at the L.C.B.A. show are only coming up moderately, writes Mr. J. W. Norris, hon. sec., British Roller C.C. Roller fanciers should note the extension of date of entries closing.

Will exhibitors please support our show; entries are very poor indeed, writes Mr. J. G. Tomlinson, sec. of the Whitby F.S. Mr. Tams will judge. We have an excellent list of specials, and prompt payment of prize money is guaranteed.

A printer's error has crept into our schedule, writes Mr. Jno. Kilpatrick, sec. of the Uddingston and Dis. O.S. The prize money was omitted. Our prize money is 10s. first, 5s. second, 2s. 6d. third. A few extra specials will appear in catalogue.

The second annual members' show of the Redruth F.A. is being held this Saturday (November 19), at the Market Hall, where Mr. F. S. Shearman, the sec., expects there will be a large attendance. Twelve classes for cage birds are provided.

The Ebbw Vale show committee have arranged to forward all exhibits entered at Pentrebach and Pengam show, to the respective secretaries in time for show on December 1, writes Mr. T. H. Cook, hon. sec. of the Ebbw Vale show, on November 30.

OBITUARY.

Mr. J. TEMPLEMAN (Dunfermline).

It is with deep regret that I write to inform you of the death of our secretary, writes Mr. A. Buchanan, a member of the committee of the Dunfermline and West of Fife O.S. He was at Crossgate judging on November 12. He was liked by all who knew him. A more courteous secretary you could not get; he was ever ready for anything relating to the Fancy. He was a good husband and a loving father. Our sympathy goes out to his widow and her two children in their sad and sudden loss. Our society loses a good servant in him.

Mr. J. KAY (Great Horton).

Fanciers will be sorry, writes Mr. S. Dean, to hear of the death of an old friend, Mr. J. Kay, who for a long time resided in the Gt. Horton district, and who was a useful and valued member of the Gt. Horton Good Intent Society, always full of life and ready to do his full share of the work in connection with the shows, etc. For the last few years he had resided at Menston, but was coming back to Horton in a few weeks, and his end came rather as a surprise to his friends there, who were expecting to have him amongst them again for at least a few years. For years he had suffered from the effects of a cancer. (Mr. H. Chubb, the sec. of the Gt. Horton Good Intent O.S., also writes voicing the sympathy of the members of his society with Mrs. Kay.—EDITOR.)

As Narberth show on December 14 is the day after Llanelly show, which is not far away, this will give exhibitors an excellent opportunity, writes Mr. Jas. Owen, the secretary of the Narberth Exhibition, to enter birds for both fixtures. Exhibits would arrive at Narberth station at 6 a.m., and be sent off again by the up-mail at 7 p.m.

I was agreeably surprised to receive prize money from the Blaydon-on-Tyne show before the birds returned, also special prize next day, writes Mr. J. Ellwood (Cockermouth). This is as it should be, and speaks volumes for the management. It also encourages working-men fanciers especially who would try again, but who sometimes can't afford to do so.

The hon. sec. of the Launceston Fanciers Show writes that he received many letters last year from exhibitors, congratulating him on the way the show was carried out, also on the management, prizes being paid promptly and birds returned first train following morning. Up to time of writing not a single entry has been received. Please hurry up, fanciers. Classes given in last week's CAGE BIRDS.

Kindly mention that in Class 26, Mules, Mr. Knight was he, writes Mr. W. H. Gibb, assist. sec., Brighton show. Also that the show passed off with great success. The birds were well cared for and watered, etc., by Mr. H. T. Gibb (seed specialist), of Bond Street. All birds were dispatched by 7.30 next morning under supervision of Messrs. James, Bicknell, and myself.

The Mid-Rhondda members' show which was to have taken place Thursday last, November 10, had to be postponed for a fortnight or three weeks owing to the riots which have taken place in our district, writes Mr. A. H. C. Legg, especially in Tonypandy, where we were to hold our show. Fortunately, the Danix Temperance Bar, our headquarters and place where we will hold our show, was not touched.

The committee of the Kennel Club have fixed their great "Coronation" Dog Show for October 24, 25, and 26, 1911, at the Crystal Palace. In addition to other great prizes, the six gold and silver-gilt "Coronation Cups," valued at one hundred guineas, fifty guineas, twenty-five guineas, fifteen guineas, ten guineas, and five guineas, respectively, presented by Messrs. Spratts' Patent, Limited, will be finally awarded.

The two specials for most points at our show on December 2 and 3, writes Mr. J. A. Tyler, hon. sec. of the Leicester C.B.S., should have been printed in schedule as "special prize for most points gained by a member of the Leicester C.B.S.," and not as printed.

At our show on December 10, Mr. A. Wellings will judge, writes Mr. A. E. Lloyd, sec. of the Birkenhead and Dis. C.F.A. Ours is only a members' show, but we stretch out a long way—Willaston, Ellesmere Port, Port Sunlight, New Ferry, Rock Ferry, and Birkenhead.

We note that Mr. John D. Hamlyn, the world-renowned naturalist and importer (of St. Georges Street, London, E.), has just been elected a member of the Stepney Council by a handsome majority. Mr. Hamlyn is also a member of the Board of Guardians.

Our show on December 27 is our first attempt at an open exhibition, writes Mr. T. B. Bryant, joint sec. of the Wellington C.B., etc., show. We have secured the services of the Rev. G. W. Joyce to judge the cage birds. We trust to be able to have a larger number of classes next year.

We are holding our annual members' show at Raikes Hall Hotel on December 3, writes Mr. J. R. Crossley, hon. sec. of the Blackpool and Fyldo C.B.F.S. We have two open classes for fanciers residing in the Fylde who are not members. Mr. Cleminson, of Preston, will judge.

Members of the Nottingham Permanent O.S. who have had admission tickets for the open show, are requested to pay in, or return unsold tickets before Saturday next, also to settle up their annual subscriptions, so that the Christmas specials can be arranged, writes Mr. J. Walmsley, sec.

By some mistake my address was given as Percy Street in advertisement under "Yorkshires," in last week's CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. J. W. Mitchell (Morley), instead of Pawson Street. Three letters have been returned, so will the persons kindly write me to the correct address?

Members of the Hanley and Dis. C.B.S. are asked to note that at the meeting of the society to be held this Saturday (November 19), at 5 o'clock, at the Albion Hotel, a washing exhibition will be given by an experienced fancier, specially for the benefit of novice fanciers. Visitors are invited.

The committee of the Southend and Dis. F.A., writes Mr. B. P. T. Jones, the hon. sec., regret that they are unable to hold a show this year, no hall being obtainable for that purpose. The Kursaal where we held our previous show having changed hands, it has been let for other purposes.

Concerning the Blackbird photographed on her nest in a greenhouse (see page 390), Mr. J. G. Cox writes: It may be interesting to know that the male bird would not venture into the greenhouse, but sang his song standing at the open window, while I was "snapping" his mate. It sounded like a "war song."

Mr. A. Bowman was cup winner, and won 2 specials besides, with Mr. W. Ross runner-up and special, at our recent show, writes Mr. A. Kirkwood, sec., Clydebank and Dis. O.S. The birds staged were up to the usual standard in size and quality. Entries were just about our usual for a confined show.

We totalled 410 entries at our recent show, an increase of 50 on last year's, writes Mr. W. Franks, sec. of the Southend and Southern Counties O.S. All prize money has been paid. Owing to our printer being unable to insert the awards we had to do them ourselves, thus delaying our sending them out.

We have 32 classes for cage birds at our show on December 17, writes Mr. B. Bennett, sec., Wrexham and Dis. C.B.S. The judges are Mr. J. W. Metcalfe (Liverpool) and Mr. Ellis (Chester) for the Roller singing contest. This is our fourth exhibition (members only), radius 20 miles. We hope to have an open show next year.

The Eastfield Side, the Sutton-in-Ashfield, and the Huthwaite Cage Bird Societies have joined hands for the purpose of holding a big show on December 27, writes Mr. R. Nuttall, 16, Briggs Street, Forest Side, Sutton-in-Ashfield. We have named it the Sutton-in-Ashfield and Dis. Amalgamated Association of Cage Bird Societies.

Will fanciers please note that the Hawick O.S. show have the patronage of the Scottish Crested C.C., and that club's medals have to be competed for here, writes Mr. J. Young, the sec. A printer's error has been overlooked in our schedule. The judges' names have been omitted. They are Messrs. D. Hamilton (Hamilton), J. Hamilton (Dalkeith), A. W. Watson (Leith), J. McKay (Kirkintilloch). Mr. Alex. Cochrane (Edinburgh) was to judge the Mule section, but is unable to fulfill his engagement though illness.

An error has crept into our schedule with regard to the 4th prize money, writes Mr. William H. Mugford, hon. sec. of the L.C.B.A. Will you please announce that the same will be paid in every instance, and not as stated in the schedule? Will you also kindly note that the Dutch Frill specials announced in your last issue must go to different exhibitors, the object being to encourage the breeding of this particular variety; also that 1s. tickets purchased before the day will be available during the "2s. 6d. period"?

Entries for our show are awfully short, writes Mr. J. Lloyd-Edwards, hon. sec., Haverfordwest show, November 24. We have this year considerably increased our classification. We have reduced the entry fee. We never remember entries so short, and unless we are supported we shall be compelled to cancel most of the classes. I trust fanciers will rally round and show they appreciate our efforts. This is a genuine appeal. Will accept entries up to Sunday morning's post. Cage birds are the worst off, as I have no entries yet.

It was passed at our last meeting that we hold a members' show on the 3rd Saturday in January, and that Mr. J. Gillespy be judge, writes Mr. Robt. Blore, sec. of the Jarrow, Hebburn and Dis. C.B.S. We really intended holding an open show this year, but owing to the lock-out in the shipyards we have decided not to risk it.

I have sent out 1,100 schedules, writes Mr. J. W. Dummett, sec., Cardiff and Dis. C.B.S. Will anyone overlooked please apply? Exhibitors entering at Leicester or Sheffield may, by special arrangement made, send their exhibits on by the 6.8 p.m. train from here—arrive Sheffield 12.21, Leicester 1.42 a.m. We hope exhibitors will support us, seeing we give full prize money, no matter how small the entry, and there will be no cancelling or amalgamation.

I have made arrangements with the secretaries of the City of Birmingham C.B.S. and Cardiff C.B.S. so that exhibitors entering either of these and the Leicester C.B.S. can have their birds sent away early so as to be in time for judging. Clean seed will be put in the cages on arrival, and every attention will be given the birds, special committee men being "told off" for the purpose.—J. A. TYLER, sec., Leicester C.B.S.

On Sunday, November 27, the second annual service for bird fanciers will be held in Park Chapel, West Bowling, Bradford, to commence at 6 o'clock, when an appropriate sermon will be preached by the Rev. G. Hall, Wallis, writes Mr. H. Hill, sec. of the Bradford East O.S. This innovation was tried with great success earlier in the year, and has been instituted as an annual event. A hearty invitation is extended to all to attend this popular service.

We have had a very good show for our first year, writes Mr. H. W. Jones, hon. sec. of the Eccles and Dis. C.B.S. We had over 300 entries. We paid prize money on the Saturday. We have had congratulations from the Cage Bird Union delegates on the management; and approval all round was shown concerning the awards given by Mr. A. Royle. Our show, the first of any note in the district, has created great interest in the district, and I think will be a good thing for the Fancy.

The City and Suburban 15th annual show must be your rendezvous to-day and to-morrow, Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19, in a delightfully spacious hall on the ground floor. You will see the greatest club show ever held in London, with a record entry of over 530 birds (magnificent Canary, British, and Foreign Bird Sections), and a useful array of stalls to supply your wants. The Church Institute, 60, Paddington Street, Marylebone, is a few minutes' walk from Baker Street (Metropolitan) and Regent's Park (Bakerloo) Railway Stations, and all Baker Street 'buses pass the street.—(Advt.)

We had hoped to have been in a position to report that our entries were good, write Messrs. Mugford and Tyson, managers L.C.B.A. (Horticultural Hall) Show, but regret that such is not the case. Up to the present (Wednesday afternoon) we have received but 342 entries from 91 exhibitors, making less than two per class. We are terribly disappointed with the result, and there is no option but to extend the closing until November 21, last post. We earnestly hope that exhibitors will not fail us, as it must be apparent to all that the show is run for the benefit of the Fancy, and not for personal gain, all members giving their help voluntarily. Now, fanciers, ply the managers with an excess of work; they will give up nights of rest to further the interests of the Fancy.

Norwich Plainhead Club.

The last cup show of the Norwich Plainhead Club is to be held at Leicester on December 2 and 3.—JNO. HOPKINS, hon. sec.

Scottish Plainhead Club.

A special general meeting will be held at Kilmarnock show on November 19. For time see notice on 1st prize yellow cock's cage.—J. BROWN, sec.

National British Bird and M.C.

A special meeting of the National British Bird and Mule Club will, we hear, be held at 8 o'clock on Saturday, November 26, at the Horticultural Hall, Westminster. All members and fanciers are invited to be present.

Whittington Moor & Dis. C.B.S.

Our committee have decided to hold their annual open show in the Victoria Hall, Whittington Moor, on December 27, writes Mr. E. Barber, sec., Whittington Moor and Dis. C.B.S. (near Chesterfield). Will all members and those desirous of becoming members send on their subscription, 2s. 6d., before December 3, to enable them to compete for the numerous members' specials, etc.? The radius is limited to 10 miles of Whittington Moor.

Wedding Bells at Wednesbury.

Many of your readers, and particularly those in the Midlands to whom Mr. J. A. Tonks, of Wednesbury, is so well known, will be interested to hear that he was married on November 10, at St. Paul's Parish Church, Wednesbury, to Miss F. Poynton, of West Bromwich. Our friend Mr. Tonks comes from a family that is so well known locally, while he himself is so closely connected with many local associations, sport, etc., that his wide circle of friends have shown their goodwill towards him in the shape of quite an array of beautiful and valuable presents, which include, besides several cheques from relatives, a valuable silver inkstand from the borough member, Mr. J. N. Griffiths, a marble clock and bronzes from the workpeople, and a very nice salad bowl with silver servers from the members of the Wolverhampton C.B.S. The honeymoon is being spent in London and Brighton. F. J. WEAVER, chairman of the Wolverhampton C.B.S.

The result of our "Guess for an Eye's Competition will be announced next week.

Heard Over the Telephone.

Useful "Tips" Concerning that Most Popular of all British Birds—the Goldfinch.

By J. H. O'NEILE.

Hello! Who's there?

Me; a novice. I want to know if you can tell me how to manage Goldies and Linnets?

I will try. Do you get CAGE BIRDS each week?

Yes, I do.

Then you will be the better able to follow me. It is now twenty years since I first owned a Goldfinch, I may tell you, and I have still the greatest liking for them all along.

Novice: Do you mind telling me how you sex your Goldies?

Oh, no. The cock Goldie is, as a rule, the larger of the two; he is bolder looking than the hen, and has the red coming well past the eye; the shoulder is a good black, but not, mind you, browny black. The hen's shoulder is black, and has a brown tinge on it, the red only coming to, and not past, the eye; and the face is smaller looking in consequence.

And how do you treat your Goldies?

When I get Goldies (or, in fact, any birds after a journey), I always take the cold off the water (by adding a little hot water).

As regards your feeding?—I confess I am profoundly interested.

I give the following seeds: Hemp, canary, teazle, flax, cracked sunflower, etc.; and in addition, a good supply of clean sand, which they enjoy very much. I am never in want of a supply of corn (or wheat) screenings (any farmer will be pleased to give it to you to carry away). This feed, I may say, contains so many wild seeds, that it helps to keep the birds in good health, and it gives me the greatest pleasure to see how the Goldies especially scrape and pick through a small quantity of it.

What method do you adopt as regards breeding?

When the breeding season comes round, I generally have one or two (or more, as the case may be) picked birds—large, well-coloured ones; the better the size and colour the better chance I know I have of getting the same in the young ones. I put the birds, especially first-year birds, in with two or three hen Canaries; this steadies them, besides giving them the opportunity of selecting partners; and if they fight, as they usually do, they will have this part of the proceedings settled when I am ready for them to turn to the more serious business of pairing; even if the hen has been out—say, mating with a Canary—before you begin to try for Mules, it's wonderful how the Goldie on her return will make friends again, instead of having another "sparring match."

Yes, go on, please.

Well, the matter has been discussed so often that it hardly seems necessary for me to touch on it further, but as you say you are a novice, perhaps it will be better if I tell you exactly what I do. I always make the Goldie mate with two hens. I use a partition cage; this is the only way you can save your eggs, except, of course, you have a tried and trusty friend in a Master Goldie. Some young Goldies will not touch the eggs, and, in fact, could give some cock Canaries a lesson in "keeping house" and looking after the welfare of the young ones. When the hen comes to lay, I put Master Goldie to the opposite end of the cage, and keep the partition in from the afternoon to the following morning; then, if the hen has laid, I remove the egg, take out partition until the following evening, allowing Master Goldie to see his partner for the time being, after which I do the same as the day before; and so on until all the eggs are laid. I replace the eggs and take Master Goldie away to look for his other partner.

Have you discovered a sure way of telling whether a given Goldie is safe with eggs?

I can only say that I once found a good plan of testing the Goldie's intention as regards breaking the eggs. I had some clear eggs from Canary pairs; these I placed in a nest which I left to the tender mercies of Master Goldie. He never touched one, nor did he to the day he died. Of course, this, remember, does not apply to all Goldies; but it's worth trying as its costs you nothing.

May I ask what sort of breeding cage you use?

I use pine-wood ones; they are made as follows: two feet long, one foot high, and eleven inches from back to front; they are finished inside with enamel. If, when making, you glue the joints thoroughly and finish with enamel, you never have much, if any, trouble on the score of red mite.

But how do you manage to save the enamel?

A good plan is, before applying any, to coat your cage with size (which is really glue thinned); put it on with any ordinary brush, and sandpaper the sized part before applying the enamel; if you do all this carefully, one coat of enamel should be quite sufficient.

Yes, yes, do go on; I'm afraid we shall be cut off. What about stock cages?

I use stock-cages made the same as for breeding purposes, only in the following size: All wood except front, 18 long, 12 high, and 9 inches wide; this gives the birds plenty of room, and allows you to have two perches; a third can be made on the trough.

Trough, or hopper?

I use a trough; some, I know, prefer a hopper; but I think the trough much the better; besides, Goldies, and especially Greypates, know little or nothing about either seed or water outside the cages.

Oh?

Yes; that's another point worth noticing in passing; it's always better when you get 'Pates to give them for a time drinking water inside in the cage.

Now, presuming the breeding time is over, will you tell me what you do in regard to the Goldies?

Yes, I will. If I do not intend to show my birds, I do not neglect Master Goldie on that account, because moulting time is a very serious one more or less for all birds. I always keep a nail, the handiest thing to get in the drinking water, during the moult, and I give fresh water daily. I should have told you that young Mules are easily reared, and make full songsters when trained under the Goldie or a Canary.

What about the necessary food for rearing?

You had better see the Queries and Answers of CAGE BIRDS, where information on this score is given nearly every week.—No, I haven't finished yet; get off!

Yes, but won't you tell me yourself?

Well, here's how I feed. When the young ones are due, I boil hard two hen's eggs (fresh ones); these I put through a small mill (which you can get suitable for the purpose), with eight Osborne (or arrowroot) biscuits—4 cakes to each egg. It will all depend on how many pairs you have going, as to whether you make much or little; but, remember, always give little at a time, and on no account give it sour. In addition I give groundsel. I gather a few young sprigs and just set them in water in a small jam pot in the end of the cage; this keeps fresh for two or three days. Never on any account give any green food except it be thoroughly dry, otherwise you will do your birds harm.

I would very much like to hear your views on the moulting of birds for show.

Well, here they are: having previously picked out the most likely birds, I turn my attention to them from a show point of view. I never breed with a Finch that I keep for show. A good deal, I know, could be said both ways on this head; but as you get older and begin to feel your way better than a novice can be expected to do, you will be the better able to decide for yourself.

And how do you feed?

Why, I give the seeds above named, and I do not forget the nail in the water. I also, I may say, induce the birds to bathe freely if I can do so, as it means half the battle. If a bird won't bathe I then have to spray him lightly—on warm and suitable days, that is. I always, in addition, give a good supply of thistle heads, hard heads, and nice, fat mealworms twice a week. Every other week I give a piece of bread soaked in cod liver oil; this helps the birds both inside and out; I mean by "outside," the feathers. Don't you think we had better ring off, now? I will conclude by saying I had the pleasure of breeding the only Goldie-Bullie Hybrid bred in the district for 25 years—but, no, I mustn't stay to tell you any more now.

Goodbye. Thank you.

The Key to Light Mule Breeding.

A Word for German Hens.

By A. SUTHERLAND GRANT.

Apart from Hybrid breeding there is no more elusive or fascinating branch of our hobby than that of Mule breeding. We pair up Canaries at the beginning of the breeding season, and can confidently look forward to some degree of success—not so, however, with the fancier who sets out in the hope of producing Mules, and particularly "Light" Mules. The pair may not "hit it off," or the cock won't pair with the hen provided for him. Again, we may get over these first difficulties, and then how anxiously we look in the nests, hoping that at last, after years of hard fighting, fortune has smiled on us and granted us the coveted prize—a good Light Mule. A few weeks later, however, we find on examining the birds we so fondly cherish that they are only ordinary "rankers," and pretty dark at that. Like his brother the Hybrid breeder, the Mule breeder who is to succeed must be prepared for disappointments, and make up his mind to go through with the business at whatever cost in the way of rebuff. This very uncertainty lends Mule and Hybrid breeding a fascination peculiarly their own, for the fewer the successes the greater the honour once success is attained.

THE GOLDFINCH ENJOYING A FAVORITE FOOD.

A characteristic attitude of the "sprightly Goldspink" when feeding on thistles and the like is here caught by Mr. J. G. Keulemans, the veteran bird-artist.

Selecting the Birds.

In selecting the birds for Mule breeding, always choose big birds with good rich colouring. I would strongly advise all who intend to start Mule breeding to set out with the idea of producing Light Mules. My reason is that Light Mules will yield a much better return (financially) than their darker brethren, and besides, even when breeding exclusively for Light Mules, a good percentage of the offspring will turn out dark in spite of all we can do to avert it.

I may here say that in my experience the best results were obtained by pairing a Finch, or Linnet as the case might be, that in the ordinary way would be considered too old (or spent) for breeding, with a comparatively young hen. I think that in this way a larger percentage of light birds are obtained than by pairing a Finch that is young and vigorous with a hen of nearly the same age. The wild caught bird is undoubtedly stronger and more vigorous than a Canary, hence the tendency of the young wild caught bird to throw young birds of a decidedly darker colour than an old and comparatively spent bird of the same species.

There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the proper hen to mate with a Finch or Linnet for Light Muling purposes. Some advocate sib-bred hens only, others hens with cinnamon blood, while still another lot of fanciers put their faith to the common wee German for laying the foundation of a light muling strain. For my own part, I cast in my lot with those that rely on the German. Some may say, but whats the good of wasting a Finch on such insignificant stuff as a German? Not quite so fast, my friends. I do not propose breeding your Finch with the German direct. That would be courting disaster so far as the show bench is concerned. Get a good close-feathered German hen (yellow for preference) of nice shape and quality, and pair her to a good big Lancs. Plainhead or Norwich-Yorks (cross) cock. The hens resulting from this cross will be found to yield the Mule breeder all, or nearly all, he desires. The German has been inbred to a much greater extent, and for a much longer period than most of the so-called sib-bred muling hens on the market, and the lack of size in the mother (German) is compensated for in the father (Lancs. or Norwich-Yorks. cross), so that we have here the foundation of a light muling strain at a minimum outlay.

Feeding.

See that the "pair" are kept constantly supplied with an abundance of the natural wild food—in the case of the Goldfinch the different varieties of thistle, hardheads, plantain, shepherd's purse, etc., and last, but not by any means least, dandelion. This latter I give ad lib, first the young tender leaves, and later the seeding heads of the plant. I also give them by way of variety such live insect food as may come under my notice during the day—greenfly from rose trees, small caterpillars, and the like.

You will find the Canary as well as the Finch benefit by this treatment, and enjoy it, too. The usual canary, rape, hemp, etc., seeds are of course given in addition to the wild seeds mentioned.

Cages v. Aviaries.

For the average working man (and to this class the majority of fanciers belong) cages will be found much more satisfactory, so far as the actual breeding of the birds is concerned, than aviaries. This, at any rate, has been my experience, and I've tried both methods. In cages the birds are steadier, and are under closer observation than when flying loose in an aviary. Once the young birds leave the parents, though, and are able to feed themselves, I make it a practice to turn them all loose in an outdoor aviary covered only on top to protect them from the weather, and there they remain until the approach of the moulting season, when I catch and cage them off separately to steady them for the show bench. The exercise they get while thus flying loose strengthens, while the absence of all artificial heat makes them quite hardy and fit. I always supply them with plenty of cold water for bathing purposes, as this, in addition to tightening and enriching the plumage, gives it a brilliant lustre and finish.

The Caged Skylark: How to Properly Feed and Treat It.

By B. J. POUNSETT, London, S.E.

The liquid notes of the Skylark—to my mind the finest British songster—are surely known to all; and yet, seeing how greatly loved the bird is by everyone—be he in the happy position of living in the country where he can observe the bird spring from the dewy mead and soar Heavenwards with its delightful notes, or among the crowd in some big town where this Master of Song cannot be heard in a state of freedom—it is strange that many who so admire the bird do not realise how comparatively easy it can be kept as a cage bird, and with what freedom it will pour forth its inimitable song from the limited dimensions of a box cage. It is wonderful to think that this delightful songster, fashioned by the Creator to sing (as one writer so delightfully puts it), "almost at Heaven's gate," will so adapt itself to cage life as to open the flood gates of its melody with as much apparent joy as when in a wild state.

Happy Memories.

What happy memories I can associate with the Skylark's song! Until the last year or so, all my days have been spent in the country, where "Father Thames" runs his course through grassy banks, and in districts famed amongst our shires for their bird life. Now my lot is cast in "mighty London," but thankful I am that it is in a part where the welcome presence of song birds brings, as it were, a touch of the country, and takes one's thoughts joyfully and thankfully back to the old days and spots where the choirs were larger and the soloists more varied.

I learned to love the Skylark's song when quite a boy, and much as I admire the voice of every individual of the great British bird choir, I should vote for the Skylark if the choice of one songster had to be made.

It is because I so much admire the bird's song, and because I have so successfully kept it as a cage bird, that I am writing, with the hope of showing that those unable to hear it in the open fields may have the pleasure—modified though it may be—of the self-same song if they will only bestow a fair amount of care and attention on the Skylark as a cage bird.

Lots of fanciers complain of their lack of luck with Larks, but my experience with the bird has been quite the other way. It may be that I have been fortunate, but, at any rate, the same fortune is shared by hundreds of fanciers, for go into what district you may, you will find many able to keep the Skylark in good health in cages.

"They are such a bother to feed, requiring this mess and the other, and they take such a time to look after compared with Hardbills," was the answer I got from a London fancier the other day, when I was enjoying an inspection of his birds, and noticed no Larks in the collection. I think I convinced him he was mistaken; at any rate, he shortly afterwards paid a visit to "Club Row" and returned with two fine birds, which soon broke into song and are keeping in perfect health.

The Skylark is not an easy bird to rear from the nest. The food brought them by their parents is almost exclusively insect life, which, of course, the fancier cannot obtain for them in sufficient quantities to keep things going on the same lines. The young Larks seem to grow slowly when fed with the "stick." This is not so noticeable with some other species. Thrushes and Blackbirds, for instance, appear to "get on" as fast when fed by hand as when left in the nest. Hand-reared Larks, however, become exceedingly tame, and get quite attached to their owners, and generally prove very free songsters.

The Best Time to Secure Larks.

Larks are so easily obtained by people in the country when the birds are in almost full feather that it is scarcely worth one's while and trouble to rear them by hand. To my mind, the best time to secure Larks for caging is when they are at an age when they are known in the country as "pushers," i.e., when they are well feathered but only strong enough on the wing to make short "rises." As a boy, I have often been after them. The young Larks rise from the ground a little way, and then drop again, and if you follow up quickly they can be caught alive after a short but persistent chase, for the birds soon become exhausted.

At this age, Larks are but little trouble to feed. They have commenced to fend for themselves by then, and will generally take the food given them in the cage. It should, however, be moistened a little more than that used for older birds, and it should be supplemented by plenty of mealworms cut up into small pieces.

If the "pushers" will not "pick up" freely themselves, it will be necessary to hand-feed them for a day or so, but as a rule they give little trouble if secured at the right age and kept two or three together (for young Larks seem to pine if caged separately) in a position where they are not exposed to the full light of day for a little time.

The Feeding Question.

The Skylark gives less trouble than many of the softbills which of late years have been seen in cages. Some fanciers have their own methods of feeding, and equally good results have been obtained from quite different foods. Good packet mixtures are sold to-day which render the feeding of this delightful bird far easier to the present-day fancier than to those of the older school.

I will not presume to teach old Lark-fanciers how to feed their pets, but for the benefit of the novice I will state what mixture it is on which my birds always thrive. My favourite stock food is: One part of meat meal, one part of the ground-up pupæ of silkworms, and one part ants' eggs, to five parts of finely-ground puppy biscuit (or dog meal). This mixture has many things to recommend it. It does not cost much; it can be easily procured, for nowadays any good corn chandler stocks all these things; and if stored in tins the mixture will keep good for a long time. Enough of this mixture should be taken each day and made crumbly moist with cold mashed boiled potato or grated carrot (raw).

For a change, a few fresh lettuce leaves, or sprigs of watercress, should be chopped up, and used instead of the potatoe.

In addition to the mixture, the birds should have—in a separate pot, of course—some plump canary seed; to this a pinch of rape and crushed hemp can be added two or three times a week. Two or three mealworms (and any other insects which can be procured) should be given daily, and if mealworms are not on hand, a few dried flies may be added to the stock mixture before it is moistened. I do not like the flies mixed with the bulk of the stock food, as they generally impart to the whole of it an odour which does not make your food tin a pleasant pot-pourri. Clean drinking water every day must not be forgotten.

Larks can be made very steady if patience is used. Hand-reared birds, or those secured as "pushers," are never any trouble in this respect, but some, not caged until they are adults, do not take kindly to the cage. It is always advisable with strong, fresh-caught birds to keep them several together in a good sized cage in which a thick piece of canvas or other material has been stretched across the top—about two inches from the wood—for the birds sometimes dash wildly up in the cage, and may severely hurt their skulls if the "buffer" is not there. Mealworms are the thing par excellence with which to quiet a bird down.

A Word as to Cages.

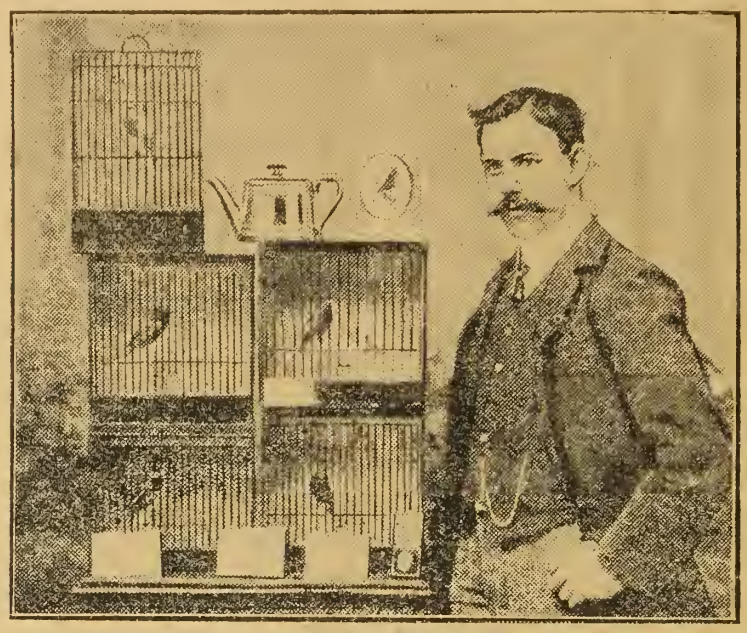
I don't think the familiar bow-fronted Lark cage can be beaten. It is, of course, important to keep the cages of all birds clean, and too great emphasis cannot be laid on this with regard to the Skylark. I believe in keeping a good, thick layer of gritty sand in the bottom of the cage, with a frequent dust-bath. It will repay any fancier to occasionally lightly sponge over his birds with a weak solution of quassia (particularly in hot weather, when insect pests are about), and dry off with an old soft towel.

Throughout the spring, summer and autumn my birds are hung on a wall of the house facing west, with only a light wood and felt frame over the top of the cages to keep off the wet; they are lifted inside a scullery at night. I used to screw a wide strip of wood across the backs of three cages together, in order to save time in lifting about. In the winter the cages are hung in a room adjoining the kitchen. There is no fire in the room, and although in very cold weather the temperature gets low, frost is excluded owing to the warmth from the kitchen adjoining.

I strongly advocate the aiming at as even a temperature as possible. It must be bad for birds to be in a room which is very hot in the daytime, and in which at night the temperature is allowed to drop many degrees. In the bitterest weather my birds are always sprightly, and some will sing in the very depth of winter. As soon as the early spring sunshine commences the Larks are taken out of doors the first thing in the morning; and they are brought indoors again at dusk.

The birds are often given a turf each, and their joy knows no bounds when they see these coming their way.

With anything like proper treatment, the Skylark will prove a really delightful pet, and will sing practically all the year round, except perhaps when in full moult. During the time the bird is casting its feathers plenty of maw seed should be given in the seed pot, and a little sprinkled over the soft food. Should one appear extra mopy when moulting, it is as well to keep it indoors for a few days. Once the moult has commenced, the birds go on shedding their feathers freely, and with proper care this trying time is soon over; the fancier is then repaid for any little extra care he has bestowed on his birds, for he soon hears them singing joyously again.



A SUCCESSFUL TEES-SIDE CANARY BREEDER.

Mr. T. Acheson (Thornaby-on-Tees) with some of his winning Norwich Plainhead and Yorkshire Canaries.

Our Every-Day Bird Seeds.

Plain Words Concerning their Uses.

A Lecture before the Highgate, Hampstead and District B.S.

By Mr. E. S. LUGG.

Mr. Geo. Gardner, who presided, introduced Mr. E. S. Lugg with a few well-chosen remarks, to the effect that he thought fanciers did not pay sufficient attention to the seeds and foods of our feathered pets.

Mr. Lugg, on rising, said: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen,—First we have to consider how to balance the different component parts that seeds contain, so as to be able to do justice to our feathered pets. My advice to fanciers is, if in doubt you cannot do wrong to occasionally buy a packet of canary mixture and give to your birds. At the present day we have packet seeds evenly balanced by experts who have made this branch of the business a special study, and we are now able to buy the right article.

We have five different component parts in seeds, viz., water, albuminoids, oils (or fats), carbo-hydrates, and ash (or mineral matter). To take these parts separately, water is present to some degree in all seeds; some contain it in a more marked degree than others. It is a great necessity for carrying on the proper assimilation. Albuminoids are the flesh-formers, and provide warmth and energy. One of our leading authorities quotes the fact that 100 parts of albumenoids yield 51.4 per cent. of fat. Fats and oils, again, are fat-forming properties, and assist the natural respiration. Carbo-hydrates are again fat-formers, and an aid to energy; they compriso starch, sugar, gum, and digestible fibre, cellulose, etc. If seeds such as flax, hemp, niger, etc., are given too much, the result is we get an over-abundance of fat in the bird's body, and this must be counter-balanced by other seeds which contain a bigger percentage of mineral matter, or ash, etc. Mineral matter or ash, the last, but by far one of the most important component parts of seeds, is composed of soda, magnesia, phosphates of lime, and salts of potash; these are the essential bone- (and, therefore, form) and blood-making tissues; they also assist in the assimilation of the other properties of the food.

"The Bread of Life."

Of course, we have to use our discretion, and must be guided by the age of the birds we are feeding. For young stock we must select the most suitable seeds for the building up of the bone, muscle, sinew, flesh, etc. For full-grown birds it is not necessary to use the same proportion of building-up material, but we must take into account that there is a certain amount of waste always occurring, and this needs making up with suitably selected seeds. Again, the weather and the amount of strain you put on your stock all want consideration.

Canary seed is, to our Canaries especially, "the bread of life." This seed is grown in Spain, Morocco, Turkey, Egypt, and the River Plata countries; it has also been grown fairly successfully in our Eastern Counties and in the Isle of Thanet particularly, but the quantities are too infinitesmal to be taken into account. Its growth requires a warm climate. The plant reaches the height of from three to three and a-half feet. It flowers from June to August, and requires exposure to the sun and wind before being stacked and thrashed, so as to get it perfectly dry.

You can generally pick out a good Spanish canary seed by the size and shape (I have a sample here to show you). I prefer myself a good, even sample to the very large giant seed. A good, even sample of Morocco canary seed is often sold as "Spanish" or "Spanish kind," and I have no hesitation in using it; it is of the same character. This Morocco seed is sold by the brokers as "Saffi" or "Marzagun," these being the two ports from which it is shipped.

You can often get a very decent Turkish and Egyptian seed, but it does not attain the size of that previously mentioned.

A Flesh-forming Seed.

As the canary seed is somewhat short of flesh-forming properties, we must naturally have a change of diet, not only as a variety, but as a necessity; therefore, our next most useful seed is rape seed. German summer rape seed is by far the best of the rapes for our Canaries, containing as it does some other properties (viz., fats and oils) which do not exist in canary seed.

Rape (or Rubsen, meaning red seed) is largely grown on the Continent of Europe, and is cultivated extensively for its yield of colza oil. My opinion is that when buying this seed more care needs to be exercised than when purchasing canary seed; also fanciers should see that it is not mixed with charlock, or in other words, black mustard. You can always tell by the taste—summer rape is sweet, and charlock is bitter. I must mention here that the trader is not always to blame for this mixing, but we ourselves, because we will not pay the price for the right thing. Summer rape, if stored properly, is at its best when from two to three years old, and is then very mellow.

English and French rape are known to us as "black rape." The seed is much larger than Rubsen. It is very useful for our British Finches. It is grown for the purpose of feeding sheep as well as for its yield of oil, and, therefore, must be very fattening.

No doubt, most of you remember the controversy that raged some time ago in the Fancy Press regarding rape seed, some breeders going so far as to condemn the use of it altogether. But I would not personally be without it.

A South-Country Fancier's Views upon the Yorkshire Canary.

By A. B. FORSE (Leyton).

The Yorkshire Canary is a bird which seldom fails to attract considerable attention from both fancier and layman. This, no doubt, is owing to its prim appearance—a smartness which is peculiarly its own. Many fanciers of other varieties of Canaries are quite prepared to admit that the Yorkshire is indeed the "gentleman of the Canary Fancy."

Essential Points About a Yorkshire.

There are many points, however, which go to make up this smartness; the absence of any one of which will mar the beauty of any bird, however good it may be in other respects. The head should be as round as possible, with a small beak; the neck should be well filled in, showing just the slightest suspicion of curve; the body should be long and evenly tapered from the shoulders to the tip of the tail, and the bird should be narrow at shoulders; the wings should be long and evenly carried, reaching to and resting on the base of tail: the tail should be long and neatly folded, and carried in a straight line with the back, so as to form the extremity of the taper, as it were; the legs should be long, showing plenty of thigh, and be well covered with feathers, and free from any loose ones, or "trousers," as they are called. The feather of a Yorkie should be of good quality, and free from any roughness whatever. The length of the bird should not be less than 6¾ inches (a trifle over this is better, if anything), and the Yorkshire should stand well up—as "straight as a gun barrel" being an expression often and not inaptly used.

When the show cage is handled, the bird should "shoot up" into position at once, showing plenty of nerve (or "swagger," as it is sometimes termed).

Colour is not such an important factor in the case of the Yorkshire Canary as in that of some other varieties; but if a bird carries a good, hot colour, it certainly gives it a better finish. Much more attention has been given to this point during the last year or two.

When mating up the birds for breeding, all the foregoing points must be borne in mind, and bad points must be balanced by pairing the particular bird possessing them to one that is good in those respects—and it must be admitted that every bird has some fault or the other in a more or less marked degree.

If I had a bird that possessed all the good points above described I should feel fairly certain of winning with it, and I am also certain I should not keep it long.

The Craze for Size.

There seems to be a great craze for size in the Yorkshire Canary; so great, indeed, that many fanciers in their efforts to obtain it overlook many of those finer points which are so essential in an exhibition Yorkie. I venture to say that there is not one out of every fifty big Yorkshires of which it can reasonably be said that it has good quality feather. Many of them also have drop-tails, clumsy looking heads, and enormous beaks; and yet there are fanciers who would use such birds for breeding purposes, and often, moreover, paired to a mate of very little better construction, so great is their craze for size.

It is, of course, necessary to keep up size in the stock, but other important points must not be sacrificed. I always study type and quality when mating up the birds, and if there is an extra big one among my stock I see that he has a mate extra good in type and quality, even if I sacrifice a little in size, for I have found that when using big birds, quality of feather is the first thing lost. I do not mean to say that I would set size on one side as unimportant, but what I do mean is that when a big bird is used, mind the ugly points.

Another important thing is, there must always be a fair percentage of Belgian blood in the stock. It is from this that the Yorkie gets that nerve, or "swagger," which is so essential. It is best, however, for the novice to obtain Yorkshires possessing a good percentage of Belgian blood in them to introduce into the stock, rather than resort to the pure Belgian.

When Colour is Desired.

With the object of keeping up the colour, it is always best to have one bird of a pair either ticked or lightly marked, and if colour has been neglected it is advisable to introduce a yellow variegated cock and use some of the progeny the following year. But it is advisable to use only the clear or lightly marked birds bred from this variegated cock; otherwise it would probably result in a preponderance of variegated stock.

A cinnamon marked bird introduced now and then is a fine thing for improving the quality of feather; but I have found that colour is sometimes lost to a certain extent in this way. One must, therefore, always pair good-coloured birds to those bred off cinnamon-marks.

Advice to Beginners.

When purchasing the stock the best thing for the beginner to do is to go to a reliable fancier, state what he is prepared to pay, and then leave the rest to that fancier's judgment. In most cases things will turn out very satisfactorily.

Having procured the stock birds, see that they are kept in suitable cages. A very good sized cage for a breeder is about 22 inches long, 15 or 16 inches high, and 11 inches deep. The perches should be not less than 9 inches from the top, to allow plenty of headroom; this is most important, as the Yorkshire, being a bird of position, all tendency on its part to stoop must be guarded against.

Flight cages should be of the same height and depth, but 5 or 6 feet long; they are very useful for running the young birds into after they are on hard seed; and if fitted with two slides can be converted into three cages for moulting the birds in threes.

Colour-feeding Instructions.

With regard to the feeding, one cannot do better than follow the methods given in CAGE BIRDS from time to time. A very good colour-feed is made up of 5lbs. cold popper and 1lb. hot Natal and fine moist sugar in the proportion of 3ozs. to the lb. Start giving this very weak at first, making the food a rich salmon tint in colour, and gradually increasing it until full strength is reached, which is two tablespoonfuls to one egg and bread crumbs. The young from the first round should be started on colour food when ten weeks old; the second round when eight weeks old; the third round when six weeks old, which is about a fortnight before they moult, thus allowing the food to get well into the system before the moult starts.

Some young birds go a bit "thick" during the moult; this is, as a rule, the first sign of inflammation. I have found the following treatment very beneficial in such cases: Give two drops of syrup of buckthorn direct into the beak, and after removing all seed and water give for three days milk sop only, sprinkled over with maw seed; then give a little colour-food again, and as seed soaked rape, gradually getting back on to hard seed. The water may also be returned, but it is advisable to put from six to eight drops of tincture of gentian in it to prevent the bird from drinking too much; this will also act as a tonic.

Sorting Birds Out for Show.

As the moult gets more advanced, the best birds should be sorted out and caged separately if possible, and show cages hung on the front by means of a small hook, so that they can get used to them. The show cage should be lifted off sometimes with the bird in it, and handled a bit, so that the youngsters may get steady. It is useless to show a bird that is at all wild, as it is practically impossible to judge such. Great care should be taken to keep the birds as clean as possible; they will then be all right for one or two shows before needing to be washed, and it is best to delay the first wash as long as possible, as the birds soon get dirty after being washed. At the same time, it is no use your showing a dirty bird; it must be quite clean.

When the birds have only the head to finish moulting, the strength of the colour-food should be gradually reduced, and when the birds are quite finished the moult it can be stopped altogether. But in the case of show birds it is advisable to give a little colour food, say twice a week, to keep up the colour should any feathers get pulled out by accident.

If during the show season a bird gets a bit "down in condition," half a teaspoonful of the following will be found very beneficial: Linseed, niger, gold of pleasure, and maw seed in equal parts, given every other day for a week; and a small piece of milk sop with maw seed on it for the alternate days. It is absolutely necessary to keep the show birds in good condition, not only to obtain a share of the honours for their owner, but to give the birds themselves a fair chance. Many a good bird has been discarded because it could not win, whereas if its owner had paid more attention to the condition of the bird it would probably have done so.

Familiar Foreign Birds and Their Keeping.

A Lecture Recently Given before the Exeter and District C.B.S.

By W. J. SMITH.

One of the most fascinating and instructive of hobbies is the study of foreign birds. Owing to the large importation of foreign birds to this country during the last few years, many people are now able to keep small collections in aviaries and cages.

Hints about the Aviary.

I will take it for granted that you are about to start an aviary in which to keep foreign birds. A nice warm corner or wall is necessary, and it must be well sheltered from north-east winds. But how many birds, and what species are you going to keep? I can imagine someone saying, "I want a mixed collection." Well, you may keep them, but it will not do to turn in with them afterwards any birds you chance to buy, or there may be trouble owing to the quarrelsome nature of some birds. If you have sufficient room, divide your aviary into two parts, and this will enable you to keep a larger number of birds than you could if you only had one place. A shed must be built for shelter from wet. Use wire-netting of half-inch mesh. Some aviaries are double-wired as a means of protection from cats. A word about the door: Do not make it the height of your building, but just sufficient to allow you to walk through standing upright, so that when you enter, the birds do not attempt to fly above your head.

I will now describe a few birds suitable for the beginner.

Budgerigars and Lovebirds.

The Budgerigar: This small Parrakeet is one of the most popular and well known of foreign birds. To those who are not acquainted with it by this name, I may say that it is the little green and yellow bird so often seen at the street corners waiting to tell you your fortune for a penny. There are two varieties of this species—the green and the yellow. The green Budgerigar is the commoner of the two. The treatment of Budgerigars is very simple; the staple diet consists of Canary and white millet seeds, with a little green food such as a piece of apple or a few heads of grass with seed on, and lettuce. These birds do not bathe, but in a wild state run in the wet grass. They are most prolific breeders, often rearing from fifteen to twenty young ones in a season. No nest is built by this species, but their eggs are deposited in the hole of a tree. The best substitute for this is a cocoanut husk, which can be bought already wired for the purpose for a few pence. A little soaked bread and a few groats should be given when young birds are about.

It is quite easy to determine the sex of these birds, the cere of the male being a bright blue, and that of the female white or nut-brown during the breeding season.

The Madagascar Lovebird (or, as it is better known, the Greyheaded Lovebird) is another pretty but very nervous species. At times these birds are so plentiful on the market that they can be bought for half-a-crown a pair. The male bird's plumage is as follows: Head and shoulders, lavender grey; wings, dark green; breast, pale green; tail, dark green with black tail bars. The female is all green.

Lovebirds require much the same treatment as do the Budgerigars. They, however, line their nests with bark.

A Few of the Finches.

The Zebra Finch is a native of Australia. The male is a showy little chap and full of pride. His plumage is very pretty. The wings are brownish-grey in colour, the beak red, the breast black and white striped across, the under-parts white, the sides chestnut, with white spots, and the tail black with white bars. There is also a chestnut patch on the side of the head. The hen is nearly all grey, with white markings on the head and tail. The male bird has a peculiar little call-note, which he is very fond of rehearsing.

Zebra Finches are extremely good breeders in a small aviary or box-cage; they build a large nest of hay, and lay four or five pure white eggs (nearly all the small foreign Finches lay white eggs, by the way), which are hatched in about fourteen days. The young birds on leaving the nest are like the hen, and do not assume their full plumage until after the first moult. The food of this species consists of Canary and white and Indian millet seeds. I had one pair that built a nest in a Hartz-travelling cage, and hatched four youngsters about a week before Christmastide. I could not get these youngsters to eat egg-food, so I reared them on soaked ants' eggs, biscuit, and boiled potatoes.

The Green Singing Finch is one of the few foreign Finches that sing, and a good male bird is deserving of a place in your collection.

The Silverbill is another very desirable inmate. It is rather soberly clad, but it is an interesting little bird. Silverbills have a quiet warbling song, and if treated like the Zebra will thrive well, and occasionally rear young ones.

The Ribbon Finch, also known by the appropriate name of "Cuttbroat," is one of the most commonly seen foreigners. It has the great advantage of being easily sexed, the male having a crimson half-collar under the throat, hence its name Cutthroat. The hen is lacking in the half-collar. The Ribbon Finch is almost the easiest foreign bird to breed in a cage. The nest-box provided must be a covered one, and soft food must be given to the parents while they are rearing their offspring. This species is an inhabitant of Africa, and is widely spread across the Continent.

Interesting and Cheap.

Another interesting and cheap bird is the Java Sparrow. He is an old favourite, and the cheapest of all foreign species. He will live on the food described above for the Budgerigar. He must have his drink and his "tuh." The ordinary Grey Javas, however, are not very free breeders, nor are they at all easy to sex; at any rate, they are not easy for a beginner to sex. The slightly holder head and the larger bill of the male are the only distinctions. The white domestic variety of Java (bred by the Japanese and Chinese in cages) is a ready breeder, but it is much more expensive, perfectly pure white ones fetching about half a guinea a pair. These white birds, with their pink bills showing, have a beauty all their own, and they are more easy to sex than the grey ones, the larger size and stouter bill of the male being quite perceptible if several of the birds are examined together.

The next favourite foreign bird is the Cardinal. There are several species, but the Red-crested Cardinal is the most popular. As the only large Finch imported in great numbers, this species has a position of its own in the trade, and it unfailingly attracts attention by its smart and showy appearance. It has the neat and slender look of a soft-billed bird. The sexes are practically alike, but on comparison it is possible to pick out pairs by means of the stouter and more arched bills, and the extension down the breast of the red colour of the throat of the cocks. The specimen one often sees, having the head a rusty orange in colour instead of a scarlet, are young birds in their first feather.

The Red-Crested Cardinal is the best suited of these species for keeping in a cage. If the birds are so treated, the cage should be a large one—those used for Thrushes are suitable. A mixture of the ordinary bird seeds should form the staple diet, with such fruit and green foods as are found acceptable; but it should always be borne in mind that this bird, like Cardinals generally, is to a great extent insectivorous; a few mealworms, therefore, or any other available insects, should be offered daily, or some soft food containing dried flies, ants' eggs, or egg (or all three). In an aviary this species will breed well. The nest is an open one, built like a Thrush's nest. Although hardy this bird comes from a hot climate, its range extending from Brazil to Bolivia.

Rooks and Walnuts.

Where walnut trees flourish the Rooks are busy hunting among the higher branches for any nuts that may be left. These they fly off with to some open field or meadow, when they fix them in the ground or against a stone and pound them until they succeed in breaking the shell. All the Crow family are exceedingly fond of nuts.

The "Going Light" Trouble Once Again.

SIR,—Another bad case of young birds "going light" has been reported to me, and young submitted. The case was of a hen who had been quite successful in rearing a nice lot of young birds, but as soon as they got from four to six weeks old they were off at once in spite of the application of all kinds of remedies. Some of the youngsters were left with the parents until they were six weeks of age, but this made no difference. Several were saved for a while by giving them pick-me-ups and boiled bread and milk. I advised some of them being sent up to Mr. Yates for a post mortem report, and suggested remedies. There must be something more yet to be learned regarding the "going light" trouble. There was no disease in the old birds, and the cages before being used for breeding had been thoroughly disinfected with crude carbolic and well exposed to the air for weeks.

The Suggested Society for Lutterworth and District.

SIR,—I see in Twitterings of Nov. 5 CAGE BIRDS, that "Late Committee Man" is appealing to the fanciers of Lutterworth and District for the formation of a new society. I think it would have been more to his credit if he had attended the late society's meetings, and put the true facts of his and his friends' jealousy before the members that attended, so that if he, or any of his best friends, had any grievance to make they could have had it thrashed out before them. But I think they were afraid that the bullets which they had to shoot might be returned with considerable force. Perhaps the new society which they are now going to form will be one where there will be no subscriptions to pay, and where they will be all first prizes. "Committeeman" and his friends will then be good exhibitors. Might I also suggest that readers of CAGE BIRDS may judge for themselves, which they consider fanciers—those walk four and six miles to attend a meeting, or those who have only one hundred yards to go, and don't attend? In conclusion, I only hope the new secretary will go the miles I did for them in the week time, let alone all day Sundays. But no doubt he will come from the back of his screen, and put his name to his remarks, as I am sure he won't frighten

The Habits of the Linnet.

SIR,—In last week's issue of CAGE BIRDS "E. J." contradicts my statement regarding wild Linnets feeding upon teazle and thistle seeds. In writing upon the doings of wild birds I am always very careful to be sure of my facts, and seldom go out into the country without a pair of powerful field glasses to aid me in my observations. Every autumn, as far back as I can remember, I have seen the Linnet taking his share of the thistle seed that is so plentiful upon waste land in the southern counties. The teazle is not so very common, but it can be found here and there in favourable localities: and at times the seed may be seen hanging to the spiky heads ready to be distributed by the wind, and when in this condition it is accessible to the Linnet or any bird, no matter how short its beak. As regards Linnets acquiring the crimson breast during the breeding season, it is quite contrary to Nature to expect spring plumage in winter, and although one may occasionally see an old cock bird with a rusty-brown breast in the depth of winter, it is quite an exception to the general rule, and such colouring is totally different to the brilliant crimson the same bird would assume when paying court to his mate in the spring. The moult is simply a changing of plumage—the putting on a new coat in place of an old one—but it takes several months for that new coat to acquire its most brilliant colouring, not only in Linnets, but in all the Finches.

The Fancy in Ireland.

A Plea for Unity.

SIR,—I consider at the present moment that it is necessary to ask Irish fanciers what position they stand in. If I were to answer, I should say only one word, "bad." It is gratifying to notice a lot of new men taking up the hobby and exhibiting; it is also pleasing to note that a number of new societies have been formed, and that these societies intend holding open shows shortly. This sounds very well, but let us ask ourselves Is the Irish Fancy what it should be? Anyone will answer candidly it is not. Take Dublin, for instance. What has been going on there for the past six months? Nothing but one party pulling against the other. I notice that a number of exhibitors who exhibited at the Rotunda show did not bench a bird at the Central Hall, and a number of fanciers who showed birds at the Central Hall did not exhibit at the Rotunda. This kind of work will have to be stopped, or there will be no club in Dublin at all shortly. I am a member of most clubs in this country, and there is no club but one can complain about, even if it is only a trifle. Every fancier in Ireland had very good reason to complain about the actions of a late official of the Y.C.C. of I. But can anyone tell me the reason of a certain crowd of Dublin and Sligo fanciers trying to retard the progress of this club now? Early this year the Y.C.C. fixed November 24 and 25 as the dates for their show, and the week after it appeared in CAGE BIRDS Sligo announced November 23 and 24 as their show dates. The Y.C.C. have wisely postponed their show till early in January. I understand Sligo is going to do the same. I think this is neither honest nor fair. Some time ago I read in the Fancy Press that the Y.C.C. of I. was "dead." Evidently such is not the case. I received a statement of accounts for 1909, and though it is a bit late in the year I congratulate Messrs. O'Reilly, Bray, and Hyland, as I am certain they had a hard job before them. Everyone will agree with me that the Y.C.C. of I. committee (or what was left of it) did very well with their last show. Mr. Hyland asks or invites members who would like to have any of the club's rules amended to write to him on the matter before the meeting. I hope that this chance will be availed of, and that we won't hear parties blaming Mr. Hyland or his committee later on for rule so and so not being amended. I have written the above not to offend any person, and I hope that every fancier will give my remarks his full consideration. Before long I hope to see a united Irish Fancy, with every fancier working in harmony, instead of the "dog in the manger" policy that exists at present. "The weak can always help the strong."

PROVINCIAL FANCIER.

Extraordinary Breeding with One Pair of Canaries.

SIR,—Having had great success in breeding young Canaries this year, I should like to know if any bird fancier has been more successful than I have myself. Being an old fancier with 50 years' experience in Canary breeding, I think I never remember being more successful. I had given up keeping Canaries last year, and taken to Britishers, but a friend of mine would give me a pair of his Border Fancies, a Cinnamon-marked hen and a Green-marked cock, as he knew I had been such a lover of them. I put them both into a big flight in my aviary, and left them all the winter. I have never removed them, and on April 12th the hen laid 4 eggs. She reared the young from them all, and on May 28th laid 4 more eggs. She reared all the youngsters again. On June 29th she laid 7 more eggs, six of which I let her sit on, but she only reared three. I think I must have "overdone" her with giving her 6 to sit on. However, on August 4, she laid 5 more eggs, all of which she hatched, reared the young; and on September 16th she laid another 5 eggs, rearing the young from them all. I am very pleased to say all the 21 young ones are doing extremely well. I might say that I just gave the old birds plain Canary seed and a little hemp, and when they hatched out I gave them arrowroot biscuits and hard-boiled egg, and occasionally a small piece of lettuce or dandelion, which they seemed to do well upon. I think I have "broken the record" with two birds of all the fanciers I know.

JAMES HARRIS.

A Judge Offered a Half-crown Bribe.

SIR.—In receiving my weekly copy of CAGE BIRDS the very first thing that took my attention was a letter published from Mr. John Rukin, hon. secretary to the L. and L.F.A., and it is with rising indignation owing to the dastardly, cowardly and underhanded treachery that has been, and is being, practised from time to time, and in many ways, that I for one feel it my duty to complain, and at the same time do what little I can to help to try and stamp out this detestable evil. Something ought to be done to protect the Lizard, and at the same time the unfortunate Lizard exhibitors also. I think the highest tribute should be paid to Mr. Swalwell, the judge in question, for openly exposing the letter to the authorities and the Fancy generally, as it will be a reminder to the cur (please excuse the expression, for I cannot agree with Mr. Rukin in terming him a gentleman), whoever he may be, that he at least is not a "Judas." I further suggest to our other judges, if tampered with, to follow the noble lead set by Mr. Swalwell. It will be one way of stamping out of the Fancy this kind of detestable treachery. Further, I, as a novice member of the L. and L.F.A., earnestly trust that Mr. Rukin will not take the course he suggests in his letter and retire from the Fancy, as I venture to state that in him the novices of the L. and L.F.A. have a practical friend, and as regards his success on the show bench, I should like to ask if he does not deserve all that he has got. I, for one, wish him even more success. Although it is not compulsory for leading exhibitors to encourage the novices of their particular societies by giving small specials, I, as a novice (although up to the present I have not had the pleasure of winning one) admire Mr. Rukin for the way in which he has given, and is giving, consistently, out of his successes, specials for the practical encouragement of the novice. I think I am voicing the opinion of the novice section of the L. and L.F.A. that if this damnable work continues it will not only drive Mr. Rukin and others out of the Fancy, but at the same time will extinguish the only flickering light of the novice section of the L. and L.F.A.

Hen Goldfinch Proves a Free Breeder.

SIR,—I saw a letter in CAGE BIRDS double number of November 5th re a hen Goldfinch proving a good breeder. As a breeder of Mules and Hybrids for thirty years, I can say that hen Goldfinches are often good breedors, and feeders as well. One of my first attempts was with a Linnet and a hen Goldfinch, and right well did the hen Goldfinch fulfil her duties. She raised me three good young Mules—I thought in those days they were good, at any rate. It was no doubt the success of that hen, which stimulated me to go "one better," and take up the hobby of Hybrid breeding. I can say, too, that I have had a great many hens breed as good as this one. They are very well for crossing with the Siskin, Redpoll, Greenfinch, Linnet, or Twite, but I should not think, after my experience with them, of using one with a cock Canary. I did try a cock Bullfinch with a hen Goldfinch, and the same pair of birds remained together for five years, and from this hen Goldfinch I had had Mules (when she was mated to a Linnet), but I could not get a fertile egg during those five years from her when paired to the Bullie. So at last I gave up trying for this cross. But now I feel certain that it can be done, and shall have yet another try with the same cock Bullie. I should certainly like anyone who has the hen Goldfinch to give her a trial; but choose another Finch for her, such as the Siskin, the Linnet, the Twite, and the Greenfinch, as the Hybrids would be of more value than the Canary.

HYBRID.

A Californian Fancier's Bird-breeding Experiences.

SIR,—I promised to let you know the results of my "Mule breeding with American birds." I succeeded, I may say, in breeding from the Purple Finch and Canary, also the Californian Goldfinch and Canary; but could not get one to live for above three weeks. With the English Goldfinch and Californian Goldfinch I had no results; nor did I with the Purple Finch and Goldfinch; but I mean to try again. I have had quite a successful season with my Norwich Canary, rearing about forty young ones, though I lost a complete second round, which disaster occurred in April last, when we had a land breeze blowing off the Mohave Desert for a week; it made all the hens forsake their eggs and the young in nest to die. It was 96 deg. in my birdroom then, and that week I bred mites by the million and had to give everywhere a good spraying with coal oil and then to newly limewash the place before I could get rid of them. I am pleased to say that such an occurrence is very rare, as the wind nearly always blows off the Pacific Ocean, and my house stands on a hill overlooking the ocean about 2½ miles inland, so we get the full benefit of the cooling breezes, which makes this climate about the finest in the world. One morning my eldest son came out of the aviary with a Gopher snake 4ft. 6in. long; it had climbed up the creepers and got in under the roof, when it dropped on to the floor; and when one of my birds put his head through the water hole the snake struck him and there he hung until my boy killed him. I don't think we shall be visited again by these pests, as I cut all the creepers down off the walls and altered the roof. My birdroom is about 14ft. square with three tiers of cages running round three sides, and it has a large window and a screen porch on the other side. I have also a flight about 10ft. by 14ft., so I have plenty of room. We had our first rain for this season on October 15th. I am now busy sowing peas, potatoes, and all vegetable seeds. I daresay this will seem peculiar to you, but this is our spring when the rain comes—all the rest of the year is summer.

More Mules from Mules.

SIR,—Nothing has given me more pleasure than the letters published in CAGE BIRDS this year on the above subject. I hope every case reported will be fully investigated. It has always been given out by the authorities that Mules will not breed again. Some twenty years or more ago I recorded that I had two Goldfinch-Canary Mules—a cock and a hen—which, for want of room, were kept in a small cage. The hen laid an egg at the cage bottom, which I afterwards placed under a hen Canary, which had laid 2 eggs and had had no cock bird near her. The egg was carefully marked with ink spots. Her other eggs were clear, but this one had a young bird in it about ten days old, which had died in the shell. For the article I then wrote I was well laughed at, but it did not make any impression on me at all; I was fully convinced that I was right, for others saw the egg at the time, and saw me mark it and place it under the hen. The late Dr. Greene wrote me to the effect that I was no doubt under a misapprehension, as it was an impossibility for Mules to breed again. But I believe that from that discussion several instances were given of Mules (from animals) breeding, so why should not Mule birds breed? I still believe it possible, and particularly so the Goldfinch Mule, which, judging from the plumage, takes about three-quarters of the Goldfinch blood. I believe this will breed again with the Goldfinch. This subject is a very interesting one, and one which should be well worked out and tried, if for nothing else, to make history and put some of the old fallacies, which are now taken for granted, out of date. The cases which have been reported in the North seem to have been confirmed, and why should we dispute the facts as recorded? I hope we shall hear of other cases and get them confirmed. If the statements were made by young fanciers, a little allowance might be made; but when given by "old hands"—men who have been breeders for years—the statements should carry weight. I hope all birds which are bred as reported will be sent up to your Mr. Weston to be verified.

"We Want to Put Down Keeping Birds in Cages."

So says the R.S.P.C.A. representative. But Mr. Hopkins, the Lambeth magistrate, is unsympathetic, and mulcts the Society in £5 5s. costs.

A case of very great importance to keepers of British birds has just been heard at Lambeth Police Court, before Mr. Hopkins. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals summoned a private individual, Mr. S. Bennett, for being in possession of "recently-taken" Goldfinches. We need not here recapitulate the points of the case; the decision, we are very pleased to be able to announce, was in favour of Mr. Bennett, and the magistrate granted him £5 5s. costs against the Society. In doing so, he expressed the opinion that about 15 days would be a much fairer interpretation of the meaning of the term "recently taken" than the period of six months suggested by the Society's legal representative. The latter spoke of the likelihood of the R.S.P.C.A. taking the case to the Appeal Court, with a view of getting this decision upset. We have just heard that the Society has definitely decided to adopt this course.

From a letter of the defendant's solicitors, Messrs. Ody and Wilmot, which we publish below, it will be seen that Mr. Bennett is not in very good financial circumstances, and that the action of the Society has already involved him in a deal of expense. The proper contesting of the appeal may also be attended by considerable monetary outlay, and we are giving our consideration to the suggestion that financial assistance should be extended to Mr. Bennett, and have no doubt whatever that ways and means of doing this will readily be found. For one thing, there remains unexpended a sum of money from the "Preston and Flower Defence Fund," which readers of CAGE BIRDS generously subscribed to support the defence in a previous action brought by the R.S.P.C.A., which, however, ended less happily than the case at present under notice. We are consulting the hon. treasurer of this fund, Mr. Geo. Crabb, as to this balance being utilised on Mr. Bennett's behalf. In the meantime, we should like to hear from readers who subscribed to the Preston and Flower Fund, whether they are agreeable to this course being adopted. Give us your opinion without delay. In the meantime, we may say that next week we shall have something further to say concerning the financial aspect of the resisting by Mr. Bennett of the attempt of the R.S.P.C.A. to get Mr. Hopkins's decision in his favour reversed. The amount we have in hand will not, we are afraid, be anything like sufficient to adequately assist in the conduct of the defence; but this point, also, we will deal with next week.

The Police Court Proceedings.

On November 10, at Lambeth Police Court, before Mr. Hopkins, the hearing took place of an adjourned summons taken out on behalf of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against Mr. Stephen Bennett, an off-license holder, of 9, Princes Terrace, Peckham Rye, London, S.E., the charge against him being that he unlawfully had in his possession and control certain wild birds, to wit, 18 Goldfinches, recently taken, contrary to the Wild Birds Protection Acts. The summons originally came before the magistrate on November 2, and had then been adjourned to enable the society to be represented by their solicitor or counsel. Mr. Polhill, the society's solicitor, now appeared, and Mr. Percy Robinson (instructed by Messrs. Ody and Wilmot) defended.

It appeared that on October 21, Mr. Bennett received 18 Goldfinches from a man named Nicholls, at Thetford, from whom he had bought them when he was staying at Thetford in the previous September. The day after Mr. Bennett received the birds Inspector Lovejoy and another of the Society's officers, called upon him early in the morning, and according to the inspector's statement found the birds beating wildly against the bars of their cages, and concluded that they were therefore recently taken, and upon this the Society issued the summons.

Evidence was given by the two officers of the Society to the effect that a communication had been sent from Thetford informing the Society that the birds were being despatched to Mr. Bennett, and that the birds appeared to be wild when they saw them the next day. In cross-examination the officers stated that they had not themselves kept or bred Goldfinches, and that their only experience of them had been gained in the course of work for the society.

Mr. Polhill addressed the magistrate in support of the Society's case, and pointed out that in the recent decision of the Divisional Court in the case of "Flower v. Watts" it had been held that it was an offence for a person to have in his possession in the county of London at any time of the year live wild birds recently taken, even although such birds were taken in a place in which it was lawful to catch them.

Mr. Polhill also contended that the words "recently taken" used in the Wild Birds Protection Acts should be construed to mean within a period of six months, the reason he gave for this contention being that under the Summary Jurisdiction Acts police court proceedings had to be taken within 6 months of the offence. Mr. Polhill also referred to the case of "Green v. Castang," in which the Lord Chief Justice had remarked that he thought it might well be that a keeper of birds might have had birds in his possession even longer than three weeks (he would not say how long because that would be a difficult matter), and still they might be "recently taken."

The Magistrate observed that Mr. Polhill boldly said six months.—Mr. Polhill continued to the effect that the object of the Acts was to prevent the birds being exterminated as was being done in some parts.—On behalf of the defendant Mr. Robinson, after referring to the remarks of one of the judges in the above-mentioned case of "Flower v. Watts" as to the difficulty in bringing an intelligible meaning out of the Wild Birds Protection Acts and the Amendments thereof, stated that the defendant was content to rest his case on the contention that these Goldfinches were not, in fact, "recently taken" within the meaning of the Act.

The defendant was not a bird dealer, but bred and exhibited birds as an hobby. Mr. Robinson suggested that the period of six months contended for by the Society would lead to the possibility of a dear old lady in Kensington who made a pet of a bird caught perhaps four months before, being dragged before a police court and charged with an offence against the Act.

Mr. Bennett, the defendant, was then called, and said he was at Thetford from September 8th to 22nd, and that on the 10th of the month called at Mr. Nicholls' house, where he saw 24 Goldfinches, of which he agreed to purchase 18 at the price of 1s. 6d. each, the birds to be sent to him after he had returned to London. He received the birds on the night of October 21st, and they did not appear to be at all wild, but took water and seed freely, and that they were feeding while the Society's inspectors were there.

Mr. Robinson then addressed the magistrate, and commented on the Society's action in this case, and suggested that the defendant should not have been charged, remarking that instead of a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the Society might be termed a Society for the Persecution of Human Beings.

In giving his decision, the Magistrate said he ventured to express a humble doubt whether the position the Society took up in this matter was a right one, and whether a loose phrase like "protected all the year round in the County of London" did not want an entire and comprehensive revision from beginning to end, and whether it meant anything like what the Society contended for, as he was inclined to think that the Acts were meant to be "close time" Acts. He could not help thinking that it was an outrageous suggestion that no one in London could have a Goldfinch without running the risk that it had been caught within the previous six months and being prosecuted for having it in a cage. He should find as a fact that these birds were not recently taken, and he dismissed the summons and allowed the defendant £5 5s. costs against the Society.

Mr. Polhill intimated that the Society might ask the magistrate to state a case for the Higher (Appeal) Court, and Mr. Hopkins said he was prepared to do so, but that the case would have to contain a statement of the finding of fact that the birds were not recently taken.

The Opinion of the Solicitors.

SIR,—It appears to us that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals are disposed to take up the position that it should be made unlawful for anyone to possess a caged wild bird at all. This is not the intention of the legislature, and we venture to think that it is not in accordance with sensible and unbiassed public opinion, and we cannot help thinking that the society in Mr. Bennett's case were endeavouring to distort and wrest the law in order to give effect to the views of a small circle of faddists. We feel that Mr. Bennett has been treated with considerable harshness by the Society, and we are glad their proceedings have so far been unsuccessful. The expenses which Mr. Bennett has been obliged to incur in defending the case amount to considerably more than the sum allowed by the magistrate, and he is a poor man. We understand that there is a Society or Organisation for the protection of the lawful interests of persons who deal in birds, and we suggest that, having regard to the usefulness of the decision to the trade at large, a grant might be made to our client towards his expenses. The R.S.P.C.A. is a rich and powerful society, and the persons whom they attack in these cases are seldom men of means, and unless they can feel that they will receive support from their fellows, it is possible that charges of this kind may not be resisted, with the result that the law may be made an instrument of oppression.

ODY AND WILMOT.

Mr. Trower Discusses the Situation.

SIR,—I was a very interested listener at the Lambeth Police Court to the evidence in an adjourned summons taken out by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The case lasted one and three-quarter hours. The defence was conducted in a most spirited manner by the defending solicitor. Full report and result no doubt you are publishing. It was against a private individual, for having, as alleged, "fresh caught Goldfinches in his possession recently taken." The birds were proved to have been caught between 5 and 6 weeks and sent to London just before they were seized. The whole text of the case being what is a bird recently taken, the prosecution maintained, any time within eleven months, but the magistrate, in dismissing the summons with five guineas costs, thought the Bird Acts did not mean more than 15 days. The first fact which struck me was the trouble taken by the prosecuting solicitor to prove that bird-keepers were not worth much consideration; but the main fact which set me wondering with astonishment was his statement on behalf of the Society that they wished "to put down this cruel practice of keeping these birds in cages." Now the cat is out of the bag, bird-keepers know fairly well what such prosecutions as these are aimed at. We have been growing towards officialdom for many years, but here you have a society, founded and supported by many influential persons to put down cruelty to animals, and if they confine their operations to this I am sure your readers will be only too glad to give them their heartiest support, especially cruelty and illtreatment to birds. But in this case it is simply a prosecution against a private individual to get him convicted, fined, and perhaps branded as a criminal by being sent to prison for legally having in his possession birds which he had bought, and which he was legally entitled to have. Bird-keepers, bird-dealers, seed merchants, etc., I appeal to you to-day. Has not the time arrived for you to band yourselves together to protect yourselves, your interests in your hobbies and businesses? Are you everlastingly going to see all these bird laws gradually extended till slowly but surely the time will come, if these people have their wish, it will be impossible to keep a British bird in a cage? Are you not going to make some endeavour to protect your hobby, and those engaged in it for a business and a living? The R.S.P.C.A. tell you openly in a public police court, "We are trying to put down the cruel practice of keeping these birds in Cages." Will you stand this? Have you, as Englishmen, lost that good old fighting spirit which made the magnificent Empire we hold to-day? Have you no pluck as bird-keepers, fanciers, dealers, etc., to band yourselves together, fight this battle, and let this society see and know your answer that they shall not dictate and persecute you for having and keeping birds in cages. Let a deputation of that society visit the London cage bird show, shortly due at the Horticultural Hall, Crystal Palace Show, etc., and then see the magnificent specimens of British and foreign birds on which the bird-keeper's care, patience, time, and money have been bestowed. This will be quite sufficient answer to them whether it is cruel to keep these birds in cages or not. The time has come when the bird-keepers of London should set the ball rolling by having a mass meeting at some large central hall, to put forward and suggest a scheme to protect their interests, and so on right through in large and important towns. I shall be pleased to subscribe £10 10s., and help in any kind of manner to uphold and further assist any league or association that may be formed.

Club Reports.

READING AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 9th, there being a very good attendance. Stewards were appointed, and all details settled for Nov. 16th show, and everything points to a very successful exhibition. Three new members were admitted, viz., Messrs. Frewin, W. Read, and A. F. Fifield.—W. H. Pyke, Sec.

FALKIRK (Good Intent) C.B.A.

Monthly meeting held Oddfellows' Hall, October 29th, Mr. J. Hunter presiding. We arranged a committee for show December 10th. Judges: For Plainheads, Mr. Allan Chalmers (Kirkintilloch); for Borders, Mr. D. Buchan (Falkirk); and for British and Foreign birds, Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate).—W. Clubb, Hon. Sec.

WEST OF SCOTLAND O.S.

Meeting held November 5th, Mr. P. Thom presiding. Final arrangements for show, November 26th, completed, after which a washing exhibition was given by Mr. A. Roberts, which was followed throughout with great interest by the members. Mr. Roberts was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. Mr. S. Loudon (Port Glasgow) was admitted to membership.—Wm. Hutchison, Sec.

HANLEY AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 5th, Albion Hotel. All members turned up, although Saturday meetings are not popular. But owing to some of our members working all other nights in the week they must be considered. Members' prize money paid for late show, and a very enjoyable evening spent. It was arranged to hold next meeting Nov. 19th, at 5 o'clock, Albion Hotel. Washing exhibition will be given by an experienced fancier for the benefit of all novice fanciers.—B. PEAKE, Hon. Sec.

NORTHERN LIZARD CLUB.

Meeting held headquarters, November 12th, Mr. Reid in chair. There was a good turn-out of members. The secretary read result to date of club competition for cup and specials: Riseborough 42, Hyslop 25, Reid 11, Jeffery 9. Gateshead's show is the finish of the competition, and the secretary hopes for a good entry. One new member was made—Mr. F. Elseborough. The secretary intimated he had a promise of a valuable special from Mr. Seely (Choppington), to be competed for later, the said gentleman being cordially thanked.—G. Davidson, Sec.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Mr. J. Farrer presided over a large attendance at Fawcett Street Cafe, Nov. 12th. Final arrangements for Members' Show, Nov. 19th, made; agreed, after long discussion, that prize money be paid in following proportion, viz., First to receive twice the amount the second receives, and the second to receive twice the amount of third; but prize money will only be paid in accordance with funds in hand after all expenses have been paid. Will members please note that old birds only are to compete for cup presented by Mr. Hunter for most points, and young birds, British, etc., for Mr. Thompson's cup, most points. Messrs. A. Elliott and R. Newcombe were appointed stewards. Mr. J. Knott, M.P., was elected a vice-president. Agreed, that members have catalogues free of charge. Several specials and donations were announced, and it was arranged for members to meet at usual place on Nov. 15th to allocate them.—J. Jeffrey, Hon. Sec.

FELINFOEL C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 5th, when a fairly good attendance was presided over by Mr. W. J. Harry. Correspondence read by secretary, and showed there is every prospect of a successful show. It was urged that each member make every effort to secure as many specials as possible or subscriptions. Special meeting will be held Nov. 12th to allocate various specials, and the committee sincerely hope every member will turn up, as this will be the last meeting before schedule goes to press.—T. J. DAVIES, Hon. Sec.

GLASGOW WEST END C.B.C.

Meeting held Clarendon Hall, November 11th, Mr. A. Miller presiding over a good attendance. All arrangements are now completed for annual show in Clarendon Hall, November 19th next. There are 45 classes, and the judges are: For Canaries, Mr. Allan Chalmers (Kirkintilloch); and for Mules, British, and Foreign birds, Mr. J. Muir (Glasgow). We are in the happy position of having three very handsome trophies, and a grand lot of special prizes from generous donors for competition. Several members have kindly promised to give a helping hand with staging and other arrangements, which we appreciate very much.—William Proudfoot, Sec. and Treas.

GRIMSBY AND DISTRICT O.S.

Meeting held November 10th, Mr. W. Clow presiding. Numerous letters were read from exhibitors expressing satisfaction at the prompt way their feathered pets were returned to them from the annual show, for punctual payment of prize money, and careful packing. The society thanks all its numerous workers for the splendid manner in which they carried out their duties. The show was a great success, and it is expected there will be a nice cash balance in hand, to carry forward in the balance-sheet, which will be presented at the annual meeting on the 5th December, when the election of officers takes place, and amendment of rules where necessary.—Moore and Harding, Secs.

GLASGOW AND DISTRICT C.B.A.

Committee meeting held November 8th, Duncan's Rooms, 71, London-street, Mr. R. B. Jarvie (president) occupied the chair. Several important items of show business successfully dealt with, including estimates for schedules and catalogues, prize cards, etc. The president then informed those present that he had received an offer from Messrs. Taylor and Sons (seed specialists, Glasgow) of a challenge shield, value £10 10s., for competition amongst all clubs wishing to compete, the club whose members gain the highest number of points at the open show to hold challenge shield for twelve months. Also decided, to call in subscription lists as soon as possible, the money collected from these to be used in purchasing a silver cup, to be held by club whose members gain second highest points at open show. A small committee, composed of Mr. D. Graham, Mr. A. K. Chalmers, and the secretary, was appointed to purchase same. Following members added to show committee: Messrs. J. Brown, F. Taylor, and G. Smart. Will members please note that all subscription lists, with cash collected, should be returned to me not later than November 26th; all specials must be handed in by December 10th—a few from each member will oblige.—Fred. Bowman, Sec.

LOANHEAD & DISTRICT C.B.S.

Financial meeting, held Mason's Arms, November 12th. Mr. A. Jardine presided over a good attendance. Secretary read report, which showed an income of £16 13s. 3d., against £6 10s. 10d. expenditure, which the members considered very satisfactory; it was adopted on the motion of A. Jardine, seconded by W. McAdam. Agreed, to again pay 6/- per class, leaving a balance in favour of the society of £1 18s. 5d. Election of office bearers resulted in all being unanimously re-elected. All present then joined for next year. Mr. G. Yule entertained the company with his phonograph, which was greatly enjoyed by all, while Mr. Jardine fairly captured all with his singing. Ex-Bailie Frichael, after a short speech, proposed the prosperity of the society. Mr. Jardine, in reply, referred to the great kindness which Bailie Frichael had always shown towards the society, and he hoped he would be long spared to take an interest in Loanhead. The Bailie's health was heartily responded to, all joining in singing "He's a jolly good fellow." A vote of thanks to the chairman brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.—W. B. Smart, Sec.

BERWICK AND DISTRICT C.C.

Presentation to the Secretary.

Meeting held Wood's Temperance Hotel, Nov. 10th, when a large number of members turned up. Mr. C. Makins occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks touched on the ups and downs of the club since its formation 22 years ago. Only a few of the "Old Brigade" were left, he said, and although he had not been associated with the club for a great number of years previous to last year, yet he regretted to hear early last year that the club was abandoned owing to lack of interest. A meeting was called, and it was decided at that meeting in May to again start the club; a secretary was found in Mr. Anthony Hay, who yet had hold of the reins, and without a doubt much of the success that attended last year's and this year's shows was due to his skilful handling of his duties. And he (the speaker) was pleased to state that, for membership and success in every way, these last two years crowned all. The members, therefore, realising the valuable services rendered by their secretary, had got up a subscription list to show their appreciation. It now gave him great pleasure in asking Mr. Hay to accept from the members a handsome silver mounted umbrella, and hoped he would long be spared to make use of it, and still retain the secretarial duties. Mr. Hay briefly responded, thanking all for their gift, which was altogether unlooked for. The inscription upon it would always be there to remind anyone of their kindness. After the presentation the usual business was got through, the same office bearers being elected for the coming year. Four new members were enrolled.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following Conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side only of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions rs advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issus is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and on addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed the Editor. "Cage Birds." 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc. of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Buffers, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his question for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

A Little Help.

W.H.—I fear your birds are in a draughty position, or one where they are exposed either to extremes of heat and cold, or to occasional draughts, such as an open door or window when room is being ventilated; and in the second place your dietary seems rather below the mark for birds in a cold room. Attend to first-named, and see draughts and extreme fluctuations are avoided, but still air room sufficiently to keep atmosphere pure and fresh. In addition to the staple of canary, give each bird half a teaspoonful of summer rape every second day, and on each of the alternate days during the next fortnight give a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar, and also give a morsel of green food, raw carrot, or banana. Twice a week give a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, linseed, millet, teazle, and split groats. After the first fortnight stop the bread and milk, and give instead an equivalent quantity of egg food or crushed sponge cake twice a week. In the drinking water give 20 drops of whiskey, six each of oxymel of squills and glycerine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, every second day for a week. House's "Canary Manual," 1/2, or Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d., both post free, from our Manager, would be of much assistance to you.

Two Hens, etc.

H.O.B.S.—The hen is certainly suffering from cold, which is probably becoming more serious in its effects, which is the reason she does not now pull herself together so readily. Put her in a separate cage, and keep her in a cosy place, and treat the same as advised to "W.H." until well. The other may simply be "making faces" at the cock when acting as you say. If this is the case she will at the time she is making the noise have her attention directed towards him. Some birds will act in a similar way from fright at any unfamiliar object, or from seeing a cat. In either case remedy is obvious. If neither of these theories is correct, treat the hen the same as the other. The cock should be in a cage by himself in any case. If left with the hens it will induce them to start nesting too early. Also alter the diet a little. Give rape separately every second day, and feed as advised to "W.H." Yes, buffs occur in both clears and variegated, and also in greens and cinnamons. There are clear yellows, clear buffs, variegated yellows, variegated buffs, and so forth, but not "clear-variegated," as you have it. The term is a misnomer. A "clear" is a bird without any marking at all; a "variegated" is one that is more or less marked. "Greens" and "variegated" are not all the same. A green, or self green, to be exact, must show no light colour at all. When light feathers appear in wings or tail it becomes a "foul" or "broken" green; if the body plumage is broken with patches of yellow or buff, then it becomes a lightly or dark variegated, according to the predominance of light or dark plumage.

Starting with Rollers.

A.C.S.—The ordinary German singers would undoubtedly succeed well enough in your outdoor aviary, but I rather doubt the utility of the plan in breeding high-class trained Rollers. The vocal organs of these birds would be almost certain to suffer from the vagaries of our climate, and, of course, the song suffers more or less in consequence. You could breed an ordinary type of Roller and transfer the young cocks to cage indoors for tuition by schoolmasters, or these birds and organ combined. The strain to begin with depends solely upon your own taste, and the market you wish to cater for. If you want to supply a popular local demand, Self-trained birds with plenty of variety in the song would be best; but for long, deep, hollow rolling contest singers, so-called Trute birds would suit you best. It is immaterial whether you buy German or English-bred birds. The main point is to have both cocks and hens from a good stud of highly-trained songsters. Do not overlook the fact that the hen plays an important part in breeding birds capable of the highest form of training. The price depends upon a great variety of circumstances. Hens range from 2s. 6d. each upwards; cocks from 10s. to 60s., according to training, and purity and quality of song. For the best class of bird this limit will be exceeded, whilst ordinary singing German cocks may run as low as 4s. 6d. They are among the easiest and freest of breeders. There are yellows and buffs, marked, variegated, and greens, as in the Norwich, but the colour is always pale and washed out, so that the yellows are more of a lemon tint than the orange tone of the Norwich yellow.

To Eradicate Red-mites.

F.N.—This question has been dealt with a number of times lately. Here it is once more; other querists please note. Your failure is due to lack of thorough overhauling of cage and the position it occupies at the same time. Half measures are useless; so also is the method of hanging a bag of sulphur in cage; and powders generally are of little use. If cage is small enough, move bird (after giving it a bath daily for a few days with a few drops of essence of quassia in it) to a temporary one, and immerse the infested cage bodily in a copper of boiling water for a few minutes, and meantime thoroughly cleanse with a fairly strong solution of Izal the wall and hook where cage has hung. Repeat next day and touch hook with a little pure Izal to finish. When cage has dried, drop a little pure Izal into all the cracks and joints, and repaint and varnish inside and out. If this method is not feasible, dissolve an ounce of camphor in half-a-pint of methylated spirit, and brush the cage over with this inside, working it well into all joints, and dropping it freely into all cracks and joints outside, wiping any surplus off the varnish at once. Treat position where cage hangs in same way, and repeat treatment twice a week for two or three weeks. If carefully done, bird need not be removed for this. But if varnish is damaged by the spirit, move bird to re-varnish.

Seed Samples (Miss M. P.).—It is a very fair sample of summer rape—a little new, perhaps, but not sufficiently so to reduce its quality materially. The price also is fair.

Singing and Moulting (Q.E.D.).—I'm afraid the young Roller is a hen. Anyway, feed and treat the same as advised to "Cliff," with the exception that you still go on with a staple of two parts Canary to one part rape. Keep a light cover over its cage for a week or so, then remove it. See the birds are not pestered with red mites. It certainly is not wise to try to force a bird into moult which keeps perfectly healthy, lively, and singing constantly. Don't attempt it—that's the best advice I can give you.

Deformed Foot (T. W. Fish).—If, as I assume, all fore toes are turned underneath, there is nothing you can do to remedy the deformity. All methods of treatment are mechanical, and to be of any real use at least one good strong normal toe is required at the front to which the crooked ones may be tied. Our manager could send you a part of "Our Canaries" showing illustrations of various methods of treatment, which cannot be given here. Of these you might try the one that is most applicable to your case. But, candidly, I doubt any good result accruing.

Not Singing (Cliff).—Your feeding is faulty. As a staple diet give three parts canary to one part summer rape. Twice a week give in addition half a teaspoonful of a mixture of two parts each hemp, inga, teazle, and millet, and one part each maw, linseed, and gold of pleasure. Three times a week give a scrap of ripe sweet fruit or green food. Every second day for the next fortnight give a half teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion well mixed in it, and sprinkled with maw seed. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and on the alternate days twenty drops of whisky, and six each of glycerine and tincture of gentian. Continue giving the latter for a fortnight.

Birds in Soft Condition (I.O.C.).—If you have used rape very liberally the dealer is far more likely to be correct than your theory re the sand. If the beach is clean, so to speak, and free from contamination by sewerage, there is no necessity to wash and bake sand. It should prefer using it as gathered, and believe it would be far more refreshing and appetising than after your suggested treatment. Feed stock on a staple of plain canary only. Give a pinch of rape separately every second day, and twice a week half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, and millet. For the next fortnight, to tighten the birds up, in addition to above treatment, give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with three drops of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it, and sprinkled with gold of pleasure seed every second day, and on the alternate days add six drops of tincture of gentian and four of tincture of steel to the drinking water. Let birds bathe freely in mild weather.

Hen in Bad Condition (R.N.S.T.).—I'm afraid you will not be able to do much. I strongly advise you not to use her for breeding again, even if she appears to recover. Keep in a comfortably warm place, quite free from draughts and great fluctuations. Give a staple of plain canary only. Every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of summer rape, and on the alternate days a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with two drops of cod liver emulsion on it, and sprinkled with a quarter teaspoonful of maw. Stop giving apple, and give instead either a piece of raw carrot, ripe banana, or a little of the green tops of the inner stalks of celery, three or four times a week. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for two days, and afterwards 20 drops of the following mixture in each two tablespoonfuls of water. Mixture: Oxy squills and glyc. each two drams, chlorodyne and Ipecac. wine each one dram, iodide of potassium seven grains. Any chemist will mix you this. Give it two days in every three in alternate weeks.

Loss of Feathers (Lester).—Keep hen in a fairly warm, but not overheated, place, where the temperature is equable night and day. Do not hang too high, nor near a burning light in the evenings, and see that there is perfect freedom from draughts. Only supply bath about twice a week in mild weather. Feed on staple or three parts canary to one part summer rape. Every second day for a month give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with a slight dusting of a mixture of two parts flowers of sulphur and one part chlorate of potash mixed in it. Scatter a few grains of inga on top to induce her to eat it. On the alternate days give a small pinch of a mixture of equal parts maw and linseed. Continue the green food as long as you can procure it in a fit condition. In the drinking water give a pinch of Epsom salts and ten drops of lemon juice every second day for a week, and for the next fortnight 20 drops of Chemical Food every second day. Anoint the scabs with sulphur ointment three times a week, until they drop off, and if new feathers do not then soon appear write again.

Unskilled Washing (Novice).—The water would not account for the condition. I am strongly inclined to think you first of all dried the birds too near the fire, and afterwards used too strong a solution of glycerine for spraying. Before making another attempt, get the part of "Our Canaries" dealing with washing and master its contents. Then get some more experienced fancier to allow you to watch him perform the operation. When you next essay the task either use soft clean rain water, or if you are compelled to use hard water, well boil it first, and whilst it is hot dissolve a teaspoonful of borax in about each quart of water. When it has reached the proper heat pour off the clear fluid, without sediment, for use. Then wash in the usual way with any good soap. Finally, until you have had more practice, do not use any glycerine at all for spraying. The only way of removing the effects of this wash is to wash the birds again, but get it done properly next time—otherwise the birds will probably be quite spoilt for all this season.

Producing Greens (F.P.).—If you wish to breed a stud of greens quickly, your best plan is to mate up pure green stock birds at proper season. You will breed pure and probably foul or broken greens from the start. I fail to see the wisdom of going a roundabout way. But if you really prefer this method, mate up broken greens and heavily variegated, or even two heavily variegated birds together, and repeat these matings with the progeny, each season mating together those which come nearest the standard for greens. The time it will take depends upon the amount of dark, or green, blood you start with. The result of the pairing you suggest, assuming you are certain there is no trace of cinnamon blood in the green-marked cock, would be green and heavily variegated. You must not take it, however, that you have only to renew these pairings to breed pure greens, as indiscriminate admixtures are of no advantage. There is no hook on greens, but they are dealt with in "The Yorkshire Canary," which our Manager could send for 1s. 2d. post free; also in "Our Canaries."

Rollers Restless at Night (E.E.M., Wimbledon).—The two birds in question are in that early stage of asthmatic trouble when it is only noticeable at night. You should get Part VI. of "Our Canaries," in which this phase is fully dealt with by Dr. Bowes. See that the birds are really secure from draughts, and are not exposed to great fluctuations of heat from fires or burning lights, nor to the fumes from the latter. Continue your present method of feeding, and give the sponge cake, oil, and sherry three times a week for a month, and on three other days each week give a morsel of ripe banana and a third of a teaspoonful of maw. Twice a week give a few grains of hemp. Get a chemist to make you a mixture of two parts each of glycerine and oxymel of squills, and one part each of ipecacuanha wine and chlorodyne, plus ten grains of iodide of potassium to the ounce, and give 15 drops of this mixture in the water every second day in alternate weeks until well. There is also strong evidence of red mites. Look up a few replies the last few weeks which describe fully how to detect and eradicate this pest.

Under Suspicion (T.B.).—You may have a contagious disease among your birds, and I strongly advise you to lose no time in sending off the next victim to our Mr. Yates for a post mortem. Meantime keep stock and all appertaining to it as isolated as possible from any other healthy birds. Do not introduce any fresh birds. Get Dr. Clarke's handbook on Septic Fever, 7d. post free, and the Nutshell booklet upon Disinfection, 2½d., post free, from our Manager, and adopt the method of thorough disinfection, which is most applicable to your case. In addition to the seed diet give a small piece of bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar three times a week, and half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, linseed, maw, and split groats twice a week. In the water give a pinch of Epsom salts for two days, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid, twice a week to keep the system toned up. Keep room well aired, but at same time exercise discretion in leaving window open constantly this weather. Shall be glad to hear result of post-mortem.

Canary Querists should send to our publisher for "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d.; "House's Canary Manual," 1/2; and "Yorkshire Canaries," 1/-, post free.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

Cockatoels and Budgerigars.

A. E. G.—Very many Parrakeets are in the moult at the present time. Providing they are otherwise healthy and fit, they ought to take no hurt. If you are very careful as to cleanliness of burner, and watch it closely for the first half-hour after lighting, to see that it is properly regulated before being left for the night, a good oil stove can be used—I use one myself, but I never leave it to servants—there have been many mishaps with them, so I never advise them being used. Note: If you begin to use artificial heat you'll have to keep it up through the winter. So long as the birds do not look unhappy and uncomfortable I do not think you need trouble, but it largely depends on the amount of space they have for exercise. If you will supply me with size of their enclosure I could then give you a definite opinion. Your diet is satisfactory, but give them a slice of ripe apple two or three times a week, and keep a piece of clean cuttle bone hanging in their enclosure.

Red-rumps Out of Condition.

M. R.—Redrumps, as a rule, are sufficiently hardy, foreigners to stand our winters with but little preparation, nevertheless the period you name is insufficient for acclimatisation—though this term is very loosely used by many. I should advise caging them up, and keeping them in some airy position in an ordinary living room till the spring, when they should do well. While you have the birds caught administer three drops of tincture of opium direct to the mouth by means of a quill. For the first day put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia to each ounce of the drinking water, and for the next two days dissolve five drops of aromatic sulphuric acid to each ounce of the drinking water, and then repeat the magnesia again. Give the opium daily so long as there are any evidences of blood. The birds will fare well enough on canary and oats, but you might try them with a few sunflower seeds and various ripe fruits, also a little fresh lettuce as green food. You had better report progress in a week, when I expect the above treatment, combined with the warmth, will have wrought a change for the better. They must be protected from draught, and the voidings should be promptly removed and destroyed.

Grey Parrot Unwell.

T. Schofield.—The bird must be kept warm; at the same time it must get air and light, and be kept strictly free from draught. Use a crock drinker, and for a few days put 5 drops aromatic sulphuric acid to each ounce of the drinking water. Give 3 drops of tincture of opium direct to the mouth from a quill daily until the trouble ceases. Anoint the ventral region with sweet oil, but do not use sufficient to make the plumage greasy. Diet: Seed mixture, ripe fruit, nuts, and plain biscuits. Note: While the trouble lasts give it a piece of biscuit or crust of stale bread that has been moistened, not saturated, with a mixture of Parrish's Chemical Food, and water in equal parts. The voidings should be at once removed, and, preferably, burned, also the cage should receive a thorough cleansing with boiling water, well searching all crevices, as soon as the bird has recovered. I must emphasise again the necessity for warmth, combined with proper ventilation, and at night it should have the sides of its cage covered round, with a space about 6 inches diameter at the top left open for ventilation—the cage under present conditions ought not to stand by a window, nor yet in a direct line between window and fire. Report progress a week hence.

The Moult and Other Troubles.

Enquirer.—(1) With the small ornamental Finches the moult is more or less a critical period, and with many species it is taking place now. At this period a check or chill is almost always fatal. If the voidings are at all hard, a little Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water occasionally (according to the condition of the bowels), and a course of Parrish's Chemical Food, is about all one can do, combined with keeping them in a cage or aviary large enough for exercise, kept in some light and airy position, yet with absolute freedom from draught, and varied and wholesome food, is all one can do to keep them. (2 and 3) The treatment mentioned above will help you in this respect, and I should give a little ripe apple, or any other kind of fruit they would take—the chemical food will take the place of sulphate of iron, and is more convenient. (4) There is much individualism in birds, and I have, as a rule, found the Grassfinches amiable—nevertheless, within the limits even of large cage—small and large birds mixed together is a mistake; if disturbances do occur they are unequally matched. (5) I should not withhold bath; birds desire this, and need it at moult period as much, or more, than at any other period—if you treat your birds much as above, and see they are not subjected to draught—in other words, are treated hygienically—they should safely emerge from this critical period of a bird's existence.

Aviary Queries (A. G. H.).—Not more than 20 Budgerigars ought at any time to be in the inside enclosure, thus three breeding pairs would be ample, as if three decent broods were brought off simultaneously you would be full up at once. Again, I fear that in a place of the size the mixing of Finches and Budgerigars will end in disaster, though this may not take place at once. Your suggested addition of an outdoor flight will be very valuable, and add to the general well being of the birds, and also more successful breeding. Re Canaries, I have kept these outside, but the breeding is usually very irregular when they are together in a flight. Repeat this Canary query to our Canary specialist next week.

Parrot Scratching Itself (B. T.).—Many individual Parrots do well on hemp, though this is rather a heating diet, and your bird will do well enough on the seeds it is eating from the mixture, but provide at least double the quantity of canary seed you do of the other kinds. Your diet is satisfactory, and the bird should do well thereon. I should spray this bird twice a week with quassia solution as a safeguard, and give the Dinneford's Magnesia twice weekly so long as the voidings are not watery loose. On the other days well colour the drinking water with Parrish's Chemical Food. At this juncture let it have as much fruit as it will eat. In your case I am of the opinion that the "scurf" is an accompaniment of the moult.

Ventilation (Amadis).—But little will be required in this case as the opening of the shutter for attendance, and during sunny intervals on genial days will supply most of what is required. A few one-inch holes just under the eaves, protected with netting, of course, will be ample, as unless the wind is very bitter, the shutter should be open for a couple of hours (about midday) on all sunny days. Yes, leave in the plum tree, and the earth with gravel and sand on top will be the best base, but if you are likely to be troubled with mice or other rodents, then you had better cover the ground with ½-inch mesh netting before putting down the gravel, etc. I should cover the interior woodwork with Hall's washable distemper (very pale green); it is much more satisfactory and effective than ordinary limewash.

What Name, Etc. (A. T.).—I am of the opinion that your bird is a Golden-crowned Conure; if so its value is about 15/- to 20/-, according to condition. The principal dietary should be canary and white millet, with a few oats—a little of your mixture to pick over will certainly have no ill effect. Also supply a little of such ripe fruit as it will eat, a few nuts, and a leaf of fresh lettuce occasionally. A piece of plain biscuit, if the bird cares for it, will make a wholesome change. Keep a piece of clean cuttlefish hanging in the cage. Spray the bird weekly during the winter season, about midday is the best time, choosing a sunny genial day for the purpose. Keep its cage in some light airy position, yet where it will be free from draught.

Food for Redrumps (M. R.).—(1) Canary and white millet, or even canary alone, are sufficient, and with oats added they should do well; try them with a few sunflower seeds during the winter season; also they should have a little ripe fruit and green food (lettuce at this season is best). A piece of clean cuttle bone should also be kept in the cage or aviary. (2) There are very few Parrakeets of the same species that will agree together during the breeding season, though with a little management several pairs of different species may be kept together. Redrumps are very intolerant of company of any kind during the breeding season, and certainly would not tolerate another pair of their own kind, and the young of the first brood should be removed by the time the second brood are ready to leave the nest.

An Ailing Redrump (M. R.).—Sorry to hear of the death of your cock bird. I fear this fell a prey to pneumonia, consequent upon being placed out of doors before being sufficiently acclimatised, and it is quite possible your hen is going the same way, but the treatment already advised is about all you can do for ., and if pneumonia has really set in, its condition is practically hopeless.

Age of Parrot, etc. (J. G.).—I should say it is a young bird, either in its first or second year, and most probably a female. Its talking capacity will increase; there can be no hard and fast rules as to teaching them. Keep it where it will hear plenty of conversation, also talk to it, and when it is quiet and restful, teach it by the constant repetition of words and short phrases, and you will find the bird responsive, though some individuals are much more teachable than others. From your description I should say the price given about a fair one. Add canary, white millet, and paddy rice to the seed mixture, and also supply ripe fruit, plain biscuit, few nuts, and keep a piece of cuttlefish hanging in the cage. Keep the cage in some airy and light position, yet it must be kept out of reach of draught. At this season it should be lightly sprayed with tepid water once or twice a week, choosing a warm genial day for the purpose.

Small Breeding Parrots (Parrot).—There are none of the Lovebirds such free breeders as the Budgerigar. The Black-checked Lovebird is fairly free, but it is irregular. In some aviaries quite a number are reared, and in others, with equally favourable conditions, almost nothing is done; again, they are irregular in demeanour, some pairs agree with Budgies, but one also hears of others that will not—providing they are not overcrowded, and there is a fair amount of cover in the aviary, in most instances, they should agree, but only have one pair. The Blue-wing Lovebirds, while not a free breeder, does breed in captivity. The Rosella is a free breeder, once it makes a beginning, but sometimes they take several years to settle down. To sum up, in a fairly roomy aviary, with abundance of nesting receptacles, the following should be fairly safe together: Budgerigars (several pairs, according to space), and a pair each of Rosellas, Blackcheek Lovebirds, and Blue-wing Lovebirds.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's

Richards (Nottingham).—Cock Canary died of pleurisy as result of a chill.

R. N. S. Tebb.—Neither the mice nor poison had anything to do with your loss, but death resulted from an acute attack of pneumonia. The bird was very thin on the breast, which you might have observed whilst packing, and although dying so suddenly, as is so common in acute pneumonia, particularly during cold, damp weather, it need not have evidenced any symptoms. It is often so rapid in its onset and termination that birds, as in this case, are found dead.

Mrs. Foot.—Septic fever is the cause of your losses. You have introduced the infection into your bird-room by importing diseased birds. The lesions were not very advanced, the exciting cause of death in each case being acute pneumonia, the present cold damp weather acting adversely on a weakened system. You must expect further loss. Segregation of healthy from diseased is the only method of procedure. Medicinal treatment is futile. Unfortunately it is not easy to discriminate between the healthy and diseased, and many apparently healthy to outward appearance may have the infection without manifesting it. Disinfection must be very thorough also.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

Catching at Carlisle (Hopeful).—You should send 1½d. to Messrs. Wyman, Ltd., printers, Fetter Lane, London, E.C., for a copy of the Wild Birds Protection Act, applying to your own district; this will give you the close time and a list of the protected species. You can catch unprotected birds by any means, providing cruelty is not used. You must release protected birds if inadvertently caught.

Protected Birds (British Birds).—You certainly are not entirely prohibited from purchasing and offering for sale protected birds, providing you can prove they are not "recently taken" (i.e., have been caught over a month). Report of case in this week's issue will interest you.

Cuttings (G. Grant and others).—Many thanks; will utilise paragraphs should space permit.

Notes and a Photo (E. Floyd).—We are very much obliged to you, and shall hope to find a place for the photo, etc., in our next issue.

A Photograph (F. Botwood).—We should have been glad to reproduce photograph, but unfortunately it is not nearly clear enough (it seems to have quite faded). Could you not send us a clear (sharp) print on ordinary silver paper? Thanks for your kind letter.

A Redpoll Cage (Rik).—We will endeavour to deal with this matter in our next issue.

Novice and Champion Birds (Ex-Midland Novice).—What club do you refer to by "C.C.C."—the Cinnamon or the Crested Canary Club?

Falkirk Show (G. Smart).—Many thanks for your notes. A report had reached us from the secretary.

Eccles Show (H. W. Jones).—Shall be very glad to have the photograph, if it comes out satisfactorily.

Owing to some unfortunate mischance the "copy" for the answers to British Bird and Hybrid Queries has gone astray, and we have to ask the kind indulgence of querists while Mr. Weston re-writes them for our next issue.

At Liverpool Show.

What a fine system they have here for returning the birds; all exhibits were on rail before six p.m., and if any do not land home the same night it is not the society's fault. Even the local birds were out, and the workers doing full justice to a splendid repast at 8 p.m. There's smartness for you. The society is greatly indebted to the following fanciers, who kindly gave a hand in packing up: Mrs. Nimmo, Mrs. T. R. Jones, and Messrs. J. Abbott, J. Burns, Wm. Mallinson, W. Young, W. Carruthers, T. R. Jones, J. Lloyd, W. Parsons, G. Bell, W. H. Atherton, and last, but not least, that fine worker, Mr. Geo. Green, secretary of the G.C.A.

Dainty Note-Paper for Fanciers.

With each number of this week's CAGE BIRDS readers should see that they obtain the novelty supplement, which consists of four sheets of notepaper ornamented with pictures of birds. It is hoped that this supplement will prove useful to all our readers. Those who make regular use of our advertising columns, or who are recognised bird-breeders, or secretaries of cage-bird clubs and societies, may have a supply of these sheets of note-paper at the rate of fifty for four penny stamps. We have only a limited number of the sheets, so that application for same will need to be made early. Write The Publisher, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

Notes from Erin.

VERY few societies at their initial venture can lay claim to the success which attended the Holywood Society on November 5. Mr. F. T. Cole, the courteous secretary was ably assisted by a hard working committee. The Bruce Challenge Cup was won hy Mr. T. Dunwoody, with a Yorkshire cock, bred by him this season. I understand that Holywood had the promised support of the Norwich fanciers in the North, and it is regrettable to find that they disappointed the committee. However, the venture proved a great success, and exceeded the committee's greatest expectations. I trust this will encourage them to hold an open show.

I HEAR that there is some little misunderstanding in ranks of the Norwich fanciers. Is there any reason why practically the whole of a certain body of fanciers refrain from supporting a show owing to something alleged to have been said respecting one fancier? Would it not be better if there was any unpleasantness re an exhibitor for that man's society to take the matter up and decide whether he was guilty or not? If his innocence was established that would at once put matters straight, and the accuser would deserve to be expelled from our ranks.

BANBRIDGE held a very successful show; entries were better than last year. Mr. Neill and Mr. Barclay are to be congratulated on having won the challenge cups for best Canary in show and best British bird in show respectively, the former with a lovely Scotch Fancy and latter with his well-known Goldfinch, "Pride of Erin." This name is very appropriate, as the hird is indeed a beauty, and has many admirers throughout Ireland.

I SINCERELY regret to say that our old friend, Mr. Hamilton, the courteous and energetic secretary, became ill during first day of show, and was obliged to be medically treated. However, he resumed his duties in a few hours, and we trust that his self-sacrifice did not do him any harm. We hope that he is now quite recovered. This explains the reason of marked catalogues not having been received with the usual promptitude. Old fanciers and exhibitors attended from far and near, and a very pleasant time was spent.

CLOSED RING.

Under the White Rose.

THE series of Yorkshire Union shows are proceeding apace. Manningham, the sixth on the list, took place on Saturday week, and the record for the season (as far as it has gone) was attained—an average of over 19 per class. My word! it was a treat to see the smiles on the faces of the officials when they were fixing up for the show on the Friday night. They have worked very hard for a number of years to try and get a real good show, and success has at last crowned their persistent efforts; they truly deserve all they have attained.

TWO items in the correspondence columns of a recent issue have interested me very much; firstly, the one in regard to the charges of the railway companies for birds as excess luggage; secondly, the one under the heading of "Secretaries, please note," the portion in the latter in regard to sending birds home again at a stated time from a show striking me forcibly. It is only during the last few years that the fanciers in my district have had to pay carriage for birds, when they themselves took charge of them on their way to and from shows. Now, however, at some stations when the officials know there is a show on, a special man is told off to see that no persons with show cases pass through without paying carriage on them. Then in regard to the note about sending birds back in good time, it is more often the fault of the railway officials. Many times have I known birds to be at a station several hours, during which time maybe several trains will have gone out, and from the sheer—(I can't find a word had enough)—of the railway servants they are left till the last train. As an example of this I will take last Saturday night and the L. and Y. railway station at Bradford. At 11 p.m. a little knot of fanciers gathered together to await the advent of the last train from Liverpool, due at 11.22, but as usual it was late, arriving at a few minutes to 12; this necessitated a walk of an hour and a quarter at least for several members of the party. What made the wait much harder was the knowledge that the birds were at the station in time to come home two trains earlier than they did.

New Aviary for Leeds.

Still another attraction has been added to Roundhay Park (Leeds)—an aviary—says the "Yorkshire Evening Post." Situated in a corner of the Canal Gardens a few yards from the entrance, it as an artistic little green-painted wooden structure with a trellis-work front and roof. Inside there is a background of foliage, and two or three small trees and plants are dotted about inside the aviary. Adjoining is a small shed where in cold weather the birds will be able to nestle in warmth and safety. The collection, which is the gift of Mr. Frank Somers, who is president of the Leeds Bird Club, and a prominent member of the Foreign Bird Club, has been drawn chiefly from his own aviaries. There are both English and foreign birds, including Cockatiels, Redrump Parrakeets, Blackheaded Conures, green and yellow Budgerigars, Canaries of many varieties, Chaffinches, Bullfinches, Linnets, and Goldfinches. In a few weeks are to be added a number of Love Birds and some rare Doves. Mr. Somers hopes the aviary will be of special interest to the school children in the district who are taking up nature studies.

A C.C.C. Problem.

SIR, I should like to know if a member of the C.C.C. Champion Section can exhibit birds in novice class at C.C.C. Club shows (or novice classes at non-club shows), which are entered as the property of his children?

The Crystal Palace 1911 Show.

SIR,—I again have the pleasure to announce the receipt of £3 3s. from the Victorian Canary Society and Mr. F. White, to be given as special prizes at the Palace Show as under:—10s. 6d. for best Norwich Plainhead, 10s. 6d. best Crest, 10s. 6d. Crestbred, 10s. 6d. Yorkshire, 10s. 6d. Cinnamon, 10s. 6d. Lizard. I am asked to acknowledge same in your paper, CAGE BIRDS; also to convey the kind regards of Mr. White to all friends in England.

Nine Redpoll-Bullfinch Hybrids Hatched.

SIR,—A cock Redpoll and hen Bullfinch, house-moulted by me last year, were paired up for Hybrid breeding with the following results: 1st, nest of 5 eggs, clear; 2nd nest, 6 eggs, 4 hatched, 1 unfertile, 1 dead in shell. The four young hatched I reared up till 9 days old and lost them. Third nest, 6 eggs, 5 hatched, 1 unfertile egg. Reared the 5 up till 11 days, and then lost them. The foster parents refused to take any notice of the young after 10 days (by one hen) and 9 days (by the other hen). Better luck next season I hope.

Birds as Excess Luggage.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Colley's letter, I still think that by appointing delegates to attend a meeting that we would be assured of more success than by a petition alone. To fight this monopoly, I say we must have both, so as to lay the true facts clearly before the directors of the various railway companies. My opinion is that a conference must be held in every Centre where the railways have headquarters, each meeting of delegates to pass resolutions as previously stated. Let each act in union, and I think the railway companies cannot but see that it is to their own advantage to grant us redress in reducing their charges, giving instructions to their servants to be more careful when handling our stock, etc. Let me here urge all cage bird societies in every part to have meetings and petitions drawn up—a name sheet wherein every member, I am sure, will sign his name. At shows held between now and the New Year, a sheet could be sent round and have every name added that can possibly be got. These sheets to be passed into the hands of the delegate selected to attend the conference. I would suggest the Scottish National on December 31 for we fanciers in the east of Scotland (also a radius around). From the meeting of delegates a few could be selected to approach the directors and lay our claims for redress before them. The advice tendered by "A.B." to place the matter in the hands of the R.S.P.C.A. is a good one, as I have proved, although it does not always act.

Alleged Stained Linnets at York Show.

SIR,—I notice that two gentlemen have apparently interested themselves re the above. My two birds being 3rd and vhc in this class, I went to lay an objection, and was told by the secretary that all objections must be made before 4 p.m. on Friday, first day of show. This is very unfair, and doesn't give the working man a chance, who cannot get on a Friday. Why not be able to object until the close of the show? The Linnets referred to, were, in my opinion, most disgusting and glaring examples. Both birds were absolutely discoloured. Even inexperienced eyes could see that something was wrong. It is a disgrace for this kind of thing to be allowed, as some fine birds were kept out of the cards through these second-raters being, in my opinion, stained. What can we expect when such birds are passed unheeded by the judges and placed in the money? If it can be stamped out, the judges are the men to do it, but as long as they take no notice of it there will always be faking, followed by the ruin of our hobby. If the judges fancy a faked bird, why not have a class for artificial and one for normal colored birds, as your correspondent suggested? Your correspondent hoped some official of the Y.C.B.B. and Mule Club was present at the show. I might tell him the president was there, and being a member myself, his attention was drawn to the birds alleged to have been faked, and I hope the matter will be brought up at the next meeting of the club and the offender (if the charge can be proved) made an example of.

JOHN BEATTIE.

SIR,—Re the letters of Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Simpson in CAGE BIRDS concerning alleged stained Linnets at York show, we cannot let this pass without a word. It is not the first time we have had similar complaints made, and we shall try to get to the bottom of it at our next meeting, as we think it is very unfair both to amateurs and novices alike to have to stand down to these birds. If a bird is not good enough to win without this faking, then let us stop showing and have done with it. A Linnet is good enough and nice enough without the staining pot. We shall certainly not let this pass without trying our utmost to stop same, if proved (we think it can be done), and feel it our duty to see to same as secretaries of the York County B.B. and M.C. We hope you will see your way to insert this letter, as we think all members should have this brought to their notice. We shall go in for having all points gained stopped if anyone is found out.

P. JOWETT,
For Messrs. Lane and Jowett, Hon. Secs., Y.C.B.B. and M.C.

SIR,—Being an old reader of CAGE BIRDS, also exhibitor of British, I have followed with interest the letters that have appeared on the alleged staining of exhibition Linnets. My reason for writing is to dispel the idea that several of our winning Linnets are stained. No doubt most of the writers are disappointed exhibitors, who possibly do not know how to feed their Linnets to get that rich nutty brown so much desired in exhibition specimens. There are several wild seeds that will not only make them rich in colour, but if not given carefully will bring them too deep. I will not say that there is no staining done, but I can assure readers it is not carried on to the extent that some of our writers imagine. If those disappointed exhibitors will only use the wild seed that can be obtained they will never think of staining to get colour. I trust these few remarks will dispel the idea that we have to stain to win.

F. J. WICKHAM (Chatham).

SIR,—Seeing the two letters in CAGE BIRDS re the Linnets at York show, I am very pleased someone has come forward who dare speak his mind. It is quite time a stop was put to the practice by either stopping guilty persons from showing, or exposing them. It is a regular occurrence to find faked birds at the members' shows in York, and always with the prizes on. It has been the means of a good many fanciers leaving the society, and has prevented a good lot from joining. Surely it cannot be that such practices are tolerated by the officials at York? The sooner this is ended the better, as I am sure there are a lot of good fanciers in York who would show straight, and could soon get another society and show going, as the straight ones who have some good British will have nothing to do with either the society or the show. I am not a disappointed exhibitor, as I had not a bird entered, knowing I was not talented enough as an artist. Let the birds be shown with their natural plumage, and let the best bird get the prize, not to depend on what the fancier who is showing can put on it. It is to be hoped that those with the power to stop this way of showing will do so at once, and let the fakers either show straight or not show at "

EBOR.

SIR,—I see there were some alleged stained Linnets at York show. I have been a Linnet fancier for 24 years and an exhibitor for 20 years in the Isle of Man, but I never see here such coloured Linnets as I saw at a show this month in England. The first and second birds had not a breast-mark; they were small, tame, and red-hot in colour, and their beaks were black, and they were not in condition for the colour they carried. When you see a very high coloured Linnet at this time of the year and his beak jet black, the painter has been near. At the show I was at, one fancier was heard to say to the other that he could smell the carbolic of the first and second Linnets. The owners are big men in their own way.

E. GALE.

A Problem for British Bird Fanciers.

SIR,—I entered two White-throats at the Bristol C.B.S. show for the British bird cup. I find they were disqualified for not being cage-moulted. I took them from the nest when between 10 and 12 days old. I should like to know what the judge calls "cage-moulted"; also some of our other British bird fanciers. I asked the question at the last meeting of the society, whether a bird fed from the nest was cage-moulted. The chairman said, "Yes."

JESSE MAGGS.

A Linnet Singing Challenge.

SIR,—I went to the Prince Albert Linnet Association, Newtown, Leeds, on the 13th inst., to enter my Linnet. Although I got there before the contest was over (the last pair of birds were being sung) they refused to let me sing, after travelling 57 miles. I sent them a letter on the 11th inst., two days before the contest (letter enclosed), but unfortunately the landlady did not give them the letter until I got there. Now if I had not sent any letter at all, they ought to have let my bird sing after travelling all these miles. I was there at 2.5. What a difference at the King's Head. I also visited there, and won 1st prize. They made me heartily welcome, as they do all visitors. I beg to thank them. Now, instead of the Prince Albert brigade making me welcome, they felt more inclined to make a match with me, a Mr. Solomon being foremost in this respect. Now, I will sing Mr. Soloman from £2 to £10 (quality singing, length, turns, and form) from 1 minute to 1 hour. We both pick a judge each, and the editor to pick a third judge from Blackburn or Wigan. It will not be fair for me to journey 57 miles again to sing him, neither will it be fair for him to journey to Hull, so I will meet him (any time and any day, except Sunday) at Selby. This town is 20 miles from Leeds and 37 from Hull. I enclose P.O. 10s. to make the match, £10 match preferred, the winner to pay the judges £1 each. The stakes can be increased to £20 if desired. I hope Mr. Soloman will cover this 10s. and let us get to business.

FRED ALLEN.

Redmites and How to Trap Them.

SIR, I am just writing to let your readers know that I tried the way to trap red mite that was mentioned in CAGE BIRDS by Mr. J. Ray. I found it answered just as he said it would. I could never find out what was the matter with a Canary; it had stopped singing. So I put a small pot of water under the bird at night, and there were dozens of mites in the water by the morning. So readers may know how to find out if there are any red mites in any of their cages.

White Canaries in New Zealand.

SIR,—I thought your readers might be interested to know that I have a second pure White Canary, now (October 6) a fortnight old. It was one of a nest of four, the other three being very pale buff. I wrote to you last year telling you I had a pure white hen (except for a small cheek mark), when I saw the account of the bird Mr. Kiesel exhibited at the Palace show. As it is quite the beginning of the season with us in New Zealand, I am hopeful of getting some more before breeding is over, in which case I shall write to CAGE BIRDS and let you know.

Marked Drinkers at the Bristol F. S. Show.

SIR,—I was very pleased to see Mr. W. T. Smith's remarks in your last issue re the drinkers enamelled white inside at the recent Bristol Fanciers Show. I do not dispute that his yellow hen was worthy of its position, but Mr. Smith's exhibit was not the only exhibit in the champion Norwich section which had drinkers on, marked in the same way as his. I think, Mr. Smith, you must admit that if there were no such distinguishing marks then there could be no cause for complaint against either exhibitor or judge under this heading, and I feel sure that shows would benefit thereby. You suggest that I should have brought this matter before the C.B.U. I would like to enlighten you of the fact that this show was not held under the C.B.U.'s rules. Even if it had been, what would be the use of reporting this matter, when the C.B.U. is only waiting for its burial? I would like you to look through the rules of the Southern Norwich Plainhead Club and other similar clubs, and see what they have to say re distinguishing marks. Then I think you could come to no other conclusion than that the practice of enamelling drinkers white (or any other colour) inside is an irregular one, and should be discontinued. Your excuse, Mr. Smith, for enamelling yours I consider a paltry one, as when you can purchase these drinkers at the trifling sum of 9d. per dozen (which will last two years), surely it is not worth going to the expense of using enamel for the inside and thereby causing your exhibit to have (as I claim) a distinguishing mark.

A VISITOR.

British Goldfinches at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—It is really amusing to read Mr. Bald's letter re the disqualification mark on the cages. I frankly admit there was no mark on my cage. But will he explain how, after selecting the best birds in this class, he put the cage containing my Finch first? It stood in that position until he had made up the number according to prizes awarded. Did he not then consult Mr. Pettigrew, and after discussing the matter shelve the Finch? Does that not look like a disqualified mark, although he had not the courage of his conviction to write the word on the cage? I only wish he had done so, and there would have been more about it. But, to refresh his memory, when I came along to the class when Mr. McQuiston, of Ayr, was speaking to him, I enquired of him the cause, and his reply was: "It is a German." My reply was, did he not know the difference between a Finch and a German sausage, as there was no trace of a foreign Finch about it? Now, Mr. Bald, as already stated, the value of the prize was nothing to me; the stigma of being looked upon as descending so low as to show a Finch that was not as stated, caused me to explain matters. I may mention that I have shown birds for the last twenty-eight years, and surely after that time Mr. Bald could not look upon me as a disappointed exhibitor? I know well you can't win at every show, and where justice is done no one can have cause to complain. I can only thank Mr. John Cuthbertson, who is unknown to me, for his letter on the subject, which proves beyond doubt the Finch was a genuine British one, and it will clear me from this matter.

A. PORTEOUS.

Suggested National Foreign Bird Show.

SIR,—It is indeed a pity that more classes are not provided for Foreign birds than is the case at most of the shows affecting to cater for these beautiful creatures; and what few classes are provided are in many instances totally unsuited to the requirements of most Foreign-bird-keepers. The result generally is that only a few birds turn up. And yet visitors to most of the shows, and especially non-fanciers, think a great deal of the birds, and are often to be found crowding around the Foreign bird classes. Good and well-filled classes are often the means of starting young bird lovers in this branch of aviculture. Is it not possible for all lovers and keepers of Foreign birds to unite together and have a large national show, say, at the Palace, during the next summer (summer being probably the best time of the year at which to hold one)? If a good, strong committee were formed and all classes guaranteed, the result no doubt would be a capital show. Many a noted lover of these birds might be approached on this subject, and their help and support I feel sure would be given. This might be the means of getting some of the rarest birds on view. I do hope these few lines will be well considered by all lovers and keepers of these most beautiful birds, who ought to try to establish a great annual show at some popular and central place. I am quite aware that the Crystal Palace Show has a good classification, but often those classes are not well filled; and, besides, it is generally very cold at that time, and would not be like holding a show in the summer months. I should much like to know other fanciers' opinions on this subject.

LOVE BIRD.

Sixty Miles in 24 Hours.

SIR,—It might interest some of your readers to know how long it took my birds to reach Stonehouse show. They left Earlston station at 2.10 on the Friday afternoon, and arrived at Stonehouse at 2.35 on the Saturday afternoon. Rather quick work, considering it is only about 60 miles! I don't profess to be much of a walker, but I think I could have walked it in the time. Of course, the railway company charged rate and half, and, of course, I have to lose my entry money, 4s. 6d. Mr. Kirkman, the stationmaster here, has written twice to find out where they have been delayed, but has got no reply yet. However, I am going to sue the company. I wish CAGE BIRDS the success it deserves.

Perch Holder for Box Cages.

Sent by Mr. R. W. Willis, 43, Clay Street, Gorton, Manchester

Here is an idea for doing away with falling perches in a box cage. Any fancier can make the contrivance with a piece of cage wire and a pair of pliers. I have been using these holders for the last two years. You slip them on the wooden strip at the bottom of the wire front ¼ inch from sides, the square ends of perch to fit in. It is easily removed for cleaning, and can be put back in a few moments; it also does away with the necessity for nailing through sides or fitting in tight when the perches are liable to fall down, and the birds cannot reach the seed or water.—R. W. WILLIS.

No. 463.

A Hinge for Show Cages.

Sent by Mr. W. R. Hardie, 129, High Street, Dumbarton.

I send you a sketch of a small hinge, suitable for the doors of show cages or top lids of same. The hinge is cut from tin. Fig. 1 shows how it is first cut. Place a piece of cage wire between and turn over flaps (as in Fig. 2); take your pliers and press flaps close in to the wire and on the turned in side, a very neat shape is formed.

Don't press flaps from side, or the dents will go to opposite sides. Press flat down. The holes are made, and the hinge is complete, as in Fig 3. Of course, the wire is cut off close at both ends, after the flaps have been pressed down. The hinge will be found to work very freely, and has the advantage of not clogging with varnish or paint, besides being inexpensive. —WILLIAM R. HARDIE.

THE SHOWS.

BOURNEMOUTH.

Nineteenth annual show of the Bournemouth C.B.A., held Nov. 16th and 17th, Artillery Drill Hall, a grand place for a bird show, being well lighted, commodious and free from draughts. Unfortunately most of the open Canary classes were cancelled, but the British and Foreign birds came up well, and made a good display; the quality, too, was tip-top. The members' classes were well up in numbers, and in most of them the quality was first-rate. The staging was nicely draped with red bunting, which gave it a very nice effect, and a good body of fanciers paid every attention to the exhibits. The show was opened by Mrs. Oyers in a very neat and appropriate speech, and she was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of choice flowers presented on behalf of the society by a daughter of one of the members. Mr. W. O. Brooke was the hard-working hon. sec.; he was, one might say, the persouification of tact and courtesy. Mr. G. W. Jones makes an admirable chairman of committee. The awards were made by Mr. J. H. Payne.

BODMIN.

Bodmin society's 18th annual show, held Market Hall, November 16th. The cage birds numbered about 200, and were admirably staged in the coolest part of the hall, which was heated to a comfortable extent. The quality of exhibits was well up to previous standards, several well-known winners at West Country shows being staged. The arrangements made by the committee were in every respect up-to-date. The secretarial duties were in the able hands of Mr. A. E. Jago, who was assisted by Messrs. H. D. Foster, E. V. George and R. L. Randall. Mr. Thomas Pope (Plymouth) judged.

ALNWICK (Northumberland).

Alnwick and Dist. C.B.S. 3rd annual show held Town Hall, November 16th. The hall is a good one for cage birds, being high, airy, and well ventilated and lighted. For a young society the management is to be congratulated on their success, for, although young, they appear an experienced lot, very obliging, and ever ready to do anything for exhibitors. In Mr. Forster they possess an able secretary; he is well backed up by an energetic lot of helpers, who, under his guidance, seemed to have everything in its proper place. The entries were a record, not only in numbers, but in quality, too, tip-toppers being staged in all sections; and we have no hesitation in saying it is one of the best all-round shows between Tyne and Forth. Fancy, Norwich averaged 20, Borders 18, and Yorkshires 15 per class; and British, etc., were equally as good. There was quite a host of visitors at the show when we left early in the afternoon. Mr. T. Dixon (Bedlington) judged Canaries, and Mr. J. Muddison (Newcastle) the remainder, and their awards left little to be complained about.

CAMBUSLANG.

This old fixture was held 5th Nov. Free Gardeners' Hall. The entries were greatly in advance of former years, while the quality was up to the usual standard. Mr. Coutts makes the proper secretary for this society, being of a cheery and obliging nature, and always on the spot. That he is popular amongst fanciers of the district is easily seen when one gets to know how the society has flourished under his control. They would be well advised to keep a firm hold of him, and to give him all the help and support he deserves. Everything was in apple-pie order and the venture proved a great success, which ought to speak for itself as to the manner in which the show was conducted. Mr. D. Hamilton made the awards, and in most cases his decisions were well received, although in regard to his selection of a Border Fancy as cup winner for best young bird in hall, some were of the opinion it should have gone to the colour fed buff Nurwich cock exhibited by Mr. Proudfoot.

The Critique.

YOUNG NOR. CK., CL., ETC. 1, 2, 3, 4, all went to a fine team exhibited by Mr. G. Proudfoot, 1st large upstanding specimen, best of col, well put down, pressed hard for cup as best young bird, 2nd nat. col, fine exhibit, well staged, 3rd well placed. HEN: 1, White, nat. col. bull, nice one; 2, Wilson, real good yell., deserving place; 3, 4, Proudfoot, 3rd another nice one, well placed. VARIEG., ETC., CK.: 1, 2, White, 1st upstanding var. yell, 2nd another var., beaten only in size and substance; 3, Lindsay, green, just a bit open at front; 4, Wilson. HEN: 1, White, smallish, but typical broken green; 2, Wilson, large, just a trifle loose in feather; 3, McCutcheon. BORD. CK., CL., ETC.: 1, McDermiad, real typical tkd. yell, wins, tight and fit; 2, S. Lindsay, another nice one, good second; 3, J. Lindsay; 4, Wilson. HEN: 1, McDermiad, sweet little lady, wins here; 2, J. Lindsay, some preferred, good one all over; 3, 4, Cougan, 3rd nicely feathered, fails only in head. CK. VARIEG.: 1, Brownlee, fine tight little fellow, good one, well staged; 2, Lappin, another nice one, just a trifle thin in neck, well placed; 3, McDermad, another var. following hard for 2nd place; 4, Wilson, very natty little Bor. HEN: 1, cup for best young bird in Hall, 2, Brownlee, 1st nice one, neat markings, 2nd some thought a better one all over, fine and tight, typical; 3, McDermiad, quite a nice one; 4, Cougan, wee bit behind leaders. YORKS CK.: 1, 2, Lappin, two really good birds, fine position and length, A1 quality feather. A.O.V. CAN.: 1, 2, Allan; 3, Wilson. MULE VAR.: I, 2, 3, Haddow, good team, well put down. MULE DARK: I, 2, 3, Haddow, another creditable turnout of Mules from the same stable. OLD NOR. HEN: 1, 2, Lindsay, 1st real good one for type, well put down, 2nd beaten in size only; 3, White, well placed, just a little behind; 4, Proudfoot. BORD. CK.: 1, 4, Lappin, 1st stylish little chap, in the best of form, true Border, 4th good one, scarcely in such spanking form as leaders; 2, McDermiad, nice one; 3, Wilson, sweet one, must have pressed for 2nd place. HEN: 1, 4, Lappin, 1st sweet little lady, wins well, tight as wax, rare pose, 4th nice one, worth her place; 2, McDermiad, good one, just a little faulty in neck; 3, Cougan, guod one, nice 3rd. YORKS: 1, 2, Lappin, two well drawn rare lengthy exhibits that could hold up their heads anywhere; 3, Wilson, quite a nice Yorkie. GOLDIE CK.: 1, A. Wilson good one, fine size, good in whites and tans, well staged; 2, Haddow, fails only in blaze and markings to leader, good one; 3, J. Lindsay, quite a nice one, well placed; 4, Wilson. BULLIE CK.: 1, Cougan, quite a nice one, in good trim; 2, McCulloch, good 2nd, HEN: 1, Proudfoot, real high-class one, fine expansive cap, well defined bars, put down with a polish like a glass; 2, Cougan, another nice one, in capital form, well placed; 3, Lindsay, following tight on heels of 2nd; 4, Wilson, also creditable. LINNET: 1, Lindsay, wins, in fine form, lovely chestnut markings and well pencilled; 2, 3, McCulloch, 2nd good one, not quite the polish or finish of leader, 3rd good; 4, Brownlie. GREENFINCH: I, 3, McCulloch, leader fine size, tight as boxwood, good one; 2, Lindsay capital 2nd, seemed not quite so steady as winner; 4, Wilson. LESSER REDPOLL: 1, 2, McCulloch, both perky little fellows, not much to choose between them, in A1 order; 3, McDermiad not quite so well pencilled, nice one; 4, Brownlie, good 4th. MEALY REDPOLL, ETC.: 1, Wilson, wins well, good one; 2, McDermiad, well up and well placed; 3, J. Lindsay, must have pressed for 2nd position; 4 McDermiad, not far behind. MULE OR HYB. HEN: 1, J. Lindsay, good one, well put down, in fine form, wins well; 2, McDermiad, another nice one; 3, Wilson, well placed good exhibit; 4, Brownlie, quite a nice one. A.O.S. SMALL BRIT.: 1, Haddow; 2, J. Lindsay; 3, 4, Wilson. FOR.: I, 2, 3, 4, A. Wilson, fine team of small Foreign, well put down.

KIRKBURTON.

Kirkburton and Dist. F.S. 4th annual open show, held Nov. 12, Drill Hall. The room is a good one in every respect in which to hold a good show. WEST BROMWICH.

West Bromwich C.B.S. (affiliated to the C.B.U.), 4th annual show, held November 16. The function had the patronage of the M.Y.C.C.C. A capital room of good light, free from draughts, attached to the Dartmouth Hotel, was the venue. The schedule was of good classification, and 17s. 6d. per class was offered as prize money. No classes were cancelled, and there was no amalgamation. The total number of entries was 288. President, G. Keys, Esq.; vice presidents, W. J. Bassett, Esq., and W. Jackson, Esq. Chairman, Mr. G. Cooper; vice-chairman, Mr. J. L. Beck, a brace of capable controllers. The committee consists of a band of very willing workers, who did their level best to keep the ball rolling, and great praise is due to Messrs. De Maillet, Andrews, Dunn, Taylor, Palmer, Duffield, Groves, and Capewell. The general secretaries are Messrs. Jenning and Viles, both of whom are to be highly complimented upon their exertions. Mr. H. T. Collier, show secretary and manager, is the right man in the right place; he is courteous and obliging, and is very practical. The benching of the exhibits was of a very neat description. Stewards: Messrs. Jones, Andrews, Russell, Beck, Taylor, Groves, and Cooper; they all worked with a will, and as each class was adjudicated upon, cards were displayed. The show room was nicely decorated with various plants, and so forth, which gave a pleasing effect. The members' classes contained some nice specimens. Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) judged, and his placings were well received.

CROYDON AND DIS. F.A.

Show held Nov. 10th, St. Michael's Hall, West Croydon. This is a newly formed society, and, considering the exceedingly short period for which it has been in existence, rapid strides have been made. The hon. secretary, Mr. A. C. N. Hewens, although modestly confessing that "he is not a fancier," has done more, and done it successfully, towards building up a good and successful society than many old fanciers could have done. There is a splendid band of committeemen. Mr. J. N. Sutton is chairman; Mr. H. O. Tarrant, vice; and Mr. D. W. Oliver holds the cash. The cage bird committee is made up of the following:—Messrs. G. Butter, W. Easton, F. Easton. For a first effort the show was an undoubted success, and many visitors attended during the afternoon and evening. Mr. C. E. Gunnell won special for best cage bird with a rattling fine Linnet, in splendid trim; special for 2nd best was taken by Mr. W. Easton; and 3rd best by Mr. F. Botell. Quality was good. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

NOR. CL.: spl. 2, Borell, both nice quality and good shape; 3, Spinner, rare col.; vhc, hc, c, Butter. NOR. FED.: 1, Bovell, very silky feather, fairly good shape. NOR., A.O.V.: 1, spl, 2, Botell, leader bouncing big buff variey., rich col., just trifle free, but rare quality. YORKS. CL.: 1, 2, W. Easton, the leader best in style and quality. YORKS., A.O.V.: 1, 2 spls, 2, W. Easton, leader very typical green Yorks., stands up well, nice points. MULES: 1, W Easton, big, fine Greenfinch-Can.; 2, 3, vhc, Gunnell, nice team. GOLDIES: 1, 2, 3, Gunnell, winner wide in blaze and deep in wing bars, nicely buttoned, will be more lustrous later. BULLIES: 1, 2, 3, Gunnell, three beautiful Finches, not a great deal to choose; vhc, Greest. LINNET: 1, 3 spls, 2, vhc, Gunnell, winner beautiful markings, not the biggest, but close as wax in feather, steady, nutty, and well posted; 3, Botell, not so rich col.; hc, Greest; c, Robinson. A.O.S.: 1, 2, 3, Gunnell, rattling fine Chaffinch, lustrous Bramhling, nicely bibbed and col. Siskin in the order named.

GLASTONBURY.

Seventh annual show, held Nov. 16th, Assembly Rooms. The cage birds were beautifully staged in a separate room with that well known fancier, Mr. J. J. Brain, as section secretary. Mr. E. W. Radford, the general sec., is to be congratulated on his excellent management and the capital show. Mr. Telling judged, and gave every satisfaction.

A Magnificent Show in the Midlands.

Nottingham beats last year's figures by over 250 ent ies. A fine display of quality birds and the usual grand "gate."

The 29th annual exhibition (under C.B.U. rules), of the Nottingham and Notts. O.S., took place on Saturday and Monday, November 12 and 14. The schedule issued by this very enterprising society was, as usual, excellent—capital prize money, 22s. per class, and in the foreign sections 20s. per class, along with specials and extra specials galore. The response to this liberality was an entry of 900, an increase upon last year's total of over 250 exhibits.

As in years gone by, most of the well-known specialist clubs tendered their patronage, including the Crested C.C., Norwich P.C., National British Bird and M.C., Foreign B.C., Lancashire and Lizard F.A., Lancashire C.A., and the Cinnamon C.C.

The Mechanics' Lecture Hall, in which the exhibits were staged, is cosy and light (electricity at night), spacious, and absolutely free from draughts, is heated by hot water apparatus, and stands in close proximity to the G.N.R. and G.C.R. stations—an exceptionally good venue for such a function.

The President is Col. Sir Chas. Seely, Bart.; the Committee of Management comprises many well-known fanciers who are ably led by a brace of very enthusiastic personalities in Mr. R. Rhodes (chairman), and Mr. G. C. Ley (vice-chairman). Both work very hard indeed, and are courteous in the highest degree. The extent of the assistance they render the society can hardly be conveyed by words; truly they are officials of which a society may justifiably be proud. Honourable mention is also due to the following, whose activity and practical knowledge were well to the fore, and who executed their duties in masterly fashion:—Messrs. G. Alton, T. Barker, J. Bertie, L. Burrows, A. Cooper, W. Cottingham, J. Goode, G. Hill, J. H. Northage, I. Onion, E. Wolfe, and G. A. White, The hon. solicitor is F. Berryman, Esq.; hon. auctioneer, G. H. Scothern, Esq., who render very generous services. Last, but by no means least, is our worthy friend Mr. G. E. Wilkinson, the hon. secretary. What a pleasure it is to meet him year by year. Would there were more in the Fancy as practical and as correct in their management of an open show. His gift one might call unique straight away; then you have it "in a nut-shell." The Nottingham fanciers are highly favoured in having at their command such an expert official.

Turning to the various sections, one hardly feels safe in awarding the palm to any one variety. The catalogue opened with Norwich, and we had a magnificent collection of Plainheads, most of the crack birds putting in an appearance. With their type, quality, colour, and substance, the most fastidious could not help but be fully satisfied. Next came the Crests and Crestbreds. One always expects to see the "cream" at this annual carnival. Year after year the very best are present, and what massive and meritorious creatures we saw to-day. Keen as a razor's edge was the competition in most of the classes; no wonder, when such exhibitors place their representatives against each other as Mrs. E. L. A. Crow, Messrs. Geo. C. Ley, T. Taylor, Norwood Bros., Radley and Son, A. Lazarus, J. Turner, J. Shearman, Evins Bros., and F. G. Bale.

The Lancashires and Lizards, the "giants" and the "spangles," added greatly to the attractiveness of the show, most of the "toppers" being on view. Cinnamons, as was to be expected, this being the club show, contained the "gaffers." Shape, quality, and size one saw, along with colour of a deep bronze, and that brightness characteristic of up-to-date specimens.

The British, Hybrids, and Foreign, as usual at Nottingham, made a very fine show; we had rarity as well as quantity. The Mules were a capital lot. Among them we noticed standing second the usual talked about clear greenie Canary, which a judge recently passed at Plymouth show. The British classes were very keenly interested, quite two sets of winners could have been selected, and the judge must have had a very heavy task. Great interest was taken in Mr. Shuddock's Hoopoe.

The British and Mules were glorious. Our National songsters found many admirers, so delightfully were they staged, and so fine were they in condition. The Foreign, in their gorgeous raiment, provided a marvellous treat, and, as usual, captured the attention of most of the visitors, especially the fairer sex. The talking Parrots created great fun, with various items for their repertoires.

The birds were staged in excellent style, with ample room between each aisle, and those responsible for this neat arrangement are to be highly complimented. The stewards were Messrs. J. Goode, L. Burruws, J. H. Northage, G. Hill, G. C. Ley, J. Boaler, and T. Barker. Each and every one worked with a will, and deserves every credit.

Excellent stands of cages and other fanciers' requisites were occupied by Mr. E. Pass, the well known cage maker, of Hucknall Torkard, and Mr. W. Cottingham, of 9, Peveril Street, Nottingham. Their specialities and cages are thoroughly up to-date, and very low in price, and they commanded considerable attention from the fanciers and visitors present.

Amougst the many visitors present, we had pleasure in meeting with Messrs. J. W. Ramsden, A. Lazarus, J. Franz, R. J. Pretty, and G. Weston (London), R. Colton, J. Somerfield, J. Crookes (Sheffield), W. Vardy (Hucknall), J. A. Tyler (Leicester), Adnitt and Driver (South Normanton), S. Cook (Manchester), and a host of other "birdy" men from neighbouring towns.

We congratulate those who so charmingly decorated the various benches with ferns and other lovely foliage plants, which gave a pleasing aspect to the show room.

The management throughout was superb. The show opened in good time, and when we left, the room was well packed, pointing towards a successful financial issue.

Medal for best yell. Nor., shown by a member, went to Mr. W. Vardy, also the sp for best buff Nor. was captured by the same well-known exhibitor, with a couple of real clinkers, the latter being the Liverpool gold medal winner.

The judges were Messrs. T. Heath (London), Crests, Lancs., and Cinns.; J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), Norwich and Yorks.; Mr. J. F. Dewar (Edinburgh), Lizards, British and Hybrids.

Mr. J. C. Barnes' Classes.

NORWICH PLAINHEAD CLUB CUP COMPETITION.—CL., ETC. YELL. (10): 1, Davies, cl, regular stormer, winner of numerous firsts, we do not hesitate in saying by far the best yell. in the North of England; 2, hc, Vardy, lovely quality and col., magnificent shape and carriage, nice size, clean cut away, truly a gem of a cl.; 3, Seed, finely fed cl., good in substance and shape, neat wing carriage, not far away; 4, Marlor Bros., full of col., beautifully clotned, very typical, not quite so massive; v, Hargreaves. BUFF (15): 1, Davies, wonderful substance, magnificent shape, delightful col. feather shining like polished marble, a "knock-out"; 2, Fox, fine type, well up in size, rattling good head, neck, and chest, lovely quality, beaten slightly in richness of col.; 3, Whetstone, very massive, ablaze with col., capital front, grand head and neck, wee bit loose around thighs to-day, still good 3rd; 4, Howard and Sons, delightful quality and col., nice shape and carriage, not quite the substance of above, yet much liked; v, Oliver; h, J. and J. Hopkins; c, cook. TKD. YELL. (11): 1, Cook, noted wing marked for shape, col., and quality, all one can desire, substance well to the fore, carriage of the very best, real "stunner"; 2, 3, Davies, brace of "hot 'uns," former marked wings and eyes, rare size and quality, grand head and neck character, capital breadth and depth of front, clean sweep, very close up, latter marked wings, breast, and eye, smooth as a bottle, magnificent quality and col., grandly moulded, nice substance and carriage, capable of winning at most shows; 4, Fox (E.), prettily clothed var., ablaze with col., superb type, not the size certainly, but all there otherwise; v, Seed; h, Fox (T.); c, Vardy. BUFF (8): 1, 4, h, Vardy, trio of charmers, leader marked wing, eyes, and neck, real model, shoue like a mirror, delightful carriage, Liverpool gold medal winner; 4, marked eyes, very shapely, nice size, A1 quality, col., and frosting, very bonny; 3, Beardall and Walker marked wing and eyes, well up in substance, rattling type and quality, capable col., richly mealed; 2, Fox, thigh tick, monster, fine head, neck, and chest, good carriage, superior quality, hardly the col.; v, Seed; c, Hargreaves. YELL. HEN (11): 1, h, Vardy, magnificent cl., true type, lovely col., superb feather, quite a bewitching damsel, simply par excellence, gold medal winner at Liverpool for best in section; 2, 3, Cook, couple of enchanting lassies, former all there for type and quality, capital mover, just beaten in col. and substance; 3, warm col., good shape, neat expression of head, A1 wing carriage, worth its place; 4, Seed, finely built cl., rattling col., richly clothed, beaten a wee shade in type and finish; v, Jeyes; c, Beardall and Walker. BUFF (11): 1, E. Fox, cl., round as a ball, exquisite col., covered over with rich frosting, perfect carriage of flights and tail, well up in size; 2, 3, Vardy, cl., short and thick set, good substance and quality, not quite so rich in colour; 3, marked wings and eyes, feathered to perfection, magnificent col. and meal, true shape, not one of the biggest, but one of the very best; 4, Beardall and Walker, cl., lovely head, neck, and chest, rare substance, a bit longer in harrel, yet fine specimen; v, c, Trengove and Son; h, Smith. UNFLG., YELL. (17), rare class, and a couple of sets of winners could easily have been selected: 1, h, Oliver, looks like Manchester winner, and Liverpool second, cl, of superb col. and feather, correct shape, jaunty carriage, clean cut, real topper; 2, Hayhurst, cl., another magnificent specimen, full of fire, smooth as wax, well up in size, very close up indeed; 3, Davies, cl., fine substance, quality, and col., jaunty carriage, capital type, beaten just a little in finish; 4, ditto, cl., might be out of same nest, so near is it in merit to 3rd, in the pink, well put down; v, Trengove and Son; c, Wilson. BUFF (11): 1, Hopkins, cl., unsurpassable for quality, delightful col., wonderful shape, certainly not a monster, but a demon nevertheless, will make a "knock-out"; 2, 4,

Vardy, both cl., former hot in col., rare substance, very shapely, capital carriage, not far behind; hitter, rare feather, col., and frosting, nice head, neck, and chest, longer in barrel; 3, Hargreaves, cap marked, soft silky texture of feather, sweet shape, A1 col., very promising; v, Smith; h, T. Fox; c, Beardall and Walker. NAT. COL. HAMILTON (Cadzow Oaks).

Hamilton (Cadzow Oaks) O.S. annual show, held 12th November, when the executive were rewarded with the total entry of 422. The efforts of the officials certainly deserved much better support than this. May I suggest that perhaps this hall has something to do with it, for as a place for such an exhibition with the exception of being very central, the Town Hall has little to recommend it, being, for one thing, poorly lighted from the sides, which necessitated the artificial lights being turned on immediately judging was finished, and it was hard to distinguish the colour of the birds. Everything was in apple-pie order. The secretary, Mr. Cant, gave a good lead, going about his duties as if to the manner born, and earning nothing but high praise from all with whom he came into contact. The exhibits all over were high class, notably the Mules and British, as was only to be expected in this district, and it was this section that found most favour with the visitors, it being almost impossible to pass between the screens owing to the large crowds round the cages. Norwich Plainheads and Crests were of a good standard, and Mr. Marlin, the judge, got through his task to the satisfaction of the majority. The Border section, which contained some really good specimens, was in the hands of that well-known South country judge, Mr. Alexander. The winner of the B.F.C.C. medal turned up in the even mkd. staged by Mr. W. Shearer. Yorkshires were a good all-round lot. Length seemed to have been obtained even at the expense of other qualities, but we have no doubt that this fault will soon disappear. Mr. F. Bowman judged this section, and we heard no grumbling at all. The judge who was down for the British section—Mr. J. Sharp (Bathgate)—was unable to get through, and the secretary had to call on Mr. Clark (Larkhall) to do it, and he deserves great praise for the manner in which he went about his duties, his awards being all well received. The Dodds trophy for best bird in hall was carried off by Mr. Malcolmson's well-known Mule, Prince Chartie; special for runner-up went to the even-mkd. Border Fancy.

MARYHILL.

Maryhill and Dis. (Glasgow) 34th annual show held Burgh Halls, 12th Nov. Office-bearers: President, Mr. Fergusou; Vice-President, Mr. J. W. Andersou; Treas., Mr. A. Hannah; Secretary, Mr. G. Blackstock. Judges: Messrs. J. Dalgleish (Edinburgh) and J. Carlow (Falkirk). Entries were much the same as last year, and the quality was quite up to the average. The management and arrangement of the exhibits were excellent, and reflected much credit on Secretary Blackstock and Treas. Hannah, who worked hard and were ably supported by President Ferguson, Vice-President J. W. Anderson, and an efficient committee. Mr. A. Jardine's first yell. ck. was the blue ribbon winner for cks, winning club cup and silver rose bowl, presented by Mrs. McInnes Shaw, wife of the Lord Provost, for best ck. bird in hall, the same owner's first buff cock being runner-up. The rose bowl now becomes Mr. Jardine's own, he having won it 3 times. Mr. J. W. Anderson's first yell. hen was cup winner for best hen in hall. The Burgh Hall makes a comfortable showroom, with splendid light and ample room for visitors and exhibits alike. There was a slight falling off in the number of visitors on last year owing to counter attractions. The awards appeared to give all-round satisfaction. Several of the birds were claimed at catalogue prices.

DALZIEL O.A.

Annual show, held 29th Oct., Town Hall, Motherwell. There were over 300 entries. Mr. Hamilton's buff pied Scotch Fancy cock secured cup for best old bird. Mr. McInnes secured gold medal for best young bird with a grand young Crested hen. The 10/- special for runner up went to the young yellow Border cock. Mr. Paterson's young Linnet Mule is a stormer for colour and style, and easily secured special for best Mule or Hybrid. A number of prominent Mule fanciers have been after this bird, but Mr. Paterson has not just yet made up his mind to let him go. The president and committee, and the secretary, Mr. J. Mathieson, are all good fanciers, and the show is bound to be a great success financially. Mr. J. Lawrie (Govan) judged Scotch Fancy and Borders; and Mr. G. Smart (Carmyle) judged Crests, Plainheads, Mules, British, and Foreign. Their awards gave every satisfaction.

BATH AND DISTRICT F.A.

Young stock show held Corn Exchange, Nov. 3rd. Birds in our section staged in a room by themselves. The numbers were not so great as we should like to have seen considering the many valuable specials (monetary and otherwise). The bon. sec. (Mr. W. H. Knowles) worked hard to make the show a success, and had everything in good working order. The attendance in the evening was fair considering the wet weather. Special for best in show went to Mr. Tollwell's Yellow Norwich, which is a bird of grand type, colour, and quality, and should do well another time. Mr. W. G. Bull (Bristol) judged.

YORKS.: 1, 2, 3, vhc, H. Hussey, 1st nice yell., good quality and position, stands like a soldier; 2nd, yell., long-sided bird, rich col., nice round head; 3rd, Buff hen, grand quality feather, good wings and tail. NOR.: 1, 2, 3, vhc, Tollwell, 1st grand type yell., full of col., short in wings and tail, full neck, grand-shaped head; 2nd, good shape and quality, just beaten in col.; 3rd, splendid type yell., beautiful feather. WARRINGTON.

Warrington C.B.S. annual show held November 10th. It was decided this year to throw the show open to exhibitors within a ten-mile radius, but unfortunately it was not supported outside its own members. Eleven members put down about ninety birds; some really good birds that had won at Liverpool being on view. The secretary, Mr. Nelson, performed his duties in first-rate manner, and was greatly assisted by Mr. Knowles. Mr. J. W. Metcalfe (Liverpool) placed the awards, and left very little to grumble about.

MALTON NORTON.

Malton and Dist. Society 15th annual show held in Corn Exchange November 10th. Mr. G. M. Horsley, the hon. sec., had the birds nicely staged in good time, and his committee were very attentive to the wants of the exhibits. The Yorkshires were a fine lot, good quality being seen in all the classes. Britishers were a grand lot. Mr. W. Mundell (Bradford) placed the cards.

NORTH LONDON C.B.A.

Annual show held Nov. 4th and 5th, Library Hall, Church-street, Stoke Newington. It was a record for us, there being over 320 entries. Norwich and Yorks. were the special feature. British birds were a very fair display. The show was under the management of Mr. G. Mortlock, assisted by Messrs. Castell, Williams, and Cook, and members of the committee. We were favoured with a splendid attendance on both days. In the opinion of the judges it was one of the finest exhibitions for quality ever held in North London, and in several instances they had a difficult task to separate the winners. This was the first show for the London Federation gold medals, and 14 members competed. Winners of specials: Messrs. W. Franks, W. C. Penton, W. H. Ayling, A. J. A. Marley, A. T. Billingsley, S. Williams, A. C. Parks, C. Sadler, Forse and Son, H. E. Tringham, G. Mortlock, H. W. Cook, J. A. White, G. Langridge, P. W. Jeffries, F. Anson, T. Cawthorne, C. H. A. Bennett, W. Rolfe, T. Collins, and R. P. Harper. Judges, Messrs. J. Robson and A. Silver.

LUTON.

This show, held under C.B.U. rules, in the Plait Hall, on November 10th, was not accorded very hearty support so far as entries were concerned, but some nice quality exhibits put in an appearance. Mr. Pilbeam made a most obliging and energetic secretary, and he was well supported by his committee. Mr. G. H. Billett judged, and little fault could be found with his awards.

NOR. YELL. (10): 1, Spall, a beauty, rare shape, lovely col. and quality, and staged in the pink of condition; 2, Litchfield, rare col. and feather, shapely, but hardly so much of him; 3, Brewer, sound level col., nice shape, looked as though some of the soap had been left in; 4, Bowler; vhc, hc (2), Webb. BUFF (8): 1, 2, Webb, lovely shape, grand rich col., good quality of feather, latter not quite so good in wings, but rare body properties; 3, 4, Pedder, beautifully frosted on rich level colour, grandly feathered; vhc, Spall, Brewer; hc, Wilmot. UNFLI. HOLYWOOD (co. Down).

First annual exhibition of the Holywood and Dis. C.B.S., held Town Hall, 5th November. There was a good turn-out of exhibitors; this being the first show of the kind ever held in Holywood, it was a novelty, and afforded a splendid attraction, the hall being crowded from the opening till the close. The entries totalled 153 birds. Our Belfast friends deserting us at the last minute was a great disappointment; it was through some unforeseen circumstances that did not concern us; promises that were made and not kept put us (a young society) to a great deal of worry and expense, which we could ill afford. However, thanks to our provincial friends, especially in Bangor, the show turned out a great success. Silver cup (presented by Mrs. F. Bruce for best young Canary bred and reared by a member) won by Mr. T. Dunwoody with a yellow Yorkshire cock. Mr. Isaac Reid judged. Specials for bests were won as follows:—In the open section: Scotch Fancy, J. Patty; Crested, J. Leacock; Norwich, J. Thompson; fourth, J. Carson; Yorks., M. Fleming; fourth T. McNeilly; ben, M. Fleming; Nor. ben, J. Carson; bird in selling classes, W. Moutgomery; fourth bird, W. McAteer; Brit., J. Harvey; other winners in open: D. Finlay, T. McNeilly, T. Leacock, and J. Barclay; special winners in members' section: Messrs. D. Carlcton, T. Dunwoody, D. Malcolm, and D. E. Alexander.

CLYDEBANK.

Clydebank O.A. 24th annual show, held 12th November, Co-operative Hall, Hume Street, a large and commodious hall, well suited for the occasion. A touch of wintery weather did not deter visitors, who turned up well. Mr. Kirkwood, the secretary, is quite master of the situation, and had everything in splendid order. The entries were well up to those of former years, and the quality was decidedly in advance. Cup for best bird was won by Mr. Bowman with a green hen. The Green classes were strong in quality. Judges, Messrs. Cardwell, Nisbet, Watson, and Webster, whose awards seemed to be well received.

MIDLAND ROLLER C.C.

Midland Roller C.C. second annual open singing contest, held Nov. 3rd and 4th, Swan and Peacock, Snow Hill, Wolverhampton. A record entry was obtained, the total number of entries being 192 birds, of which 187 arrived to be judged. It was claimed to be the very finest collection of Roller Canaries ever got together in an English show, creating a record for the variety. There were 5 classes and these obtained no fewer than 43, 57, 36, 29, and 27 entries respectively, which is magnificent, reflecting the greatest credit on the management, and being a matter of praise to the Society. Everything passed off without a hitch. The secretary, Mr. J. H. Willows, is really capital; his arrangement of everything was ideal, and he is an excellent worker. Great credit is due to his admirable conduct of affairs. The judges, whose awards appeared to give every satisfaction, were: Messrs. F. A. Lester (London), T. B. Netherwood and J. B. Hesling (both of Wakefield). The show was held under the British Roller C.C. patronage.

HIGHGATE HAMPSTEAD AND DIS. C.B.S.

Third annual show, held November 11th and 12th. Entries fell short of last year, but tbe quality of the birds far exceeded past years. The judge, Mr. Robson, seemed to give general satisfaction, with a few exceptions. The White Canary was placed 2nd for the first time, but the bird was not quite up to the mark, and ought not, perhaps, to bave been shown, but the owner, Mr. Kiesel, did not like disappointing us after it had been so largely advertised as being exhibited at the show. The attendance was exceptionally good, and it may be stated to show how enthusiastic the members are, that three members sold over 10/- worth of tickets, and this is particularly creditable, considering the price was only threepence for admission. The £5 5s. cup for unflighted bird was won by Messrs. Lovegrove and Lovegrove. The £5 5s. points cup was won by Mr. W. Kent. The silver teapots were won by Messrs. Lovegrove, Pile, Bush, and Mesdames Weston and Giddy. Mr. Street wins special for most points in Foreign Section. There were 350 exhibits. The society gave £8 in specials. Best bird in show, Messrs. Lovegrove's unflighted Norwich. There were some very fine British and Foreign birds. The novice birds were very good, and took a lot of judging, the competition being very keen.

BLYTH.

Blytb and Dis. C.B.S. 4th annual show, held St. John's Mission Hall, Nov. 12th. The hall is an ideal one. We found here an obliging and homely lot of fanciers managing the show, being well led by an ideal secretary in Mr. Rowell, who would be hard to surpass. Entries came forward well, and some "tip-toppers" wore on view, birds fit to hold their own in any competition, especially the cup winners, a clear yellow Norwich, staged in marvellous style, full of colour. We understand this young bird has been shown four times and not once beaten. The hall was well filled with visitors when we left and everything was passing along without a hitch. Mr. A. Hay (Berwick) judged, and had a stiff task, too—27 classes 300 entries.

NORTH BERKS (Abingdon).

North Berks (Abingdon) Show held Nov. 10th, Corn Exchange. The cage bird section of this seventh annual event was the feature of the show; without doubt it was the best collection of cage birds ever seen at Abingdon. They were staged on the platform at the end of the building, and their wants were well looked after by Messrs. Pearce and Loader, both practical fanciers, and most excellent and obliging stewards. Mr. Bowen, the Hon. Secretary, had things well in hand, and makes an ideal secretary. There was a good attendance. Mr. A. Lewin judged.

KIRCUDBRIGHT.

Eighth open exhibition and competition, held Nov. 12th, Drill Hall. The hall is large, and suitable for a show of the kind, being well lighted and free from draughts. The cage birds were placed at the top of the hall in a fine snug quarter. The staging was on the tier principle, but five tiers up is too high for the exhibits to be seen to the best advantage The Scotch Fancy classes were poorly patronised, there being only eight birds in the two classes, but the quality of the exhibits made up for this. Mr. Welsh won special for best exhibit in show with a splendid Buff Variegated. The Border Fancies, though short in number, were a fine display, containing many well-known prizewinners. The Norwich included some real beauties of the right stamp. The best class was the one for Goldfinches (British); it was the best all round class we have seen this season—not a bad one among the 14. Mr. McNaught's Goldfinch won special for best bird. The committee are all enthusiastic fanciers, and were all hard at work doing their best for the care of the exhibits; those attending on the bird section being Messrs. P. McNaught, James Andrew, John Andrew, J. Flannigan, and W. Hannah; and all proved themselves most obliging. The secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. G. Penny, had his staff well in hand, and everything went off with satisfaction. Mr. J. McLay (Kirkintilloch) judged, and his awards were well received.

SCOT. FCY., CK. FALKIRK & DIS. C.B.S.

Twenty-second annual show held Oddfellows' Hall, Grahamston, October 29th. There were 474 birds staged, some really fine specimens being forward. The N.P.C. medal, and cup for best young Plainhead, was won by Mr. J. McNaughton with a really fine variog. buff cock. The Crests are worthy of special mention, the quality and numbers being a large improvement on past years. The Crest cup and special for best young bird bred 1910 were won by Mr. W. Paul with a clinking fine Crest-bred cock. The Border section was of a high standard, Messrs. Jeffrey and Steveuson capturing six firsts and cup for best young Border. Medal for best young Mule or Hybrid was won by Messrs. McGillivray Bros. witb a good Goldie-Bullie. Medal for best British bird won by Mr. R. Kirkwood with a lovely Waxwing. Foreign bird medal also Mr. R. Kirkwond, witb a lovely Many-coloured Parrakeet. The weather was ideal, and a large number of visitors patronised the show. Mr. G. Scaife judged the Plainheads and Crests, and gave every satisfaction. Mr. W. Hamilton judged the Borders, and Mr. Raine (Catheart) the British and Foreign birds; and we heard very few comments. The exhibition on a whole was an unqualified success.

CONSETT & BLACKHILL.

Consett and Blackhill F.S. fourteenth annual open exhibition, held Masonic and Town Halls, Consett, Nov. 12. The cage bird section had the whole of the Masonic Hall, a very suitable and appropriate place for the occasion, being spacious, with plenty of light. Total entries in cage birds section 270, although the Crest and Crest bred, British, and other variety Finch, and also soft bill classes had to be cancelled on account of insufficient entries, which we believe to be due to the unsettled trade in the north. Special for best Yorks. was won by Mr. H. C. Hadworth's clear buff, a bird of excellent merit; special for best Nor., Mr. Butler's grand variegated yellow; winner members' cup, Mr. Foster's clear yellow Yorks., 2nd members' best, Mr. Carlill's clear yellow Border, a promising specimen. Judging commenced at the appointed time, 9 a.m., and the cards were all on birds in good time, before the opening of the show. Mr. W. P. Barnes (Grantham) adjudicated, and his awards gave every satisfaction. Mr. H. S. Smith, the secretary, is to be complimented upon the excellent way in which everything was carried out, he having the details of the show at his finger tips; he makes a really ideal secretary. He was ably supported by Mr. J. H. Copland, the assistant secretary, and by a very large and capable committee.

LEEDS ROLLER C.C.

Leeds Roller C.C. 6th annual show held Leeds Temperance Society's Rooms Nov. 11th and 12th. Entries did not come up quite as good as last year, finishing with a total of 137. A lot of birds are not yet fit, which was plain by the time it took to judge them. The young birds were judged by Messrs. C. Rochl and A. Foulds jointly, Mr. F. Oldroyd being the other judge. There is a lot of room for improvement in the birds' song. Take, for instance, the young bird classes; not one bird in the cards got points for glucke, and only two got them for water glucke. Class 3, champion old birds, had not a glucke bird nor a water glucke bird in the cards. The young birds classes were adjudicated upon by two judges; the first numbers given below are the points by one judge, and the others are both taken in conjunction. We think it would be a good plan for the secretary or someone connected with the show to look over the judge's sheets before they take the numbers for the catalogue, as a judge, however careful, is apt to make a mistake, and the next man might pick it out. Totalling the points up in the class No. 1, 1st prize, it is wrong, but no one suffers, but in the £2 limit, Netherwood gets vhc where he ought to have had 4th prize. The secretary, Mr. T. W. Walton, deserves every praise for his skilful management; he conducted affairs in a capital style.

ELLESMERE (Salop).

Ninth annual open show held Market Hall Nov. 10th. The classification is rather small, and might with advantage be extended. Entries came up well, averaging eleven per class, while the quality was really first-class; the birds were considered the best lot ever seen here. This year a challenge cup was offered for competition for most points, and was won by Mr. Arthur C. Brotherhood with a grand team; his Waxwing (which won tha A.O.S. British class) is a picture, and was much admired. The exhibits were nicely staged, and were well attended to. Mr. Walter Lloyd filled the post of hon. secretary in a manner which brought great credit to himself and the society. Mr. J. A. Gough placed the cards, to the satisfaction of everybody.

GRANGEMOUTH.

Twelfth annual show held 12th November, Town Hall, where over 500 birds were staged, which constitutes a record for the seaport town, being an average of 14 per class. Mr. J. D. Miller (of Miller and Eadie) held the secretarial reins, and none could have done better, as everything passed off without a hitch. He was ably backed up by the following well-known fanciers: President, Mr. J. Macpherson; Treas., Mr. W. Scaife; Committee, Messrs. Anderson, Heard, Strathie, Aitken, Cumming, Menzies, Reid, Veitch, Finlayson, Matthews, McCreadie, Thomson, Milne, and Meikle. The hall is an ideal one for a show of this kind, being well lighted and free from draughts. During the afternoon the show was well patronised, and amongst them we noticed that old veteran Hughie Moreland, of Falkirk. Judges for Norwich: Mr. G. F. Adamson (Kilmarnock); for Borders, Mr. R. Lambie (Whithurn), and for Mules, British, and Foreign birds, Mr. D. J. Gardner (Bathgate). Their awards were well received.

DARVEL.

Darvel O.S. brought off their annual show 12th November in the Town Hall. The cage birds were housed in the ball upstairs, and so far as comfort was concerned, this was all that could be desired. Mr. Lammie, the energetic secretary, had all arrangements well in hand, and must be complimented on the success of his labours. He was ably assisted by a band of willing workers, and everything went off in the proverbial apple pie order. The British Bird classes showed a marked improvement both in quantity and quality, and amongst the back-markere we noticed some real good and hitherto well-known winners. If we may be excused, we would suggest the advisability on future occasions of engaging two judges—one for the Canary section and the other for Britishers, although we do not wish to suggest that Mr. Pettigrew's awards did not meet with the general approval of exhibitors and visitors alike. We neither saw nor heard of any real cause for grumbling

WHITEHAVEN.

The finest show, both numerically, and also as to quality of exhibits, ever held by the Whitehaven Society, was that held Nov. 11 and 12. The Oddfellows' Hall is nicely adapted for the purpose, having good light, and being roomy and lofty. The only drawback to the society is in its being out of the way of the general public, and Saturday turning out very wet, the attendance suffered somewhat. A commendable feature of this show is the prompt payment of prize money and specials. All winning exhibitors present, either first or second day, have their money handed to them, and all other due is promptly forwarded. Norwich, in the six classes, totalled 56 entries, a good number for this district, and they included some very typical birds. The Yorkshires in 9 open classes and 1 Novice class, mustered 123 entries, and the show being held with the patronage of the Northern Yorks. C.C., also being the cup show for best young bird belonging to a member, all the principal members were well represented. The bird selected was the yellow hen belonging to Mr. T. B. Tomlinson (Newcastle-on-Tyne), though several fancied the ticked buff cock, winner in the unflighted buff cock class belonging to Mr. J. Stewart (Whitehaven). This bird was runner-up. Borders, always a strong feature here, in 8 open classes, and 1 selling, totalled 166, the buff class having 21 entries. The British birds were really good, the Hardbill class being exceptionally so. "Snowdrop," a jet black Bullfinch, made its appearance here, and attracted a lot of attention. Of the management we have nothing but commendation, from the energetic, hard-working and obliging sec., Mr. W. J. Douglas, downwards; all worked well. Mr. J. Stewart secured spl for most points, also teapot for most points, with four Canaries (locally); Messrs. Moore and Son, medal for runners-up. Mr. W. J. Douglas, silver medal for best local Canary, also Sandiford's medal; B.F.C.C. medal for members, Mr. J. Thompson. The committee consists of Messrs. J. Ellwood (Chairman), J. Ferguson, T. Brown, J. Kelly, E. Douglas, G. Levason, W. Irwin, T. Waddington, W. M. Quirk, and W. J. Douglas, Hon. Sec. Judges, Mr. W. Poole (Workington), Borders, and Mr. A. Wellings (Prescot), the remainder.

CUMNOCK.

Cumnock and Dis. C.B.S. first annual show, held Old Cumnock Town Hall, November 5th. For an initial venture we must compliment the officials on their good management. Messrs. F. Young and J. Nutt proved very capable and obliging secretaries, and had all arrangements complete like veterans. The society are quite fortunate in their choice of office bearers and committee. Very ably assisting the secretaries we were pleased to see Mr. H. Kinnear (president), Messrs. T. Findlay and A. Tannock (vice-presidents), Mr. J. Brown (treasurer), and a committee of real right-down hard and willing workers in Messrs. S. Montgomery, G. Gibb, J. Whitelaw, J. Davidson, J. McDougall, J. Hunter, A. Wilson, J. Mair, J. McGavin, D. Smart, and J. Ballantyne. The show was confined to a small radius—principally a mining district. The condition and staging of the various exhibits reflected the greatest credit on their owners. The Borders especially were a real treat. Judging from the numbers who patronised the show things augur well for the future. Mr. T. McCreadie judged Scotch Fancies and Borders, and Mr. Gavin Alston the Norwich and British; their awards, on the whole, were very satisfactory.

BARNSLEY.

Barnsley and Dist. C.B.S. 20th annual exhibition held Wesley-street Schools, November 12th. Judge, Mr. A. Hirst (Accrington). The show was neither under the Yorkshire Union nor Cage Bird Union Rules, but still they drew a record entry of 348 birds—an average of over 16 per class. The management was all that could be desired. Mr. Sims, the secretary, is backed up by a good working committee. He had everything in capital working order cards being put up as every class was judged. Visitors were coming in fast when we left, and everything points to their 20th show being a success.

ECCLES.

First exhibition of the Eccles and Dist. C.B.S., held Nov. 11 and 12, Co-operative Hall, Peel Street. The room is a very good one for the purpose, being well-lighted, spacious, and free from draughts. Entries came up well, especially considering it was a new venture, totalling 320 all told; and some grand birds were on view. The Wilson cup for most points gained by nominated birds was won by Mr. Jeff Walsh, with 27 points, he being very closely followed by Mr. W. Bayley, 26 points; Mr. Harrison, 25; and Mr. Alcock, 23. There was a good attendance of visitors, and we trust the show will prove a success, as the hard-working, popular, and energetic secretary, Mr. H. W. Jones, the chairman, Mr. J. Dawson, the vice-chairman, Mr. R. Astley, and the committee, Messrs. Tims, Taylor, Hall, Hardy, Derbyshire, Peters, Scott, and Astley deserve it, being all enthusiastic fanciers, with the well-being of the show thoroughly at heart. We hope another year will see them still more successful. Mr. A. Royle (Manchester) made his debut as judge, and we must congratulate him on the selection of the winners, his awards leaving no cause for complaint.

ROTHERHAM C.B.S.

Members' show, held Nov. 7th, St. George's Hall. Entries only totalled 80, the members not having had as good a breeding season as usual. Quality was well represented. Mr. W. Brotherton staged some first-class specimens, capturing the society's cup for best young birds. Norwich were a nice lot. Special mention might be made of Mr. Turner's cup winner, a grand youngster, which should be heard of again. Mr. H. W. Battye judged.

BANBRIDGE.

Annual show of the Banbridge C.B. and P.A. held November 10th and 11th, Town Hall. It proved another success. Entries came up better than last year, and close on 400 birds were benched. The hall is spacious, well lighted, and ventilated, and free from draughts. The birds were nicely staged round the room. This society enjoys an excellent reputation for management, and is guided by a committee of genuine fanciers. In Mr. R. J. Hamilton the society have a hard-working secretary, who knows how to go about his duty; he is most courteous and obliging to everyone, and no doubt a great deal of the success is due to his untiring efforts. The exhibits were of the usual good quality. Norwich classes filled well. Belgians and Scotch Fancies were a treat, and well worth a long journey to see. Yorkshires were not as numerous as we would like to have seen them, but we understand this was due to the 2s. per cage being charged for entrance fees. The Yorks. specialists clubs objected to this, and we were informed that they refused to grant patronage in consequence. We hear this matter is to be brought up at the next general meeting to settle. Mr. Neill won the challenge cup for best Canary in show, and Mr. J. Barclay the silver cup for best British bird. Messrs. J. Kean (Edinburgh) and A. Hirst (Accrington) placed the cards, and their awards were well received.

BRISTOL.

Bristol C.B.S. fifth annual show held in the hall adjoining the Ship Hotel, November 12th. This year the competition was confined to members, and, taking this into consideration, the quantity and quality of the exhibits were really first-class. The entries totalled nearly 200, and amongst them were many that could hold their own in the best of company. The Norwich and Yorkshires were a capital lot, and did the society much credit. The cup for the best Norwich went to Mr. Tristem with the aid of his wiuning young buff, a gem for shape, colour, and quality, and put down in tip-top form, a credit to the exhibitor. Mr. Lovell captured the Yorkshire cup with his young ticked buff, really nice all round bird, staged in this exhibitor's well-known style. Cup for best British was secured by Mr. Carter with a capital Linnet of good colour, nice shape, and well pencilled. Mr. J. Houghton captured special for hottest fed Norwich with a rare coloured marked yellow that "did the trick" at Cheltenham. All the exhibits were nicely staged, and it goes without saying that they were well looked after. As usual ladies were again strongly in evidence, Mesdames Manley, Tristem, and Roberts all working their hardest to make everything pass off successfully, and we should think they met with their reward. Mr. A. R. A. Carter fulfilled the duties of hon. sec. in a most satisfactory manner, and was as obliging and courteous as he was energtic. The awards were made by Mr. J. H. Payne.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. It kills all insects, harmless to everything else.

SOUTHEND.

Southend and Southern Counties O.S. annual show held Nov. 10 and 11, Clarence Hall, a really fine hall for a cage bird show, being well lighted and free from draughts. The entry was the best the society has had, being 80 more than last year. The quality was A1. Some of the best Yorkies and Norwich were on view. Competition was very keen in many classes, and it was just a matter of condition that told. Nothing but praise could be heard on all sides about the management, headed by that capable and energetic secretary, Mr. Franks. Prize money, as far as possible, was paid out on the same day as show. Mr. Robson judged.

PORTOBELLO.

Seventh annual show, held Masonic Hall, November 5th. The hall is suitable for a cage bird show, being lofty, well lighted, and free from draughts. The society is fortunate in their president, Mr. A. Matthew, who was early in attendance, and worked hard. The secretaries, Messrs. Buchan and Hogg, had every item at their finger tips, and no hitch occurred. They were well backed up by able stewards. The staging ran in two rows down centre. The entry was a record, numbering 376, quality all over being much as on former occasions. The Scotch Fancies were, if anything, of superior merit. Mr. J. Patterson (Chirnside) judged Borders, Yorks, and Scotch Fancies, and Mr. Pettigrew (Glasgow) all others, and their awards were well received.

ECCLESHILL.

Eccleshill C.B.A. 16th annual exhibition, held Nov. 12th, Board School, under the rules of the Yorkshire Union, and under the patronage of the Y.C.C. Mr. R. Carr judged, and his awards gave satisfaction throughout. Entries came up rather poorly, only 331 in the 23 classes provided. This, following on last week's record for Y.U. shows, came rather as a surprise. As a matter of fact, the entries at this fixture never seem to come up to expectation; why, nobody can tell. The room is an excellent one, big enough for 800 birds, and very lofty, well ventilated, and well lighted. The management is in capable hands. Mr. W. Nettleton is an efficient secretary, and is ably seconded by Mr. S. Wilcock as assistant, backed up by such well-known fanciers as Messrs. Chippendale (treasurer), Slater, Gelder, and Studd (stewards), and many others.

KIRKCALDY (N.B.).

Annual show of the Kirkcaldy and Dis. C.B.S. held 12th Nov. It proved a record for Fifeshire, over 600 birds being on view. Scotch Fancies were a shade down in number, but the quality was good, and the winners carefully selected by Mr. W. Rodger, who seemed to please the majority of exhibitors. Owing to a Scotch Fancy Club show being held same day, it would tend to reduce the entry at the open show. Borders were forward in force, all the noted teams doing battle, and in many cases a mere fraction separated the winners. The medal winning yell. hen was greatly admired. Yorkshires were a good class, spl for best being awarded to Dr. Syson. These varieties were judged by Mr. J. W. Bruce, and his awards were on the whole well received. Crests and Crestbreds were a good selection, and were under the care of one of Scotland's leading breeders, Mr. Reid, who carefully summed up their various points, his decisions being practically unassailable. Mr. J. A. Thomson (Aberdeen) judged the Norwich Plainheads, and his task was a heavy one; but he got through in masterly fashion. Cup for best P.H. was secured by Mr. McAnally's Unflgbtcd Buff cock, and we heard some tempting offers were refused for him. British birds and Mules were a good collection; but where are all the Softbills of Scotland this year? Hardbills were forward in shoals, and the Mules were an extra good collection. Mr. W. Sharpe judged these and his awards left little to be desired. The management was all that could be desired. It was a comfortable hall in which the exhibits were staged. A genial and hard working committee supervised by two good fanciers, Messrs. T. Arnott, the ever obliging and very capable secretary, and E. McAnally, carried out one of the largest and most successful exhibitions ever seen in Fifeshire, and not a hitch occurred. The show was well patronised.

DULWICH & PECKHAM.

Seventh annual show of the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. held Nov. 8th, Reindeer Hotel, Rye-lane, Peckham. There was a capital entry of nearly 350, every section being well represented. The birds were cleverly benched so as to allow as much room as possible for the large gathering of fanciers and visitors. Competition was exceedingly keen, especially in the champion Norwich and Yorkshire sections, where many open event winners met to do battle. The Norwich made a fine show. A grand buff cock, of good head and short flights, secured special for best Norwich, the cup and "News of the World" trophy for best bird in the show, and silver bowl for best young bird for Mr. F. J. Martin, of Battersea. Mr. L. J. Richardson had out a fine team, and secured premier honours in no less than five classes. Some typical, lengthy birds were shown in the Yorkshire section, Mr. Mabey's marked yell. cock securing special for best bird. Mr. Easterling showed a grand cl. yell., and Mr. Warley a very typical buff hen. Some good birds were staged in the novice section. Mr. A. Holland annexed the special for the section. The hybrids and British were well represented. A grand Linnet was put down by Mr. C. Frecman, and Mr. C. Austin had a couple of good Goldies, which were runners-up to Mr. Botting's bird, which won special for section. The judges were Messrs. J. Robson (Canaries) and A. Silver (Hybrids and British). The show was in every way a complete success, being capitally managed by Messrs. Richardson and Tomsett, several committeemen assisting during the day. Mr. Hodson, the secretary, is to be congratulated on the success of the show, which his efforts well deserved. In a side room was staged a nice collection of Rollers, the chief winners being Dr. Read, Miss Netherwood, Randall, and Hestling.

THESE BOOKS ON BIRDS YOU SHOULD NOT BE WITHOUT.

Our Books are one and all written by leading experts, and offer you the secrets of success in every branch of our hobby.

When a book goes through five Editions you may be certain that it is worth buying.

HOUSE'S CANARY MANUAL

has gone well into its Fifth Edition, and is still selling every day like hot coffee on a cold December night. This is a handy book, at a handy price. It is a thorough and practical guide to the general management and breeding of Canaries, written by a well-known expert and judge. It contains chapters dealing fully with the breeding, etc. of every member of the Canary family, including the German (or Roller) Canary. Illustrated by Mr. H. Norman, in the finest art style. There are also exhaustive chapters on Aviaries and Cages, breeding procedure, moulting, exhibiting, diseases add seeds—a compendium of knowledge approached by no other book of its kind at the price.

By C. A. HOUSE,

Price 1/-. Post free 1/2. Cloth bound 2/-.

"OUR CANARIES."

The Greatest Work on Canaries ever published or ever likely to be published. A simply colossal work, forming a veritable encyclopædia of canary lore.

By CLAUD ST. JOHN, General Canary Expert to "Cage Birds," assisted by over 100 of our present day Leading Breeders and Authorities. Associate Editors, C. A. HOUSE and G. E. WESTON.

To be completed in 16 Monthly Parts, Seven of which are now ready.

☞ Each part contains 2 coloured and 2 art plates, by the foremost canary artist of the day, Mr. H. NORMAN, and 24 pages of most practical and instructive matter to read for keepers of every variety of canary.

PART VII., NOVEMBER ISSUE, INCLUDES BEAUTIFUL COLOURED PLATES OF CREST-BRED AND CRESTED CANARIES AND A YELLOW SELF-GREEN YORKSHIRE CANARY. Two Art Plates of equal merit, and a mass of information about breeding in general, fixing and balancing points, etc. Dr. Bowes contributes a specially helpful and absorbing article to this number. 6d. per Part from your newsagent. 7d., post free, from us carefully packed.

OUR SPECIAL OFFER.

Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 supplied together, for 3s. 10d., post free, or for 9s. we will supply the complete work in 16 monthly parts, as published.

Foreign Birds for Beginners.

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-ides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION. If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT. Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send in this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the Advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

THERE'S ONE THING

you don't get with any of my appliances; that is the "hump." All are made by practical men, who thoroughly understand their business, and no expense is spared to make every article thoroughly up-to-date and durable. I have repeatedly said that my goods are far better than any others on the market, but I should like you to test the truth of this statement by having goods from me on approval similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine are not much better value, smash them up and I will refund money in full. A practical test such as this is worth more than pages of idle boastings. Clap-nets, made from genuine ½in. mesh thread netting, very fine but strong, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, 4 feet fly, 4/- pair; ditto, 4 yards, 5/-, 5 yards 6/-, 6 yds. 7/-, 7 yds. 8/-, 8 yds. 9/-, 9 yds. 10/-, 10 yds. 11/- per pair. All have two nets to the pair, and each net is guaranteed full measurement as above, and all fitted complete with improved fittings consisting of stavepoles, pegs, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Please note the improved fittings sent with my clap nets makes them work far better than the old-fashioned sockets, iron trash. Loose netting made from 60 s/3 cord thread, ½in. mesh, same as used in above clap nets, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; 12 feet deep, 5d. yard, all post free. Real Japanese bird lime, absolutely strongest lime made, guaranteed to hold in rain, ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all packed in airtight lever lid cannisters and sent post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24inc. by 18ins., 1/- each; ditto, 18ins. by 14ins., 9d. each. These net traps are different to all others, as they can be baited for hard and softbills at same time, and can be used with call bird inside if desired. Single trap cages, 9d. each; double ditto, 1/-; treble ditto, 1/3, all with separate compartment for call bird. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically react immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Round or square-topped calling cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Specially spun Italian hemp pull lines, free from snarl, and strong as boat lines, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, carriage paid. Improved Bat folding Sparrow nets, fitted on 17 feet bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, on 17 feet poles, 6/-; ditto, on 10 feet poles, 6/6 pair. These Sparrow nets are a vast improvement on the old-fashioned idea, being a better shape, much more effective and more portable. Lark nets, flirt pegs, poles and lines, and hundreds of other articles in stock. Send stamp for full list of catcher's appliances, which also gives hints on net making. Please note, all the leading catchers of the day are using appliances supplied by me throughout England, Canada, Africa, America, India, and other places abroad. They have recognised that the day is past for the old-fashioned appliances, and so use those that are hang up to date as supplied by me. See last issue for few testimonials; or, better still, send a furniture van, and I will fill it with unsolicited testimonials received from delighted users of my nets, etc.

HERE'S THE TRUTH

about Siberian Goldfinches. Not one of the genuine Siberian Goldies reached England this season until Monday, November 14. I now hold a stock of 420 of these birds, and guarantee every one a cock imported from Siberia. Previous to the arrival of the Siberian birds there were a big lot of Russian Finches on sale in Antwerp, but I never buy Russian Goldfinches; and to prove this, I offer £10 to any man that can prove I have bought a Russian Goldfinch this season, and another £10 to any English dealer that can prove he has had the pick of my Siberians, either before or since I received them. I have no middlemen's profits to pay, therefore can sell at same price as most dealers buy at and offer guaranteed cock Siberian Goldfinches, in full song, at 5/- and 6/- each, seven for 28/-. Exhibition specimens, 7/6 and 10/- each. Now, you Scotchmen, who want real decksweepers, send your orders to the direct importer; but let me tell you I have none as big as Thrushes, because such birds exist in imagination only; but everybody that sends to me for an exhibition bird may rely upon getting one really fit to win; otherwise I shall not send it. All sent on approval at my risk, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction not given, so place your orders with a reputable man.

W. GORE, Gooch-st., Birmingham to send your money to the Editor and your orders to me? I don't want the money, only your orders for my special British. I have 200 special Peartree Goldfinches, like Russians, perfect square blaze, well buttoned, nicely mooned and tanned, giants, 4/- each; others, large full-coloured, for muling and in full song, 2/6, 3/-. Linnets: Real Norwich giants, well pencilled, real chestnut, steady as rocks, specials 3/-, 3/6, others, for muling and in full song, 1/6, 2/-; ready trained for singing contest, moulted through, in full song, ready to win, 2/0, with singing cage, seed, etc., special secrets, 3/6; few moulted catchers 2/-, used to clap nets; yellow cock Siskins, laced with good bibs, massive birds, 2/6, specials 3/6; yellow cock Greenfinches, specials, 1/6, winners; other giants, 9d.; Mealy Redpolls, 1/6, 2/-; Lessers, 1/-; specials books of secrets, 1/-, post free, all on seven days' approval, cash or deposit; no waiting. All kinds of British Hardbills and Softhills in stock; hundreds of testimonials; parks, aviaries, and clubs supplied wholesale; warrauted cock Brown Linnets, 3/6 dozen; 4 doz., 13/-, selected 4/-; warranted cock Goldfinches, not hens, 15/- dozen, 3 dozen 40/-; giant cock Bullfinches, like Siberians, only 3/-; massive hens, 1/6; 200 Linnets, in beautiful song, steady, caged mouths, beautiful cage, packet of seed, 2/- lot; Cheshire Skylarks, full soug, only 1/6, 2/-; few band-reared, singing, eat from finger, 3/6. SIBERIAN GOLDFINCHES.

CAN I PERSUADE YOU

and not Russians, as other dealers are advertising for Siberians; 500 arrived and on view; these are the best consignment I have received for years; every one of these are giant birds, being nearly as big as Larks, with massive colour and handsome square blazes, and full moons, and well buttoned; I will deposit £100 with the Editor if anyone can prove that these birds are not the real Siberians, or sending hens out for cocks; price 5/- each; special picked birds, for showing or muling, 7/6 and 10/- each. I received over 2,000 testimonials last season from all the leading exhibitors in England. I have received with this consignment 200 giant Siberians, Redpolls, in handsome condition, being blood-red-breasted, at 1/6 each, or 8/6 stick of seven; 100 giant Siskins, in grand condition, splendid yellow birds, with handsome black cap and bib, fit for showing, 3/- each, or 18/6 stick of seven; 100 giant cock Greenfinches, handsome deep yellow birds, in massive condition, 1/6 each, or 8/0 stick of seven; 100 giant Siberian Linnets, fit for showing, 1/6 each, or 8/6 stick of seven. Notice to intending purchasers.—All Goldfinches are sent out on 48 hours' approval, by depositing cash with "Cage Birds." Birds sent away with the midnight mail in the best of health and condition: Note the address, Enoch Powers, the original and sole importer of Siberian birds.

See following letters, which were not written when Adam was a lad, but all received last few days:—"Rhodes Farm, Seeling, Nov. 13th.—Sir,—Goldfinches to hand, quite safe, and straight as can be, and very steady, well worth the price, and better than can be got in Kent at the money.—Yours, W. Wraight." "23, Tresham-street, Kettering, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Received bird quite safe, and am very pleased with it.—Yours, W. Partridge." "Shotton Colliery, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Linnets arrived all right, and are first-class. I thank you for them; they are beauties.—Yours, P. Appleby." "17, Stamford Park-road, Altrincham, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Birds arrived safe, and I am very pleased with them. I thank you for sending three such nice birds, as they are the best I have seen, and I do a lot of catching myself.—Yours, G. Spilsbury." "Nailsworth, Glos., Nov. 9th.—Sir,—Birds arrived in first-rate condition, and quite up to standard of your advt. The Mealy Redpoll is a beauty, and the German hen Bullie finger-tame, and fed from my hand at once. Am more than satisfied with all birds received from you.—Yours, C. Dauncey." "21, Penypeel-road, Canton, Cardiff, Nov. 6th.—Sir,—Goldfinches arrived safe, and am quite satisfied with them. Thanking you for prompt delivery.—Yours, C. Crocker." "66, Nevill-street, Llanelly, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Received Goldfinch, and am delighted with it. Could have sold it for double price same day. Please send following.—Yours, J. Moremon." Kindly note all birds sold by me are guaranteed properly netted in County of Worcester by practical catchers employed solely by myself, and are thoroughly on hard seed before sent out. A signed guarantee is sent with every bird that birds have not been recently caught, so they may be kept in any part of British Isles without fear or favour, and a signed declaration is also sent agreeing to indemnify all purchasers against any costs arising from any prosecution for keeping the birds in protected counties. At present I am the only dealer giving this signed warranty and indemnity form, so send your orders to

That you can purchase from me properly matched Crests for breeding from 10/6 to £15 per pair; yet you cannot purchase Champion Crests from 10/- to 20/-, and that the persons who tell you they can supply such, are either the greatest perverters of truth that ever lived, or the most ignorant it is possible to find of their subject. Question: Which are they? Will anyone of them answer this pertinent question?

W. RUDD, The Bird Specialist, NORWICH.

Do You Believe ? THERE IS ANY EXCEPTIONAL VALUE IN THE BIRDS LISTED BELOW

IF YOU DO NOT, PASS IT BY WITHOUT GIVING THE SAME ANY OTHER ATTENTION; IF YOU BELIEVE THERE IS SOMETHING IN WHAT I SAY, THEN HAVE ON APPROVAL, AND MAKE ALL THE COMPARISONS YOU LIKE. AS A MATTER OF FACT, I DO NOT LEND MYSELF TO STATEMENTS I CANNOT PROVE, AND ALL THOSE WHO DO, I CONSIDER ONLY

"HUMAN WEEDS."

WELL, HERE IS ANOTHER LITTLE FACT. I HAD A BIG SURPRISE VISIT LAST WEEK—I WILL NOT SAY BY WHOM, AS I MIGHT NOT BE DOING RIGHT, AND I WILL NOT SAY WHAT WAS SAID OR THOUGHT; BUT YOU MAY, OR YOU MAY NOT HEAR MORE ABOUT THIS, IF YOU DO, HOWEVER, IT WILL NOT BE FROM ME.

NOW, PLEASE NOTE JUST A FEW MORE UNSOLICITED OPINIONS AND PRICES, BUT FOR FULL DETAILS SEE MY ILLUSTRATED LIST, BUT DO NOT CONFOUND IMITATIONS WITH IT, THEY ARE MEAN AND CONTEMPTIBLE.

142, Lardon Road, East Grinstead, November 10th, 1910.—Received the birds quite safely, for which I tender you many thanks. I think they are splendid value, and in perfect health. The Roller is a little beauty, and sings splendidly, with a nice change of song. I might say the Roller I had of you last year is still singing as well as ever. W. F. Johnson to W. Rudd.

West End, Leslie, November 10th, 1910.—Birds to hand, for which I thank you. Everything correct. T. Williamson to W. Rudd.

Court Cottage, Nutley, near Uckfield, November 19th, 1910.—The bird came to hand quite safely. Delighted with him, and must thank you for sending us such a little beauty. He is a splendid songster. I don't think I ever heard such notes from a bird before. It is something grand. We are more than satisfied. W. Wood to W. Rudd.

High Street, Tring, November 12th, 1910.—Just a line to say bird arrived safely to-day. Many thanks for promptness and courtesy. E. G. Jeffery to W. Rudd.

November 16th, 1910.—Goldfinch and Bullfinch Hybrid to hand, and gives satisfaction. Yours respectfully, ——— to W. Rudd.

Bushyhill, Gatehouse, Cambuslang, November 16th, 1910.—The birds arrived in splendid condition, and give satisfaction to the party I got them for. They were splendidly packed. J. Robertson to W. Rudd.

Hungerford Villas, St. Paul's, Cheltenham, November 16th, 1910.—I received bird in good condition. I thank you for your quick service. I am very well satisfied. It is better than I expected for the money. C. Venn to W. Rudd.

15, Sandbeck Place, Sharrow, Sheffield.—I received Roller in very good condition, and am very pleased with same, he has settled down, and is singing lovely. I thank you for your selection. H. J'Anson to W. Rudd.

Hartforth Grange, Richmond, Yorks, November 17th, 1910.—The birds to hand to-day, for which I am more than satisfied, they are such a good quality at such a low price. I cannot say too much about your honest and straightforward dealings on all the occasions I have written to you. A. E. Jeffries to W. Rudd.

Bank Lane, Tenby, S. Wales.—Yorkshire hen arrived safe, and in grand condition, I am more than satisfied. You sent exactly what I wanted. I shall always deal with you in the future. G. Morgan to W. Rudd.

A BOLD, BALD

statement of fact. If you are desirous of purchasing a Roller Canary, but in doubt as to where to get the best value from, the following statement may help you. For many years past I have publicly stated in this and other papers that the Leipzig Rollers, as sold by me, are better songsters than can be obtained elsewhere, and to prove this I have asked all intending purchasers to have a Roller from me on a week's trial, and one from elsewhere on same conditions, test them side by side for a week, and then if mine is not far better value return it to me and I will refund every penny of your money. Scores upon scores of people have taken me at my word, and done this, but never yet have I been told that my Leipzig Roller came out of the test second best, but on other hand, I have received and published in this paper many letters saying that birds supplied by me have beaten birds costing twice and even thrice the money from elsewhere. Remember, I don't ask anyone to take my word, I want you to put the bird to any reasonable test you like, and to enable you to do this, I send all on a full week's trial at my own risk, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and refund money in full if every satisfaction not given. I now have a tremendous stock of genuine Weber's Leipzig Rollers, all in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow, and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, soft roulades, water-bubble runs, piccolo trills, jugging of Nightingale, bell, harp, and flute notes, etc., etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh notes whatever, price 5/6 and 7/6 each; special bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, and are like a cascade of everflowing melody, 10/- and 12/6 each; Roller hens, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I also have a grand lot of loud free singing Hartz cocks, in full, free, vigorous song, at 4/6 each; these Hartz cocks are not so musical as the Leipzig Rollers, but just the thing where plenty of loud noisy song is required; special Roller song cabinet cages, with folding doors, 2/6 each. Remember, my birds are trained to sing in any light, day or artificial, and that they do so the following letters will prove:—"43, Wood-st., Gt. Grimsby, Oct. 29.—Sir, Roller arrived safely. It is a beauty; sings beautifully, and highly satisfactory. I now know where to send.—Yours, C. Brocklesby." On Oct. 31, Mr. Brocklesby writes:—"Sir, please send another Leipzig Roller. I am so much taken up with the one I got last week, I must have another. P.O. enclosed for another beauty this time." On Nov. 4th Mr. Brocklesby again writes:—"Sir, bird arrived safe; I am highly satisfied with it; it's a beauty; started singing soon as unpacked." "Oakleigh, Maghull, near Liverpool, Oct. 29.—Sir, please accept my thanks for Leipzig Rollers; they are extra for the money. I am more than pleased at your selection; their song and condition is all that can be desired. —Yours, P. Culshaws" "Station Road, Fordingbridge, Oct. 28.—Sir, Roller arrived safely; am very pleased with him, started singing soon as unpacked.—Yours, E. Hawkins." "Glenageary, Co. Dublin, Oct. 27.—Sir, bird arrived safely, and I must say came up to my expectations in every way.—Yours, J. Kennedy." "1, Hornby Street, Barnsley, Nov. 2.—Sir, received Roller safe, and pleased with it. He is a beauty and singing grand. Thanking you for so good a bird at the price.—Yours, H. Wright." "New Road, Bryntcg, Broughton, Nov. 3.—Sir, Roller arrived safe and commenced singing soon as unpacked. It gives every satisfaction, wonderful value at the price.—Yours, J. Williams." "2, Duke Street, Retford, Notts, Nov. 5.—Sir, received Roller and very pleased. Please send another: p.o. enclosed. Shall be giving you a large order shortly.—Yours, W. Littlewood." "Merchants' Hall, Metal Bridge, Dublin, Nov. 5th.—Sir, I am greatly pleased with Hartz cock. I have in your bird a cage of music. Please send another.—Yours, J. Mahony." Hundreds of similar letters already received this season. Please note, all birds safely and warmly packed free of extra charge, and sent on full week's approval at my risk during the whole time; cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and all your money back if bird fails to prove entirely satisfactory. (See British bird columns.)

are the only variety of Canaries I have ever kept, and during the last 17 years have given them my undivided attention, therefore you can rely upon getting good value for money, also that the strain is as clear of impurities as is possible, thus getting better results with breeding from my strain than is possible with any other. Note the prices! Cocks, yellow or buff, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; hens, yellow or buff, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, upwards; pairs, properly matched to breed winners, from 10/- per pair upwards.

SAMUEL DEAN,
6, Ash Mount, Great Horton, Bradford.

AMBLER'S CHAMPION YORKSHIRES.

As we are greatly reducing our stock, we have some really magnificent Yorkshires for disposal. Cocks, wonderful length, type, and quality, slim stylish hens, feathered like wax, showing that breed and swagger our birds are noted for. These are bound to produce winners, as they are bred direct from our noted champions, and are the purest strain in the Fancy. See our winnings for over quarter of a century; also last Palace, where we were unbeatable. Pairs 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/-, 60/-; hens, 7/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/- each; also a few that can win in any company, including ticked buff winner, perfect type and feathered like wax, matched to lovely yellow hen, £7 10s.; ticked yellow, winner, and gem of a buff ben, feathered like wax, £7 10s.; also one of the best stock pairs living, £5; one nest from any of the above should be worth more money. They are honestly worth double to breed from alone; approval; satisfaction guaranteed: Messrs. Amblers (late of Bradford), 29, Sefton-rd., Morecambe.

"Direct from the Breeder."

With six entries at Coventry, and six entries at Stamford my Yorkshires won seven 1sts, two 2nds, three 3rds, four specials. See reports, also Great Horton in this issue. My winnings this season in Yorkshires exceed those of any other exhibitor. What better proof can I give you of the quality I can supply you with?

My Customers are also winning at Leading Shows, for proof, read following:—Denham Fishery, November 20th, 1910,—The Yorkshire cock won 1st at Bristol, and has also won 1st at Wayhridge. I am very pleased with him. G. Alford to L. Dykes.

Warren Avenue, Southampton, Nov. 16th, 1910,—I am pleased to tell you I took 1st Prize with the Yorkshire cock you sent me. Thanking you for the honourable way you have treated me. J. Hayter.

The above are specimens out of scores recently received, and can be seen at any time.

If you want a winner or stock birds to breed winners, place your order with the old reliable breeder and exhibitor, who breeds his own winners, and can therefore give you best satisfaction.

BOOKLET FREE.

Finest Talking Parrots. I only deal in Parrots that will make first-class talkers; no rubbish. I am willing at all time to send my Parrots on four week's trial and three months' talking guarantee. Why? Because all my Parrots are young, strong, and reliable. My lifetime has been spent among Grey Parrots, both at home and abroad. I guarantee every customer every satisfaction. Grey Parrots are my special fancy. I have trained them, know their wants, and can give every purchaser a bird that will please him in every way. I can supply grey talkers, not thinkers, that will say almost anything, at reasonable prices. Before you purchase a grey or green Parrot, send for my Booklet, entitled "Talking Parrots." All my birds are sent on four weeks' trial, at my risk. Send postcard for catalogue.—Mrs. Forster, Princes Park Aviaries, Violet Street, Liverpool.

No. 464.

Sent by Mr. H. Truelove, 10, Back Lane, Sheepsbridge, Huddersfield.

Here is a good idea for keeping hand-fed Song-Thrushes in good health. I have been a bird-catcher and keeper all my life, and I know from practical experience that three out of every four Thrushes eat their own excreta, if allowed to get at it; they will consequently neither moult right nor sing well, nor yet live long. But I get four pieces of strong wire (as shown in sketch). Cut them to fit the cage-bottom crossways. Then I get some cage wire and fit longways, tightly (as shown), which I do by means of small wire, leaving three lengths two inches longer than the others—these longer ones must be nine inches apart. The construction must be in two parts, if the cage is not a loose-fronted one, so as to allow the thing to pass in through the door.—H. TRUELOVE.

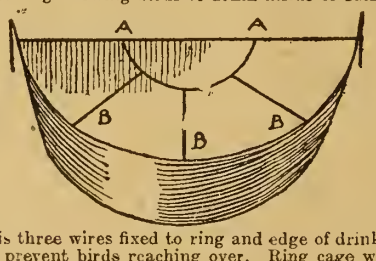
No. 465.
To Prevent Birds Washing in Drinking Tins.

Sent by Mr. J. Stirling, 95, Crail Street, Parkhead Glasgow.

Enclosed is a sketch of tin drinker, cheaply and easily fixed (by soldering) to keep birds from washing while being judged at shows, etc. A is ring allowing birds to drink inside of same;



B is three wires fixed to ring and edge of drinker to prevent birds reaching over. Ring cage wire does all right (as the drinking tins vary, I do not give sizes). I think the sketch will explain. —JAMES STIRLING.

Wild-Bird Life.

Vagaries of Bird Life.

The study of wild bird life has made rapid strides within the last few years, and Nature study generally is now taught in the schools all over the country. The present day student can go into the fields and woods armed with good, sound knowledge concerning the ways of wild birds that helps him at once to identify some of the rarer, as well as the commoner, species. In days gone by it was different; books on the subject were seldom met with, and these were far from accurate, although giving many sound facts concerning the habits of the commoner species. In most old works we find that wild birds were divided rigidly into two classes—migratory and non-migratory—but now we know that the majority of birds are migratory. Observers located at the different lighthouses along our coast, and on the Island of Heligoland, have found that both in the spring and autumn vast numbers of our commoner species make the rough journey across the wild North Sea, and that such birds as Larks, Starlings, Blackbirds, Greenfinches, Chaffinches, and the tuneful brown Linnets, make this perilous journey. But we have yet to learn why a portion only of these familiar birds desert us, the others remaining to face a winter which may prove one of exceptional severity. Again, we are quite at a loss to account for some of other vagaries of bird life. For instance, in some years hardly a specimen of a certain species is seen, and in another they may be migrating in thousands. The writer is constantly about in the woods and fields, and most wild birds are keenly noted. Yet, during the past summer not a single specimen of the Spotted Flycatcher was seen, and this in a district where these charming birds are usually common. Those who are acquainted with the Flycathers know that it is almost impossible for the ordinary observer to pass them unnoticed; few birds force themselves upon one's attention more than these. If one is following the roadway or footpath a tiny bird with long wings will be seen flitting into space and returning to his original post; or darting within a few inches of the ground, the will make a sudden twist and fly back, so that there can be no question of their having been overlooked.

THE R.S.P.C.A. AND BRITISH BIRD KEEPERS.

Last week we published a report of the proceedings instituted by the R.S.P.C.A. against Mr. S. Bennet (a private London fancier) for having "recently-taken" Goldfinches in his possession, when Mr. Hopkins (the Lambeth magistrate) decided in Mr. Bennet's favour, and the R.S.P.C.A. intimated their intention of appealing against this decision. With reference to the suggestion that the balance of the funds remaining in hand from the "Preston and Flower" case should be utilised on Mr. Bennet's behalf, all the subscribers to this said fund who have written us have expressed approval of this course being followed. The wheels of the Law move slowly, however, and up to time of going to press we have received no further information concerning the case. Possibly we shall be in a position to make a statement in our next issue; we shall do so at the earliest possible moment. Appended are a few opinions which have reached us from readers of CAGE BIRDS.

SIR,—I think the suggestion of Mr. Trower a capital one. Why not a society to protect the interests of lovers of British birds? I for one shall be pleased if Mr. Bennett is refunded all expenses he is put to, and will again subscribe my mite towards ensuring this.

GEO. STREET.

SIR,—After reading the report of the police-court proceedings against Mr. S. Bennett, I would like to suggest that all secretaries at the coming shows put a box up in a good position and give all bird-lovers a chance to contribute towards the expenses, to fight the Society and let them see that we, as bird lovers, are "game." I am only a novice, but wish Mr. Bennett every success. Where shows have taken place, the societies could forward a small donation to Mr. Geo. Crabb, the gentleman previously appointed treasurer to a similar fund. GWALIA.

SIR,—Referring to the case of Mr. S. Bennett, I am greatly surprised to hear that Inspector Lovejoy (apparently not a constable) ventured to enter Mr. Bennett's private dwelling-house without a magistrate's warrant, and unaccompanied by a police agent. The public here would not stand being treated in a high-handed way by the myrmidons of a private society. Probably in Edinburgh Mr. Lovejoy and the "other of the Society's officers" would have become acquainted with the interior of the nearest horse-trough. ARNOLD CHAMPION.

SIR,—I have read with considerable interest the correspondence regarding the position of the British bird fancier and dealer and the R.S.P.C.A. (in the London county). There have been two cases recently decided, one for the faddist (High Court), the other for the fancier (police court). The latter is of as much importance to the fancier and the trade generally as the former is to the faddist. But if cases or charges are not properly placed before the Court, the fancier will be systematically thwarted, baffled, and defeated by the faddist. The judge, or whoever it comes before, has to administer the laws as it stands to-day, and he is in no way responsible for those who made the laws. Our friend, Mr. Trower, has said he would give £10 10s. to any scheme or cause for assisting the British bird fanciers and trade, and this ought to be appreciated. There are, I consider, plenty of societies, clubs, etc., which could and should take the matter in hand promptly. The present time is very appropriate for placing the whole facts before those gentlemen who make the laws and are responsible, namely, your members of Parliament. I would suggest a petition be got up, and the remarks of Mr. Hopkins in giving his verdict be used as the heading to the same. Send this to all secretaries of societies in London or throughout the country, to be signed by all members of the societies. The society should afterwards present to the member or prospective member of Parliament of the district the original petition, and a copy of the same should be sent to a central body elected to place the whole petition before an M.P. who will take up the matter. By the scheme that I submit all will know what our grievances are. We must be heard of other than in a police court. I venture to say it will have much more effect, and get a revision of the law, so that our hobby may be more of a pleasure to us, without being constantly molested by faddists.

CAMBRIDGE.

Ninth annual show of the Cambridge and Camb's C.B.S. held Corn Exchange, Nov. 22nd and 23rd. The hall is one of the finest in the provinces for a show, being very spacious, and capable of holding even double the number of exhibits on view, having also a splendid top light. The arrangements were in the capable hands of the hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. S. Moore, and his assistant, Mr. J. J. Gifford, who were ably supported by the committee, Messrs. Gawthorpe, Styles, Bye, King, Dean, Kuff, Lambert, and Lusey; also by the following gentlemen, who acted as stewards, Messrs. F. Watson, Jeeves, Macquarrie, Wallmour, and Bishop. The entries totalled between six and seven hundred (somewhat below last year). The quality of the exhibits in the Norwich, Yorkshire, Crest, Border, Hybrid and British bird classes was of a very high order. The show was held under the patronage of the C.C. Club, the B.F.C. Club, the E. and W.B.F.C.C., and the N.B.B. and M. Club. One of the most novel and interesting competitions in connection with the show was a drawing competition, which consisted of the sketching of a Yorkshire and a Norwich Canary (taken from the front page of a recent copy of CAGE BIRDS), for which the committee awarded a number of medals as prizes, and many of the sketches (which were hung up at one end of the hall) showed considerable ability. Mrs. Moore, the esteemed wife of the hon. sec., took great interest in this department. The judges for the cage birds were Mr. J. Robson, Canaries, and Mr. J. Frostick the Hybrid, British and Foreign birds.

LEATHERHEAD.

Cage birds at the show of the Leatherhead F.S., which was held on Nov. 23rd, in the Victoria Hall, were only few in numbers, the entry doubtless being affected by the prize money, which had been reduced to 3s., 2s., 1s. Still, some very nice birds put in an appearance. The cup for best in show went to a beautiful Red-headed Gouldian, shown by Mr. Wade, and the special for second best to Mr. Parrott's ticked buff Yorkshire. Mr. Whitehorn and his committee had all the arrangements well in hand, and the show was most excellently managed. Mr. C. A. House judged

DARTFORD (Westgate House.)

Held November 23rd and 24th, in the Hall of Westgate House. E. Hesketh, Esq. is the president, and there is a long list of vice-presidents. The show was the initial one of the club, and as such was a great success, the entries being good, many noted exhibitors patronising the schedule. And the quality was excellent. Mr. V. Robins, the hon. secretary, dealt with all the arrangements in a thoroughly practical and efficient way, the result being that there was no room for grumbling, but much reason for praise. The chairman (Mr. A. E. Higham) took a deep interest in the show; the stewards were Messrs. G. Peak, J. Saunders, G. Maull, and J. King; and the general committee consisted of Messrs. J. Blackman, E. Braithwaite, F. Cage, G. Maull, C. King, G. Peak, T. Nickall, B. Roe, F. Smith, G. Hunt, A. Searles, H. Wood, R. Cutten, and J. Saunders. The Canary section contained some splendid quality. In the British bird classes the quality was grand. Mr. Acland's Hawfinch won special for best bird, and that for best British, the second special also going to Mr. Acland for a lovely Lesser Redpoll. Mr. Sbires won special for best members' bird. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged. The awards were up early, and catalogues of awards on sale by 4 o'clock on the first day.

Club Reports.

LOCHGELLY C.B.S.

Annual general meeting held Drill Hall, November 19. Show balance-sheet submitted and considered very satisfactory, seeing it was our first show. There was a substantial balance over. Election of office bearers: President, Mr. T. Taylor; vice-president, Mr R. Dow; secretary, Mr. W. Whiteford; treasurer, Mr. T. Wildridge; committee, Messrs. J. McLean, J. Rachman, J. Adamson, J. Elster, J. Halfpenny, J. McGregor, J. McLeod, W. Duff, J. Anderson, and J. Sneddon.—Wm. Whiteford, Sec.

WEST LONDON F.A.

On Nov. 17th, at Bush Hotel, Shepherd's Bush, the members held a social evening. There was a large attendance, numbering about 60 members and friends, and the event was successful in every way. Mr. Warren took the chair, and was well supported by Messrs. Tyson and Bray. Amongst the visitors was Mr. Mason (Shipley). Refreshments were provided by a member who wished to remain anonymous. The entertainment programme was in the able hands of Mr. J. W. Dewhurst, who always seems to procure first-class artistes. Amongst those who contributed to the entertainment were Prof. Lock, Mr. Dines, Miss Woolgar, Miss Baker, and Messrs. Green and Stigwell. Mr. Bushel presided at the piano.—J. Dewhurst, Hon. Sec.

CHOPPINGTON C.B.S.

Fourth annual supper held Railway Hotel, Choppington Station, Nov. 19, 52 members and friends being present. After supper Councillor Cox took the chair, and in a very able speech said how pleased he was to be with his bird fancier friends. He also dwelt on the success of several members at the open shows, and hoped to be with them on many future occasions. The following gentlemen contributed to the harmony of the evening: Messrs. Allan, Russell, Cox, Taylor, Thompson, Hudson, Sanderson, Anderson, and others. After hearty votes of thanks to the chairman, and the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Atkinson), a very social evening was brought to a close.—G. H. SEELY, Sec.

KELTY AND BLAIRADAM C.B.A.

Annual meeting held Gothenburg Rooms, Nov. 19, Mr. J. Stenhouse (president) in chair. The balance-sheet showed a grand balance in hand, the members being well pleased to see the society in so flourishing condition. It was agreed we have a show next year on same lines to our last, the date fixed was Oct. 21. Also agreed to hold a club show (confined to radius members), and that the open show have an open membership. It is expected there will be numerous cups, etc., next year. Mr. J. Veitch has already promised a cup for best young Crest or Crestbred at open show for members. The following were elected office bearers for next year:—President, Mr. J. Stenhouse; vice-president, Mr. J. Fotheringham; treasurer, Mr. D. McConville; and secretary, Mr. A. Dickson, 37, Adams Terrace, Kelty; auditors, Messrs. J. Ford and J. Veitch. Next meeting Nov. 29, headquarters.—A. Dickson, sec.

LEITH O.S.

Annual general meeting held Liberal Club, Hope Street, Nov. 12th, president (Mr. Lumsden) presiding over a capital attendance. The financial statement was presented. The income for the year showed a total of £30 13s. 7d., the expenditure (including cost of society specials) being £21 12s. 6½d., leaving a balance of £9 1s. 0½d. to be paid in prize money which worked out at 3/9 per class (48 classes), which was considered very satisfactory. Officials for ensuing year were elected, viz.: Messrs. Lumsden and G. Brown, president and secretary respectively, unanimously re-elected; Messrs. A. Howden and J. Allan elected auditors. A discussion took place regarding date of show for 1911, when it was agreed to hold same on second Saturday of November (local secretaries please note). The election of committee was left over till next meeting. This being all the business the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to all who had assisted to make the late show such a record success. Next meeting 10th Dec., in above rooms, when all intending members should endeavour to be present. Information from me.—George Brown, Sec., 1, Coalhill, Leith.

BRADFORD EAST O.S.

A hearty invitation is extended to all fanciers to attend the service at Park Chapel, New Cross Street, West Bowling, Bradford, on Sunday next, Nov. 27, at 6 o'clock, when the Rev. G. Hall Wallis will preach an appropriate sermon on the Fancy. This will be interspersed with sacred solos by Mr. W. Smith (bass vocalist), of Bradford. Great interest is being taken in this particular service, and I would urge upon all who desire to obtain a seat at all to be there in good time, or they will be disappointed. The reading of the lessons for the day, the announcement of the hymns, and the collection will be by members of the society. Seeing this is entirely new to our hobby, the society wish to make the service a most popular one. This innovation was received with delight by those who were privileged to attend the last one, and I have no hesitation in saying that all who attend will be amply repaid by hearing one of the most forceful preachers that Bradford can boast of. Once more I ask for your attendance, and encouragement in the stand which the above society is making in defence of our hobby, and in order to enlighten public opinion with regard to the great benefits derived by working men from this source in this city.—H. Hill, sec.

PROVINCIAL ROLLER C.C.

Presentation to the Secretary.

A pleasing ceremony was performed at the Bolton Roller C.C. show, held at Joiners' Arms Hotel, Nov. 19, when the Provincial Roller C.C. held a meeting and presented to their honorary secretary, Mr. A. Percival a splendid illuminated address. This came as a surprise to Mr. Percival, and in presenting same to Mr. Andrew Percival, the president, Mr. A. Fonkls, made the following appropriate remarks:

"You are no doubt aware that our principal object to-night is to present our worthy honorary secretary with an illuminated address in recognition of his valuable services, and to mark the high esteem in which he is held in general by the members of the Roller Canary Fancy. I may say this is one of the proudest moments of my life, to be the fortunate individual selected to present to my comrade and friend, and our esteemed secretary, this handsome illuminated address. I feel sure he will prize it not for its monetary value, but as a mark of the popularity in which he is held by the members of the club, practically all of whom have subscribed to it. Mr. Percival, I trust you will enjoy many years of health and prosperity, and that in years to come you will look upon this mark of devotion with pride, and that it may be some inducement to your sons to follow in their father's footsteps."

Immediately the president finished, all the members present burst out in song—"For he's a jolly good fellow"—it was "great." First Waring scored with a beautiful "shocked, followed by Mr. Ridings with a lovely "hollow roll"; Mr. Austin was good on the "Glucke," while Mr. Routledge scored heavily with the "flute," and Mr. Latham had a nice "hollow bell," followed closely by the president with a gentle "schwirre." Mr. Webster was "Kolibri"-like, and Mr. Schofield had a grand "hollow shocked." Mr. Lord came out splendidly with the "bass roll," and Mr. Massey had three knocked off for the "hard nufzug." Mr. Robinson scored with the "deep bubbling water tour," followed closely by Mr. Kelsby with a grand "bell roll." But the full points were scored by Messrs. Leach and Cave, fra tha, who scored heavily in "general effects." In responding, the honorary secretary (Mr. Andrew Percival) said no one was more surprised than himself. He would treasure the address, he said, as a moments of the esteem of his fellow members. Mr. J. Routledge made a few remarks, thanking the members for the splendid support he, in connection with the president, had received, and thanked all the members for their splendid response to the appeal.

A novice competition will be held for members at the Clubhouse, Swan Hotel, Fountain-street, Manchester, Dec. 3, when there will be two classes—one for young birds bred by members, and one for old birds owned by novice members, for valuable prizes, when it is hoped all novices will show their birds and have them tested under competent judges., Messrs. Massey (Bolton) and Waring (Tottington), all birds to be at the club house Dec. 2. Every attention will be paid to them, and they will be ready for judging on the Saturday morning. The entrance fee is 1s. per bird. Information from our honorary secretary, Mr. Percival.—Tom Routledge, vice-chairman, P.R.C.C.

ASHINGTON AND DIS. C.B.S.

At meeting at Mr. Rowley's, Nov. 15th, there was a grand turn-up of members. We decided to pay prize money on the whole six tickets at the rate of £1 per class, and carried a good balance forward for next year, which was very gratifying to the majority present. There are signs of a substantial increase of membership this next season.—J. Miles, Sec.

BANKFOOT & DISTRICT C.B.S.

Grand concert held in connection with the members' show, Nov. 12th, in the Bankfoot schools; it proved a great success, both financially and otherwise. A competition for a bird and cage, value 15/-, was provided (absolutely free of cost), open to all persons supporting the concert; this by the way proved a great attraction. The weather was wretched, and the attendance, though really good, undoubtedly suffered in consequence. A large number of artistes kept the audience entertained from 7.30 to 10 p.m. A double quartett, under the control of Mr. J. Parker, delighted us with a rendering of "Comrades," and "Here's life and health to England's King"; a duet, "Excelsior," sung by two of the same party, fairly "brought the house down." Mr. "Jack Brown" (humorist) kept the audience screaming with laughter. Miss N. Sykes sang "Angus Macdonald"; Miss E. Murgatroyd, "Tell me that beautiful story." Miss N. Hodson and Master F. Rothery had quite a programme of their own on the piano and violin respectively. Just prior to the close, the result of the competition for the bird and cage was announced, and the winner proved to be Miss E. Murgatroyd, one of the artistes. The win was very popular. Miss Murgatroyd briefly responded.—F. Gelder, Sec.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 3rd, Wentworth Cafe, Mr. A. Bradshaw (president) in chair. After the usual business, Mr. W. A. Cowgill (Bradford) gave us a washing exhibition, and a few remarks on the Yorkshires. Amongst other things he touched upon, he gave many useful hints. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for so kindly coming to interest us, and the meeting was voted the best we have had for a long time.—Committee meeting held Nov. 11th. Decided, that we send complimentary tickets to several influential gentlemen. Several arrangements were made re adverts. in catalogue, also arrangements are being made with the secretary of Birmingham show to have birds sent on to ours. Several more specials were allocated, namely, 5/- for best British, 5/- best foreign, 5/- most points hardbill, 5/- most points soft bill. The Yorkshire, Norwich, and Crest sections receive 3/-, 3/-, and 4/- respectively for most entries. Messrs. Bradshaw, Drabble, and Woolhouse were elected to see the station-masters at Sheffield stations, to ensure the early despatch of birds. A committee meeting will be held on the Friday night of show. The committee desire a full muster of members at next meeting, as there will be very important business to transact: the election of officers, whether we keep in Cage Bird Union, next year's fixtures, etc.—J. Woolhouse.

YORKSHIRE UNION OF C.B.S.

Meeting of Council held Gt. Horton Show, Nov. 19, Mr. F. Hammond (president) presiding over a large attendance of delegates. The acceptance of Mr. F. Carl's offer to supply cage labels to the Union was endorsed. Mr. S. Jenkinson applied for reinstatement in the Union, and after due consideration it was decided to defer the application until the end of the present show season, when a fresh application can be made. Mr. F. Imeson (Dewsbury) applied for advice and assistance in claiming compensation from the L. and Y. Railway Company, in respect to four birds stolen in transit to Manningham Show on Nov. 5. After he had stated his views and given particulars as to his intentions with regard to proceeding with same, the Council decided that the secretary use all legitimate means in his power to support Mr. Imeson, and forward to the railway company a letter intimating the action the Union was prepared to take. Letters from Messrs. W. Mundell and J. Bailey expressing their desire to withdraw from the list of judges were accepted; the statement of the Shipley delegates in respect to that society's annual show next year was also accepted. The delegates then balloted for judges to officiate at Union shows next year, and the following is the official list, subject to the judges' acceptance of the said engagements:—Oct. 7, Luisterdyke, H. Sutcliffe; 14, Bradford West, J. N. Harrison; 21, Huddersfield, W. A. Cowgill; 28, Manningham, J. C. Barnes; Nov. 4 Leckehill, J. Wilcock; 11, Great Horton O.S., C. A. House; 18, Windhill, Shipley, J. Broadley; 25, Brighouse, H. W. Battye; Dec. 2, Halifax O.S., A. Hirst; 9, Bradford East, J. Greaves; 10, Great Horton Good Intent, F. Armstrong; 30, Queensbury, W. Cruise; January 6 (1912), Sandy Lane, H. W. Walsh; 13, Skelmanthorpe, F. Mason; 20, Shipley, R. Hallidry; and 27, City of Bradford, J. Robson. The president alluded to a Cinderella Club show, and expressed the opinion that something ought to be done in the matter, urging the delegates to give the matter due consideration before another Council meeting. A letter from Mr. and Mrs. F. Armstrong (Halifax) thanking the Council for their kind vote of condolence passed to them at the last meeting was read.—H. Hill, sec.

LARKHALL C.B.A.

Very successful social held Miners Hall, on Nov. 19. About 40 members and friends sat down to an excellent tea. Mr. Rundell (our worthy president) occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen remarks referred to the prosperity of the society. Cups and special prizes won at annual show were handed to the various winners. Songs were well rendered by Mrs. Thackeray, Messrs. Graham and Alexander; violin solos, Mr. Speedie; gramophone selection by Master Hurst. A special feature was the comic song by Mr. McClue, and the dancing of the Highland Fling by Miss Lilly Slorach. The usual votes of thanks and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.—J. Pollock, sec.

LLANELLY AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting held headquarters, Greyhound Hotel, Nov. 19th, and it was the best and largest attended meeting of cage bird fanciers I have had. Chair was taken by Councillor D. R. Jones, and our worthy president (Jos. Holmes, Esq.), was also present. The meeting was called to receive auditors' report for last show (which I am sorry to say showed a small loss). Secretary having read same, it was adopted, and officers elected. The Secretary said he wished to resign the post of secretary, but was pressed to keep his office, which he finally consented to do. Two things were before the meeting, whether we should hold a members' show or an open show. The latter was carried, same to be held January 10th or 17th, 1911. Before the close of the meeting the president cleared off the debt of the society amid applause, and all present promised to do their best for the society. I trust our next show will be a turning point, that we shall have a grand and successful show, and that exhibitors will give the society the assistance they deserve.—Daniel John, Secretary.

NORTHERN CREST CLUB.

Annual Show Results.

Annual show, held in conjunction with the Blaydon-on-Tyne Society's exhibition, Nov. 4th and 5th. There was a grand turn-out of Crests and Crest-breds, the most startling being the young Crest shown by Mr. Martin; it is a splendid bird of lovely quality, with crest of enormous size. Messrs. Dobson and Son are taking second place to Mr. Martin with a grand young Crested hen, hard lines having to meet one like Mr. Martin's. In the young Crest-bred class, Mr. Hutchinson sprung a surprise upon the members by capturing the silver cup and gold medal for best young Crest-bred; the bird has good head and is almost green, with a good turnover. The "King of Kings" succeeded in winning the challenge cup presented by Major F. R. Simpson, J.P. (president of Blaydon Society) for best bird in show, Mr. Martin's young bird having to take second place; Mr. Armstrong's bird has much improved since Newcastle show. He also won the "Ford Maling challenge cup," presented by J. Ford Maling, Esq., president of the Northern Crest Club, for best bird shown by a member. Such good birds as "King Edward," "The Duchess," and Mr. David Scott's Crest-bred, had to stand down when the "King of Kings" was in form. The following is a list of prize winners: Silver challenge cup and gold medal for best Crest-bred, 1910, Mr. J. L. Martin (Gateshead); Messrs. Dobson and Son won gold medal for 2nd bird. Silver medal winners: Messrs. Carrah and Son, Martin, McColl, T. Taylor, and Dobson and Son. Silver challenge cup and gold medal for best young Crest-bred, bred 1910, J. G. Hutchinson (Newcastle); second gold medal, Messrs. Dobson and Son. Silver medal winners: Messrs. T. Taylor, R. S. Bewick, Dobson and Son, H. McColl, and J. S. Martin. Mr. J. M. Macdonald won special (given by Mr. Crawhall) for best bird shown by a member who has never won a first prize. It is my intention to arrange our next meeting so that our president can be there to present the prizes to the successful members. I hope that out of the respect they have for him they will turn up in good numbers. — J. G. Hutchinson, Hon. Sec.

SHEFFIELD.

Contest every week-end.—J. Grundy.

NEWTOWN (Leeds).

Usual weekly Linnet contest held Prince Albert Hotel, Cambridge Street, Nov. 20, when 15 birds sang. Result: 1, 2, 3, Ferrar. Judges, Messrs. Smith, Wood, and Dean. Also grand Roller contest, when some good singing was heard before a crowded house. Result: 1, Lorriman; 2, Totty; 3, Landkidy. Messrs. Smith and Binns judges.—A. TURNER, Hon. Sec.

LEEDS.

Leeds Linnet F.A. usual quality singing contest held King's Head, Shannon Street, Nov. 12. 1, 3, Simons; 2, Stead. Judges, Messrs. J. Naylor, W. Dean, and W. Naylor. Also Nov. 13, when 23 birds entered, visitors coming from Hull, Normanton, etc. 1, Allen; 2, 3, Bland; 4, Stead. Judges, Messrs. O. Hoban, C. Cooper, and W. Naylor.—WM. SIMONS, Hon. Sec.

Weekly contest held Skinner's Arms, Buslingthorpe, November 20th, when 11 birds faced the judges. Some very good singing was heard. 1, Ward; 2, Thurkill; 3, Hutchinson. Judges, Messrs. Grunger and Renton.

Manager. "CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet St., London,

APOLOGY

HAVING uttered slanderous statements regarding Mr. Mouahan, 76, Lr. Clamhrassil-st., Dublio, and Mr. James Bannon, 43, Cork-st., Dublin, at the show held in the Rotunda, Dublin, on Oct. 27, 1910, I beg to withdraw said slanderous allegations in their entirety, and to express my regret to Messrs. Monahan and Bannon for the annoyance I have caused them: J. McDonnell, 28, Lr. Clambrassil-st., Dublin. Nov. 10, 1910.

West Stanley Show report credits Seely Bros. with 2nd in Cinnamon class, whereas I won second prize.—W. H. BUTLER (Stanley).

I have taken CAGE BIRDS for the last four years, and find it very useful, and wish it every success.—W. REYNOLDS (Smethwick).

I saw Redwings in the Colne Valley, near Uxbridge, on October 30. These are the first winter migrants I have seen.—OBSERVER.

This is my first year at breeding Canaries, and I have reared 50 from 5 pairs, thanks to your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, also to "Canary Breeding for Beginners," by C. St. John, and "Norwich Canaries," by C. A. House, also to your "Nutshell" series. I am always anxious to see CAGE BIRDS each Friday.—J. O. CALLER (Gt. Yarmouth).

Eighteenth annual show of the Ulster O.A., December 2 and 3. Splendid schedule, specialist judges.—(Advt.)

Entries for Cardiff show are very short. I will accept if posted on Saturday.—J. W. DUMMETT, sec., 34, Tudor Road.

Our next annual show is fixed for October 21, 1911, write Messrs. Elliott and Wood, hon. secs. of the Burton-on-Trent C.B.S.

Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate) will judge the Mule section at the show on December 3, writes Mr. H. Amos, the sec., Hawick O.S.

Yeovil Show report credits Mr. Watt with 2nd and vhc, whereas we were the winners of the former.—WINES AND CO. (Yeovil).

Report of Eccles Show, class 7, 4th prize, and class 21, 1st prize, should read Bixter, and not Baxter.—R. P. BIXTER (Prescot).

All cage bird classes at Keynsham show, held November 23, were unfortunately cancelled through lack of entries, writes our representative.

Entries are extended to November 27, writes Mr. N. H. Reed, sec., Launceston show. I trust exhibitors will rally round us as on former occasions.

The Halifax and Dis. F.A. annual members' show will, we hear, be held on December 3, when Mr. R. E. Helliwell will judge the cage bird section.

Hamilton Show report credits Mr. Lunn with with 1st in Green or Cinnamon Border Hen class; it was I who won it and special.—JAMES LAURIE (Govan).

Alnwick Show report in the Yorkshire Cock class credits Wrigglesworth with 1st, whereas I had that honour, also the special prize.—WM. MATHER (Gateshead).

I much appreciate (more so as same was quite unexpected) the picture of my Greenfinch, 1st L.P.O.S. That was his first appearance on the show bench.—C. BOTTING (Camberwell).

There is a mistake in our schedule as to specials 16, 17, and 18; it should read, from classes 20 to 23, instead of 21 to 23, writes Mr. Alex. Miller, sec., City of Dundee C.B.S.

Messrs. Taylor (ironmongers, Motherwell) have generously given a handsome cup to the West of Scotland show, for most points in the foreign bird section, writes Mr. Wm. Hutchinson, sec. I will take entries for same only on morning of show.

The judge of cage birds at our show on December 8 is Mr. A. de Winton, writes Mr. F. Rayner, hon. sec., Aylesbury and Dis. F.S. There are 22 members' classes and 4 open. We hope to make a better open classification another year.

Entries for the Cage Bird section of our Show will be accepted up to first post Sunday morning, Nov. 27, writes Mr. E. Stevens, sec. of the Guildford (Surrey) Show. The fee is 1s. 6d. for prizes of 10s., 5s., 2s. 6d., which were omitted from our advertisement.

I wish to sincerely thank all exhibitors who supported us, and made our show a success. All exhibits were dispatched to the best of our ability, and I hope reached their destination in good order and condition.—F. C. SIMS, hon. sec. Barnsley and Dis. C.B.S.

At Harlech Show, Dec. 17, Mr. J. Kershaw judges, writes a Welsh correspondent, and I am pleased to state that the fanciers in North Wales are increasing. Mr. R. P. Williams and Mr. A. J. Hughes have taken up Yorkshires, with birds of the finest quality.

Our annual show, I am glad to say, was successful in every way, writes Mr. W. H. Pyke, sec. Reading and Dis. C.B.S., and has been the means of making several new members. Never before have the local papers taken so much interest in us, publishing photographs, etc.

Many thanks for the grand report you gave of our Partick Show in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. Wm. Priest, the sec. I have been a regular reader this last five years, and have picked up a lot of information from it, and wish it the success it richly deserves.

Blaydon Show report in the pair class for Crests says Mr. Currah's pair was crest hen and Crestbred cock; this ought to be reversed. Also 4th prize, Scott, the "massive green C.-B. cock" is a hen, 1909 hatched, and her partner, the Crest, is a cock.—DAVID SCOTT (Newcastle-on-Tyne).

Our schedules have been sent out, and if anyone has been missed, we would be glad if they will send us a postcard, write Messrs. Holden and Curry, secs. of the Gateshead show.

At Nottingham Show, writes Mr. G. W. Ballington (Cresswell) my Festivo Amazon got 2nd prize. In the report they give the name of Bollington. My bird was claimed by someone.

All exhibits were in the railway company's hands by 7 p.m. on the Saturday, and all prize-money and specials are paid, writes Mr. E. R. Ridley, sec. of the Hull Open Show, Nov. 18 and 19.

Our show is held under the patronage of the British Bird and Mule Club, and it was a printer's mistake in our not including same in schedule, writes Mr. J. A. Tyler, sec., Leicester C.B.S.

Through the illness of Mr. Alex. Cochrane (Edinburgh) we had to engage Mr. Geo. Marlin (Hamilton) to judge our British bird section, after our schedules were in print, writes Mr. Jno. Kilpatrick, sec. of the Uddington O.S. As Mr. Marlin has a wide experience, I trust he will have a good entry.

Will exhibitors please note the following errors in our schedules:—5s., 2s. 6d., 1s. 6d., most points, should read 5s. most points, 2s. 6d. second, and 1s. 6d. third, write Messrs. Lindsay and Hobson, hon. secs. of the Sheffield C.B.S. Specials in Mules and Hybrids should read: Classes 24 to 26, instead of 22 to 24.

OBITUARY.

I regret to have to notify you of the loss Mr. and Mrs. G. Dawson (Belle Vue, Carlisle) have sustained in the death of their youngest daughter. She was a great help to her father and mother in attending to the wants of their British and Foreign birds, and she will be greatly missed. The sympathy of all fanciers in this district goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Dawson and family in their sad bereavement.—W. H. WRIGHT, Hon. Sec. Carlisle and Dist. C.B.S.

Clydebank O.S. Show report in the Young Bird classes should read: Buff cocks, 1, 2, 3, W. Ross (no name given in report); Buff hen: 1, 5, R. Monteith; Yellow Pied hens: 4, R. Monteith. —ANDREW KIRKWOOD, Sec.

Entries for our Show have come in very badly indeed—73 entries in 121 classes, and not a dozen cage bird entries, writes Mr. D. J. Rees, secretary Hounslow and Dist. F.A. I will accept up to Saturday's post, Nov. 26.

We have not five entries in ten open classes, and there is a money prize and special in each and every class, writes Mr. E. A. Stickland, hon. sec. of the Windsor and Dis. C.B.S. We are obliged to extend entries until Nov. 28.

I have received two further applications for shows to be held under Cage Bird Union rules, writes Mr. Geo. W. F. Lythgoe, the sec., viz., Falmouth and Dis. C.B.A., December 7 and 8, and Narberth P. and C.B.A., December 14.

Please accept my best thanks for the splendid report of our Nottingham Show, writes Mr. G. E. Wilkinson, hon. sec. All prize-money has been sent to outside exhibitors, and all specials sent off. If anyone has been missed I should be glad to hear from them. I am grateful to the 231 exhibitors who sent over 900 birds to the show, thus making it a splendid success.

The Great Western Railway Co. ask me to point out, writes Mr. J. H. de Maillet, hon. sec. of the City of Birmingham C.B.S., that they have made an error in their circulars re excursions in regard to the venue of our show, and in some instances as to the date of same. Our show is to be held at the People's Hall, Hurst Street, on November 30 and December 1, and not at the Masonic Hall, New Street, on November 26 to December 1, as stated on some of the G.W.R. excursion bills.

In Belfast N.C. and Y.C.C. show report I find I have credited Mr. Birse with winning 1st in Norwich Clear Yellow class, writes our reporter. This is an error; Mr. Thompson was the winner.

We have had the pleasure of looking through a sketch-book filled with cleverly executed pencil and coloured drawings of birds, the work of Master Clarence P. Thompson (age 11), of Grimsby, kindly sent us by Messrs. Towl Bros., the well-known Grimsby fanciers. They are certainly drawings of considerable promise.

The date of our 1911 All England Show has been fixed for the first Saturday in November, writes Mr. J. E. Wood, sec. of the Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S. Will secretaries kindly note this, so as to avoid clashing? I take this opportunity of thanking those exhibitors who supported us, and helped to make our entry a record one.

Owing to Mr. Carr Forster having sustained an accident to his eye, he will be unable to give us the demonstration on taxidermy at our next meeting, but hopes to do so on a future occasion, writes Mr. T. C. Crawhall, sec. of the Newcastle C.B.S. We will distribute the members' special prizes and arrange prize money for members' classes on Dec. 1.

The annual dinner is to be held on December 3, at the "White Hart" Hotel, High Street, Stoke Newington, at 7 p.m. prompt, writes Mr. R. P. Harper, hon. sec., North London C.B.A. Tickets 2s. 6d. each. The concert which follows the dinner will be really good, several first-class artists having been obtained. All friends are invited.

Kindly mention that the City and Suburban A.C.B. meeting for Monday next has to be postponed in consequence of the L.C.B.A. show, writes Mr. V. Wynn. It will take place on Monday, December 5, when all prize money and specials won at the recent show will be presented, and a judging competition in Crests will take place.

Our first open show is being held at the Victoria Hotel, Langley Moor, on December 3, writes Mr. G. Reed, of the Brandon Colliery Society. Mr. J. Atess judges. We are hoping to make it a success, starting with only four classes. We trust, as it is an open show, fanciers will support us. I shall be pleased to forward a schedule, my address being 35, Newcastle Street, Brandon Colliery.

Ebbw Vale show (November 30) regret entries up to date nil. We are giving good prizes and specials and deserve better support—21 classes not one entry. Do, please, exhibitors, support us, or we shall have to cancel the cage bird section. We are dispatching in time for Pentrehach and Pengam shows, the day following. Now then, exhibitors, give us a bumping entry. Entries extended November 28 first post.—T. H. COOK, hon. sec.

Mr. Tams, of Longton, will officiate in the cage bird section at Nantwich Show on Feb. 3 and 4, writes Mr. F. Powell. The classification is eleven classes. We hope all old fanciers and new ones, too, will support us at our jubilee show.

No success, we hear, has attended the effort to save the Bromsgrove P.P. and Cage Birds Association, and the Society was brought to an end at the recent adjourned general meeting. For some years a really first-class show has been provided annually at a great expenditure of time and money, yet there were only 12 members sufficiently enthusiastic to come forward as exhibitors. No society was ever better served by its officers, and no body of workers ever had better leaders than Mr. Frank Jeffery and Mr. H. Bate, but the ball could not be kept rolling in the absence of local enthusiasm.

We have received some splendid samples of bird seeds from Messrs. F. Penny and Co. (White Hart Yard, Cloth Market, Newcastle-on-Tyne), who are advertising them in our columns. The Spanish Canary seed and the summer rape would be very difficult to improve upon. All the seeds sold by this firm are of one quality—the best—and are double-screened and re-cleaned, while the prices are extremely moderate, three points which should command the attention of bird-keepers. Every kind of seed can be supplied; also first-class singing mixtures for Canaries, Linnets, etc., and Lark, Thrush, etc., foods.

I am very thankful to fanciers who responded so well to our appeal for entries through the columns of CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. J. Tottle, sec., Prome C.B.S. We only had about 80 entries for 50 classes, and our appeal brought it up to just under 400 entries, and turned what looked like an utter failure into a fine success. This year all exhibits that came any distance were dispatched by the 8.50 p.m. train on the evening of show. Our committee worked with a determination that exhibitors should have their birds at home early, with the result that not a bird was remaining in the hall at 10,30 p.m. Already many letters have arrived from exhibitors congratulating us upon the very excellent condition in which the exhibits arrived home.

Though late in the day, I should like to express my members' and my own thanks to you for the very excellent report which you gave to Newcastle Show in CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. T. C. Crawhall, hon. sec. Newcastle-on-Tyne C.B.S. The only fault I could find with it was the far too glowing references to myself, which I feel were altogether undeserved. It was indeed great satisfaction to us to know that our efforts to please exhibitors and the public were so greatly appreciated, and I have no doubt my successor in office will do more to make a greater success next year; for, unfortunately, the work connected with a society of the size to which Newcastle has attained in six years is too great for the amount of time which I can spare from my business. I wish CAGE BIRDS continued success and prosperity

Hunstein's Magnificent Bird of Paradise is the subject of a really exquisite plate by that well-known artist, Mr. H. Goodchild, which forms the frontispiece to the November issue of "Bird Notes"—the journal of the Foreign Bird Club. Notes upon the species are contributed by Mr. O. Millsum and Mr. E. J. Brook. Mr. W. E. Teschemaker, B.A., writes on "The Nesting of the Argoondah Quail and White-cheeked Crested Quail." Quails are the subject of an article by the Editor, Mr. Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S. Very practical notes are those by Mr. Tinniswood Miller, F.Z.S., on "Foods for various Cage Birds." There are several full-page beautiful half-tone illustrations.

No longer need one brave the terrors of a wet and chilly night, no longer wait and shiver outside, no longer crowd and suffocate within, to hear your favourite Singer or listen to your favourite Band. To-day, your favourite Singer and your favourite Band will bring their splendid entertainment right into your home, per gramophone. The thing is, of course, to get the right kind of Gramophone, and J. G. Graves, Ltd., has left no difficulty here. For an initial outlay of five shillings this famous firm will deliver to your door a machine which will reproduce every kind of music with a fidelity almost unbelievable, and it reproduces the human voice with an exactitude quite startling—its value is marvellous. Simply five shillings and the machine is delivered; after that a few easy monthly payments which you will never miss. We strongly recommend those of our readers who mean to make the best of Christmas, to send a postcard to Messrs. J. G. Graves, Ltd., Sheffield, for fuller details of these superb machines without delay.

Sense of Smell in Birds.

It is said that the sense of smell in birds is but very little developed, although not entirely absent in any species. Many tests have been made by hiding food from flesh eating birds, which prove that these forage by sight.

A Presentation.

All fanciers are invited to the special meeting of the National British Bird and Mule Club at the L.C.B.A. (Horticultural Hall) Show on the Saturday, at 8 p.m., when a presentation will be made to the hon. secretaries, Messrs. Plumbridge and Carr.

Birds' Feathers.

In the arrangement of birds' feathers we see the softest and the most downlike are nearest the skin, and the stiffest and strongest the further removed from the body. The intermediate wing feathers are softer as they approach the shoulders.

The Hawfinch Abroad.

It is said that the habits of the Hawfinch are precisely the same in distant lands, as they are in this country, although one might possibly be forgiven for thinking that the bird's shyness in this country was caused by the persistent persecution of gardeners and collectors.

Birds' Feathers.

The feathers of a bird do not grow all over the body, as they would hamper him in his movements, but are arranged in tracts. Birds are not all alike in this arrangement of feather patterns. Nature has so managed it that the feather tracts are distributed over the body of the bird in such a manner as to be most helpful and protective to its mode of living. These variations, although not in some cases very distinct, are nevertheless very interesting when studied carefully.

L. and P.O.S.

Fanciers thinking of joining the L. and P.O.S. should do so at once, writes Mr. C. W. Law, the hon. sec., and become entitled to all the benefits from January to December, 1911. Nominations will be placed before the committee on December 8 for election. All our prize money was paid within one week of the recent show.

Lark Nesting in Winter.

I enclose copy of a paragraph in one of our local newspapers, which I though might interest some of your readers, writes Mr. G. Grant (Keith, N.B.). A rather unusual discovery was made the other day by Mr. Stand, Gardenhead Grange, who, on walking through a stubble field, discovered a Lark's nest. The bird was sitting on four eggs, and only rose for a short distance when the intruder appeared, returning as soon as danger had passed. I have seen the party named here, and have asked him to look if the Lark is still alive, as we have had a further sharp snowstorm since he discovered the nest.

The L.C.B.A. Show.

There will be some feathered sensations at the Horticultural Hall, this Friday, Saturday, and Monday, write Messrs. Mugford and Tyson, the L.C.B.A. show managers, such as a pair of sky-blue Budgerigars, and a Greater Bird of Paradise in full plumes, as well as many other rarities. Fanciers' meetings may be arranged for at any time, and comfortable rooms will be provided at very short notice to discuss any of the prevailing vexed questions, viz., the C.B.U., the protection of wild birds, railway petitions, the advantages or otherwise of Specialist Clubs running points cups or trophies. The show managers tender sincere thanks to all those who have so generously supported their appeal and assisted in creating a record competition entry. A rough summary of the entries is as follows: Crests 237, Yorks. 369, Norwich 381, Lancs. and Lizards 72, London Fancies and Frills 20, Borders 55, Cinnamons 17, Rollers 197, Selling 147, Cages 40, Hybrids 84, Brit. Birdbills 176, Softbills 83, Wild Seeds 9, Foreign 127. Over 2,000 entries, which constitutes a record, and all are competitive entries this year the extra stock class has no free entries. Many Cage Bird Union men are exhibiting (although we are not under C.B.U. rules), including Mr. Longden, who is on the Council of the C.B.U.

Is it Cruel to keep Birds in Cages?

There are other thousands of bird keepers whose wishes do not extend beyond the possession of a British Finch, such as a Linnet, Chaffinch, or Goldfinch, or of an easily kept insectivorous bird—a Skylark, Thrush, or Blackbird. They are all the working man whose ambition it is to own a Linnet, Chaffinch, or Skylark which will beat all comers in a singing match, the dweller in a country cottage who keeps a Blackbird or a Thrush in a wicker cage, the occupier of a tenement in a London slum, or the tenant of a suburban villa—possessed with the one idea of ministering, according to their light, to the requirements of their pets. And if some of them keep their Finches in over-cramped quarters, and feed them upon "black, white, and brown," and if others of them endeavour to keep alive an insectivorous bird in an unsuitable cage upon a diet of crushed hemp and breadcrumbs, German paste, or the equally atrocious "foods" which are sometimes sold for the purpose, it is only for the want of knowing better. The same remedy applies—viz., a penny expended in a "birdy" paper; for, notwithstanding that discomfort, amounting sometimes to suffering, is in some cases inflicted upon captive British birds for want of knowledge on the part of their owners, it is nevertheless a fact that a British bird kept with proper attention in a cage or aviary will prefer confinement to liberty, or, as it may perhaps be better put, will prefer the protection and care of its owner to the "tender mercies" of Nature.

If it were possible to compare the fortunes of, say, a thousand British birds from the time of their capture to their end with the fate of a similar number of their fellows which are left in their natural freedom, it would be found that, bird for bird, the former have very much the better time. A British Finch, with proper treatment, will live for many years in captivity. Eight or ten years is a very ordinary period, and records of twenty years of cage life are not wanting. That the average length of a bird's life in freedom does not remotely approach this is quite certain, for it is perfectly evident that Nature takes a tremendous toll upon bird life, as upon every other form of "natural" life. The extent of the ravages of "kindly Nature" may be appreciated by a very simple consideration: A pair of birds will hatch, say, on an average, six young in a season, and in a year these six young will, if they survive, be each engaged in multiplying their species. I am, of course, not here speaking of such species of birds as lay only one or two eggs in a season, but of the smaller British birds, such as are kept in cages. From the time the egg is laid it is in danger of being molested by predatory birds and other enemies. The callow young fall victims, in thousands of cases, before they leave the nest; if they escape the initial fate, they live only to be subject to similar and other dangers. It is palpably apparent, therefore, that the "natural" bird mortality is, roughly, equal to the natural production; in other words, the deaths from one cause or another amount per annum to at least three times the adult spring population. If it were otherwise the numbers of wild birds in this or any other country would increase in geometrical proportion instead of remaining approximately constant from year to year. Who shall say what an amount of suffering is entailed in this keeping of the "natural balance," or who can tell of the struggle for existence which has been undergone by those birds which survive? Would the total prohibition of bird catching materially affect the bird population of this country? I think certainly not.

It would be easy for me to quote any number of cases in my own experience to prove that, given the opportunity, a British bird, like a Canary, will display its own preference by returning to a cage or aviary from which it has escaped. In the first rush of restored liberty the greater majority of escaped birds get beyond the possibility of finding their way back, but there is abundance of proof that they will return if able.

A Siskin of mine once slipped out over my head as I was opening the door of a garden aviary. I could see it among the trees of the garden, but gave it no further thought. In the evening, when putting up the outside shutters of the aviary, I found the Siskin roosting on about half an inch of perch end that was projecting through the wires, and I returned it to the inside of the shelter which it had been seeking. Afterwards, the bird got quite expert in dodging out in the morning, but always wanted to get back long before the day was out, and at night time invariably returned to the same perch end. One night a cat had been before me in taking him from his roosting place, and this was the end of my homing Siskin—Nature had stepped in!

Face Value versus Pedigree.

A paper on the mating of birds read by Frank Cole before the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. on October 6th.

Having thus seen that Nature will not of her own free will help us, it is necessary for us to help ourselves, and to consider how best we can produce this cultivated life.

The question is a most important one. It is one over which many hard things are said. It is a stumbling-block to champions and novices alike, but I am convinced that much benefit would accrue to the Fancy if its adherents would take up the subject, and thrash it out, instead of shelving it again and again. To mention pedigree to some is like showing a red rag to a bull; while to suggest inbreeding is the best way to sever the bonds of a life-long friendship, or be deemed to merit the first vacancy in a lunatic asylum. Yet these two words—pedigree and inbreeding—contain for the careful breeder no fear, but only kindly thought; and it is the careless alone who need shun inbreeding. Nothing is gained by mere caprice, and the man who says he can with certainty select from the show bench—from face value alone—birds that will breed winners is asking you to believe that his eyesight is capable of detecting how the blood of that bird has been formed, or, in other words, that he is capable of seeing through a substance of "brick-wall" density.

The proper selection of bird or beast can only be through a knowledge of its pedigree, and my warning again is: Have beauty or face value if you can afford it, but the bird will most probably be dear unless you know how it has been bred—unless, that is, you know its pedigree. With pedigree and face value right, you will succeed; but with face value alone you will reap, if any, but scant reward for your labour.

To enable you to follow better what I will try to convey, I will endeavour to explain as I go on what I mean when I use the words selection, systematic breeding, pedigree, inbreeding, etc. I know different persons have various ideas as to the meanings of these words; they delight rather to narrow the meaning down so as to give themselves an opportunity of leaving the argument by the back-door, or of retiring under the wing of one who indulges their idiosyncrasies.

First, then, what is selection? Mere choice; that is all. Selection we all must make, whether we rely on pedigree or on face value. The great objection, to my mind, is that the selection crank does not mind where he makes that selection. Face value he will have; where he begins, there he ends.

Systematic breeding is selection through pedigree. It is the one and only way in which to build up a strain than be relied on to produce not only one here and there that is fit for the show bench, but many fit specimens, year by year, capable of holding their own in any company, and some of them "gems of the first water."

We will deal with our subject in two sections: (1) Selection. (2) Systematic Breeding.

A Question of Superiority.

The selection, or choice of a bird, or beast, must first be made. This fact has doubtless caused confusion in the mind of one of our members. Because selection must be made before it can be added to pedigree, our friend says it supersedes or displaces pedigree. But does it? Let us see. There are two ways of selecting—one in which pedigree has the first consideration; the other by face value alone. Which then is the greater, the animal or bird which possesses good points, and whose parentage is known to have possessed them, or the one accepted upon its face value alone? Which would be your choice? I venture to think the pedigree-selected bird. So that this must necessarily displace the one that is accepted on face value alone.

There are two ways of selecting: (1) through pedigree, (2) by face value.

We select a bird for some particular reason—it is good in head properties, or wing carriage, neck, or leg; it is good, we will say, in that particular point we lack but desire to breed into our strain. Some tell us that we must go to the show bench to select. What rot! It is true we find beauty there, but it always seems to me like advising a man who wants a wife to go to Piccadilly Circus or Leicester Square for one. The birds we find on the bench, and the ladies in the Square, are admittedly the nearest to perfection, so far as appearances go, but this does not mean they will be the best for the breeding cage or for the home. Show birds are very seldom good stock birds. Why? Because every bird has a tendency to produce kind smaller than itself. This is what one would expect. The tendency to reversion is so strong that only by the judicious selection of our largest specimens or stock birds can we hope to maintain size; and this is important in some varieties. Secondly—and this is the greatest danger—in purchasing from the show bench you have no means of telling how that specimen has been made. You know the exhibitor's name, and that is all. Whether he bred it, or not, you can only guess at; and he is a cunning guesser who is always right. How it was bred, is another matter; and, as I have said before, no one but the breeder can tell. Inasmuch as the perfect bird has never been seen, does it not follow that even our most perfect birds have been bred from imperfection? I will go further, and I have no hesitation in saying that there are to day winning on the bench both animals and birds that have a large percentage in their veins of the blood of another variety, and the existence of that foreign blood cannot be detected with certainty or its extent accurately estimated. The man who would risk the introduction of that animal or bird into his stock room deserves, well, all he gets, and I wish him satisfaction. As a breeder of fur for seven years, and particularly in the marked varieties, I have known men to have sent their best dam to one of the best stud sires, and pay a good fee, and the result has been utter confusion of blood, without the slightest benefit; and if this be so when sire and dam have been bred true to variety for generations, how much more dangerous it is to unknowingly introduce foreign blood.

Admitted, say our friends; but fur has nothing in common with feather. But hasn't it? Blood is the one controlling influence of all life. As blood is blended so will our strain be perfected. (To be continued.)

Familiar Foreign Birds and Their Keeping.

A Lecture Recently Given before the Exeter and District C.B.S.

By W. J. SMITH.

The Waxbill Family.

I will next deal with the Waxbill family. This includes many birds, the majority of which are very small; and I must say they are the most beautiful and interesting of all. The following are frequently met with: The Grey Waxbill, the St. Helena Waxbill, the Orange-Cheeked Waxbill, the Zebra, or Golden-Breasted Waxbill (do not confuse this with Zebra-Finch), Cordon Bleu, and Avadavats (two species—green and red). The Zebra, or Golden-Breasted, Waxbill is one of the smallest foreign birds, being only from two to three inches long from the tip of the beak to the tail-end. The Cordon Bleu is also a very handsome little bird. Many of these will build nests and lay eggs, but they very seldom rear young. Sometimes one may be very fortunate. Three years ago I successfully reared in my bird-room a nest of three Red Avadavats. Their food is chiefly millet seed (both white and Indian), also a little Canary seed; some insect food should be given, such as ants' eggs, small meal worms, and green food, mostly lettuce—and this is greatly appreciated.

The Orange-Breasted Waxbill is the most charming of all the Waxbills. The total length of this bird is not quite four inches, of which the tail measures rather more than one inch.

These birds nest very freely in confinement, and live well in an unheated room. Although natives of Western Africa, the young of this species are hatched in from ten to twelve days in this country, and are fed on sponge cake, ants' eggs, soaked seeds, green food.

The Orange-Breasted Waxbill is a very small bird, but it will live for a long time in confinement, and that (as I have said) in an unwarmed apartment. But these birds usually sleep in their snug nests of hay during the cold weather; they seem, however, to receive no injury from the cold.

The Graceful Whydah:

My next bird is the graceful Whydah. There are several species. The Paradise and the Pin-tail Whydahs are the most frequently seen of them. I think every foreign bird keeper should have one specimen at least of the Paradise Whydah, though I must say that in spite of the wonderful tails and glossy black plumage of the birds, they are not great favourites of mine, for I have been rather unfortunate in my experience with them, having rarely been able to keep them for long.

Between January and July both sexes of this species are alike in colour, and somewhat resemble the Linnet, which they about equal in size, although the undress tail of the male is decidedly longer than that of the English bird. About midsummer the male of the Whydah bird begins to put on his wedding dress, which consists of a deep, almost jet-black body-coat, with a broad collar of a rich chestnut-brown; his vest and continuations are snow-white, and in a surprisingly short time he produces four black tail feathers, the outer pair of which are more than twice the length of his body, sometimes attaining the great length of 14 inches from shaft to tip. The female bird retains her simple brown costume throughout the year, but can readily and at all seasons be distinguished from her mate by her inferior size.

The Whydah family generally have a curious habit of scratching with their feet in the sand that should always be plentifully scattered on the floor of their abode, and this they do in searching for insects (I have never seen them pick up any of the seeds they may have uncovered). Decline and inability to cast feathers seem to be the birds' principal drawbacks. Those I have lost appeared to be in good health only two or three days before their deaths.

These birds will eat mealworms and small blackbeetles, but I do not fancy the latter agree with them. A gentleman friend in South Africa once told me that these birds when wild chiefly subsist on a kind of small shining beetle that is very abundant in the woods frequented by these birds.

My next and last birds are the Weavers. These are often kept on account of their cleverness in weaving nests, but where the aviary or cage is small not more than one or two specimens should be kept.

Some General Hints.

I do not wish anyone to think that what I have to say now is a complete guide for anyone about to keep foreign birds; it is just a few suggestions for the help and assistance of beginners. When you first obtain your birds, do not turn them into a large aviary at once, but put them into a large cage and feed them carefully for a few weeks, so that they may regain their strength (unless, of course, you have bought birds from another aviary). When you do turn them out let it be at a time when not only the days are warm but the nights as well. It is never advisable to put them out at the end of the summer. About June or July is the best; they will then be quite fit to stand the winter, when it comes, provided, of course, the aviary is kept dry. Cold, remember, will not hurt the birds, but a wet and cold place soon causes death.

During the summer give the birds as many bunches of wild grass as you can gather, and plenty of cuttlefish (or grit), and in the winter, when the nights are long, if you keep your birds indoors go and light a lamp at about nine o'clock and let them have a feed, as they are not used to long nights in their native surroundings. It is impossible in this paper to go into all the small details as to the treatment of foreign birds kept in captivity, but the chief thing is to make a start; one soon gets practical experience, which is worth all the papers that have ever been written. I only hope that this paper will prove of some assistance to beginners.

Many questions were put to Mr. Smith, who, with remarkable aptitude, satisfied all present. The paper proved to be one of the most instructive and highly educational that has been read to the society.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following Conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side only of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS, Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. British Birds, Mules and Hybrids—G. E. Weston. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., A.B.N.H.S., &c., Park and Lake Aviculture—Frank Finn, B.A., F.Z.S. M.B.O.U., &c. Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc. of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his question for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned

CANARY QUERIES.

Heating A Glass Structure.

Jno. T. Flavell.—Even if you used one reputed to be really smokeless, you would need to exercise the most scrupulous care and attention to preserve absolute cleanliness, and watchfulness to prevent flame running up after stove got heated. The frequent renewal of wick does much; but when every precaution is taken there still remains a large element of risk attached to all kinds, and accidents are frequent. Then, if you begin to use one you must use it regularly, not occasionally. The latter practice would be simply courting failure in the health and condition of the stock. Possibly a slow combustion stove would meet your requirements. The only other method would be a small boiler fitted with a flow and return hot-water pipe, the boiler being heated with a small oil stove, both of which were placed under a separate cover outside the structure, with a cap over the smoke pipe to prevent a down draught extinguishing flame. The dampness will also prove most inimical to the birds' health. It is probably due to condensation of moisture from the atmosphere upon the glass. This must be got rid of by efficient ventilation, aided by hinged shutters to raise or lower at will, and, if necessary, clouding the glass with frosting or "summer cloud"; the latter assists materially in preventing condensation Taken altogether. I would advise you to get rid of the dampness by above means; get a hardy strain of birds, which have not been coddled, and dispense with heat altogether. The birds would be far healthier, and they should thrive very well. Sorry your previous query was not answered. Are you sure you did not overlook the reply, as all that have reached me have been duly answered.

Food for Rollers (H. M.).—I prefer a staple of two parts (not three) canary to one part summer rape for Rollers. German breeders habitually use a larger proportion of rape, as also do many English breeders of high-class contest singing Rollers. When buying these birds it is best to make the change gradually. Personally, I always change German-bred songsters that I purchase on to the above staple, and am quite satisfied with the result.

In Need of Advice (A. Curtis).—See reply to "Grapho" concerning the birds not moulting. For the others that act as you describe, add six drops of syrup of buckthorn and as much Epsom Salts as will cover a sixpence to the drinking water every second day for a week, and in the following week give six drops of tincture of gentian and four of aromatic sulphuric acid every second day. Give a spray of watercress, green top of inner stalk of celery, or a sweet grape broken open, three times a week. See that all greenstuff given is quite free from frost.

About Norwich (J. R. Herwyn).—(1) The difference between day and night temperature will largely account for the continual moulting. Keep him out of reach of the heat of the fire and burning lights in the evenings, and see that he is quite free from draughts and not troubled with red mites. In addition to staple diet give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry, sprinkled with maw seed, every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days a morsel of banana, and a pinch of a mixture of hemp, teazle, and millet. In the water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom Salts for two days, and afterwards 6 drops of tincture of gentian and four of tincture of steel, every second day for a fortnight. (2) If, as you suspect, this bird is really a cock, he will sing out more loudly as the spring approaches, or earlier if he could hear another singer opposing him. There is no necessity for drug treatment, but 20 drops of whisky in the water for a few days, and a few cake crumbs sprinkled with a pinch of maw and gold of pleasure seed, would do no harm.

Cracking Seed (Forget-Me-Not).—Feed on a staple of three parts canary to one part summer rape. Every second day give a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, sprinkled with soft sugar, and on the alternate days a morsel of banana and a pinch of maw seed. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and on the alternate days four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid. Continue the latter on alternate days for a fortnight. Withdraw this bread and milk as soon as it cracks and eats the seed freely.

Age for Breeding, etc. (Little Jim).—(1) I have known cock Canaries much older than yours breed very successfully. It is merely a question of health and activity, and if your seven-year-old bird is agile and in good vigorous health, there is no reason why he should not breed quite well. Undoubtedly the majority of birds are in their prime at about three years old, but that does not imply that all older birds are useless. (2) Yes, as a general rule the society of singing Linnets and Goldfinches will corrupt the pure trained song of a Roller Canary.

Not Moulting (Grapho).—Move the bird from the cold room to a warmer one, and keep him in a nice cosy corner with a cover over the cage for, say, a fortnight. Let the position be rather on the warm side, but be careful that it is equable and free from draught. Add twenty drops of whisky and a few shreds of saffron to the water during the time. If he starts to moult in the time named keep him under the same conditions until it is quite finished. If the moult does not commence, take him back to the cold room for a few days. If this does not have the desired effect, let Nature follow its own course. Of course, I am assuming you are satisfied the bird has not moulted gradually so as not to be very noticeable.

Will not Sing (C. H. D.).—Examine the cage carefully for red mites, and if any are found eradicate them as given in detailed reply last week. In addition to the seed diet, give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion, and four of sherry, well mixed in it, and sprinkled with a mixture of equal parts maw and gold of pleasure seed. Give this every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, and teazle. In the drinking water give 20 drops of whisky, ten of glycerine, and a small chlorate of potash lozenge every second day for a fortnight. It would also be best to cage him by himself a little further away from the hens.

Sore Feet (Novice).—Keep cage floor and perches thoroughly clean. Until feet are quite well it would be best to cover floor of cage well with clean sawdust, and supply a little gritty sand in a shallow vessel in one corner of cage. Dissolve boracic acid in hot water, in the proportion of a small teaspoonful to two-thirds of a teacupful, and whilst still quite warm catch bird and well soak the feet and gently wash them quite clean. Dry gently, and smear with zinc ointment, working it well into the scaly parts, and afterwards wiping off all surplus which would attach and hold dirt or sawdust. Repeat this daily until scab comes away, and feet appear well.

Cage Wires and Bottoms (Carte Blanche).—A second Carte Blanche. There is always a certain amount of risk with brass wire cages, because drops of moisture are apt to lodge upon the wires, and some birds have a habit of licking the wires of the cage a good deal at times. Then, if any verdigris has formed on the wires you might expect cases of poisoning to crop up now and again. If you must have brass wires, see they are well lacquered, and always be on the look out for green stain upon them, which must be immediately cleared away. (2) There is no objection to using zinc trays; but keep them well strewn with sand or sawdust, whichever you use, to prevent birds slipping about clumsily when they are on the cage floor.

Sneezing and Wheezing (Norwich Fancier).—Perhaps you have omitted the most important point of all, viz., the removal of the cause. See the birds are quite free from all draught, and extreme fluctuations of temperature. Keep them in a fairly comfortable place, not necessarily very warm, nor yet on the cold side, and see that it is as equable as possible. Feed on a staple of plain canary seed. Every second day give half a teaspoonful of summer rape separately, and a morsel of ripe banana or green top of inner stalk of celery. On the alternate days give the same quantity of crushed stale sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry well mixed in it and sprinkled with maw seed. Twice a week give a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, and linseed. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom Salts as will cover a sixpence for three days, and after that 20 drops of the following mixture every second day for a fortnight. Mixture: Two drachms each of oxymel of squills and glycerine, one drachm each of ipecacuanha wine and chlorodyne, and six grains of iodide of potassium. Any chemist will compound this for you.

A Few Survivors (Dargai).—I'm afraid these birds will never be of any real use to you, even if they appear to recover. Certainly, I would not advise breeding with them in any case. Feed on a staple of three parts canary to one part summer rape mixed together. Every second day give a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with a pinch of gold of pleasure seed sprinkled over it, and a scrap of watercress, or green top of inner stalk of celery, free from frost, or a sweet grape split open. On the alternate days give a morsel of ripe banana, and a pinch of maw seed. Limit the diet strictly to this for month. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and in the following week every second day dissolve a crystal of sulphate of soda the size of a small pea, and a crystal of sulphate of iron half as big in the drinking water, and add six drops of dilute sulphuric acid. Then begin again and repeat the two week's treatment in the same order. Report progress in a month, referring to this reply. Keep birds in a comfortable temperature, and absolutely clean.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

Singing Finch with Sore Head.

A. H. B.—It is merely, I take it, an ordinary humourous growth. The next time it appears, fully charged with pus, lance it, well cleanse the wound with warm water, and apply a little healing ointment; you will have to continue this till the swelling ceases to form. In conjunction with the above, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia into the drinking water (ordinary size drinker), and repeat this every fourth day so long as the voidings are not watery loose; when the latter occurs, you must cease giving the magnesia for about a fortnight. In between well colour the drinking water with Parrish's Chemical Food; this will help to tone the bird up a little. I need scarcely say that till the trouble ceases, the bird should be caged separately, and be kept in some warm, light, and airy, but not draughty, position. Should be glad to hear how the bird progresses.

Bird-room Queries.

L.C.B.S.—I do not like advising you to put an aviary (indoor flight) in front of that door "B," as it is doubtful if draught would be entirely excluded. Again, what current of air there was from window "A" to door "C," would pass through it. What I should advise is to continue the Budgerigars' aviary along the back towards door "C," this would give you a flight 5ft. long, and would accommodate from 12 to 18 birds, according to size. Of course, if you can be quite sure of eliminating draught, and at the same time secure good ventilation, then the plan you suggest can be adopted, and if you take this course, I advise your using the new enclosure for the Budgerigars, and the present enclosure for Finches, etc. The Canaries will agree with the other birds, but not the Chaffinch. A cock Bluewing will cost you as much as a pair, and this varies with the state of the market from 3/6 upwards. I do not know what species you refer to as Brazilian Lovebird. My selection would be Grey Singing Finches, Zebra Finches, Long-tailed Grassfinches, Common Avadavats, Green Avadavats, and Orange-crested Waxbills, small boxes, cocoa-nut husks, Hartz travelling cages, and small rush baskets are the best nesting receptacles; use twiggy branches for perches. It should be easy to capture the Budgerigars with a net, when they fly against the netting in such an enclosure as yours. The branches should be fixed against back of enclosure.

Lovebird with Cold.

E. J.—You do not give me any details, or even tell me what kind of Lovebird it is, and you say absolutely nothing about how it has been fed and treated generally, yet you expect me to assist you! All I can say is, keep it warm and out of the reach of draught, yet where it will get light and air. Put a few grains of Epsom salts in the drinking water for one day only, and repeat the dose in a week's time. Procure the following mixture from your chemist. Ipecacuanha wine, oxymel of squills, and glycerine in equal parts; take a small portion of the mixture, dilute with double its bulk of water, and give the bird three or four drops direct to the mouth from a quill, or if you cannot adopt this method you must give it in lieu of the drinking water; offer it first thing in the morning, and as soon as the bird has had a good drink replace it with the ordinary water, and then adopt the same procedure in the afternoon. As soon as the cold yields, put it on a course of chemical food, by simply well colouring the drinking water with same. Use a crock or china drinking vessel when giving drugs. I can say nothing as to diet, not knowing the species of the bird, but a little of any kind of ripe fruit you can induce it to take will be wholesome.

Foreign Bird Queriists will find in our handbook, "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1/1, and "Burgerigars and Cockatiels," 6d. post free; a mine of information of use and interest.

Grey Losing Plumage.

A. Hemsoeck.—It is not possible for me to form a definite opinion from your data whether the bird is actually pulling the feathers or merely assisting the moult—you can easily ascertain this, because if this is a vice it will not merely pull out the down and feathers now, but also pull out the new plumage as it appears, and often before it is fully developed. Continue to use the quassia; let the spraying be thorough, and direct the spray against any bare areas if there are any; also rub in either Keating's insect powder or pyrethrum powder, especially under the wings, on the crown, and back of the neck, and upper back. This treatment should soon eradicate parasites if there be such, especially if the cage and perches be thoroughly soaked and cleansed with boiling water. While you must not make any sudden change of diet, as soon as possible it should be gradually brought to the following diet. Seed mixture, plain biscuit, ripe fruit, and a few nuts. Do not give tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food whatever; if the bird has been used to soaked food, satisfy it with a little plain biscuit moistened with chemical food and water in equal parts. Cuttlebone and grit must also be supplied. Continue the Dinneford's so long as the voidings are not watery-loose, and chemical food is a good tonic to give in between. If it is actually the vice of feather pulling, it is almost impossible of entire cure, but persevere as above; give it empty cotton reels, pieces of non-splintery wood, etc., to play with and chew up, and so keep it occupied. Probably yours is merely a case of prolonged moult.

Cause of Death.

F. J. C.—(1) The Galah Parrot or Roseate Cockatoo is a hardy species, and though it is almost impossible for me from data to hand to definitely state cause of death, there is little doubt but that it occurred from some infection received during the voyage to this country, which remained latent during the first few weeks it was in your possession. (2) Though the Galah has a good reputation in its native country, it does not do much in this direction over here; nevertheless, I have learned of and seen quite talented individuals, and also others which never did more than give an occasional squawk or scream. Keep it where it will hear plenty of conversation, and have plenty of company, and make use of some caressing expression when you feed it or scratch its poll, also when it is quiet and restful tench it by constant repetition of words and phrases (one at a time), and it should sooner or later talk a little. (3): No Parrot, not even a Grey, can be designated a show talker, though most Ring necks do talk, and very effectively; there are also with this species many individuals that do not—the method of teaching is as given above. It is a case of patience, kindness, and perseverance, and a greater or lesser measure of success will eventually reward your efforts; it ought to begin to utter a word or two in the course of the first twelve months, and then gradually increase its repertoire.

Amazon's Talking Capacity.

O.Z.—At the head of the list of talking Parrots stands the Grey, but even with this species I have known individuals which scarcely uttered a word. Individuals of all species are very variable in this respect, and some much more teachable than others. There is no royal road, and you cannot force a bird, neither does a bird run through all its vocabulary at one time; my experience is that they use the various phrases very irregularly. The mode of procedure is kindness and petting, and offering of tit-bits (not unwholesome food though), talking and fondling it the while. Keep it where it will hear plenty of general conversation. Teach it by constant repetition of short phrases or single words, but only one at a time, and the best period to do this is when it is quiet and restful in its cage. Go to work on these lines, and the vocabulary of your bird gradually increases; patience and kindness are the greatest factors. Diet: Seed mixture: Canary, white millet, oats, paddy rice, hemp, maize, and sunflower seeds, in about equal parts, the whole to be well mixed; ripe fruit, plain biscuit, and a few nuts; cuttlefish, grit, and water, must be regularly supplied.

Blue-winged Lovebirds, etc.

A.B.—The strong probability is that the effects of importation have left them in quite a low condition, and I assume that as they regain strength the feathers will be renewed. It is merely a case, I take it, of lack of condition, retarding reproduction. Again, you introduce one of the mysteries of aviculture; nevertheless, I have come across many similar instances, where birds have lived in health for years in quite exposed aviaries, and when sent to a distance, "shuffle off" at once. Possibly journey had something to do with it. Again, new birds always get a lot of bullying for the first few days in an aviary, and on arrival should be put into a cage to get a good feed, rest, and drink, before being turned out. As regards the Waxbill, it was evidently out of tone, and thus fell a ready victim to the cold, and to a bird taken indoors it should be kept in as regular a temperature as possible, and a change from a warm to a cooler temperature should only be made during a spell of sunny genial weather. I should confine myself to white, Indian (French), and spray millet, but I do not think the seed has had anything to do with your mishaps, providing it was free from dust and sweet. A bird bought from a Southern county should not in a Northern county be turned out till spring, and the same applies in a lesser degree to intermediate localities.

Waxbills and the Moult ("Dad").—A variable temperature, or a sudden transference from a cold room to a warm one, will cause an unseasonal moult, but I am of the opinion that your Waxbills are plucking each other under the pretence of affection, and preening each other's plumage. The best course to pursue would be to cage each bird separately, and not put them together again till the plumage has been perfectly renewed. Give them the usual seed mixture, etc., also an occasional dose of Dinneford's Magnesia—one teaspoonful in the drinking water (ordinary size drinker), and put them on a course of Parrish's Chemical Food; well colour the drinking water with same. These charming little birds are rather subject to the vice of not allowing plumage to be renewed after it has once been dropped, especially on the head and mantle; when this continues for any abnormal period, the affected bird should at once be caged separately till its plumage is perfect again.

Redrumps and Their Diet (M.R.).—(a) Am glad to note the improvement in the hen Redrump, and opine that it will now continue to do well. Hemp seed is a winter food, and your Redrumps, etc., can have a fairly liberal supply, but with all due deference to the authority to which you refer, I should not permit them to make it almost the sole item of their dietary. (b) I am under the impression I answered this query last week, but I will repeat that in many aviaries I have seen Blossom-headed and Rosellas living amicably together in the same aviary, and have so kept them myself. It is very risky to keep two pairs of the same species of Parrot or Parrakeet together in the same aviary during the breeding season, though they would probably agree at other seasons, and I cannot do otherwise than advise you not to attempt it.

Red-headed Finches (Queen's Co.).—Yes, the Red-headed Finches can be safely left out with the other birds, though if the covered-in part is merely roofed in and not enclosed as a shed, then it would be a good plan to have a hinged wooden glazed shutter or shutters to cover in the greater part of the front during the winter months, and regularly each night between October and March. In your roomy aviary two pairs would do no harm among other birds; their antipathy would be to each other, and though with the space they have disaster may not result, you would have far better breeding prospects from only one pair. It may be, taken as a general axiom, that with the exception of gregarious species, such as Budgerigars, only one pair of each species in the same aviary, however large, is the method to adopt to get best results. Two pairs of the same species means more or less continuous strife, jealousy and uproar, and thus the breeding season is frittered away.

Sexing Black-cheek Lovebirds (H. H. B.).—This is a very unsatisfactory proposition, and even those who have bred them quite freely and have had numbers through their hands, and themselves often at fault. It is pretty conclusively established that the iris of the male is of a lighter colour than that of the female, but the iris is so variable, according to the age of the birds, that we are little better off than before. I know of no other distinction, and the above is only of value when the birds are fully adult and of somewhere about of the same age. The nest should be either a roomy box or log, which the birds line with waste millet sprays, leaves, grass stems, and any other aviary rubbish they can find about. Diet: Canary, white millet, a few oats, and an abundant supply of millet sprays. Also green food, cuttlebone, and a little of any kind of ripe fruit they will take.

Grey Parrot Dropping Feathers (W. Dale). Stop the tea sop at once, and give in place bread or biscuit sopped in equal parts of Parrish's chemical food and water. They certainly are apt to pine after the regular attendant in case of absence, but these unwholesome sops sooner or later upset the strongest bird, though in some instances a strong bird will resist the ill-effects for years. Give a dose of Dinneford's magnesia at once, and repeat same every fourth day so long as the voidings are not watery-loose; when the latter occurs discontinue the laxative for a time. On the other days put a little of the chemical food into the drinking water. Keep the bird interested and occupied as far as possible; pieces of non-splintery wood, empty cotton reels, etc., are useful as playthings to this end. Keep a piece of clean cuttlefish in the cage, and do not give any tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food.

What Bird? (O.H.).—(1) It is a Scarlet Grosbeak; it has a very wide range, and is an occasional visitor to this country. (2) It should have much the same seed mixture as a Bullfinch, with a liberal addition of hemp and sunflower seeds. Green food (lettuce at this season) and ripe fruit should also be given, and one or two mealworms daily; the latter will be an appreciated delicacy; also any other garden creeper or crawler you can find for it. (3) The inner of a show cage for this species should to my mind be a pale olive green, but this is largely a matter of taste.

Sexing and Breeding ("Only 15").—The outward sexual distinctions are infinitesimal, but providing you have adult birds to compare the hen Orange cheek is usually a less lustrous, and the orange cheek patch is neither so rich in colour nor so large as that of the male. The cock Black-headed Nun has a black stripe running through the centre of its rufous-brown abdomen; the hen lacks this black abdominal stripe. (2) Lavender-headed Lovebirds are very shy breeders, even in a large aviary, but success is not hopeless by any means in your roomy cage. Put up a roomy nest-box or log in one corner, and when the spring comes round, supply them with twigs with the leaves left on, or thin bark stripped from live branches, and leave the birds to themselves; do not examine the nest. I know of at least one who met with success under similar conditions.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by G. E. Weston.

Cock and Hen Redpoll (Novice).—If you get a Redpoll with a red head and breast, this will be a cock for certain. The hen has no red on the breast. When house-moulted, the sexing of Redpolls is a very uncertain matter.

Cock Bullie and Hen Canary (Cowdenbeath).—It is a fact that no success invariably results from the mating of a cock Bullfinch with a hen of another species, though why this should be so is not easy to understand. Try the experiment, and see if you can break the run of ill-luck. The usual method of mating is cock Canary and hen Bullie.

Shrubs (E.E.). — Yews are poisonous to some animals, I know, but whether the eating of the leaves is injurious to birds I cannot say, having had no experience. The yew berries are eaten by birds. I should not care to risk it, when holly, privet, box, and so many other harmless evergreens are available.

Wild Seeds (J. Drake).—This is good of its kind, but I have seen mixtures I like better—that is, containing a considerably greater variety of seeds. Your sample I should describe as rather "rough stuff"; still, it would be eagerly picked over by British birds in aviaries. It might make a good basis for a wild-seed mixture (other kinds being added).

Hot or Cold (F. H. Newport).—If you are certain that the birds are feeling the effects of the cold, then you would be well advised to have a fire in the room, more especially at night, when the birds are roosting—that is the time they feel it most.

Two Bullies (A. S. Dexter).—Do you think your bird is over-fat? This would account for the symptoms you describe. Or does he "wheeze" as though he had a cold, and breathing were painful? You might succeed in breeding Bullfinches in such a cage, but it would be better at least 30 to 36 ins. long. They have been bred in aviaries, but very, very seldom in ordinary cages. Respecting the mating of the cock Bullie, read another reply on the point given this week. A cock Linnet or Goldfinch would make a fine mate for the hen Bullie; or a Redpoll or Siskin if you wish to try to breed a rarer hybrid.

Not Moulted (D. E. Alexander).—I advise you to give the Sib. hen Canary a hand-wash in water somewhat hotter than is usual. Then keep her for a few days in a warm room, covering the cage over at night. This method will generally start off a bird into moult. Steep in the drinking water daily a shred or two of meadow saffron, and continue with the milk-sop. You do not say how you are feeding, but a heaping teaspoonful of crushed sunflower seed (with a little crushed hemp) should be given daily; this will help to keep her plump and well.

A Goldfinch Mule (F. Thompson).—This bird for 24 hours should have dissolved in three tablespoonfuls of drinking water as much sulphate of soda as will lie on a shilling; afterwards in the same quantity of water dissolve daily as much crystals of citrate of iron and quinine (get one ounce from a chemist) as will just cover a sixpennypiece. Give the latter for ten or twelve days. Your feeding is poor; give teazle in the stock mixture, and allow a teaspoonful of hemp one day and the same of mixed maw and niger the next day, in addition to the stock mixture.

Siskin-Canaries (Jack and Jill).—You could run a cock Canary (not too large a bird) with the hen Siskin, mating them about beginning of May. This will be quite early enough for the hen Siskin, and give you a chance of getting a nest of Canaries from the cock before he is put up with her. When once mated, do not remove the cock from the Siskin, if you can possibly avoid it. A hen Canary is quite capable of bringing up a family by herself, without the aid of the male bird in the feeding department. The cock ought to be singing now. Give him a little (half-teaspoonful) hemp one day and a little mixed niger and maw seeds the next day, for a period of 10 to 14 days. This should bring him on to song.

A Sore Place (E. Lewis).—Soak the sore foot in pretty hot water and thoroughly cleanse the place, then anoint it with carbolic ointment (Calvert's is a very good brand). Do this twice daily (morning and evening), and the place will soon heal. Let the bird have one thin and one normal-sized perch, and keep these very clean.

Two Linnets (A.B.).—The "Nutshell" booklet on the Linnet (only 2½d. post free), gives full directions for sexing and feeding, and much other useful information. The cock can always be told by a red breast, or by the breast feathers having reddish, half-moon shaped tips.

In an Aviary (British).—Try pairs of the following species, which would be almost certain to nest in the aviary you describe:—Linnet, Goldfinch, Greenfinch, Redpoll, Chaffinch (one pair only), Bullfinch. All the other species you name have bred in aviaries, there is, of course, a chance of them doing so with you. They must not be crowded together, and I should not put more large softbills in.

A Bramble (Americus).—Your bird with the dense black head would be at least three years old. Have you tried him with cracked sunflower seed? Once he gets used to this, I thing you will find him prefer it to hemp; it will not be necessary to crack it afterwards. You will have to bathe the eyes for a day or two in warm water lightly coloured by the addition of a few drops of Condy's fluid.

Two Birds (Carte Blanche).—Have you seen the "Nutshell" booklet on the Bullfinch? This (post free, 2½d.), gives full details of treatment, food, titbits, etc. The three birds you mention ought to agree together, though the Mule might be quarrelsome. A good stock mixture for the Bullie would be: Canary 3 parts, teazle two parts, summer rape one part. This, with one part of hemp added, would be correct for the Goldie Mule. As a change, give now and again a good maker's packet Finch mixture and a little wild seed mixture. The tit-bits would be ripe fruit (with black and privet berries for the Bullie), and green foods as in season (watercress, lettuce, groundsel, chickweed, shepherd's purse, etc.).

An Ailing Goldfinch (A. E. B.).—Your bird wants now a course of the citrate of iron and quinine crystals as advised another querist this week. This, I think, will serve to pull him together. You are feeding him very well, but I should give him a little niger and thistle daily until he recovers.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

G. Canham.—Contagious Necrotic Pneumonia. Half of the lung tissue was necrotic or dead, and quite incapable of aerating the blood. This condition must have taken at least a week, or even more, to have become so far advanced. Of course the vendor at time of sale may have been quite unaware of this, for it is possible for such lesions to exist without exciting suspicion until so much of these organs are diseased as to render breathing most difficult, or on the other hand he might have sustained similar losses himself.

E. Bridgman.—Description of post mortem appearances of hen Canary are precisely the same as above, and the same remarks apply. Am wondering whether both birds came from the same source. Although the bird was well nourished and in otherwise good condition, yet the lesions were even more apparent, and had extended so as to slightly involve the liver in addition to the lungs.

Joseph Forster.—The irritability and scaly appearance were due to constitutional causes and had no connection with its demise. Collapse occurred from heart failure due to a congested state of the lungs, induced by the washing. There was nothing infectious.

C. H. Robinson.—I examined three of the four birds sent. All were in a state of partial decomposition. In each case the lungs were the seat of affection, very badly inflamed, and the pulmonary vessels engorged with blood. The remaining organs had undergone such putrefactive changes that examination of same was impossible.

A. C. Young.—Apoplexy with rupture of a cerebral vessel, producing pressure on brain. Bird was fat, and predisposed to this disease. During cold weather, when blood pressure is so high in susceptible subjects, death frequently occurs from this cause.

GENERAL.

Answered by The Editor.

The R.S.P.C.A. and Bird-keepers (A. J. Dazeley).—We prefer to leave the scriptures out of this matter.

A Magazine (Mrs. Thurlow).—The "Aviecultural Magazine" is published by Messrs. West, Newman and Co. (54, Hatton Garden, London, E.C.). It is 1/4 per month (post free). It is free to members of the Aviecultural Society (subscription 10/-, entrance fee 10/6).

Croydon Show (A. Hewens).—We reported the cage bird section in our last (Nov. 19) issue.

A Report (T. W. Walton).—We are very much obliged to you. Pleased to publish the report.

A Society, etc. (F. F. Amos).—Thanks for your very friendly letter. There is the Southport C.B.S., Secretary, Mr. A. Williams, 19, Halifax Road, Ainsdale, near Southport. If the birds you mention were larger than the Greenfinch, then we should say they were Snow Buntings; your description points to this species.

A Plate, etc. (M. M. Ahern).—Thanks for your kindly-worded letter. The plate you mention will not be found in our Christmas Number, but later in the season we hope to issue one that will meet your wishes.

Cuttings (D. Roy and others).—Please accept our thanks for the newspaper cuttings sent us.

The Cage Bird Union (T. Johnson).—We appreciate your motive, but cannot see our way to publish criticism of statements which have not been made in our own columns.

QUEEN'S PARK & DIST.

Annual show held Emmanuel Hall, Harrow Road, on November 12. Entries were slightly below last year's, chiefly in the Norwich Plainhead classes. Members complain of poor breeding results. The Champion classes were very fine, but the Novice was poor. But Mr. W. Clark, a novice, wins cup for best unflighted bird, an amateur (Mr. W. J. Creamer) winning the Yorkshire cup for the first time. Messrs. Hawes Bros. made no mistake in the Yorkshire champion classes, taking 1, 2, and 3 in all but one class. Amateur classes very small, but the Novice Yorkshires supplied 54 cages, a third of the exhibits. British bird classes, too, were poor. The attendance during the evening was very good, the "gate" producing a slight increase on last year, and the show should result in a financial success. The new staging supplied by Mr. A. W. Hart was used for the first time, and much admired by a good number of fanciers. The evening was enlivened by a few good selections on a gramophone, which were much appreciated.

Borders at Liverpool Show.

SIR, Does your reportor at Liverpool Show mean to convoy the impression in his report on the Uneven Border class that there is a different type of Border in the North to what there is in the Midlands or South? He remarks when reporting: "Pretty North Country type."

WM. HY. WRIGHT.

Teaching Linnet Mules to Sing.

SIR, I bred 8 Linnet-Canary Mules this year by aid of the advice given in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS. Could any of your readers give me the best method of teaching these birds to sing? I have the 8 Mules and 4 hen Canaries in the same room. I shall be much obliged for some hints.

W. OWEN.

A Society for East Lothian.

SIR,—On 16th November, a meeting was held in the Assembly Rooms, Haddington, for the purpose of forming a club. Mr. Geo. Scott presided, and it was agreed to form the East Lothian Cage Bird Society. Office bearers were elected as follows:—Hon. President, Mark Binnie, Esq.; hon. vice-president, Bailie Briggs; president, Mr. G. Scott; vice-president, Mr. James Black; secretary, Mr. E. Turnbull; treasurer, Mr. T. Paterson.

A Problem for British Bird Fanciers.

SIR,—I saw in last week's CAGE BIRDS Mr. Maggs asked the question if birds reared from the nest were cage-moulted. I should say "yes," and that Mr. Maggs deserved the British cup with his White-throat at the Bristol C.B.S. Show. The judge said the White-throat was not cage-moulted, but he gave it the special prize for second best bird in the show.

A VISITOR.

[Part of the above letter; seriously libellous in nature, has been deleted. The point raised by Mr. Maggs (as to whether the White-throat was cage-moulted) must be kept to by our correspondents.—EDITOR.]

Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C.

SIR,—Having just taken over the secretaryship of the above club, we find it in low water financially. Members and intending members no doubt have refrained from sending on their subscriptions and donations to the cup fund thinking that the club was not likely to go ahead. Now, a club of this description is badly needed in the Midlands, and if members and intending members will send on their subscriptions and donations we will do our best to make the same a success, otherwise we shall be compelled to hand over the hooks. Now, you Midland Yorkshire fanciers, huck up and send on your names, subscriptions, and donations at once.

Alleged Stained Linnets at York Show.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Beattie, I should just like to point out what took place in the show was not as he states. It was only his opinion against the judge's, and I think the judge put the best bird first. I have no reason to doubt the ability of such a capable judge. Mr. Beattie did not put his objection in writing, according to rule, and offer to deposit 5s. All I did was to carry out the show rule to the best of my abilities. And I tried, as I have always done, to give entire satisfaction to all.

A. WAUD, Hon. Sec., York C.B.S.

SIR,—I should not have taken up any of your valuable space if the writers had not mentioned the York C.B.S. and its officials. I was rather surprised to see such statements made at random, and all to follow the lead of Mr. Nicholson. It was said in the show room at York by Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Beattie and Mr. Simpson that they were not satisfied with the judge's awards in the Linnet class, seeing that Mr. Beattie's Linnet had never before been beaten. And when they got home they would "have a shot" at York. This, to my mind, is about the worst form of sportsmanship I can think of. Mr. Nicholson in his letter says he came fifty miles to see if the faking business was carried on as in the days of yore. Now, there was no need for Mr. Nicholson to have travelled all this distance to see an alleged stained bird. Could he not have seen one nearer home (if not yet moulted)—the one put down at York, and then boasted about? Mr. Beattie's letter I will pass over, seeing he is a disappointed exhibitor; also Mr. Simpson's, which is simply a cartridge fired by his friend. The letter signed "Ebor" shall have a reply when he has the courage to sign his name; or, better still, come to the next meeting and have a real good hearty welcome. I see he knows faked birds have been staged at members' shows, and not had the pluck to speak out. (I rather fancy they might have been his own birds). The great surprise to me, Mr. Editor, was to see a letter written by the secretaries of the Y.C.B.B. and M.C. condemning right and left everything and everybody before anyone had been tried and found guilty. This is the poorest of justice. Now, to me, their course was quite clear. The alleged stained bird at York changed hands. Why not, then, write and ask its new owner to send on the bird to the Editor of CAGE BIRDS, and ask their expert, Mr. G. E. Weston, to be kind enough to say if the alleged bird is faked or not? Then the matter would be all cleared up in a gentlemanly and businesslike way. In conclusion, I should like to say that the officials at York will help in every way to have this matter cleared up to everybody's satisfaction.

ALFRED RICHARDSON, Chairman, York C.B.S.

SIR,—Re Mr. Beattie's letter in the last issue of CAGE BIRDS. As the exhibitor of the Linnets in question I emphatically deny that they were stained in any way whatever, the perfection to which they were brought being effected by careful feeding, washing, etc., and if Mr. Beattie and the other disappointed competitors would only learn how to do this properly instead of rushing blindly into print, they would I am sure, be more successful. Mr. Beattie certainly did mention to me that he would like to object, and I told him he was quite at liberty to do so. If you, sir, would like to test the birds I will willingly arrange for them to be sent you.

T. BOYLE.

[Mr. Boyle has sent two Linnets on to our offices. But it is impossible for us to constitute ourselves a Court of Appeal, so to speak, in such matters. Whatever opinion we might express could not possibly claim to carry any weight after a lapse of time subsequent to the holding of a show, when birds have passed through the hands of other parties. Allegations of staining are matters which call for investigation at the show whereat the birds are being exhibited. We say this without the slightest intention of reflecting upon Mr. Boyle; had we known early enough of his determination to send the birds on to us, we should have requested him, for the reason stated above, not to do so.—EDITOR.]

"Fantail" Canaries.

SIR,—I see in your Double Number of November 5, that someone wants "Fantail Canaries." I really think I should like a pair. Do you think that it would be any use advertising for them? If there are any yet, I think they would certainly have made their appearance 'ere this on the show-bench, the same as the White Canary. Would it be advisable to cross a Canary with a Fantail pigeon to get this new strain; and how many years would it take to get a bird from this cross? I see that Mr. Greff Williams has one which he says is a "Fantail" Norwich. I think there are a good many who would like to know who is the breeder and how it was bred. Someone must have bred it if there is (?) such a one. I saw one illustrated in CAGE BIRDS, I believe, some time back; perhaps that was taken too seriously. But I do hope we shall yet see some.

OLD BREEDER.

A New Cage Bird Society for Stoke-on-Trent.

SIR,—A meeting of Cage Bird fanciers was held on November 7th at the Red Lion Hotel, Stoke. Despite the very inclement weather prevailing, there was a good number present. It was unanimously decided to form a society to be called the Stoke-on-Trent Cage Bird Association. Rules were adopted and meeting nights fixed. Messrs. T. Hawley and J. Pitchford were elected chairman and secretary, pro. tem. The question of holding a show on Boxing-Day was also discussed; it was left over for further consideration. The following were enrolled as members: Messrs. Hawley, Pitchford, Roberts, Bowers, Holland, George, Bagshaw, McMurtrie, Alcock, Keeling, Burrows, Walker, and Walton. Another meeting was arranged for November 21st. Local fanciers desirous of joining are invited to attend our meetings, or communicate with me.

J. PITCHFORD, sec., pro. tem.
218, London Road, Stoke-on-Trent.

SIR,—At the meeting held at the Red Lion Hotel, the following additional officers were elected:—Vice-chair, Mr. H. George; treasurer, Mr. W. Roberts; auditors, Messrs. Alcock and Lea. It was decided to hold a members' show on Boxing Day, with Mr. F. Bate as judge. Classification was drawn up, and seven good specials allotted. The membership now numbers sixteen, and the prospects of the new society are very bright. The next meeting will take place on December 5. I shall be pleased to hear from any local fanciers who wish to become members.

J. PITCHFORD, Hon. Sec.

Bad Luck in a Bird-room.

SIR,—I am giving my experience in trying to breed the Norwich Canary in a room I built myself. It is well built, with ½in. match boarding, size 7ft. high, 6ft. wide, 7ft. long. It has a span roof and boarded floor, window facing south. I have 15 ½in. holes in each end near the top for ventilation. I can open window in hot weather. I had 30 young birds die in this room from three to seven days old. I might say that I painted this place outside, first coat red lead paint, second coat green paint, and I covered the roof with felting, and then tarred it. This was dry before putting birds in. What sets me fast is the smell inside—such an unpleasant smell. I might say that I keep the birds perfectly clean, but the smell is there. The old birds stood this, but after losing 30 young and the best hen I had (she pulled a piece of cotton through the wires from a nest bag I had hung on cage, and got it round her neck and hung herself), I took the birds out of this room to one in the house, and I am sure you will be pleased to hear that they reared 12 young for me, and some good birds among them. This is my first start, and I should be very pleased if any of the kind readers of good old CAGE BIRDS could tell me what is likely to cause this smell, and how to remedy it. I should be very thankful.

W. GOLSBY.

"Wrong-classed" at Coventry Show.

SIR,—Can any visitor to Coventry show inform me why my broken green Norwich was "wrong classed" in the Any Other Variety class? If it was in its wrong class, which was its right one, as I could not find it in the schedule? I do not think it is right for any judge to "wrong class" a Norwich if its right class is not to be found in the Norwich classification.

H. HATHAWAY.

More Mules from Mules.

SIR,—Seeing a letter in CAGE BIRDS of November 19th from "Interested One" respecting the breeding of Mules, I beg to inform you that I also can verify the statement that Goldfinch Mules will breed. I have a hen the father of which was a Goldfinch Mule, and the mother a Hartz mountain Roller. I paired the hen with a Linnet this year; result, three young Linnet Mules, two of which are living, and are very strong and healthy birds, one cock and one hen. The cock bird sings beautifully, and is a grand upstanding bird.

E. CARTER.

Where was "Kruger" this Time?

SIR,—"History repeats itself" it is said. It has done so in this case. Mr. Kruger ran from Pretoria when Lord Roberts drew near. We have heard the feats during 1909-1910 of another "Kruger" (Mr. Marley's marvellous Redpoll) applauded in CAGE BIRDS as no other of his kind ever was before. But lo! at the City and Suburban show last Saturday, "Bobs," "Kitchener," and an army of 18 other Redpolls were on his track, prepared to conquer or die, and this without the help of other allies (Siskins and Twites) in "downing" him. But lo! Kruger was missing! "Bobs" and Co. were too hot for him; so he saved his reputation by hiding away! No doubt it will be said he was preparing for another battle elsewhere (was it a battle where the loot could be easier won?). I have noticed, strange to say, that when a Redpoll of Mr. Marley's wins, lo! it is Mr. "Kruger"; but when it gets whacked—well it's Mr. Somebody else, a second-rater.

Lancaster Primrose Cage Bird Association.

SIR,—It is well known locally, and for a few miles away, that the above-named association has been carried on and financed by a few to hold open shows only, as a considerable quantity of fanciers, and the Lancaster and Dist. Society itself, could not see their way to hold open shows, to make the shows clear themselves. Some few years ago the Lancaster and Dist. Society held open shows, but their financial position diminished, therefore its members got downhearted at holding open shows. Now the time has arrived when it has been proved that open shows in the district can prove a financial success. Year by year the show has improved, although handicapped by a few local fanciers, this being the fourth show held which has maintained the confidence of exhibitors from afar. It must not be allowed to die, therefore a meeting of fanciers is arranged for the 30th November, in the Market Hall, Coffee Tavern Rooms, Lancaster, at 7.30 p.m. All cage bird fanciers are cordially invited. Mr. S. Mallinder in the chair. Business, to open out as a society, to enrol members, or to amalgamate with some other society, or anything, in fact, the said meeting may decide. All fanciers are earnestly invited to attend.

Marked Drinkers at the Bristol F.S. Show.

SIR,—I beg to mention that I was an exhibitor at the above show (in fact, I had the honour of winning special for most points in the Champion Norwich Section), but none of my drinkers were enamelled or painted inside, in fact, they are getting a "bit rusty." As "Visitor" states that Mr. Smith was not the only exhibitor who had the inside of the drinkers painted or enamelled, I think it would be only fair to others if those alluded to by "Visitor" would give an explanation, if only in the same way as Mr. Smith. Apparently the cartridge was not exploded at Mr. Smith, who must have been struck with a stray shot.

J. TRISTEM.

SIR,—Again I am compelled to reply to "Visitor's" letter re the above, but I can assure him that I do not intend to make a lengthy discussion of this matter. In the first place, he has very scientifically evaded the most important questions in my letter; very wise of him, no doubt. I was sorry to see this show was not held under C.B.U. rules. I entered there thinking it was, owing to an oversight on my part. I thank "Visitor" for enlightening me. I have not the rules of the S.N.P.C. at hand just now, but I can assure "Visitor," that if they have the rules he asserts, they are not adhered to at all the shows held under their patronage, or at least they were not at the W.C.O.S. show, Plymouth, at which I was a visitor. I think it is just as well to enamel drinkers inside, when they become rusty (a 4d. tin of enamel being quite enough to do 30), as it is to go to the trifling expense of 9d. a dozen in purchasing new ones, because at every show at which I have been an exhibitor this season, instead of having all my "marked" drinkers returned, one has been replaced by a dirty rusty one. If served in this manner for long, I think I should want to purchase new ones pretty often.

W. T. SMITH.

Suggested New Glasgow Society.

SIR,—What is wanted is a bird club for the Possil Park and Springburn district, Glasgow, as there is only a Scotch Fancy Club in this district. I think, with such fanciers as Messrs. Sloan, Smith, Crawford, Thomson Brothers, McLeod, Tweedie, Fyfe Brothers, etc., a very good club could be formed. I hope to hear from some of the above-named on the subject.

J. MOSSHOUSE.

Purchasing Show Birds.

SIR,—I should like to say through your valuable columns that I have bought Mr. A. B. Pattrick's (of Southend) unflighted yellow. He was second to my buff at the Clapham show and Plymouth, but mine was second to him at Cheltenham. They will now fight their battle over again at the L.C.B.A. (Horticultural Hall) under the same ownership. As it has come to my knowledge that I have been "buying show birds," I should like to say that every bird I have exhibited this season and last has been bred by myself, with the advice given me by Mr. R. L. Crisp, who has very kindly paid me a visit each year, and to whom I owe a great deal for my success.

J. W. RENNIE.

The Alleged Stained Mule at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—In answer to Mr. Bald's letter, I am at a loss to know what kind of colouring matter came off my Mule. One thing I can honestly say is, that the bird was not tampered with by me in any shape or form. If I was guilty I would give in, but when I know I am innocent I consider it an injustice. I may say that I sent the Mule to Darvel show, and it was he under Mr. Pettigrew, he being one party who condemned it at Glasgow. Now the bird was sent to Darvel in the same condition as it was at Glasgow. Surely there must be something wrong.

Amateur Norwich Plainheads at Liverpool Show.

SIR,—Please allow me to inform Mr. Bell that CAGE BIRDS report of Liverpool show was quite correct, and that I did win 3rd prize and commended in the amateur yellow Norwich class, and have been paid prize money for same. If Mr. Bell cannot read the report aright, perhaps I had better enlighten him a little. His wins were in the unflighted yellow Norwich amateur class; he did not make an entry in Class 35. I advise Mr. Bell to read reports thoroughly in future.

R. P. BIXTER.

SIR,—Sorry I have overlooked a class at Liverpool show. I now find report correct. My mistake.

Earby Cage Bird Society Makes a Good Start.

SIR,—Many thanks for the copies of rules you sent us in regard to the formation of a Society. We have been able to adopt from them rules which will meet our requirements. We are only a small Society, but hope to grow in time, as our members, who only number about twelve, are as enthusiastic as the largest Society in the world. In regard to competition, well, to hear them talk nobody can beat them. Others are scouring round for good blood, and we have some "blood" in Yorkshire. We intend having a members' show in January, and some are preparing already in the matter of show cages. There is no doubt we have caused a stir among the bird fanciers of Earby which will, I hope, create more members. Thanking you for your kind assistance, and wishing CAGE BIRDS every success, I hope that all local bird lovers will join our ranks.

Pending Resignation of an Irish Secretary.

SIR,—The members of the Yorkshire C.B.S. of Ireland and of the Irish Fancy will learn with keen regret that Mr. "Dan" Carroll, our hardworking, painstaking, and capable hon. sec., has definitely decided on resigning the position at the end of the year. His reason for taking this step is, as he announced at the last Council meeting, that he finds the heavy strain placed upon him during the show season too much, particularly during the period immediately preceding our annual show, when his spare time is rather limited, and when so much arduous work has to be got through. As is well known, Mr. Carroll is one of the founders of the society, and much of its success has been due to the splendid work which he has accomplished in his capacity as hon. secretary since its institution. Mindful of these facts, the Council, on my proposition, decided at our last meeting, to organise a suitable presentation to Mr. Carroll on his resignation, and to appeal to the members of the society and the Fancy in Ireland generally, and the Fancy Press, for their whole-hearted support in order to make the presentation the success it deserves to be. I have been appointed hon. sec. to the Testimonial Committee, and Mr. Holley, our vice-president, as hon. treasurer. I intend to circularise the Irish Fancy as soon as possible for subscriptions, and should the annual meeting of the society approve of it, the Council will allocate two guineas of the funds towards the testimonial. In the meantime subscriptions, however small, will be acknowledged by Mr. Holley, 66, Fitzroy Avenue, Jones's Road, Dublin, or by "Wrong Classed" at West Stanley Show.

SIR,—I would like to ask (and would like an answer) why Mr. J. Hands marked my half-bred Yorkshire and Scotch Fancy Canary "wrong class," which I exhibited at the above show (Number 2, Class 61, A.O.V., not mentioned, cock or hen). I see it is missing from the show report also.

WILSON HETHERINGTON.

Non-colour-Fed Classes.

SIR,—I think that secretaries of shows who have not yet sent their schedules to be printed would undoubtedly do well if they would have a natural colour class for all varieties of Canaries, for myself and the many other fanciers who, I know, do not colour-feed. It is no use our entering otherwise, because we haven't a shadow of a chance, as it is a well-known fact that natural coloured birds do not "take the judge's eye," no matter how "classic" the birds may be. I hope this will commend itself to many secretaries and committees who have the management.

NON-COLOUR-FED.

Heating a Birdroom.

SIR,—I should be extremely obliged if any reader would give a little advice as to heating a birdroom. My birds are kept in the back bedroom, which is built over the scullery, and consequently the temperature varies very much. In midsummer it ranges from 80 degs. to 90 degs. during the sunny portion of the day, and in winter it is extremely cold. Last winter on one occasion the mercury got as low as 30 degs.; this morning it was 38 degs. There is no fireplace, so cannot make a fire. The majority of the cock birds appear all right, but some of the hens appear to feel the cold very much. Should welcome any suggestiou, as I wish to keep the birds in comfort, although they are not exhibition stuff.

AMATEUR.

Birds as Excess Luggage.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Patterson's letter in your issue of November 19th, I beg to draw this gentleman's attention to the copy of the petition published in CAGE BIRDS dated September 10th of this year, by Mr. P. Adamthwaite, hon. sec. of the London Federation of Cage Bird Societies. This petition is correct in several ways, but what is wanted is that each society has a copy of the petition and the members sign it; then let us have the whole sent up to the next Railway Conference. What has Mr. Adamthwaite done in the matter; and if he has had any reply, what might it he? It is no use this kind of thing being taken up in a half-hearted manner. Let each and every society put its shoulder to the wheel, and then I think we will get some consideration from the railway companies.

A. COLLEY.

A Linnet Singing Challenge.

SIR,—Kindly insert the following answer to Mr. Fred Allen's accusation. In the first place, his father (Mr. H. Allen), when president of this association, was the first to propose that all birds singing in a contest must be on the premises not later than 1 o'clock p.m., and that rule has always been adhered to, and I don't see why it should be broken for the sake of a man, although he travelled 57 miles. Also he has made a mistake, for it was ten past two when he arrived at the Prince Albert, and was in about three minutes, the judges coming down before he went out. As to his letter to the secretary, that was not received till 2.10 p.m., when he arrived. In his letter he wanted us to delay our contest, but did not enclose entrance money to enter his birds; also he did not say he was going to sing at the Kings Head First. When he left the room he said he would stop any more visitors coming here, as he would put it in CAGE BIRNS. I have taken CAGE BIRDS some years now, hut have not known it before used as a medium for revenge and spite—just because a man can't have all his own way, like a spoilt child.

Wild Birds that Prefer Captivity.

SIR,—A lot has been said of late under the heading, "Is it cruel to keep wild birds in captivity?" The following is my experience; I hope it will do something to prove to the R.S.P.C.A. and the few others who are inclined to think it cruel, that there is no cruelty whatever if the birds are properly looked after and cared for, as I have no doubt they are in nearly, if not all, cases, as it is to the benefit of bird-keepers and lovers of wild birds to do so. I have amongst my collection some Bullfinches (caught birds, not hand-reared) that do not know what it is to have their liberty. One of these I had for about two months, but I found it was not moulting out a good colour and was rather small, so one morning I gave it its liberty. To my surprise on going out just before dusk to shut my birds up for the night, I saw it sitting on some boards just outside my bird-room. I had no difficulty in catching it. I took it in, gave it some seed and water, and let it go again the next morning. But it returns every night to sleep! Further, I have a hen Chaffinch; this bird had only been caught a fortnight, but as I had no use for it I let it go. This is a bird not so easily tamed (especially in a fortnight), but it also returned, and can be seen sleeping on the cages in my bird-room. Now, what I should like to know is, if birds are so badly treated and looked after as some people try to make out, how is it they return to captivity when they have the chance of freedom?

Norwich Plainheads at Swansea Show.

SIR,—A false rumour has been spread through Wales that the clear buff Norwich 1st and two specials at the late Swansea show, is the same bird that Mr. G. T. Jones was showing last season. In the first place, Mr. Jones had the misfortune to lose his bird. The buff that I am showing was hatched late last season, so late that I only showed it at Tredegar, where it stood 3rd. against old birds, under Mr. House.

An Appeal for Novice British Bird Exhibitors.

SIR,—I notice that several fanciers recently complained of the restrictions placed on novice exhibitors of Yorkshires, and I cordially agree with them. But may I ask, do the novice British bird exhibitors get fair play? They don't get play at all! How can the novices he expected to stick to the Fancy if they don't get any encouragement? True, many shows provide "members' classes." But this means only one chance for us. How many can join more than two societies at most, owing to membership being limited to a certain radius? Now, may I suggest that the executive of the coming Crystal Palace Show provide half-a-dozen or so novice British classes for us? I feel sure they would be well patronised. The following, I think, would be a fair appropriation:—1, Goldfinch; 2, Greenfinch or Bullfinch; 3, Linnet; 4, Siskin, Redpoll or Twite; 5, A.O.S. Finch or Bunting; and a couple of Softbill classes.

Tin-lined Seed Boxes at Scottish Y.C.C. Shows.

SIR,—As I am not a member of the Y.C.C. of Scotland, I would like to mention in your valuable paper the markings on cages of members of the above club. I have visited two or three of the patronage shows this season, and I find that certain exhibitors have tin lining inserted in the seed boxes of their show-cages, which is apart from any other style of Yorkshire show cage. According to how the patronage shows are being judged, I think it would be an easy matter for the judge who is a member of the club to know whom the exhibits belong to, if they have on their show cages what other members have not. A certain lot of members of the club have been appointed as judges, and I feel sure by the time some of them have the opportunity to judge they will certainly know whom the cages belong to. I can safely say I could tell at a glance. I think all show-cages of the Yorkshire type should be alike, so that the judge would have a little difficulty in distinguishing the exhibits.

ON-LOOKER.

The Suggested Society for Lutterworth and District.

SIR,—I see in CAGE BIRNS of November 19th that the late secretary has commented on the appeal recently made to the fanciers of Lutterworth and district. Had my full letter been published, he would have had something to controvert. But if he will let me know where to send it, I will forward the copy of the letter of the 5th inst. to him by post, or hand. I hope to meet him on a future date, as I can assure him that he will not frighten me, and I do not think he will like to tackle "Crutchie." As to attending meetings, I only missed two meetings the whole time I was in the society, but otherwise was there to time. As to jealousy, there was none whatever. I can truthfully say that the society belonged to two men alone—the late secretary and president. The committee were not allowed to have a voice in matters. If the late secretary could not have his own way he would curse the committee all round! He remarks there will be no subscriptions to pay, and all will have first prizes. The prize cards he has of the society no doubt he will have framed, and hang them in his best room. As to being good exhibitors, I exhibit my own property. He talks of shooting hullets and returning them with considerable force; I must remind him that grocers sell "Force," and no douht a little would do him good (it is very strengthening), seeing the miles he states he went both week-days and Sundays. But only for his own benefit; his miles were to visit the president. By the way his letter reads, he is judging another man. Therefore, I come from "the back of my screen." But I do not wish for further controversy with this late secretary.

Leicester Hand-in-Hand; Hamilton (Cadzow Oaks); Nottingham; Stonehouse; Barnsley; Stockton-on-Tees; Kirkburton; Hull; West Bromwich; Brighton; Frome C.B.S.; Markinch.

Under the White Rose.

BRADFORD EAST are still forging ahead; at their members' show on the 15th inst. they had the magnificent total of 170 birds staged for the judges Messrs. Hartley and Dean—to adjudicate upon—truly a romping entry, which augers well for the success of their open show on December 17. By the way, this society hold their annual "bird fanciers' service" at Park Chapel (their headquarters) to-morrow, Sunday, the 27th, and all fanciers are specially invited to attend.

GT. HORTON O.S. open show, held Saturday last, received a very good entry, due no doubt to their splendid classification, and the fact that they had obtained the patronage of the various specialist clubs, the competition throughout being very keen, and the birds to be seen there were of the best.

MR. R. B. WRIGHT (Anfield, Liverpool), has been elected a member of the Y.C.C. and the N.G.M.Y.C.C., and the societies named are hoping to include several more fanciers from the City of the Greens in the near future

MUCH interest has been taken in a case of theft of birds which occurred at Manningham on the day of the open show a few weeks since. Now the matter has been rooted to the hottom, the facts can be made public. It appears that a novice exhibitor, Mr. Imeson, of Dewsbury, sent his birds along to the show, but they did not turn up in the usual course. Investigations made at the station showed that the birds arrived at the station all right and had been fetched by someone who claimed connection with the show. But upon the person, whose name the railway company had down as receiver, being interrogated, he said for certain he had not fetched them. The matter was talked over, of course, by the show officials and members, and the way the truth came to light is rather interesting. When the matter was under discussion, a postman, a friend of one of the members, made a statement that he had seen an individual hoard a car he was on with a case of the proportions mentioned, and that he entered into conversation with him, and was informed that the birds had been away on approval and had been returned. Fortunately he had an idea as to the house occupied by that individual.

THIS was looked upon as a possible clue, and as events turned out it led to the recovery of the birds. The sequel was the appearance of the culprit in Court, where he got very leniently dealt with, viz., fined £2 and costs, and bound over for twelve months, the owner being awarded £2 compensation, to be paid within two months. It will be remembered by many that there was a similar case in connection with the Bradford City show some few years ago, Mr. Wilson, of Earby, near Colne, sending four birds that were never heard of again. They also were handed over to someone who signed a wrong name; therefore it would be wise for all secretaries to give to those that fetch the birds a written statement authorising them to receive them. Truly, we have to be careful nowadays.

THE Y.U. shows have now passed the halfway mark, and with the exception of poor old Eccleshill, the entries have come up remarkably well, and there is a prospect of the "tail end" having a very happy time; let's hope so.

A Homing Waxbill.

Some time ago my father hought a pair of Waxhills. Being very small birds, you had to he careful they did not get a chance to escape. But when my father was feeding one day, one of the birds flew out of the cage door to a tree opposite. We tried to catch it with a net, hut failed to do so. It flew on to a tree by the side of the road and we tried to catch it there, hut it flew out of sight altogether until next evening, when it came into the tree in our garden close to the house, and when father put the cage and its mate into the garden, the bird, being hungry, flew into the cage immediately, and was captured once more.—Sent hy NELLIE GRANT (age 12), Lynwood, Bushey Grove Road, Bushey, Herts.

*A Bullie's Memory.

A pretty story was once told by Sir W. Parsons, who, when a young man, possessed a Piping Bullfinch, which he had taught to sing "God, Save the King." Once when going abroad, he gave it in chargo to his sister. On his return his first visit was to his sister, who told him that the poor little thing had long heen in declining health, and was at that moment very ill. Sir William, full of sorrow, went to the room, where the cage was, and, opening the door, put in his hand and spoke to the bird. The bird remembered his voice, opened its eyes, shook its feathers, staggered on to his fingers, and piped "God, Save the King."—Sent by Charles Brownridge (age 14), 31, Greenhow Grove, Haddon, near Leeds.

In the Courts.

INTERESTING ACTION OVER A CUP AWARD.

A Scottish Judge Declines to Interfere.

Sheriff Sym has just decided an action at the instance of Richardson Brothers (Muir, Bannockburn) against the Auchterarder P., P. and Cage Bird Association for delivery of (1) a handsome cup by the president, for most points in any one class confined to members in which there were three competitors; and (2) a special prize by Mr. Halley, Perth, for the best exhibit in certain classes; and (3) alternately for payment of £50. In the class for which the cup was offered three parties made entries, but only one of them exhibited at the show, and the defenders took up the position that while three parties made entries, there was only one competitor in the class, and so they awarded the cup to a competitor in another class. The Sheriff having considered the record, finds that the dispute between the parties is of a kind not cognisable in a Court of Law, therefore dismisses the action, and finds the pursuers liable to the defenders in modified expenses at £2 2s.

The learned Sheriff in a note says the pursuer's first plea of the law is "The pursuers having gained the most points . . . . entitles to have awarded and delivered to them a certain cup." This plea at once challenges attention to the point whether the Court will decide the question of "awarding" the prize. By the rules of the show it is provided "should any difficulty arise for which no precise rule is laid down, the committee reserve to themselves the right to decide without appeal to law or otherwise." The pursuers say they got so many "points," and that there were so many competitors. What the judges said does not appear to matter. The judges gave the pursuers apparently certain prizes, and the pursuers got the money. But they say that the defenders have refused to award a cup for a number of "points" won. The difference between the pursuers and the association seems to he as to the number of competitors who competed. One side says a competitor is one who enters his birds for competition. The other says a person who enters birds and then runs away from the competition is not a competitor. It appears to the Sheriff that the law excludes him from entertaining the dispute. He is not the party, nor is any Court of Law the party, who ought to decide to whom in this sort of contest a cup is to be awarded. He refers to his opinion and that of Lord Ardwall in the case of Wilkie 19 S.C. Rep. 361.

Notes from Erin.

THE fourth annual show of the Dundalk C.B.S. was held in the Town Hall, on November 16 and 17. This was the first venture since it was decided not to be amalgamated with the pigeon section, and fanciers throughout Ireland will be pleased to learn that the experiment proved a huge success financially. There was a great increase in entries. Through the energy of the committee, the debt from last year was cleared off early in the year, and the club had the satisfaction of making a clean start.

MR. DEVINS won special for best Yorks. in show with his noted yellow cock, bearing closed ring No. 600. Mr. Keating won special for best cock in open classes with his old buff winner. Mr. Devins' exhibit was not eligible to compete for this. Mr. Coyne won special for best hen in champion classes with his unflighted yellow. Mr. Rooney won special for best in novice classes, while Mr. McEntaggert won a special in the novice section with his old buff-marked hen.

UNFORTUNATELY Mr. Hawkins (Cork) was unable to get his birds despatched in time for the show, although he had entered about 24 exhibits. No doubt some of the prizes would have found their way South, but for this regretable circumstance.

NORWICH were the largest turnout of this season, but many of the Belfast exhibitors were "missing." Specials were won by Mr. Faith and Mr. O'Neill.

I UNDERSTAND that some little time ago one of our West of Ireland fanciers obtained a Yorkshire from a noted stud in England on approval, and as it did not meet his requirements it was returned. But on the box arriving at its destination the said bird was missing. The matter was duly reported to the carriers, who offered 5s. compensation. Needless to say this generous offer was declined, and ultimately £2 10s. was obtained.

"CLOSED RING."

*A Kind Mother.

One day when my brother was coming home from school he picked up a young Sparrow which had fallen from a nest above him. He brought it home and placed it in a cage. He then placed the bird and cage in the yard. The young thing began to call. Soon after the mother bird flew down to it. It soon began to rain, so we brought the bird in the wash-house, and we left the window open. The mother Sparrow kept coming in to feed the little one until it could fly and help itself.—JOHN BOWLER (age 13), Goldenhill Road, Fenton, Staffs.

EDINBURGH (Eastern Dis.).

Nineteenth Annual Show, held November 12th, Free Gardener's Hall. Although the society is blessed with an increased membership, the entries were considerably down on last year's, but it was admitted on all hands that the quality, if anything, was better than in former years. Mr. A. Smith won special for best bird in Scotch Fancy Section, with a buff piped hen of outstanding merit. In the Norwich Section the entries were up to those of recent years, and it was here that competition was keen, the special falling to Mr. J. Nelson, with a yellow Plainhead, also runner-up with his buff Plainhead hen; which proves that the quality in the Plainhead classes must have been an improvement. In former years the best ticket was usually awarded to the Creels, and it was the consensus of opinion that the quality in these classes was superior to that of former years. The Borders were rather poor. Mr. Wilson won the teapot in this section, and Mr. A. Dougall a similar prize for a very nice Greenfinch-Can. Mule. The society could not wish for more enthusiastic hon. office bearers, they all being present at the presentation of prizes. Councillor Lorne Macleod, Baillie, Stewart, and Councillor Hunter, took part, their remarks being well chosen and encouraging both to members and prospective members. Judges, Messrs. Hope (Edinburgh) and Scaife (Pendlebeare) whose decisions appeared to give general satisfaction. The show was well attended during the afternoon, and from a financial point of view was most satisfactory.

KETTERING.

Fourteenth annual show, held Club Harmonie Room, Nov. 19th and 20th. Entries came up very well, and the birds made a grand display. A good body of fanciers paid for admittance, and the show proved a great success. Mr. A. Marston is a hard-working secretary, and was ably assisted by Messrs. W. Fairey, J. Goodwin, A. Martin, A. J. Wet, W. Martin, J. Owen, J. Ball, etc. Mr. R. J. Bateman (Rushden) judged Canaries, and Mr. R. J. Huwe (Wellingborough) the British and foreign birds.

NEATH.

Neath and Dis. F.A. 4th annual show, held Nov. 10, General Market. The cage birds were staged in a cosy part of the hall. The classification and prize money might, with advantage, be extended, and a few shillings would be wisely spent in advertising this section in CAGE BIRDS another year. It was also unfortunate that this fixture clashed with that of their neighbours' at Swansea. But there was a large number of entries in the three classes provided, judged by Mr. O. E. Hodge (Bristol).

CAN., A.V.: 1, 3, J. Williams, 1st Yorks., nice bird, good quality and style, 3rd Nor. yell., red hot col., good quality; 2, Mrs. S. E. Love, Nor. variog. buff, rare type, nice head and neck, teeming with quality; 4, Muscott, very nice Crest; r, Taylor; vhc, hc, Jenkins and Son; vhc, Miss McPherson. Bunting; 4, Page, Goldfinch, rare face, good moons, some preferred for 2nd place; r, N. and E. Mogford; vhc, Williams; hc, Gair. FOR.: 1, Mrs. Paddison; 2, Miss D. Paddison.

WALTHAMSTOW F.A.

Show held Victoria Gymnasium November 12th. Entries were very far short of what was to be seen in many former shows, but the quality was of a very high order generally, especially in the British birds and Norwich. The Gymnasium is a new building, and has a good light. Mr. Lane, the excellent and courteous general secretary, did his best under certain adverse circumstances, suffering personally from the effects of a firework accident. Mr. A. T. Billingsley is the sectional secretary for cage birds, and he ably assisted Mr. Lane in his work. We hear that efforts are in progress to infuse new life into the society, and to clear off the debt which hangs over it. There have been many grand collections of cage birds at the shows of the society in years gone by, and it is hoped there will be again. The Canary cup and special were won on the present occasion by Mr. Billingsley, with a grand shaped, lovely feathered, wing marked buff Norwich; the Mule cup was taken by Mr. R. Leighton; and the British bird cup, together with two other specials (for undoubtedly it was the best bird in the show) by Mr. A. J. Marley's lovely Hawfinch, staged in perfect feather. Mr. George Gardner judged.

FALKIRK (Confined) O.S.

Falkirk annual club show, held Union Hall, Nov. 5th. Entries were two up in number on last year's. Judges: Scotch Fancy, Messrs. Paterson (Edinburgh) and Prentice (Clydebank); Mr. Smart (Carmyle) judged the other classes. Mr. G. Hamilton won two cups for Scotch Fcy. with buff green cock, and Mr. P. Maxwell the timepiece with a yellow hen, the runner-up; Mr. R. Reid won cup for Norwich, with a yellow P.H. cock. Mr. Sharp runner-up with a Crested hen.

From information just received, writes our reporter, I find there were 3 cups and not 4, as stated in my Glasgow West end report. The winner of the cup for best young Border or Yorkshire was Mr. R. B. Gibb, with his 1st prize York.

DUNDALK (Ireland).

Fourth annual show of Dundalk C.B.S. held Town Hall, 16th and 17th Nov. The hall is spacious and well ventilated. This society enjoys an excellent reputation for management, and is guided by a committee of true fanciers. The vice-president, Dr. J. P. Lavery, Mr. T. Walters, hon. secretary, and Mr. W. Keating, the courteous and energetic hon. treasurer, were ably assisted by a hard working and willing committee: Messrs. J. Duff, O. McEntaggert, etc., etc., and they had everything in perfect order and in good time for the judge, Mr. H. W. Battye, whose awards gave entire satisfaction. The show was held under the patronage of the Y.C.B.S. of Ireland. The cream of the Irish birds were exhibited. Yorkshires were a grand lot, and well worth a long journey to see. Competition was very keen in both open and novice classes. Mr. Devins (Sligo) won special for best Yorkie; Mr. Keating (Dundalk) special for best Yorkie cock in open classes; and Mr. W. Coyne special for best hen in champion classes. Dr. Lavery obtained honours with his tick buff hen. The novice classes were indeed very good. Norwich were very good, and quality all that could be desired. The Britishers were a grand lot, and Mr. Barclay's noted Goldfinch "Pride of Erin," was again to the front. Many visitors attended from a distance. All seemed to be well satisfied with both management of show and awards made. Amongst those present were Messrs. McQuade (Enniskillen), O'Neill (Lurgan), Birse (Dublin), Gillen (Dublin), Rooney (Dublin), Mallagh (Markethill), etc.

EDINBURGH N.C. & M.B.S.

Edinburgh Norwich Canary and M.B. Society's 11th annual show, held in Buccleuch Parish Church Hall, 10th Nov. The hall is one of the finest we have seen for a cage bird show, being well lighted and free from draughts. The hon. president, Councillor Bruce Lindsay, was in attendance during the afternoon, and we must congratulate the society, indeed, we may say they are extremely fortunate in having such a gentleman at the head of affairs. The handsome cup presented by him was much admired by all. The president, Mr. Welsh, and the vice-president, likewise took a great interest in having everything made comfortable. Mr. J. Finnie makes an ideal secretary, having everything at his fingers' tips, very courteous and obliging, being backed up by a hard working lot of stewards. The attendance in the afternoon was good, and brought a happy smile to the faces of those who had charge of the financial end of the stock. The entry all over was splendid, and some birds of superior merit were on view in all the sections. The Bruce Lindsay cup was won by a splendid clear yellow Border cock, shown by Mr. J. Mackie, the same exhibit winning the B.F.C.C. medal, also cup best in Border section; his wins proved very popular. The cup for best Plainhead was won by Mr. Craig. The same exhibitor won cup for best Mule (Greenle Can.); both birds were of outstanding merit. The judges were Mr. J. Adams (Dundee) for Plainheads and Crests, Mr. J. Patterson (Chirnside) for Borders, and Mr. Crossley Sykes (Musselburgh) all others; their awards all over were well received.

GRAVESEND.

Limited to a seven miles' radius, and with reduced prize money, owing to last year's big loss, the show of the Gravesend F.S., held on Nov. 22nd and 23rd, did not attract a very large entry. A few nice birds were on view, and the competition good. Mr. Terry and his committee had the arrangements well in hand, and everything passed off well. Mr. C. A. House judged.

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD (Notts).

Second annual show held in large club room, Railway Hotel, Nov. 19th. We were very sorry to see entries so poor, as the schedule sent out was a very good one; but we would certainly advise the committee not to pay prize money on the sliding scale. The birds were nicely staged, and all could be seen well. The Secretary (Mr. E. Parnell) had all things well in hand, and was ably backed by a hard working committee, viz., Messrs. Jesse Briggs (Chairman), S. Peak, J. Woodhouse (Vice-Presidents), M. Norwood, G. Norwood, J. Poole, D. Shaw, W. Wardle, G. Waldron, W. Osborne, and A. Clayton (Treasurer). The quality of the exhibits was of high order. Special for hottest bird, Mr. Vardy; Hyde's special, Mr. G. Norwood. Mr. J. Richards judged.

WOKING.

Held Public Hall Nov. 22nd and 23rd. A splendidly managed show in a beautiful hall, the third exhibition of the Woking, Horrell, and Dis. F.S. was an unqualified success. The cage birds were staged in a separate room, which struck warm and cosy, in strong contrast to the biting frost outside. The hon. secretary, Mr. E. Starr, and the assistant secretary, Mr. J. Wright, vied with each other and with each individual committeeman in their endeavours to make the show au entire success. The closest attention was paid to detail, so that no exhibitor should suffer, and no exhibitor have cause to complain. The cage birds were a very nice display, quality being well represented. Premier honours went to Mr. Woods' rattling fine Goldfinch, which was well shown. The awards were posted up promptly, and catalogues on sale early. J. Hutchinson Dower, Esq., is the president, and the following committeemen rendered yeoman service: Messrs. A. A. Wright (treasurer), C. W. Smallbone (chairman), W. C. Bailey, T. Baines, A. Carter, A. Harrison, L. C. B. Hockin, F. James, J. F. Langley, F. L. Lascelles, F. Lewery, F. May, A. Medhurst, T. J. Moore, G. M. Osborne, S. Shannon, J. A. Stirling, and E. H. Wellbelove. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

READING & DIS. C.B.S.

Annual Members' Show, held Palmer Hall, November 16th. Entries totulled 192, and the quality throughout was very good. Mr. Lewin (Oxford) took the cream of the prizes in Norwich, and Mr. Maisey in Yorkshires. Crests and Crest-breds were more numerous than we have had for some time, and splendid birds they were, too. Competition in the British bird section was very keen. Medal and special for best Britisher, Mr. G. H. Acton, with a lovely little Wood Warbler, shown in perfect condition. In the rare feathered class was the one-time noted Black Bullie, but now partly reverted to its natural colour, a white Linnet, and a Black and white Lark. The Amateur Section was well filled, quite a contrast to last year's, and several birds shown would have done well for the open class. Both amateur Norwich and amateur Yorks. classes drew a compliment from the judge for being shown in such good style. The Foreign Section was especially attractive, there being no less than five Mynahs on show. Two of these were sent by our president, the Right Hon. G. W. Palmer, and the other three by a member; also a Cockatoo 80 years old—and a rare fuss the "kiddies" made of him. A most capable body of officials and stewards looked after the arrangements, consisting of Mr. J. Brooker, chairman; G. H. Acton, treasurer; W. H. Pyke, hon. secretary; and Messrs. Vince, Maisey, Dearlove, Tremlett, Preston, E. Smith, Lawrence, Frewin, Lester, Davison, H. Blackett, and Cunningham. Everything passed off without a hitch. Gate money was not up to the average, but considering the other attractions in the town, we did very well.

CROOK (Original) co. Durham.

Sixth annual show, held Nov. 19th, Temperance Hall, a place well adapted for the purpose, being large and roomy; with just a little better light at night it would make an ideal hall for the holding of a cage bird show. Entries came up well, totalling about 320, just about the same as last year. Norwich were a fine lot, both in numbers and quality, and several well known winners were on view. Yorkshires were even better in point of numbers, and here again were to be found some really grand specimens. British came up well, the Linnet class being about the strongest, all classes containing birds of real merit. The exhibits were nicely arranged around the hall in rows two tiers high, with tables in the centre for the foreign and large British sections, the effect being very nice. This left plenty of room for visitors to get around the show. In Mr. Brown the society possess a very able and energetic secretary, courteous and obliging, possessing the knack of successfully carrying out a good show, and under his careful guidance everything passed off without a hitch. He was well supported by a grand body of fanciers, all willing workers, everyone doing their share towards the success of the show. Special prize winners:—Members': Most points in Norwich, Rutherford and Bright; Yorks., W. Messenger; Crest or Crest-bred, Siddle and Dawson; British, small, Rutherford and Bright; large, Wildsmith and Hawkins; the novice being won by C. Nelson. Mr. J. Cuthbertson won the members' cup, the same exhibitor securing the medal presented by Mr. W. Rutherford for hottest fed bird. The class for open novice was a stormer—26 entries—many of them fit for open competition. We are pleased to record a good attendance of the public, and during the afternoon we noticed many well-known northern fanciers present. Mr. W. Vardy judged.

WYMONDHAM.

Wymondham and Dis. O.S. 18th annual show, held Nov. 9 and 10, Public Hall. Entries in the cage bird section were excellent. Mr. W. E. Greeves judged. Mr. W. R. Dye, the secretary, had everything beautifully arranged, and the success of the show throughout was due very largely to his unstinted and untiring efforts. He was ably assisted by a fancier-like committee of management. Mr. W. Bales won the special for best cage bird in show.

GLASGOW (West End) C.B.A

First annual show held Nov. 19th, Clarendon Hall, St. George's Cross. The weather for the time of year put on its best behaviour until near closing time at night, when the first fall of this season's snow was the only thing that marred, shall we say, the passing off of this eventful and most successful show. The society is supported by quite a number of prominent fanciers, and has for its president Mr. A. Miller (Annlesland), whose presence at the head of affairs means much. Mr. W. Proudfoot makes an ideal secretary, and is very obliging and courteous to all. Scarcely were we ushered into the secretary's room than we found we had met with a fancier whose aim was to help one and all. It has seldom been our lot to see a committee who wrought so consistently; each and every part of the work of the day had its attendant. The show was well patronised by the public. There were four cups and specials galore to be competed for. Entries totalled close on 300. The awards were made in the Canary section by Mr. A. Chalmers (Kirkintilloch) and in the British and Foreign bird section by Mr. J. Muir (Glasgow); and judging from the smiling faces and merry banter and tho want of the grunt of the dissatisfied, their decisions were well received. Douglas Pearson challenge rose bowl for best young Nor. won by Mr. A. Miller; Glasgow School of Massage silver cup for best young Mule or Hyb., Mr. J. Smith.

The Critique.

YOUNG BIRDS: CREST: 1, Crawford, large, even wing mkd. D. C., well staged; 2, Stewart, good feathery green, trifle smaller than leader, fine toppiece, must have pressed; 3, Proudfoot, nice one, scarcely finished yet. C.-B.: 1, Proudfoot, fine, close feathered green, will improve a bit with time. NOR. CL., ETC., YELL.: 1, McNamee, grand big bouncing exhibit, tight and typical, well put down; 2, 3, 5, Crawford, 2nd very nice, in grand condition, well put down, 3rd good one, following hard on 2nd; 6, Hardie. BUFF: 1, 3, 4, J. Crawford, typical, fine size and col., feather like silk, 3rd quite nice, but just lacks size; 2, 6, Miller, 2nd another topper, not far behind leader. YELL. VARIEG.: 1, Miller, real topper, grand size and girth, a Nor. to be proud of; 2, 3, J. Crawford, 2nd nice one all over, 3rd good one, well placed; 4, 5, 6, A. Crawford. BUFF: 1, Miller, good one for size and col.; 2, 5, J. Crawford, 2nd grizzled on neck, real sweet one, must have given a run for 1st; 3, 4, 6, A. Crawford; 7, Hardie. BORD. FCY.: 1, Miller, little gem, tight as boxwood; 2, Henderson, quite nice, but beaten in wing carriage to-day; 3, 4, Symington; 5, Proudfoot. BUFF: 1, sp, 6, 7, Symington, first real natty little exhibit, Border all over; 2, 4, 5, Proudfoot, 2nd wee shade smaller, sweet one, good 2nd; 3, Miller, very nice, well worth position. YELL. VARIEG.: 1, Symington, grand feather, lovely even wings, fails just a trifle in neck; 2, Proudfoot, good varieg., well placed; 3, Miller, just a trifle too strong, but well placed. BUFF: 1, Campbell, green, light tail, fine type and feather, steady as a rock; 2, Symington, scarcely finished, will improve when tightened up; 3, Miller, sweet cinn. mkd. varieg. YORKS.: 1, 3, Hendry, 1st real good one, staged in lovely bloom, smooth as glass, wins well, 3rd yell., good quality, fine style, well placed; 2, Pinnock, very nice, well drawn, splendid feather, well put down; 4, 5, Kane; 6, Smith. A.O.V. CAN.: 1, 2, Taylor. DARK MULE: 1, 2, Smith; 3, Henderson, all Linnet Mules, 1st large buff, in fine feather, could do with just a little more col., 2nd smaller, but better in col., very good 2nd, 3rd also quite a nice one. OLD BIRD SECTION.—CREST: 1, sp best old Can., Stewart, grand sized cl. body D.C., fine droop and plenty of feather, well put down; 2, J. Crawford, nice, well groomed; 3, Proudfoot, large and feathery in body; 4, Aitken, very nice, beaten here to-day. C.-B.: 1, 2, 3, 5, Stewart, 1st large varieg., grand substance, plenty of feather, good skull, 2nd nice green, hard up for 1st place, 3rd good one, just lacks head of leaders; 4, Crawford. NOR. CL., ETC., YELL.: 1, Campbell, large, good quality, hot col., wins Hyde's sp; 2, Hardie, typical, fine head, must have made a fair bid for top rung; 3, Miller, just lacks size of leaders, good bird; 4, 6, McNamee; 5, Wilson. BUFF: 1, 4, J. Crawford, 1st sp large cl., good quality feather; 2, 3, Hardie, 2nd real nice one, splendid type and feather, well put down, some preferred; 3rd, monster, good one, just fails a wee trifle in wings; 5, Campbell; 6, Miller; 7, Wilson. YELL. VARIEG.: 1, J. Crawford, bouncing boy, rare col. and substance, wins well; 2, Miller, very good, nice 2nd; 3, 5, Campbell, 3rd not quite so nicely staged, good one indeed; 4, A. Crawford. BUFF: 1, 2, 4, Miller, topper for col. and substance, fine feather, staged to perfection, good win, 2nd smaller, but nice and typical; 3, Crawford, hot col., good feather, just lacks the style of winners. NON-FED (Old or Young): 1, Miller, all there for type and quality, beauty, well staged; 2, Hardie, creditable exhibit, but stopped by an extra good one here; 3, Taylor, built on somewhat finer lines, well placed, good bird; 5, J. Crawford; 6, Loan; 7, Campbell. BORD. FCY. CL., ETC., YELL.: 1, sp, Miller, as sweet a little beauty as we have seen for some time, worth its seed; 2, Lunn, good exhibit all over; 3, Proudfoot, quite as good as 2nd. BUFF: 1, 5, Proudfoot, 1st nice one, well shown; 2, Miller, good one, must have made a bold bid for 1st; 3, Symington, sweet and typical, good all over; 4, Wilson; 6, Waller. YELL. VARIEG.: 1, Miller, good feathered one, nice bird; 2, Waller. BUFF: 1, Wilson, good bird, some thought should, however, have gone back a peg; 2, Symington, very nice one; 3, Miller, good one, well placed; 4, Waller. YORKS.: 1, R. B. Gibb, real slim and sleek gentleman, well drawn, put down in faultless form; 2, Wilson, good one, well placed, tight in feather, smooth as glass; 3, Pinnock, nice one, ought to make a capital stock bird; 4, Wilson. A.O.V. CAN.: 1, J. Henderson, very nice large cinn. Nor., grand col., good type; 2, G. G. Henderson, fine-sized Lancs Ph, well staged. LIGHT MULE or HYB.: 1, Wilson, nice Linnet-Goldie Hyb. DARK MULE: 1, Henderson, grand Jonque greenie, fine size and col., well staged; 2, Wilson, described as a "mystery," we take it to be a cross between the Mealy Redpoll and Linnet, which, to all appearance, has become abnormally fat through over-feeding or too rich a diet; 3 (no name), good Siskin-Can., unsteady. GOLDFINCH: 1, 3, G. G. Henderson, 1st grand little fellow, in the best of form, nicely flaunted, grand blaze, fine bars, good in whites, well placed, 3rd nice col. and markings; 2, Wilson, a bit behind leader in face and markings, nice size, steady. BULLFINCH: 1, 4, Henderson, 1st rare good one, fine depth of col., large dark cap, well defined markings; 2, Jamieson, very good one, beaten only in size; 3, Hart, similar to 2nd. LINNET: 1, 2, Jamieson, two real good ones, fine nutty col., leader rather the better in size; 3, R. B. Gibb, similar in size, quite a nice one; 4, Bibby; 5, J. Henderson; 6, Taylor. SISKIN, ETC.: 1, J. Crawford, Siskin, nice size, fine dark cap, well spangled, good marks, nicely staged; 2, Jamieson, real good 'Poll, fine col., nice bib, good 2nd; 3, Henderson, another Siskin, seemed every bit as good as previous one; 4, Leath, grand 'Poll; 5, Bibby; 6, Gibb. MEALY RED POLL, ETC.: 1st, No. 3 (no name), good size, splendid col., grand cap and bib, well staged; 2, 3, G. G. Henderson, very little to choose between first two except in density of col., 3rd, if anything, a wee shade smaller, still good. GREENFINCH: 1, 5, Henderson, rare size, grandly polished, smooth as glass, staged to best advantage; 2, Miller, another good one, hard up; 3, Adams, still another nice one, as fit as any; 4, Taylor. BRAMBLE, ETC.: 1, 4, Henderson, 1st rare size Chaffie, fine col., well defined markings, put down in lovely condition; 2, Crawford, grand Bramble, fine size and spangling, worthy 2nd; 3, Adams, very fine Chaffie, just wanting the size of winners; 5, Wilson. YELLOW BUNTING: 1, Crawford, fine size and head marks, steady, well put down; 2, Dinnock, smaller, but richer in col., really good 2nd; 3 (no name), nice one. A.O.S. BUNTING: 1, 2, 3, 4, Henderson, grand team, put down in creditable fashion, 1st topping Corn Bunting, one of the best, clinker for size and markings, 2nd monster Snow, just a trifle nervous, well placed, 3rd Cirl, real good exhibit, 4th Ortolan; 5, Taylor. SMALL BRIT., A.O.S.: 1, 2, 3, 4, Taylor, 1st lovely Redstart, best of col., in topping condition, 2nd Grey Wagtail, in perfect condition, staged to perfection, well placed, 3rd another good Redstart, just lacks depth of col. of winner, well up in size; 5, Henderson. LARGE: 1, Wilson, lovely Waxwing, put down in faultless condition, stock steady, rare size and col.; 2, 4, Henderson, 2nd again real beauty of a Waxwing, not much to choose between them, tight run; 3, 5, Adams, 3rd fine Blackbird, in grand feather, nice amber beak. HEN FINCH (suitable Hyb. breeding): 1, Taylor, nice steady Bramble, in fine feather, well put down; 2, Gibb, very good Greenie, not the largest, but very good col. and steady, in nice condition; 3, Henderson, fine Bullie, very steady, nice size and col.; 4, 5, Henderson. FOR., GOLDIE, ETC.: 1, Wilson, Bullie, rare depth of col., well defined markings, grand large dark cap and bars, real good one; 2, 3, Henderson, grand Goldie, lovely face, fine tans and whites, good wing bars and buttons, 3rd again Bullie, good size and condition; 4, Adams; 5, Aitken. LARGE, FOR.: 1, Wilson, fine Toucan, very interesting exhibit, attracted the attention of visitors so much that it was difficult to get near; 2, Proudfoot, fine King, in nice feather; 3, Henderson, grand Lory; 4, Proudfoot, good Grey. SMALL: 1, 2, Henderson, 1st lovely Tanager, in the best of order, 2nd pair of splendid Nonpariels. GIFT: 1, A. Crawford; 2, Taylor; 3, Hart; 4, Gibb; 5, Proudfoot; 6, D. Taylor; 7, Camphell.

BIGGAR.

Annual show held Nov. 19. The cage birds were staged very comfortably in the Municipal Hall, very suitable for the occasion. The secretary, Mr. J. Dickson, had everything in really capital order, for which he deserves every credit. He was rendered valuable assistance by a large committee of true fanciers. Mr. J. F. Dewar (Edinburgh) judged the cage bird section.

"Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

FROME.

Frome C.B.S. third show held Nov. 17th. It proved a great success in every way. Entries came up well, and quality was of the best. The exhibits were nicely staged in the Central Mart, a capital place for a bird show, being well lighted and quite free from draughts. Norwich and Yorkshires were a good lot, and made a nice display, the special for best in the former section going to Mr. Tristem with his marked buff, a grand bird, and put down in good form. Special for second best also fell to this exhibitor with his unflighted buff, the Bristol cup winner. Mr. E. Lovell secured spl. for best Yorks. with his marked yellow, after a tough fight with the yellow hen of Messrs. Hawes Bros., which took special for second best. The Yorkshire cock also captured special for best Canary in show. Mr. Minty took special over the Lancashires, with his Palace winning Frill, a grand exhibit. Dr. Bowes won the Border special. The sensational clear Greenfinch Canary Mule captured spl. for best in section, and the grand Greenfinch of Mr R. J. Howe's accounted for the British bird special. Of the management it would be impossible to speak too highly; every care and attention was bestowed upon the exhibits. We have seldom met with such a lot of hard workers, and they thoroughly deserved their success. No exhibitor need fear entrusting their most valued specimens to the care of this genuine body of fanciers. The hon. secs., Messrs. Tootle and Minty, are the right men in the right place, and had everything working as smoothly as clockwork, and were most tactful, courteous, and obliging. The awards were made by Mr. J. H. Payne.

COVENTRY.

The Coventry O.S. 34th annual show was held on Nov. 19, in the fine room at the Sydenham Palace, and proved a very great success in every way. The entry—416—was an advance on previous years, and the quality of the exhibits was of the highest. The birds were attractively staged and admirably tended by the committee and stewards, whilo the general arrangements were in the capable hands of Mr. J. Shaddock, who makes a first-class secretary, being always obliging and courteous, while he is a thorough fancier, a remark which also applies to the president, Mr. G. Peters, who lent most valuable assistance. Vice-presidents, Messrs. T. Gilbert and W. Lucas; Committee of management, Messrs. J. Corrall, T. Chillingsworth, T. Jndd, G. Lawrence, A. J. Lucas, J. Symonds, and T. E. Waring; hon. treasurer, Mr. G. Clarke; auditors, Messrs. G. Turrell and J. Hadley; show stewards, Messrs. J. Tipping, W. Davis, A. Paddock, E. Reasby, W. J. Rowley, G. Griffiths, H. Aston, H. Butler, F. W. Harris, A. J. Barratt, F. Swift, J. Calcott, W. Lissaman, G. Edwards, G. Coates, R. Symonds, G. Dickinsou, W. H. Raven. The show was opened by Ald. Driukwater, who made a neat and appropriate speech. He said that the Society was doing a good work in teaching people how to care for birds and give their pets proper attention. He was quite sure any home was better and brighter with a pet bird or birds, which they had to pay some care and attention to, and which soon became part of the family. With respect to the keen competition which has been created for the possession of the Coventry Ornithological and Leicester Hand-in-Hand Societies Challenge Cup, some few weeks ago Coventry scored 54 points at Leicester, and as a result of this day's show they retained the trophy. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

PRESTON.

Preston O.S. annual open show held Nov. 18th and 19th in the Public Hall, a room admirably adapted for a cage bird show. We noticed in particular that it is impossible to have a draught on the birds. The staging was just the right height and well set out. Entries came up to expectations, some 700 putting in an appearance; and there were very few non-runners amongst them. The Norwich, which are specially catered for, turned up magnificently. The Lancashire men know where they are well treated, and don't forget to support old friends. All the cream of the Norwich F.C. were on view; and they gave friend Vardy a warm time. What a happy day he did have. He was quite in his element. The awards were split up, which is well for the Fancy; the Liverpool winners again holding the same positions, which speaks well for the club show judge. The Greens did not come up to expectation. Now, you Green exhibitors, you may wake up when it's too late! Can you really expect to have classes put on if you don't support them? Yorkshires were few in numbers, but quality was well to the front. British and Foreign birds were quite a treat, and commanded a great audience. The show was well patronised. We met Mr. Comwell (New Zealand) on the look-out for some winners to take home with him. He tells us the Fancy is getting stronger overseas, the Norwich being their chief fancy. There was quite a gathering of the clans in a hostelry near the show-room. One of the top-sawyers of the N.F.C. offered Mr. Vardy £22 in half-sovereigns for his yellow hen and buff cock, but the hon. member for Bucknall Ruthwaite would not take a penny under £23, and then he called the buff only a songster. Have you got something else up your sleeve, Willie? We heard that sales were great, and the attendance up to the average. Mr. R. Taylor had the show arrangements in hand, and right well he did his duty; nothing seemed a trouble to him. We hope the society will always be blessed with a secretary like him. The placing of the awards was left to Messrs. W. Vnrdy and J. H. Roe.

GALASHIELS.

The Galashiels 50th (Jubilee) show was held Nov. 19th, and taken all over, proved a great success. Scotch Fancies were on the increase, and there were on view some real high-class specimens of the bird of circle. This show is now recognised as the Scotch Fancy Derby of the Borders, and to-day the exhibits well maintained the reputation. They were carefully handled by Messrs. Watson and Muirhead, and their awards met with general approval. Special for best in section was secured by Mr. McLellan, while Mr. Park won the confined cup. The quality throughout was good, very little separating many of the winners. Norwich were one of the finest lots seen at any Border show, and included all the cream of the Fancy. The judge in this section, Mr. J. Pringle, went for type throughout, and after careful selection he managed to please the majority of exhibitors. Messrs. Cameron and Blackhall accounted for the cups in this section, Mr. Blackhall's yellow ben being greatly admired. British birds, Mules and Foreigners were good, the hard-billed class being extra strong; as also was the Goldfinch class, this being headed by a real topper of the first water; it secured special for best in section. These classes were carefully handled by the well-known Border enthusiast, Mr. J. Pringle, and his awards left nothing to be desired. The show was held as usual in the Volunteer Hall, an ideal place for a show, being well lighted and free from draught, and the management, as in days of yore, was second to none. This year the secretarial reins were in the hands of Mr. C. Lugton, and right well did he carry out his duties, everything being in apple-pie order, and passing off without a hitch. The show was well patronised by exhibitors, and it should prove a success financially.

The Border Fancy classes were fairly well filled, although in a central Border town like Galashiels competition could well be expected to have been keener. The medal winner in this section turned up in the foul class; this Mr. A. Gilchrist (Coldstream) secured with a very typical buff cock. Mr. E. Carlill, who won in the yell. cock class, was runner-up for medal, and won special for best clear bird. Mr. H. Bennet (Kelso) judged, and his awards gave general satisfaction.

The Border Fancy Section.

CODNOR PARK.

The initial show of the Codnor Park and Dist. C.B.S. took place on Nov. 19th. The large club-room attached to the Portland Arms, Jacksdale, provided comfortable accommodation for the staging, which was carried out in a very neat fashion. The entry was very satisfactory. Prize money was on the sliding scale, but on the next occasion our Codnor friends are going one better, and will offer capital prize money (stated in schedule) and various other inducements for competition. So, fanciers, keep your eye on Codnor, 'ere another show season comes round. Genuine fanciers are all the officials, and they are worthy of every support. We were informed that a good number of admission tickets had been sold previous to show day, also that in addition a very fair "gate" was expected. By this, matters point to one of a flourishing description. The stewards were Messrs. Adnitt, Driver, Martin and Simpson, who all did their level best for the success of the fixture. Mr. J. H. Mitchell the worthy secretary, is one of the "true metal." He is most courteous and obliging, and works like a Trojan. Under his guidance the "ship" appears to have a pleasant voyage in front. Special winners:—Sandiford's, Mr. R. Vertigan; best Nor. cock and hen, Messrs. Adnitt and Driver; Yorks., Mr. A. Kew; classes 14, 15, and 16, Mr. G. Howard; Mule, Messrs. Adnitt and Driver. Most points gained by member, Mr. W. Holmes; that gained by a non-member, Messrs. Adnitt and Driver. Judges, Messrs. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), Canaries and Mules; and W. Henshaw (Ilkeston) British. Their awards were well received.

CITY & SUBURBAN A.C.B.

The 15th Annual Show of the City and Suburban A. C. B. (confined to members) was held for the first time in the big Hall of the Church Institute, Paddington Street, Nov. 18 and 19. This fine, large, comfortable place is well suited for a bird show, and was nicely lighted at night when a very numerous company of Fanciers and visitors assembled to view the 530 birds. This number is a record for the Society, and, we believe, a record for any members' show in the South. But the chief feature was the quality of the exhibits, scarcely a second-rater could be found in the whole show. If the Norwich have advanced in type and chubbiness the Yorkshires have "gone up" equally as fast, and some of the Novice birds are now very excellent in type and quality. Crests were a fine lot, Mr. Lazarus' cup winner being much admired, while the Borders were most typical and attractive. The Association numbers among its members many enthusiastic British bird exhibitors, and we can safely say that such an array of Britishers has not been on view since the last show at the Crystal Palace. Mrs. Weston's Goldfinch is a gem of the first water and it will indeed have to be a stormer that lowers its colours. The same may be said of Mr. Francis' grand Bramble, a bird of exceptional size. Mr. C. Prior sent a fine team of all species, as did also Messrs. Francis, Harris, Page, Botting, Grahame, etc. Among the lady exhibitors who did well were the Hon. Mrs. Bourke, with some dainty Warblers (including a beautiful Dartford Warbler), among other prizes securing a special for best staged specimen; Mrs. Weston and Mrs. Clark, the happy possessor of one of the best Redpolls ever seen. There was just one exhibit that astonished all visitors, this was the beautiful Kingfisher shown by Mr. W. Page. Never before has this species been put on the bench in such grand condition. It was as tame as a kitten, appeared perfectly happy, and glowed with colour. Mr. Page deserved the numerous specials the bird secured for him. The Foreign birds were not numerous, but contained some very interesting species, notably a Turquoise Tanager, a lovely bird new to the show bench (Mrs. Weston's), and a few others, mostly from Mr. Watts' collection. The show was wonderfully well managed. In Mr. Victor Wynn the Association possesses a secretary with tact, amiability, forethought and perseverance, qualities which are bound to make a show successful, especially when so ably backed up by such a fine committee as Messrs. Burton, Dickinson, Page, Saunders, Curry, Hart, Prance, Shepherd, Davis, Offord, Pullinger, Wyse, Prior and Thorpe, and the genial chairman and vice-chairman, Messrs. Burn and Curtis. The Judges were Mr. T. Heath, Canaries; Mr. H. Norman, Hybrids and British; Mr. C. T. Maxwell, Foreign.

The winners of the cups, Mr. Wynn informs us, are as follows:—Coronation Cup, F. Lathlief, 11 points; runner-up, T. Monger, 11; teapot (Monger), J. Burton, 63; Hawes Cup, F. A. Tebbs, 30; tea service, F. Lathleif, 39; Jolliffee rose bowl, Mrs. Weston, 7; Mayfair cup, Stewart Grahame, 15; runner-up, C. Botting, 9; Wyse Cup, W. Page, 22; Marley Cup, W. Francis, 200; the Mrs. Weston Cup, W. Francis, 48; the G. E. Weston (novice) Cup, H. Lowe, 7; Wynn vhc Cup, W. Francis, 39.

SITTINGBOURNE.

Held Nov. 16th and 17th, Town Hall. The cage birds were staged in a separate room, and were well looked after by Messrs. T. Attwood, F. Chandler and T. P. Monday. They were quite a meritorious collection, and the attention shown to the condition of cages was creditable to exhibitors one and all. Notwithstanding competition was only open to the County of Kent, the display of quality was excellent in most classes, and the competition well sustained. The hon. secretaries, Messrs. E. Coupland and G. Arnold deserve credit for the practical way in which the arrangements were made, and their unfailing courtesy and patience were particularly noticeable. The committee are all fanciers, and willingly coalesced to make the show a success. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

The Critique.

OPEN TO KENT.—NOR. CL., ETC., YELL. HULL.

Sixteenth annual show of the Hull C.B.S., held Nov. 18th, 19th. The new Corn Exchange, which is splendidly situated, is a most magnificent venue for such an occasion; it is spacious and of capital light, clean and beautifully decorated, and absolutely void of draughts—truly an ideal room. There was an entry of 672, beating last year's total by a matter of 30. President, T. R. Ferens, Esq., M.P., takes great interest in the affairs of the Soc.; unable to attend, he wired his good wishes. Chairman, Mr. G. W. Oliver; Vice-chair, Mr. W. T. Pepper; Hon. Treas., F. S. Howe, Esq.—a trio of very competant and useful officials. The committee are a band of well-known, and practical fanciers, who all worked with a will, sparing no effort; and every praise is due to Messrs. Barwick, Brumby, Calam, Harland, Longhorn, McKay, Perkins, Prentice, Potter Stamford and Stones. Mr. E. R. Ridley, the worthy Sec., is a genuine trier, most courteous and obliging; he works hard, and is the right man in the right place. Much of the success of the show was certainly due to his labour. The stewards were Messrs. Pepper, Calam, Perkins, Harland, Oliff, McKay, Precious, Stones, Howe, Oliver and Mason. Each and everyone did his level best to ensure success. Cards were fixed up promptly after each class was adjudicated upon, and all cages were placed in a straight order. Everything went off smoothly. The staging of the exhibits, was of a very neat fashion, each bench being tastefully draped with red baize, and every bird could be seen at a glance, there being ample space between each aisle. Also there was a fine display of ferns and palms, which gave a pleasing effect. Those who were responsible for these two items, are to be complimented on their taste.—Special winners: silver cup for best (Mem.), Mr. Precious; (Novice), Mr. E. R. Ridley; Sandiford's, Mr. Mason; Ramsden's, Messrs. Greenwood' and Pickles; Hydes, Mr. Mason; Connell's, Mr. Mason; Clayton's, Mr. F. F. Potter; Pexton's, Mr. P. Potter; Perkin's, Mr. F. H. Stamford; Dearlove and Allen's, Mr. Jesse Calam; Wright and Sons, Mr. Mason, ditto, Mr. Precious, ditto, Mr. Mason; ditto, Mr. Walker. Judges: Messrs. J. Robson (London), and J. Maddison (Newcastle-on-Tyne). The former had a rather unpleasant task to perform, and that was to W.C. a couple of exhibits belonging to Mr. W. H. Shackleton. These were entered in class 11 (unevenly marked) instead of in class 12 (hens) they being a brace of very charming damsels, which had they been in their right class would no doubt have got well up in the money.

BELFAST N.C. AND Y.C.C.

Eighth annual show of the Bellast Norwich, Crest, and Yorkshire Club held Nov. 19th, Clarence Place Hall. This hall is an ideal one for the purpose; it is spacious, well lighted and ventilated. Competition was very keen. The show may be said to have heen one of the most successful ever held by the society, and the management was all that could be desired. Mr. Adams (President) and Mr. S. Bamford (the capable and energetic hon. sec.) were ably assisted by Messrs. Teasey, Fleming, and Kennedy, the stewards, who are to he congratulated on the able and efficient manner in which they did their duties. Mr. Birse won silver cup with a lovely yell Yorks, it being awarded spl. for best young bird in show, Mr. Fleming being runner-up, awarded with gold medal. In the Crested ecetion Mr. Adams obtained gold medal for best bird, with a bandsome C.-B. cock. In the Plainheads, Mr. Thompson carried off two gold medals for beat cock and best hen. Mr. H. W. Battye (Huddersfield) placed the cards, and his awards gave the utmost satisfaction.

NORTHERN YORKSHIRE C.C.

Second Table Show of the season, held Lockhart's Cafe, Nov. 16th, when Mr. R. Tindale judged with extreme care, and gave everyone satisfaction.

CKS.: 1, Crawhall; 2, F. Johnson; 3, Tomlinson; 4, Milne. HEN: 1, Tomlinson; 2, 3, Crawhall; 4, Leach. UNFLIGH.: 1, Crawhall; 2, 3, Tomlinson; 4, Bryden. Next Table Show Dec. 13. Judge, Mr. Tomlinson.—T. C. CRAWHALL, Hon. Sec.

BETHNAL GREEN.

The show of the St. James-the-Less F.A., which is open to East London, was held in St. James's Hall on Nov. 19th. The entry generally was a good one, record being touched, but cage birds, which only had three classes, were few in numbers, and not extra good in quality. Mr. Suter and his committee had all the arrangements well in hand. Mr. C. A House judged.

CAN. (5): 1, Mrs. Burns, nice stylish Yorkie; 2, 3, res, Deanman, nice Norwich. BRIT. (6): 1, Mrs. Burns very smart, rich coloured, well mkd. Goldie; 2, res, Deanman, well mkd., rich coloured Linnet; 3, Maynard, another pretty Goldie. FOR. (5): 1, sp. Davis, really good Black-headed Gouldian; 2, Maynard, well marked, nicely feathered Budgerigar; 3, r, hc, Deanman, pair Grey-head Love Birds, Sales Birds, and Javas, a nice little team.

KILMARNOCK.

Kilmarnock O.C.B.S. fourth annual show, held 19th November. The exhibits were admirably staged in the Art Gallery Halls, than which there could be no better found in Scotland. It is heated to the correct temperature, is free from any semblance of draught, and the light from the roof is excellent. We do not remember seeing a better housed or a better managed show, and we vote it one of the best managed shows in Scotland. This must be accounted for by the careful selection of office bearers and committee, every one of whom is a fancier to the core. A list of those responsible for the care and attention of the birds whilst under their care should, we think, be a sufficient guarantee that birds are well looked after. Hon. presidents: Messrs. Police Judge Munro, R. Findlay, and M. Jamieson; hon. vice-presidents: Messrs. W. C. Cunningham and J. Middleton, J.P.; president, Mr. J. Cram; vice-presidents: Messrs. W. Watson, W. G. Muir, and G. F. Adamson; treasurer, Mr. J. Latta; and secretary, Mr. W. Guthrie. We would accord a word of special praise to Mr. Guthrie. The society struck a lucky vein indeed when they appointed Mr. Guthrie as manager. That he managed the show to perfection now goes without saying. The show itself was worth going a long way to see. Kilmarnock has long been famed as the nursery of many specially good birds, and to this exhibition the fancier turns when on the look-out for bargains, and to see the latest fashion. Many very fine specimens were on show, particularly in the British bird and Hybrid sections. Though not strong numerically, they were there in quality, and the judges had at times a difficult problem to solve as to just where to place the red ticket. Possibly the Norwich were a wee bit disappointing, and we were surprised at this, as this class is very strongly represented in and around "Auld Killie." The show was well patronised throughout the day, and we think and hope it will turn out a financial success. Judges:—For Scotch Fancies, Messrs. D. Black (Govan), and R. Price (Barrhead); for Crests, Mr. J. Noble (Kilmarnock); for Norwich, Mr. J. Smeaton (Musselburgh); for Border Fancies, Mr. T. Findlay (Muirkirk); for Yorkshires, Mr. T. Penman (Glasgow); and for British and Foreign birds, Mr. R. McCaw (Kilmarnock). Although it is a matter of impossibility to please everybody, still we heard very little grumbling, and the awards may be written down as giving general satisfaction.

OLD SHILDON.'

Old Shildon Workmen's Club and Institute, Ltd., C.B.S. annual show, held Nov. 11 and 12, in a large hall kindly granted by the committee of the Club; it is an excellent place for a cage hird show, being well lighted by electricity at night, and well ventilated, and heated with hot-water pipes. The entries did not come up to expectations, but the quality was of the very best. The secretary, Mr. J. H. Elwell, had everything in proper order, and the management was everything that could be desired. It would he a difficult matter to find a more efficient, painstaking, and thorough sec Mr. J. Stanger (Felton Hall) placed the cards, and everyone was well satisfied with his awards. Mr. R. Longstaff (president), assisted by Mr. J. Goddard, opened the show at 5 o'clock on the Friday. It was well patronised by visitors. The birds were sent off in good time so as to reach home the same night, and exhibitors who visited the show took their prize money hoinc. The committee kindly gave a concert on the Saturday night, when Mr. J. H. Elwell presided over a large audience.

STAMFORD.

Third annual show of the Stamford and Dis. C.B.S. held Nov. 17th, Oddfellows' Hall, which is really grand for an exhibition of this kind. There was a capital display of birds. The show was restricted to a £5 limit. Some first-rate specimens were on view. Yorkshires and Norwich were the special feature of the show. The Yorkshires were full of style and quality; Norwich were very fine, some classes being very true to type. Britishers mended some high quality birds. Mules and Hybrids were good, and the Foreign birds were well up to the average in quality. A word of praise is due to the secretary, Mr. Ludlow, and his committee for the prompt way in which they discharged their duties; and everything went off well. We hope they will be on the right side with a good balance in the bank, which they deserve. Mr. J. Robson judged Canaries, Mules and Foreign birds; Mr. R. J. Howe the British birds.

TIDESWELL.

Tideswell C.B.S. annual show held large room, Bagshaw Hall, on Nov. 19. The room is an ideal one for a cage bird show, being well lighted all round, and every exhibit could be seen without handling. The hon. secs., Messrs. Flint and Swarbrick, had the birds well staged, and the wants of the exhibits were looked after by the following hard working committee: Messrs. Robinson, Lomas, Flint, Gilbert, Longstone, Bradbury, Hill, Drabble, Eaton, Hartle, Swarbrick, Millward, Fox, Slack, Wagstaffe, etc. Some grand birds were beached. The Norwich were a fine lot; Mr. Davies and Mr. Fox had a keen fight for the cup, the latter just getting home. In the Yorkshire section, Messrs. Ambler's (Morecambe) and Ogden Bros. (Bradford) put down some good birds, Messrs. Ambler's winning the cup. The members staged some good birds, and we were pleased to see the improvement that they are making in type and quality of their birds. Mr. W. Mundell (Bradford) placed the cards.

AVONBRIDGE.

Seventh annual show held Nov. 19th. The entries this year were an improvement on last year's, but still the committee had to cancel several classes in the Norwich and Mule sections. The entries in the Border Fancy section came up surprisingly well, especially in the Green or Cinnamon classes, which were exceedingly well filled, some capital birds of these varieties being exhibited. The B.F.C.C. medal was won by a grand buff green hen, belonging to Mr. W. Haddow, closely followed by Mr. W. Dods. The British Bird section, on the whole, had a nice entry. The outstanding bird in this section was the winning Linnet, excelling in colour. The society are fortunate in the way of having a grand lot of officials. In Mr. P. Gentleman (sec.) they have the right man in the right place; he is courteous and obliging. The schoolroom in which the show was held seemed far too small for the large crowd of visitors who patronised the show in the afternoon, as there was barely standing room. The judges were: For Norwich and Borders, Mr. D. Hamilton (Hamilton) and for British and Mules, Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate), and their awards seemed to give entire satisfaction, as we did not hear of any cause for complaint.

PAISLEY.

Paisley and Dis. O.A. eighteenth annual show held George A. Clark's North Mission Hall, November 19. Entries were down eighteen compared with last year's, but the quality was above the average; every class contained birds of real merit. The hall is admirably suited for an event of the kind, being commodious, comfortable and well lighted. It would have cheered the President, Mr. Allison, the Secretary, Mr. Kelly, and the energetic committee, had the entry been larger. The weather was wintry, and that no doubt affected the turn-out. A more efficient executive it would be difficult to find. Mr. Kelly has done excellent work on behalf of the Fancy. Judges: Messrs. Carlaw, Kennedy, Rodger and Steward. The cups were won by Mr. Dalgleish with his famous yellow, which has carried everything before him, and for the best of opposite sex to winner by Mr. Thornton with a meritorious green.

GREAT HORTON.

Great Horton O.S. annual show held Nov. 19th, Congregational Schools, High Street, under rules of the Yorkshire Union, and the patronages of Y.C.C., C.M.Y.C.C., N.G.M.Y.C.C. The Society are fortunate in having an excellent room, very central and in the heart of a birdy district. A good schedule was issued, and the society received a hearty response, a total of 481 exhibits being staged in 28 classes, averaging over 17 per class; the show should therefore come out on the right side financially. Mr. J. Holroyd had charge of the secretarial duties, and got through them in fine style, all prize money being paid out to the winners present during the afternoon. Able assistance was rendered by Messrs. Hainsworth (asst. sec.), Hartley, Self, Birbeck (vice-pres.), Ormonroyd, Sykes (show stewards), and many others as general assistants. Mr. J. Greaves judged, his awards giving all-round satisfaction.

EAST PERTHSHIRE

Second annual show, held Public Hall, Blairgowrie, 19th Nov. The executivo were well pleased with the support they received, entries being in advance of last year. The hall is hardly large enough for a mixed show of this description, but the cage bird section was well looked after, being staged in three tiers all round the raised platform, and was free from all draughts; with the result that all exhibits were looking their best, and the judge, Mr. J. Winter (Edinburgh) had little trouble picking out his winners, and cards were up early in the day. The exhibits themselves were of a very good class, the winning Norwich Plainhead hen, a grand buff, staged hy Mr. J. Milne, of Newtyle, being well worthy of special prize for best cage bird. Britishers were strong in number, and the foreign class, which contained some rare birds, was the feature of the show. We would strongly advise the executive to increase the classification for these next year, heing certain they would meet with a much better response. The secretary, Mr. Irvine, proved himself a very capable man for the post, and got through his dutics in a thorough business fashion.

A.O.S. BRIT. (7): 1, Hoyle, Bramblefinch, nice size and graud rowing, rare body col.; 2, Hatty, Chaffinch, rare col., grand wings, good 2nd; 3, r, Irvine, 3rd non-fed Greenie, nice shape and col., followed by a very nice Yellow Bunting; vhc, Malcolm; hc, McDonald. FOR. BIRD (12): 1, spl, Hoyle, Black-headed Gouldian Finch, In the pink of condition, beautiful exhibit; 2, Hovelsroud, Green Amazon Parrot, in grand feather; 3, Irvine, Red-headed Gouldian Finch, just lacks the polish of winner; r, vhc, hc, c, Rice, rare team, not in the best of condition to-day, led off by a pair of Scarlet Tanagers, and followed by a Glossy Starling, an Amazon, etc.

PATHHEAD (Kirkcaldy).

Pathhead C.B., Etc., Society show, held Pathhead Public Hall, November 19th. The Public Hall is admirably adapted for such an exhibition, being roomy, free from draughts, and affording excellent light. The committee were untiring in their efforts for the welfare of the exhibits under their charge, and deserve special mention. President Adie and Vice-President Lumsden had their men well in hand, and everything passed off as merrily as wedding bells. The secretary, Mr. W. R. Gibson, is the right man in the right place, and thoroughly understands the duties devolving upon him. The Scotch Fancy Classes had unfortunately to be cancelled through insufficient entries, this is to be regretted, as it materially affects the gate drawings. The show was well patronised during the day, and it would be well if extended accommodation could be made for visitors. Entries were in excess of former years, and, taken all round, the show was a decided success. Mr. J. H. Adam and Mr. C. Berwick placed the cards, and were most happy in their awards.

STANDARDS OF EXCELLENCE!

Our Books on Birds are of unequalled Merit.

Anything and everything about all branches of Bird-keeping will be found in their pages.

When a book goes through five Editions you may be certain that it is worth buying.

HOUSE'S CANARY MANUAL

has gone well into its Fifth Edition, and is still selling every day like hot coffee on a cold December night. This is a handy book, at a handy price. It is a thorough and practical guide to the general management and breeding of Canaries, written by a well-known expert and judge. It contains chapters dealing fully with the breeding, etc. of every member of the Canary family, including the German (or Roller) Canary. Illustrated by Mr. H. Norman, in the finest art style. There are also exhaustive chapters on Aviaries and Cages, breeding procedure, moulting, exhibiting, diseases add seeds—a compendium of knowledge approached by no other book of its kind at the price.

By C. A. HOUSE.

Price 1/-. Post free 1/2. Cloth bound 2/-.

"OUR CANARIES."

The Greatest Work on Canaries ever published or ever likely to be published. A simply colossal work, forming a veritable encyclopædia of canary lore.

By CLAUD ST. JOHN, General Canary Expert to "Cage Birds," assisted by over 100 of our present day Leading Breeders and Authorities. Associate Editors, C. A. HOUSE and G. E. WESTON.

To be completed in 16 Monthly Parts, Seven of which are now ready.

Each part contains 2 coloured and 2 art plates, by the foremost canary artist of the day, Mr. H. NORMAN, and 24 pages of most practical and instructive matter to read for keepers of every variety of canary.

PART VII., NOVEMBER ISSUE, INCLUDES BEAUTIFUL COLOURED PLATES OF CREST-BRED AND CRESTED CANARIES AND A YELLOW SELF-GREEN YORKSHIRE CANARY. Two Art Plates of equal merit, and a mass of information about breeding in general, fixing and balancing points, etc. Dr. Bowes contributes a specially helpful and absorbing article to this number. 6d. per Part from your newsagent. 7d., post free, from us carefully packed.

OUR SPECIAL OFFER.

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION. If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is returned by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

The cage is well and strongly made, with numerous doors rendering all parts easy to clean; cost £7, will take £3 10/-. Two fine muling cages, 4 ft. long, 1 ft. 3 ins. deep, 3 divisions with wood and wire slides, loose wire fronts, and 3 sand drawers to each cage, cost 25/- each, will take 30/- the two. One fine double breeding cage, 2 zinc single ditto, all with loose wire fronts and sand drawers, etc., at nominal prices. A few show cages with movable fronts and a 4-tier breeding cage stand to hold 4 cages, strongly made and enamelled blue, as are nearly all the cages. Advertiser will sell these separately, or the lot, including flight cage, for £7 10/-. Appointment to view by letter addressed: H. M. G., 31, Gwendwr-road, West Kensington.

you don't get with any of my appliances; that is the "hump." All are made by practical men, who thoroughly understand their business, and no expense is spared to make every article thoroughly up-to-date and durable. I have repeatedly said that my goods are far better than any others on the market, but I should like you to test the truth of this statement by having goods from me on approval similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine are not much better value, smash them up and I will refund money in full. A practical test such as this is worth more than pages of idle boastings. Clapnets, made from genuine ⅜in. mesh thread netting, very fine but strong, 8 yards long, 5½ft. deep, 4 feet fly, 4/- pair; ditto, 4 yards, 5/-, 5 yards 6/-, 6 yds. 7/-, 7 yds. 8/-, 8 yds. 9/-, 9 yds. 10/-, 10 yds. 11/- per pair. All have two nets to the pair, and each net is guaranteed full measurement as above, and all fitted complete with improved fittings consisting of stavepoles, pegs, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Please note the improved fittings sent with my clap nets makes them work far better than the old-fashioned sockets, iron trash. Loose netting made from 60 s/3 cord thread, ⅜in. mesh, same as used in above clap nets, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; 12 feet deep, 5d. yard, all post free. Real Japanese bird lime, absolutely strongest lime made, guaranteed to hold in rain, ¼lb. 6d., ½lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all packed in airtight lever lid cannisters and sent post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24inc. by 18ins., 1/- each; ditto, 18ins. by 14ins., 9d. each. These net traps are different to all others, as they can be baited for bird and softhills at same time, and can be used with call bird inside if desired. Single trap cages, 6d. each; double ditto, 1/-; treble ditto, 1/3, all with separate compartment for call bird. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Round or square-topped calling cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Specially spun Italian hemp pull lines, free from snarl, and strong as boat lines, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, carriage paid. Improved Bat folding Sparrow nets, fitted on 17 feet bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, on 17 feet poles, 6/-; ditto, on 19 feet poles, 6/6 pair. These Sparrow nets are a vast improvement on the old-fashioned idea, being a better shape, much more effective and more portable. Lark nets, flirt pegs, poles and lines, and hundreds of other articles in stock. Send stamp for full list of catcher's appliances, which also gives hints on net making. Please note, all the leading catchers of the day are using appliances supplied by me throughout England, Canada, Africa, America, India, and other places abroad. They have recognised that the day is past for the old-fashioned appliances, and so use those that are bang up to date as supplied by me. See last issue for few testimonials; or, better still, send a furniture van, and I will fill it with unsolicited testimonials received from delighted users of my nets, etc.

NOW YOU SCOTSMEN

who want to sweep the decks at coming shows with Siberian Goldfinches, I want you to read the letters published below, and note recent dates. These were not written to my ancestors years ago. They should prove to you who is the man to supply you with a real winning Siberian. I still have a magnificent collection of genuine Siberian cock Goldfinches, in perfect condition and full song, at 5/- and 6/- each; real exhibition specimens, 7/6 and 10/- each. I do not insult you intelligence with such nonsensical statements as "large as thrushes," "pick of Europe," etc., etc., it is sufficient for me to say that I know what is required for exhibition purposes, and if I cannot supply that I send nothing. All sent on approval as usual, and all your money back if not satisfactory. "34, Bellochmyle-by-Auchinleck, Nov. 28th.—Sir,—Please send following. The Siberian Goldfinch and Linnet from you look like turning out stormers.—Yours, A. Smart." "Intake Cottage, Glenlea, Foyers, Nov. 28.—Sir,—Received Goldie on 25th, in grand condition, and what a massive bird." This is the third bird I have had from you in three months, and can heartily recommend you to anyone wanting a good British or Siberian Finch for show or stock. Hoping my brother fanciers in the North will see your advertisement.—Yours, J. McMillan." "Doura-by-Irvine, Nov. 21st.—Sir,—Received Goldie all-right, and highly pleased with same. I have had them from not a few, including ——, and for quality and prompt delivery you are unsurpassed. Send me an exhibition Siberian at 7/6.—Yours, H. Lynch." On Nov. 26th Mr. Lynch again writes: — "Sir,—Received Siberian Goldfinch all-right, and an delighted with it. Let me say without fear or favour that he is the best bird on the market, and cheap at double the price. Please send four more Goldies.—Yours, H. Lynch." "Coaltown, of Belgonie, Markinch, Nov. 27. —Sir, — Received Goldfinch all-right, and very pleased with it. Please send following exhibition stock. You are one of the right sort to send to.—Yours, T. Gilmour." "5, St. Kelvin's Square, Bray, Co. Wicklow, Nov. 25.—Sir,—Received Siberian Goldfinch safe. He is a splendid bird, and in pink of condition. I could not have picked a better one myself. Thanks for prompt dispatch and careful packing.—Yours, E. O'Neill." "5, Gorden Bank, Stockwell Street, Leek, Staffs., Nov. 23.—Sir,—Received birds this morning, and am very pleased with them. Shall show them to my friends and advertise your name all I can.—Yours, C. Chilow." I have repeatedly said that no dealer but myself got the pick of my Siberian Goldfinches but myself, and to further emphasise this statement, I last week publicly offered £10 to any dealer in England that could prove he had had the pick of my birds, but no one has yet come forward to claim the money. To those who can put two and two together, this is a very significant fact. (See other advt. for British birds.)

IT REQUIRES

no silly clap-trap or foolish hunkum to sell my birds. I believe in treating a customer so well that not only will he purchase from me again, but will induce his friends to purchase from me also. Everything I sell is correctly described without any exaggeration or superfluous adjectives, and is sent on approval solely at my risk either on receipt of cash or deposit rules of this paper, and money fully refunded if entire satisfaction not given. I have large stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, all clean moulted and in full colour, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-; specially selected larger cocks, for muling, and guaranteed now in song, 2/-, 2/6, and 3/- each; few extra large exhibition specimens, really fit to win, 4/- and 5/- each; cock Bullfinches, in pink of condition, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; exhibition specimens, 4/- and 5/- each; hen Bullfinches, 1/- and 1/6 each; splendid lot of finger-tame, hand-reared German hen Bullies, guaranteed to feed from fingers, and ideal birds for hybridising, 4/- and 5/- each; enormous stock of country-caught cock brown Linnets, all rose-redbreasted, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; selected birds for muling or contest singing, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-; exhibition specimens, exquisitely pencilled, and of correct size and type, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; large mealy cock Redpolls, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; picked birds for muling, 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens, 3/- and 4/- each; Lesser Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-, twelve 3/-; cock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; exhibition specimens, 1/- each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; picked birds, for London style of singing, with correct finish, 1/- each; exhibition specimens, 1/6 and 2/- each; exceptionally handsome cock Skylarks, in superb condition, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6; few picked cocks, very steady, and in free song, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; hand-reared cock Song Thrush, good singer and finger-tame, 4/-; special travelling cages, 3d. extra; Linnet, Goldfinch, or Bullfinch cages, 6d. each, 4/6 dozen; special singing and stock cages, for Goldfinches and Linnets, 1/- each. See following letters, which were not written when Adam was a lad, but all received last few days:—"Rhodes Farm, Seeling, Nov. 13th.—Sir,—Goldfinches to hand, quite safe, and strsight as can be, and very steady, well worth the price, and better than can he got in Kent at the money.—Yours, W. Wraight." "23, Tresham-street, Kettering, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Received hird quite safe, and am very pleased with it.—Yours, W. Partridge." "Shotton Colliery, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Linnets arrived all right, and are first-class. I thank you for them; they are beauties.—Yours, P. Appleby." "17, Stamford Park-road, Altrincham, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Birds arrived safe, and I am very pleased with them. I thank you for sending three such nice birds, as they are the best I have seen, and I do a lot of catching myself.—Yours, G. Spilsbury." "Nailsworth, Glos., Nov. 9th.—Sir,—Birds arrived in first-rate condition, and quite up to standard of your advt. The Mealy Redpoll is a beauty, and the German hen Bullie finger-tame, and fed from my hand at once. Am more than satisfied with all birds received from you.—Yours, C. Dauncey." "21, Penypeel-road, Canton, Cardiff, Nov. 6th.—Sir,—Goldfinches arrived safe, and am quite satisfied with them. Thanking you for prompt delivery.—Yours, C. Crocker." "66, Nevill-street, Llanelly, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Received Goldfinch, and am delighted with it. Could have sold it for double price same day. Please send following.—Yours, J. Moremon." Kindly note all birds sold by me are guaranteed properly netted in County of Worcester by practical catchers employed solely by myself, and are thoroughly on hard seed before sent out. A signed guarantee is sent with every bird that birds have not been recently caught, so they may be kept in any part of British Isles without fear or favour, and a signed declaration is also sent agreeing to indemnify all purchasers against any costs arising from any prosecution for keeping the birds in protected counties. At present I am the only dealer giving this signed warranty and indemnity form, so send your orders to

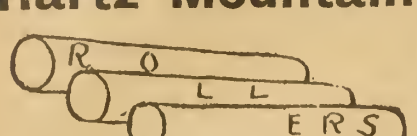
Hartz Mountain



That have got to be heard and valued according to the prices paid; then, and only then, can you know the class of bird I can send you for your money. The following few unsolicited testimonials bear not only the month date, but the year date, 1910, and are but a very few taken from the many. I can supply the best that comes into the market, because I pay the price for good ones, as I know it is the only way to secure such when purchasing direct, and as one who knows many of the Continental fanciers, and their business methods, and they know me.

226, Leith Walk, Leith, November 25th, 1910, Rollers arrived on Wednesday, and started singing as soon as unpacked. I am very well pleased with them. They are good value for the money. A. Smith to W. Rudd.

11, Tyrfim Street, Penrhiwceilber, November 25th, 1910, Have received Roller, and am well pleased with same. It's a fair gem, singing when I brought him from the station. I wish to thank you for the prompt manner in which you have dealt with me. You don't want approval with birds like this one. He sings in the dark. J. Rollinson to W. Rudd.

1, Mount Street, Londonderry, November 25th, 1910,- Roller arrived all right. Quite satisfied. Wm. Eldonney to W. Rudd.

79, Smith Street, Kennington Park, London, S.E., November 26th, 1910,—Received the Roller quite safe, and am very pleased with same. S. Smith to W. Rudd.

HIGH-CLASS SEIFERT COCKS, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Hens, 3/6 and 6/-. Other Hartz cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-. No higher price yet. Hens, same strain, 2/6 and 3/6 each. Pairs, 10/6, 16/-, 20/-. Singing Hartz cocks, 5/- each. Hens, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each. Extra selected, with better notes, 6/6, 7/6. Pairs, 6/6, 8/6, 9/6, matched for breeding good songsters.

You may have seen advertisements of Hartz Mountain Rollers, with all kinds of what may be termed "fancy" names although such are absolute nonsense and positively meaningless. There is the German Roller, and that only. I challenge contradiction of my statements, and question if the people who use them were ever in Germany in their lives, or have any special knowledge of Canaries at all. If you require special strains, the very best known in Germany, I can supply them. Travelling cages 3d. extra.

Would Not Take Three Times Amount.

Oaklands, Llandudno, November 27th, 1910,—Thank you for the very excellent bird you sent me, I would not take three times what I paid you for it now. S. Roberts to W. Rudd.

Far Exceeds Expectations.

90, Cauldwell Hall Road, St. John's, Ipswich, Nov. 28th, 1910,—The Roller I purchased of you a short time ago far exceeds my expectations. He is a splendid high-class songster, and I can confidently recommend this class of bird to any intending purchaser. S. Richoll to W. Rudd.

W. RUDD, THE Bird Specialist, NORWICH.

SUCH A PROCESSION

of testimonials as I publish week after week must prove to you that there is really something exceptional about my Leipzig Rollers, and I want you to test this yourself by having a Leipzig Roller from me on a week's trial, and one from elsewhere on similar conditions; test them side by side for a week and keep the one which suits you best. I shall be quite satisfied with result. I now have a grand collection of pure Leipzig Rollers, in full song day and gaslight, with long hollow rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterhubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, jug-jug of Nightingale, and bell, harp, and gong notes, etc., etc., and are warranted entirely free from titlark or any other harsh notes; price 6/6 and 7/6 each. I also have a magnificent lot of special Bandmasters, in absolutely perfect song; price 10/- and 12/6 each. These Bandmasters are exceptionally soft and mellow in tone, and excel in the deep bass, hollow bell, and flute notes, and the song is really a cascade of everflowing melody. Singing cabinet cages, with folding doors and loose fronts, made specially for Rollers, 2/6 each. For those who prefer a loud noisy songster, I have a splendid lot of rich coloured Hartz cocks, all in full vigorous song, real ceiling lifters, price 5/- each; Hartz hens, 2/- each, or 3/- couple. I want you to particularly notice full name and address and also date given with following letters, so that sceptical persons may make any enquiries they think proper. "3, Damers Road, Dorchester, Nov. 25th.—Sir,—Again I have much pleasure in sending to you for following Rollers. You have dealt so fairly with me in the past that there is really no other for me to send to.—Yours, Hy. Batchelor." "Alfred Street, Murton, Co. Durham, Nov. 28.—Sir,—Bird you sent is singing splendidly, and is very cheap. I am well pleased with it, and will send for another shortly.—Yours, T. Elliott." "15, Garnon Street, Carnarvon, Nov. 28. Sir,—Leipzig Roller and Goldfinch arrived safe, for which please accept my thanks. I am well pleased with both.—Yours, J. Pritchard." "61, Ernest Street, Crewe, Nov. 28.—Sir,—Leipzig Roller arrived safe. I must say I am more than pleased. He started singing soon as unpacked.—Yours, T. Quinby." "Burry Port, Carmarthenshire, Nov. 28th.—Sir,—Received Roller It is a splendid songster and gives entire satisfaction. Many thanks for your prompt attention and safe delivery.—Yours, William Morfa Jones." "Ewart Road, Milton, Weston-super-Mare, Nov. 28.—Sir,—Bird arrived quite safe. It is a beauty. I am exceedingly obliged to you for your kind and honest dealing. I have had several Rollers before, but never one that could touch him for song.—Yours, J. Thorney." "Mafeking Cottage, Gwernaffield, near Mold, Nov. 28.—Sir,—Roller to hand. It is the best songster I've ever heard. I have tried nearly all the leading firms and paid higher prices, but never had one to compare with this. Please accept my best thanks for such a songster and straightforward dealing.—Yours, Wm. Powell." "2, Duke Street, Retford, Notts., Nov. 28.—Sir,—Received Roller and am very pleased with it. I thank you very much for your straightforward dealing. The bird is a regular gem, and a treat to hear.—Yours, W. Littlewood." Kindly note, all birds are safely and warmly packed in special travelling cages, with seed and water to last 48 hours, and sent on full week's trial at my risk during whole time, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction not given. I care not how hard a man is to please, I am confident that I can do it. I am the only importer of Wehers, Leipzig Rollers, and no other dealer can get as much as one feather of this strain unless he purchases from me. Dealers supplied with any quantity. Send trade card for list. (See British Birds and also appliance columns.)

champion strain. We have imported these for 30 years with unparalleled success, sale increasing yearly, and, mark you, not through lavish or bragging advertisements—purely recommendation from delighted purchasers. It stands to reason we could not advertise them for 30 years continually, unless they are all that we claim, with their soft purring rolls, sweet silvery trills, Nightingale and Woodlark changes, double harp, gong and flute notes, including the jug jug pipe, beat hollow and water-bubble runs—indeed, a continuous mental feast for music lovers. We allow seven days' approval for you to judge. Each bird properly and warmly packed for 24 hours' rail or sea journey. We guarantee safe arrival on receipt of P.O. or cheque (or you can deposit cash with Editor). Try a Schulze's songster against any other strain (real or imaginary): we will abide result with confidence. Prices, 10/-, 12/-, and 15/- each; premier Bandmasters, 21/- each. Thousands of testimonials can be inspected here. No waiting; all birds sent same day as ordered. Cheques or P.O.'s should be crossed and made payable to Augustus Zache and Co., Bird Importers, 218, Gt. Portland-st., London, W.

Quality Great Quantity Great BUT Greatest of all IS THE VALUE !!

To fully appreciate this, you must have on approval, and compare with anything you have ever got or can get now: then, and then only, will you understand the difference between what I can and do give for money, and others, never mind what names they give themselves.

Note the prices: but believe me, I do not profess to sell the best, at the lowest figures. I will simply repeat my great fact is:

VALUE! VALUE!! VALUE!!!

Whatever the price paid. Remember they are Yorkshires, not balls of feather or crossbreds, but the best value that has ever been sent out. Cocks, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-. Hens, 2/6, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 15/-. Pairs for Breeding, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-. Cages, 3d. extra. Three good hens, mixed colours, 6/6. Cages 3d. extra.

Just a Couple of Samples.

75, East Street, Stonehouse, Devon, November 26th, 1910,—I received the pair of Yorkshires safely in good condition, I must tell you that I am very pleased with them, and will not forget to advertise them to anyone. 20 PER CENT.

Allowed on all orders received this week for my exhibition Yorkshires: Arthur Harris, West Haddon, Rugby.

THE ONLY WAY

to win, you must buy or breed winners. I can supply winners, of the sort that breed them. Business prevents me exhibiting so much in the future. Write, stating wants, and I will do my best to supply you: W. Richmond, 16, Mayfield Grove, Harrogate.

H. H. TOWERS.

I can supply show or stock birds in clears, green or cinnamon marks; see reports of all the principle shows throughout the country, including the L.C.B.A. and Windhill in this issue; full satisfaction guaranteed; state wants; terms, cash or deposit, on approval: Address, Colne-rd., Glusburn, near Keighley.

SUTCLIFFE & SON.

Our winnings in cinnamon marks and green marked Yorkshires for the past ten years exceed those of any other fancier. We have a few show birds and stock birds for sale, also a few clears, price from 15/- to 60/- a pair; approval; if not satisfied your full money returned; stamp for reply: 1, Back Kitson-st., Windhill, Shipley, Yorks.

AMBLER'S CHAMPION YORKSHIRES.

As we are greatly reducing our stock, we have some really magnificent Yorkshires for disposal. Cocks, wonderful length, type, and quality, slim stylish hens, feathered like wax, showing that breed and swagger our birds are noted for. These are bound to produce winners, as they are bred direct from our noted champions, and are the purest strain in the Fancy. See our winnings for over quarter of a century; also last Palace, where we were unbeatable. Pairs 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/-, 60/-; hens, 7/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/- each; also a few that can win in any company, including ticked buff winner, perfect type and feathered like wax, matched to lovely yellow hen, £7 10s.; ticked yellow, winner, and gem of a buff hen, feathered like wax, £7 10s.; also one of the best stock pairs living, £5; one nest from any of the above should be worth more money. They are honestly worth double to breed from alone; approval; satisfaction guaranteed: Messrs. Amblers (late of Bradford), 29, Sefton-rd., Morecambe.

Do You Want A Winner?

If so, send particulars, and I shall be pleased to do my best to meet your wishes, at a reasonable price.

My birds are winning regularly, see reports of the leading shows in this issue.

MY CUSTOMERS ARE ALSO WINNING, for proof of which, read the following:

TWO 1sts, TWO SPECIALS, TWO 2nds.

2, Bentley Street, Darwen, November 15th, 1910, I am pleased to inform you of my success at Darwen Show, with the birds I got from you. I got two 1sts, two specials, and two 2nds. J. Southworth to Joe Thomas.

FIRST AND SECOND.

9, St. Oswald's Road, Small Heath, Birmingham, November 20th, 1910,—Please see report of West Bromwich Show, and note my two birds which are 1st and 2nd. The first was the 1909 cock I got from you, and the 2nd was his sire, and he looks a picture now. J. Sheppard to Joe Thomas.

These are only specimens of many recently received. They are filed for the inspection of all.

Several of my clients have won in keen competition at recent shows with birds supplied by me. All I ask for is a fair trial. Every customer is entitled to have birds for seven days before deciding to purchase.

I have the following now ready in clears, ticked, greens, Cinnamons, green marked, Cinnamon marked, etc., etc. Long, stylish Yorkshire cocks, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- each. PURE YORKSHIRES, Direct from strains which won at Crystal Palace this last 20 years, including Mr. Bates', Mr. Binns', Mr. Blackhurst's, all big winners up to 1910. I have supplied scores of winners and can do so yet, not exhibiting this variety myself; some grand yellows and buff cocks, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-, 12/-, 15/-, 20/- each; hens, yellows or buffs, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-; matched pairs to breed winners, 12/-, 15/-, 16/-, 18/-, 20/-, 25/- pair; any on approval; full guarantee given; breeder 30 years this address: Sandiford, Canary Breeder, Preston, Lancs.

are the only variety of Canaries I have ever kept, and during the last 17 years have given them my undivided attention, therefore you can rely upon getting good value for money, also that the strain is as clear of impurities as is possible, thus getting better results with breeding from my strain than is possible with any other. Note the prices! Cocks, yellow or buff, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; hens, yellow or buff, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, upwards; pairs, properly matched to breed winners, from 10/- per pair upwards.

SAMUEL DEAN,

KNIGHT'S YORKSHIRE AVIARIES

Owing to failing health, am obliged to sell out practically the whole of my present stock (about 300) of high-class Yorkshires, including part breeders, comprising all varieties excepting whole greens. To induce a quick sale and give facilities to those who desire to purchase reliable birds for show or stock cheaply by comparison, will deduct 25 per cent., or 5/- in the £, on all orders sent out this month. My past 30 years' experience in breeding and keeping Yorkshire varieties only coupled with the fact that my name is familiar to all Yorkshire breeders and fanciers in this and other countries is sufficient guarantee of purity of breed without further advertisement or comment. Properly matched and unrelated breeding pairs personally selected, also single cocks and hens; all cold room bred, reared and kept; all three clear days' approval; cash or deposit; intending purchasers will best consult their future interest by sending postcard for season's list, with deductions, to Jonas Knight (author of "The Yorkshire Canary: Its Breeding and Management"), Allerton, Bradford, Yorkshire.

PARROT PROBLEM

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, 'Parrot Prattle," now containing 166 pages. This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.

BOOKLET FREE.

Finest Talking Parrots. I only deal in Parrots that will make first-class talkers; no rubbish. I am willing at all time to send my Parrots on four week's trial and three months' talking guarantee. Why? Because all my Parrots are young, strong, and reliable. My lifetime has been spent among Grey Parrots, both at home and abroad. I guarantee every customer every satisfaction. Grey Parrots are my special fancy. I have trained them, know their wants, and can give every purchaser a bird that will please him in every way. I can supply grey talkers, not thinkers, that will say almost anything, at reasonable prices. Before you purchase a grey or green Parrot, send for my Booklet, entitled "Talking Parrots." All my birds are sent on four weeks' trial, at my risk. Send postcard for catalogue.—Mrs. Forster, Princes Park Aviaries, Violet Street, Liverpool.

BRADFORD EAST O.S.

Our meetings run fortnightly. On Dec. 6th Mr. J. Hartley (Bingley) will give an exhibition in the art of washing Canaries for show. This will be followed, on Dec. 20th, by a Members' Washing Competition (entry free), for which two money prizes will be given. Dec. 26th is the final Members' Show for the year; birds to be staged by 10 a.m. On Jan. 3rd the fourth annual tea and concert and distribution of prizes is to be held. Jan. 10th—the annual meeting—is the opportunity for strengthening all weak places in the management of the society, or of proposing any new rules, etc. Jan. 24th, debate on "Reflections," or "Prospect and Retrospect." On Feb. 7th Mr. J. S. Clarkson (Halifax) has promised to speak on "The Breeding and Management of Canaries"; many wrinkles will no doubt be picked up by novices. Feb. 21st, smoking concert; a most interesting programme will be drawn up. March 7th, Mr. Philip Mason (Shipley) opens a debate on "The Yorkshire." The season's syllabus is brought to a close on March 21st by a "Food Preparing Competition" (entry free); two money prizes will be given. A good attendance is asked for at all meetings, especially at those where friends are coming to give us the benefit of their experience. Fanciers and friends are given a cordial and hearty welcome. A copy of the syllabus will be found in the Yorkshire Union Handbook (p. 38). Don't forget, meetings are held at Park Chapel Schools, New Cross Street, West Bowling, Bradford, in a nice, comfortable, warm room.—H. Hill, Sec.

NATIONAL GREEN-MARKED Y.C.C

Committee meeting held Nov. 26, Blue Bell Hotel, Windhill, Shipley. Mr. W. H. Shackleton, president, in the chair. Business: 1. Moved that minutes of previous meeting be passed as correct. 2. The committee after careful consideration felt it their duty to grant Messrs. Thornton and Bower their full 7 points on account of error on judge's slip at Liverpool O.S. Show, held at Liverpool, on Nov. 4 and 5, and trust the matter may be amicably settled. 3. That the action of treasurer in paying printing and Y.U. advertisement without calling a special meeting, be endorsed. 4. That following gentlemen be unanimously elected members from date of payment of subscription, and count points in the various competitions from that date: A. Sutcliffe (Halifax), F. Packer (Bradford), G. Riley (Bradford), A. Riley (Pudsey), G. G. Stafford (Dewsbury), P. Imeson (Dewsbury), G. A. Bennett (Bradford), A. Bennett, Girlington), and R. B. Wright (Liverpool). 5. The committee desire to express their thanks for the generous offer of a pair of paintings to be won at any one show, and that same be given at Crystal Palace b. and P.O.S. Show for most points gained by a member in the Green Marked classes, not necessarily starred birds, subject to satisfactory settlement of classification. 6. Unanimously passed that the best thanks of the officials and members be given Mr J. Robson for his kind remarks re "The Green Marked birds, and the increased interest shown on behalf of this beautiful variety, specially in Yorkshire, and for the work done by the club to increase its interests." 7. Mr. F. B. Wright, A.R.C.A., was unanimously elected Liverpool District Representative on the committee. At the close of business the president thanked all the members of their attendance.—F. Armstrong, Hon. Sec.

ROTHERHAM C.B.S.

Monthly meeting, held Nov. 26, St. George's Hall. We had a good attendance, and after all business we had a quiet hour's discussing the future. After the paying out of prize money and specials we had a small balance left. It was decided to have table shows at each meeting, the first to be in January, 1911.—B. Bailey, Hon. Sec

LLANELLY AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Well attended meeting held Nov. 26, and I must say that the Fancy is looking up; I hope it will continue. Mr. D. N. Jones, who was in the chair, was very pleased to see present one of our vice-presidents, Mr. F. G. Taylor, and hoped to see more of the vice-presidents giving a call as it gave other members a little more encouragement. It was decided, providing we get the hire of the Market Hall, that January 17 be date of show. Selection of judges postponed until next meeting. Schedule for our show for next year will comprise about 43 classes, with prize money of 10/-, 5/-, 2/6.—D. John, Secretary.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Fortnightly meeting held Fawcett Street Cafe, Nov. 26, Mr. J. Farrer in chair. A large number of members attended. The secretary and treasurer presented balance sheet for our recent show, which was considered very satisfactory. The members were unanimous in expressing pleasure at the fact that, after meeting all liabilities for the current year, and paying prize money for every class, there remained a small balance in hand. Mr. W. Reid moved a hearty vote of thanks to the hon. secretary and hon. treasurer for the able manner in which they had carried out their duties, and for the excellent balance-sheet submitted. Mr. Swan moved that Miss E. S. Briggs be admitted a member. The drawing for the singing Canaries which were given to ticket-holders took place, the winning numbers being: 301, 100, 83, 328, 330, 164. A general discussion was held, and the chairman appealed to every member to make it his duty to persuade fanciers to join us This concluded one of the pleasantest meetings we have had.—J. Jeffrey, hon. sec.

LANCASHIRE AND LIZARD F.A.

Special meeting held at Hyde, Nov. 19th, and we had an especially good attendance. Decided to again exchange medals with the Toronto C.B.S., as last year. An application from the L. and P.O.S. for the club patronage was gone into, it being decided that we do not give them our patronage, but in the event of giving Lancashire and Lizard classes at their show, we support them as well as possible. It was suggested that we ask the L. and P.O.S. to alter the reading of Lizard classes to: Gold Lizard, Clear and Broken Cap, and Silver Lizard ditto. The matter of having a club show, confined to L. and L.F.A. members only was discussed, it being decided to have same at Mr. T. White's, Wellington Hotel, Hyde, Dec. 17th, Classification was settled, 16 classes for Lancashires, and 16 for Lizards, four Lancashire classes being devoted to Novices, and 8 Lizard classes for Novices (included in above). Mr. T. White generously offers a watch for most points in show; Mr. Vickers gives 2s. 6d. best Coppy, and 2s. 6d. best Plainhead; Mr. E. Fuller gives two spls of 2s. 6d. each; Mr. N. Stansfield gives 5s. as spls in Lancashire Novice classes; and Mr. Hordern gives handsome spl for most points in novice Lancashire classes. Shall be pleased to receive any specials as early as possible. Mr. A. Wellings is appointed judge. Next meeting at Old Boar's Head, Dec. 10th, this being also date for closing of entries. Expressions of sympathy were expressed at the absence of Mr. Stansfield, who was unable to attend owing to blood poisoning in his hand. A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.—JOHN RUKIN, Hon. Sec.

Points for Champion and Novice Specials.—Lancashires: Champions: E. T. Turner 95 pts., J. Oldham 63, G. Fitton 40, A. Hordern 39, W. Adams 39, J. Garner 28, W. Lee 27, E. Fuller 11, J. Swalwell 6, J. Vickers 20. Novices: J. Laycock 35, N Stansfield 14, W. Ridgard 11. Lizards: Champ.: J. Rukin 87 pts., J. Hampshire 71, J. Dewsnap 65, H. Oliver 47, W. P. Barnes 38, W. Lawton 5, A. Martin 3, E. Fuller 3, J. Lee 0. Novices: E. Ollerenshaw 91, W. Bacon 36, A. E. Bosworth 31, E. Thompson 24, E. F. Bosworth 10, G. Fitton 4, B. Salway 1. Points above were gained at Rochdale, Manchester, Rochdale Good Intent, and Nottingham. Messrs. E. T. Turner, J. Dewsnap, and J. Lee, have each had points deducted owing to not making all entries L. and L.F.A.—JOHN RUKIN, Hon. Sec.

HIGHGATE & HAMPSTEAD C.B.S.

Third annual show, distribution of prizes, and social, held Nov. 24. Mr. G. Gardner, the chairman, presided and distributed the prizes. There was quite a large crowd of both members and friends present, almost more than was comfortable, in our small hall, there being some 150 people. The secretary, in reading the report of the year, said that the society was in a very flourishing state. He thanked all who so kindly assisted us at our shows, namely, Mr. Weston and Mr. Oldaker; these two gentlemen, he said, were always willing to help the society, and that the society owed them much. The success of the society was due to the committee they had, and also to the unity of the members; all seemed to work for the good of one another, and not for themselves. He made special reference to Mr. Hyde, the assistant secretary, and to the work he did; also to Mr. Johnson, who had been so unfortunate in the past year with his birds; the collection for the purpose of buying Mr. Johnson a pair of birds realised the handsome amount of thirty-six shillings (just like Highgate). Mr. Gardner spoke highly of the committee, of those that were entertaining us, and of our late secretary, Mr. G. H. Neal, who was the recipient of a very handsome pair of bronze ornaments as a small token of respect and gratitude from the members for his services during his term of office. It may be mentioned that Mr. Neal was the founder of the Society. The chairman said he was glad to hear that the members had sent 21s. to the Fresh Air Fund, collected at their young stock show. What the secretary had said was quite correct; there were not many societies who gave £8 in special prizes, and he was amazed at the array of specials. On his sitting down, the members sang most enthusiastically, "For he's a jolly good fellow," showing a little what they think of their popular chairman. Mr. Neal, in reply, said he was very grateful for the kindness shown him by the members, but said what pleased him most was the great success of the society. Some societies went up quickly and then down; others went so far and no farther; but he was glad to see that their society had prospered and was still likely to do so, with the committee they had behind them. He lived a long way off (Nottingham) and always looked forward to Friday for his CAGE BIRDS, to see what they were doing. Mr. Neal said he wished to present a "shield" to the society, to be known as the "Neal shield." This naturally was received with loud acclamations. The chairman accepted Mr. Neal's generous offer on behalf of the members. The musical portion was greatly appreciated by all, especially the songs of Miss Clarke and Miss Rowell. The chairman moved a vote of thanks to the artistes, which was seconded by Mr. Dann, the vice-chairman. Mr. Neal proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Gardner, and Mr. Law, in seconding this motion, said our chairman was the one man we could not afford to lose. Thus ended one of the most enjoyable evenings spent at Spencer Hall, our headquarters.—C. W. Law, Sec.

MORPETH C.B.S.

Meeting held 26th Nov., Earl Grey Hotel, Mr. H. Seely presided. Twelve new members added, and more have promised to join. Decided to have a supper Christmas Eve, Dec. 24th. Tickets may be had from the secretary or any member, price 1s. 6d. each.—James Nichol, Hon. Sec.

ILFORD F. and F. S.

General meeting, held White Horse Hotel, Nov. 22nd, Mr. J. Smith in chair. The 1909 points spls. and balance of spls. won at young stock show, were presented. Decided, that the Mrs. Golding Challenge Bowl, in future be open to all members, same to continue to go to the various sections each year. It went to the cage bird section this year. Now, cage bird fanciers, "pull up your socks." Three new members elected.—Priestman and Lant, Hon. Secs.

THE CINNAMON-MARKED Y.C.C.

With Great Horton open show, Nov. 19th, half the shows are over to which our club's patronage was granted for competition in champion classes. Appended is list of members' names, together with number of points gained up to and including above-named show, with three nominated birds:—H. H. Towers 95, Ogden Bros. 69, A Cooper 48, A. Jowett 34, F. Allen 32, L. Dykes 26, J. Bailey 22, Sutcliffe and Son 20, Loughey and Thoruton 17, A. Hirst 14, Drake and Son 12, J. Wilcock 10, H. Hudson 9, T. Bentley 0, D. Thornton 11, W. Richmond 9, T. P. Baxter 7, and H. J. Chittenden 5. Competition has been very keen, and classes fairly well filled with birds of more than usual merit, and the winning birds are without doubt the nearest perfection in type, quality, and markings that have graced the show bench for several years. It is with gratification that we notice several exhibitors from outside Yorkshire, who are gaining points at our competitions, which tends to show the growing popularity of the Cinnaman marked variety of the "gentleman of the Fancy," whose markings are so elusive, yet captivating. Will members kindly note that Mr. Garnett's testimonial fund closes on Dec. 17th; all contributions will be asknowledged by any members of our committee or the secretaries.—Grayshon and Allen, Secs.

Singing Contests.

Under the White Rose.

WINDHILL show, held on Saturday last in the Carnegie Library Hall did not quite come up to expectations, and the Society will have hard work to make the balance sheet a success. I heard that the Society have dropped about £150 on their open shows since their commencement, and as this is the 24th, they cannot be called duffers, and no doubt they will come up smiling again next year to celebrate their "quarter of a century" as pioneers of the Fancy. May better success attend their efforts.

THE N.G.M.Y.C.C. held a committee meeting in conjunction with Windhill show, when several items of interest were brought forward (see secretary's report), and last, but not least, new members were dealt with, no less than eleven names being brought forward for election. Many of them I was pleased to note were novices, so that the catering for them is meeting with its just reward.

HALIFAX this year hold their coming-of-age show, the event on the 9th of this month being their 21st open show. And they are expecting great things. The patronage of no less than six of the specialist clubs has been secured; 45 classes are provided, two judges are engaged; and without doubt it should be the show of the season in the West Riding.

RECORDS for members' shows are being made by many societies this season. Bradford City on Saturday last broke all their previous numbers by the magnificent turn-up of 168. Buck up, City, you are still two behind one of your neighbours, the Easters.

BRADFORD EAST O.S. annual gathering at Park Chapel on Sunday evening last was very well attended, and the promoters were well satisfied with the result; but unfortunately the weather was not on its best behaviour, rain coming down heavy, which very likely stopped a lot from attending from a distance. Given a fine day next year the place will be filled to its utmost.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

BIRMINGHAM.

Birmingham C.S. annual show held Nov. 30th and Dec. 1st. The People's Hall, which is of nice light, airy specimen, well situated, and comfort and health, provided capital accommodation. The entry totalled 858, being slightly down on last year's number by a matter of 50, the falling away being in the Norwich section. President, Mr. J. A. Eckersley; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. W. W. Butler, J. Webb, and H. C. Wilkins, Chairman, Mr. A. Broadhurst, who has otherwise in that capacity upwards of 7 years.; Vice Chairman, Mr. J. Burke, who makes a very capable understudy; Hon. Treasurers, Messrs. J. Harvey and E. J. Ingram. The committee comprise some capital workers, who all did their utmost for the success of the show. Great praise is due to Messrs. Allen, Dippie, Harris, Jones, Richardson, and Silver. The Hon. Sec., Mr. J. H. de Mailliet, is a true lancier, most energetic and courteous; he is a fine controller, and works well. A little bird whispered to us that this occasion is the last one on which he will fill the role of secretary. Getting married shortly appears to be the obstacle that is going to command his leisure time. Birmingham's loss—this without a doubt. Mr. S. Mole, the assistant sec., proves himself a worthy helpmate, and should be at some future time be called upon to fill the higher office, his abilities will carry him through all right. Stewards: Messrs. Smith, J. H. Jones (night steward), Wells, Tipper, Wright, Eckersley, Crowther, Mole, and Broomfield, the two latter staying until midnight on the Tuesday, to get things into ship-shape form. Each and every one did well, fixing ships promptly as each class was adjudicated upon, and attending to every other detail. Staging was of a nice description, three-tier high, and every bird could be seen at a glance. Those responsible for this neat arrangement are to be complimented. Specials: Messrs. G. C. Ley, Evins Bros., A. J. Smith, F. Pearce, and A. Lazarus. The Norwich contained a few real eye-openers. Many thought best in the section was Mr. Hirst's mufflighted yellow cock. Yorkshires made a nice collection, and what a magnificent specimen is Mr. P. Victor Williams's yellow marked cock. Borders, too, were sweet, Mr. E. W. Evans standing 1st in each class with very charming birds. From the Novice classes (both Norwich and Yorks) one could have chosen several birds fit for keenest competition. Crests and Crestbreds were good. The British and Foreign gave tone to the show, and were greatly admired, their gorgeous col. and glorious condition commanding attention. The judges were Messrs. G. E. Russell (Birmingham), who officiated in the place of Mr. R. Rhodes (Nottingham), he having wired his inability to attend through illness (Crest and Crestbreds), J. H. Roe (other Canaries), A. Silver (Brit., Mule, and For.).

PORTSMOUTH.

Portsmouth F.S. 24th annual show, held Drill Hall, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. The hall is a fine well lighted building of good size. Our section was nicely staged in the warmest part of the building, and as there was a nice entry they made quite an impressive show. The entry was a very interesting one, as there was a varied collection of all varieties, a good lot of British, and some lovely Foreigners. The Norwich were a grand lot. Mr. Baker (Cowes) won the Woodhouse bowl for best bird, the runner-up being a fine Crest owned by Mr. J. Marshall (Plymouth). The Britishers were a capital lot, some birds of high merit being staged. Mr. C. Prior sent a good team from London, winning many classes. The members' classes for Britishers were well filled, some of the winners being equally as good as those in the open. Mr. Wilfred had out a fine team of Foreigners which attracted considerable attention from the numerous visitors, although the climatic conditions were not calculated to secure a huge gate. The Canaries in the members' classes were above the average, Norwich and Yorkshires being especially good and typical. The show was excellently managed, Messrs. Frampton and Hipwell, the secs., having matters well in hand. They have a good committee, consisting of Messrs. Foster, Matthews, Coffin, Shotter, Marshall, Squibb, Lean, Woodhouse, Shott, Tont, Lavis, Carrier, Hawes, Cooper and Kent, who did good work during the day. Mr. H. Norman judged.

Twitterings.

I have removed from 38 to 43, Watcombe Road, South Norwood, London, S.E., writes Mr. C. Young.

Cambridge show report in hen Finch class should read: 3rd, Lowne, not Walsh.—W. Lowne (Gt. Yarmouth).

In Class 42 (Bullfinch) the catalogue of Sale show gives Thornton, No. 4, as 1st; it should be Jeff Walsh, No. 5, writes Mr. J. Irlam, the sec.

Fanciers, don't forget Luton show, December 7; only 4 entries in 30 classes, and we are compelled to extend until Sunday, December 4.—E. Cherry, sec.

Stamford show report credits Dykes with winning 2nd prize in Class 7, whereas I won that honour with my clear yellow Yorkshire.—J. Woolhouse (Sheffield).

All correspondence with regard to the Brighton C.B.A.'s late show is, in future, to be addressed to us, write Messrs. W. H. Gibb and A. Gable, 19, Bond Street, Brighton.

Mr. James Crawford, of Saracen St., Possilpark, Glasgow, writes asking us to state that he is not the Mr. Crawford advertising Norwich Canaries for sale at New City Road.

The Bolton and Dis. O.S. will hold their annual members' show at the Joiners' Arms Hotel, Deansgate, on December 10, Mr. J. Trengove judge, writes Mr. H. Parkinson, the sec.

There is an error in our schedule, writes Mr. J. Kerr, sec. of the City and County of Perth show (December 10); the word "dark" should not have been printed in either of the Crest classes.

I am sorry to say that our treasurer, Mr. C. Edwards, is still very ill (quite blind), and I thank exhibitors for their patience, writes Mr. H. E. Speller, hon. sec., Bromley and West Kent. F.A.

Our members' classes in schedule are only open to present members, writes Mr. C. H. Naylor, sec. of the Chesterfield C.B.S. We have got more specials, which will be inserted in catalogue.

Kindly note that I have removed to 44, Battenburg Road, The Fosse, Leicester, where all communications should now be addressed, writes Mr. J. E. Wood, sec. of the Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S.

I have been asked to judge the cage birds at the Manx C.F. and F. Associations show to be held in Douglas on Boxing Day, but I had to refuse owing to business pressure, writes Mr. J. Bertie (Mapperley).

Mr. John, the well-known secretary of the Llanelly and County F.A., hopes that fanciers will give him a bumping entry. So don't forget the Llanelly show, and the fact that entries close on December 5.

Reading and Dis. C.B.S. report in the amateur Yorks. hen class credits Mr. Davison with 1st, whereas we took the 1st, 2 specials, and medal for best amateur Yorks., with the same bird.— Tremlett and Preston (Reading).

Mr. B. Clark (Morpeth) writes congratulating Mr. Todd, the sec. of the Darlington C.B.S. show, upon the prompt payment of prize money. I got mine, he says, by the Monday morning's post, which, I think, is sharp work.

Evidently there is no lack of artistic talent amongst the younger readers of Cage Birds. Some really excellent pencil sketches of birds have reached us this week, the work of Master Thomas Price (age 10), son of Mr. F. Price, of West Ham.

Owing to the generosity of F. A. Watt, Esq., he guaranteeing a class for field-moulted mealy Redpolls, the Scottish National C.B.S., writes Mr. A. Watson, the sec., has added this class to its forthcoming show; will fanciers please note?

We are unfortunately, writes Mr. R. Binks, hon. sec. of the Ferryhill and Dis. C.B.S., not able to hold our annual show on December 17, as things have not gone well with the society during my illness. But we are hoping to have a show about February.

I have derived much benefit and pleasure from Cage Birds, and am sure others will do the same; and I think that we ought to help those who help us. I wish your paper every success.—H. Bootuman, Hon. Sec., Manchester and Northern Counties O.S.

I am asked by the secretary to announce that the Halifax O.S. show on December 9 and 10 is open to Cage Bird Union members, in accordance with the arrangement made with the Yorkshire Union, writes Mr. Geo. W. F. Lythgoe, the C.B.U. secretary.

Our second open show of cage birds will be held in Good Templar Hall, on December 10, under the patronage of the Border Fancy C.C., writes Mr. John Campbell, sec. of the Annandale C.B.F.A. Good prize money and specials are offered. We have every promise of a "roaring" show. Fanciers, remember that entries close on December 7.

Mr. J. Dobson, the well-known Metropolitan fancier, whose unfortunate illness we had to chronicle a few weeks back, is, we hear, now convalescent. He has left the hospital and is now with his wife at Swanley, where it is to be hoped he will soon become strong again.

The society has provided an extended classification, and given specials in all classes. Our judge is Mr. H. W. Battye (Huddersfield), and to give the amateurs a chance, we fixed a limit price of £5 on Canaries, Mules, Hybrids, and £3 on British birds.—C. W. Patterson, hon. sec., Ayr (N.B.) O.S.

It is getting late in the season, but should any fancier like to guarantee a few classes at our show, I shall be very glad to hear from him, writes Mr. D. John, sec., Llanelly and Dis. C.B.S. Or should any club like to give their patronage to the society, now is their time before we go to press with our schedules.

I have sold my unflighted clear yellow Norwich cock, 1st at Nottingham and 2nd Liverpool, etc., at a big price to a well-known London fancier, writes Mr. C. Oliver (Macclesfield), and although the bird has only been in his possession a very short time he informs me that it has already done great things for him.

Entries for our show on December 7 in the cage bird section are coming in very slowly. We are giving good prize money (which is guaranteed) and specials, and we deserve better support. I am compelled to extend entries to December 3, post-mark accepted, writes Mr. Ed. Churchill, hon. sec., Abertillery (Mon.) show.

Owing to Caterham show being held on December 13, the Reigate and Redhill fanciers will hold their monthly meeting and table show on Monday, December 5, for Norwich, A.O.V. Can. (excepting Yorks. and Borders), and Greenfinches, at "Muttons Hotel," Redhill, 8 p.m., committee meeting 7.30 p.m.; members please note, writes Mr. A. W. Bacon, hon. sec.

On looking my L.C.B.A. catalogue through, writes Mr. J. Rukin, I find my 1st prize Old Silver Lizard described as 1st Palace, 1910. This is wrong, as it should read 1st Palace, 1909. I overlooked the year in my haste in making my entries. I hope you will find space for the above, as it may cause annoyance to Mr. J. Dewsnap, to whom the 1st Palace, 1910, bird belonged.

OBITUARY.

All who have the pleasure of knowing that enthusiastic breeder, Mr. A. Broadburst, the popular chairman of the City of Birmingham C.B.S., will feel deeply grieved to learn of the sad loss of his dearly beloved wife, writes a correspondent. Mrs. Broadhurst passed away on Saturday last, chill on liver and other complications being accountable for her death. The interment took place on November 30. We all tender Mr. Broadhurst our most sincere sympathy in his bereavement, and may his burden be as light as possible under such trying circumstances.

Glasgow West End C.B.C. show report contains several mistakes and omissions. In the Nor. Cl., etc., Yell., 1, Mr. Namee, should read: 1, spl., and silver challenge rose bowl winner, A. Miller; Nor. Clear Buff, 5 and 7 were J. Hart; in the Yorkshire, I, spl, and silver challenge cup winner should be A. Hendry; and in the Large For. Class, "4, Proudfoot" should read 4, Douglas Pearson.—W. Prounfoot, sec. and treasurer.

A friend of mine shot a Sea-gull on Ryhope beach a few weeks ago, writes Mr. J. Cope (Ryhope Colliery), that had a ring on its leg marked "Aberdeen University, 16.055." Have you ever heard of Sea-gulls being rung before? [The authorities of Aberdeen University have rung a number of birds of different species, and these rings should be returned to them, so that they can trace the movements of the birds. We believe they defray expenses, if any.—Ed.]

Thanks for the portrayal of my Kingfisher in the place of honour on the front page of your interesting journal, Cage Birds. I must compliment your artist on his lifelike drawing of same. Am pleased to say that the bird is doing well and keeping in the pink of condition, as at the time of writing he is standing 1st at the L.C.B.A. show. This particular bird has taken to cage life well, and his interesting ways quite compensate one for the little trouble and expense one is put to in keeping this interesting bird in health and condition.—W. Page (London, E.C.)

Halifax O.S. has made the largest and most varied classification throughout all the Yorkshire Union shows, writes Mr. Whitaker, the assist. sec. We have obtained the patronage of all specialist clubs (see advert.). We have two excellent judges, and one of the finest showrooms. All birds will again be despatched to reach home on the Saturday night. We have sent out 1,400 schedules, but if any exhibitor has been overlooked we shall be pleased to forward one. Entries positively close December 6. According to the agreement between the Yorkshire Union and the Cage Bird Union, C.B.U. members are eligible to show.

For the Edinburgh Open O.A. show on December 10 we have sent out all schedules to Scotch Fancy and Belgian exhibitors, but should any fanciers have been overlooked we ask them to send on their entries and we will classify, writes Mr. J. R. Meikle, the secretary. All birds entrusted to our care will be well looked after. A certain number of the committee will be deputed to attend to birds from a distance, to ensure their proper staging and promptness in dispatching home. We hope fanciers generally will stand by the "Auld Edinburgh"; give us a good entry to make this year a record one. Last week's advertisement gives full particulars.

I have changed my address to Locksford Lane, Chesterfield, writes Mr. E. Barber, sec. of the Whittington Moor and Dis. C.B.S. Will secretaries and fanciers please note? Our esteemed president (J. T. Roe, Esq.) is giving a cup for most points in our annual open show, to be held in the Victoria Hall, Whittington Moor, on December 27; also we have numerous other specials. Members' subscription 2s. 6d. now due; radius 10 miles.

Please allow me to congratulate the officials and stewards of Eccles show on the care with, and attention towards, the birds entrusted to them, writes Mr. W. Fairburst (Ardwick). Several birds arrived late, and though their classes were due to be judged they were left over for an hour so that the birds might settle down. I was glad the Redpoll classed filled; are they not the first Lancashire Society to provide a class for Redpolls only? Reform is badly needed in the classification generally provided by most societies in the British bird, Mule, and Hybrid sections. Give fair competition and you will get entries. I, along with other exhibitors visiting the Eccles show, received the prize money and cards before the close. May Eccles have a bumping entry and a great show next year.

Starling in an Organ Pipe.

One of the pipes in the new pipe organ in Tranent Church (near Musselburgh) having gone out of order, the builders on making an inspection discovered that a Starling had become fixed in it. The action of the air in the pipe had blown the bird almost to a skeleton.

The Norwich Plainhead Club.

There will be an extraordinary general meeting of the Norwich Plainhead Club at Blackburn show on Saturday afternoon, December 17, at 3.30, to pass the rules which have been revised by the committee. Will as many members as possible kindly attend?—Jno. Hopkins, hon. sec.

Where Advertising PAYS

I am delighted with the results of my small advertisement in "CAGE BIRDS."—G. B. Vanner (Gateshead).

I have sold 715 Roller Canaries through my last advertisement in CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. Bernard Rollins, of Hull.

I had entire satisfaction from the small exchange advertisement I put in "CAGE BIRDS" a few weeks ago.—M. E. Neal (Brondesbury, London, N.W.).

I shipped six Norwich to Toronto, Canada, per s.s. "Corsican," on October 6th. This order came through by advertisement in "CAGE BIRDS."—J. Taylor (Bradford).

Your paper, "CAGE BIRDS," is mentioned on about 7 out of every 10 cards sent for schedules, which speaks well for the money spent in advertising with you.—Jas. Irlam, Hon. Sec. Sale Open O.S.

Kindly thank all who answered my advt. in CAGE BIRDS re the exchange with Yorkshires for Borders. I had answers from all parts of England, and I cannot reply to them all.—W. Lidgate (Chevington).

Kindly thank all who answered my advt. in CAGE BIRDS re show cages; they were too many to reply to by post. It shows what an advantage it is to advertise in the penny popular bird fanciers' paper, CAGE BIRDS.—Geo. S. Closs (Gloster).

Your paper, CAGE BIRDS, is by far the best I have ever used for advertising in. In answer to my advert. a fortnight ago I had 21 letters and cards, and sold or exchanged goods over and above what I had advertised. I shall recommend CAGE BIRDS to other fanciers in this district.—Wm. Coombes (W. Hartlepools).

Kindly thank, through the columns of CAGE BIRDS, those gentlemen who wrote, offering me Norwich show cages, according to my advertisement in CAGE BIRDS, as I am unable to reply to them all. I wish CAGE BIRDS every success: I think it the best advertising paper going.—E. Pettet (Walthamstow, N.E.).

Kindly thank all readers who replied to my advertisement in "CAGE BIRDS" last week. Your paper must have a very great circulation, as I have received no less than 24 replies, some of which came from Scotland and Wales. I wish "CAGE BIRDS" every success.—N. Rycroft (Cambridge).

Through my last advertisement appearing in "CAGE BIRDS," I disposed of all my British birds, and could have sold them three times over, having had to return many P.O.'s—S. Denison (Huntley).

We had so many replies to our last advertisement in "CAGE BIRDS" that we really could not reply to all, which speaks highly for your admirable and widely-read paper, "CAGE BIRDS"; we had applications from all parts of the British Isles.—Nawton and Son (Pickering).

I advertised Yorkshires in "CAGE BIRDS" last week, and on the day of publication had enquiries for the birds, one of them being from the "County of Broad Acres." This shows the value of "CAGE Birds" as an advertising medium, and also shows what the Y.C.C. of Scotland, with its energetic Secretary, Mr. Bowman, is doing to establish first-class Yorkshires in Scotland. I wish your paper every success.—J. Cockburn Syson, M.D. (Glasgow).

SAD DESTRUCTION BY FIRE.

A Regrettable Disaster Involves Mr. P. Victor Williams in a heavy loss of Birds.

It is with very great regret that we learn of a serious fire occurring at the residence of that well-known and highly-respected bird-lover, Mr. P. Victor Williams, by which an aviary and the valuable birds it contained met with complete destruction. The sympathy of the entire Fancy will go out to Mr. Williams in his grievous loss; we tender him our sincerest condolences.

The appended account of the fire reaches us from our local correspondent:

Mr. P. Victor Williams has suffered a sad loss in the destruction of his chief aviary by fire at his residence, Hinstock Hall, near Market Drayton. The aviaries are five in number, and are situated on the border of the lawn. Fortunately, the aviaries do not join each other, but are separated by a few yards between each; they are all of wood. It was the endmost one wherein the fire occurred, this being the principal aviary, a spacious room, in fact, fitted up with hot-water pipes, which are heated from the outside by means of a large oil stove. The stove and boiler were placed in a small room or case, which was lined with zinc and sheet iron, and was apparently quite safe, in the event of a mishap occurring with the heat; they had been in use for two or three winters. It was attended to late on the Wednesday night (November 23) and was then all right as usual; but about about 4.30 the next morning one of the maids heard the crackling of a fire, and on looking out found the large aviary in flames. An alarm was at once raised, and the butler (Mr. F. Hallden, who has charge of the birds) and other helpers were quickly on the scene with a hand pump and a fire hose, and after some time they succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before the room was partly burnt away and the whole of the contents destroyed. Unfortunately this room contained the exhibition birds, consisting of Norwich and Yorks, Canaries, and one or two Britishers—about 50 birds in all—which had been got together regardless of cost, and were undoubtedly the finest collection in the Midlands. Their value cannot be less than £200. The only birds that are left out of Mr. Williams' magnificent teams of Norwich and Yorkshires are one Yellow Yorkshire and three Norwich. These birds had been taken out of the unfortunate aviary into the Hall for some purpose the day previous. Fortunately the other aviaries escaped any damage. These contain a number of stock birds, also Britishers and Foreigners. The one containing the winning Cbough was only about two yards away from the seat of the fire; he was much alarmed, and his cries were loud and frequent.

The cause of the fire is not quite known, as only a day or two before the stove was examined by an expert and pronounced all right. It is supposed that it exploded, as the maid who discovered the fire heard an explosion which she took for the report of a gun a short time before she made her startling discovery. It is a most unfortunate occurrence, as many noted winners which had done so well for their owner, both last season and this, were simply roasted.

Much regret is expressed in the neighbourhood, where the Squire of Hinstock is highly esteemed, his generosity and kind heartedness being household words. He is a sterling fancier, being much devoted to his birds, and is very enthusiastic in the exhibiting of them. Although suffering very acutely from the loss, his ardour for the Fancy is undaunted. He set about replacing his stock of exhibition birds the same day, which is a fine example of his indomitable pluck and his ardent love for feathered pets of the highest order.

In the Courts.

CRUELTY TO HEN LINNETS.

A Hull chimney-sweep, Joseph Bassett, Gillett Street, who admitted that he had been engaged in catching birds for forty years, was summoned at the East Riding Petty Sessions on October 26, for being in possession of a number of wild Linnets, which, by an order of the County Council, are protected throughout the year. He was further summoned for causing cruelty to two Linnets, this summons being taken out under the Wild Animals in Captivity Act.

Sergeant Brown and P.C. Julian explained that about 9 a.m. on Sunday, October 16, they were on duty on the Humber Bank, when they saw the defendant working a set of flap nets. There were 71 recently-caught Linnets lying on the ground, 45 in the net, two having died through suffocation. In respect to the summons for cruelty defendant was working two Linnets in braces. These birds were severely chafed, all the feathers being rubbed from their breast by the perpetual jerking of the line and the falling of the nets. He kept the birds in the braces for two or three hours. The line was about 60 yards long. The birds appeared to be exhausted. The defendant was killing the hen Linnets. He crushed about 45 into a cage six inches in width. The reason he killed the Linnets was because he wanted to make a pie of them.

Defendant pleaded that he did not know he was doing any harm.—The Justices inflicted a fine of 5s. and costs on each summons.

Two men, John Brooke and Thomas Hardy, were also fined 5s. and costs for unlawfully being in possession of wild birds on the Humber Bank. The latter were Linnets, and the defendants were discovered with a pair of nets.

Fourteen Years Among the Chubby Ones.

Hints on the Breeding of Norwich Plainheads.

By R. H. LIVINGSTONE (Rutherglen).

I will endeavour to place before my readers a little of my experience with the Norwich Canary during the fourteen years or so that I have kept them. But in attempting to do so, should I happen to repeat anything hitherto recorded in this well-trodden path I would humbly crave your pardon. I intend to try and give my own practical experience without posing in the slightest as an authority on the subject. Every fancier's experience is not the same, and mine may help on the novice.

In making up one's mind to start in any particular branch of the Canary Fancy, it is not a wise policy to rush, purchasing birds from Tom, Dick and Harry; but rather for a season before the craze is really on you, exercise your patience. Read up and study well the articles appearing each week in CAGE BIRDS relating to the particular breed of bird you intend to take up. Then when the show season starts, visit all the principal shows, and become acquainted with the type and characteristics of the birds that win. The eye soon becomes educated (so to speak) to what is right and otherwise in that particular kind of bird. Then, if possible, fix on a fancier; watch his exhibts, and note his wins. Then, if possible, find out through some fancier friend if this fancier is all right himself, and if so, visit him and tell him you are only a beginner in the Fancy, that you are ignorant of the qualifications and value of real good stock, and that you are willing to place yourself in his hands, to be guided by his experience. Get him to match you up two pairs of stock birds; if he is a straight and honourable fancier he will put you right without laying on any fancy prices.

Now, we will say, you have paid as much for the two pairs of birds as you could well afford; these will be quite sufficient for the first year. The better the stock the better your chance of breeding something worth keeping another year.

Preparing for the Second Year.

We will now presume that you have had fair success and bred a few nice youngsters; now, in order to match up for the following year you should study well which pair had bred the best hens, as some pairs will throw better hens than cocks, while others will do the reverse. Pick out the shortest and most typical hens, even if they be a shade on the small side; a good large cock bird will generally rectify matters, providing he is of the proper stamp.

Perhaps before going any further it would be better for me to here state what I consider a nice stock pair. Take the hen first, and suppose she is a yellow; let her be nice and full in the head, without any inclination to brow; she should have a short, well-set beak, be well filled in neck, set on broad, deep, well rounded, close feathered, and expansive chest, not lumpy or pear shaped, as some are. These latter suggest a tendency to fattiness in chest, and are a very objectionable feature which, when once introduced and encouraged to a degree, is very difficult to breed out. The inexperienced fancier imagines this is type; but the man of more mature knowledge can tell at a glance, and shuns it as a danger.

Type consists of the proper formation of the body without the slightest degree of superfluous fat; then the back ought to be broad, well filled in, straight (not low), and short, tapering away to the legs (which ought to be short and well placed), and finished off with a nice, short, compact tail, and wings which must be close fitting and neatly carried, meeting at the tips (to cross is a bad fault).

These essentials, with good colour and nice quality of feather, will give you a hen which for symmetrical appearance or for stock purposes you will find it hard to equal.

Again, take the cock bird; let him have size in his favour, with all the qualities of the hen combined with a bold, strong and healthy look.

Methods of Mating.

Now, supposing the hen to be a young clear, I would prefer to match her with a lightly-marked year-old cock (or vice-versa). My experience leads me to say that one never gets the size from two young birds that he might expect from a pair, one of which was a year older, and, therefore (one might say), had reached maturity. Type and quality of feather generally follow the hen, while by pairing in the above mentoned way one might expect size, also colour, both of which follow the male parent. This pair would do for producing clears or ticks; but for producing good variegated birds I like the opposite methods of pairing, always remembering to have plenty of colour, especially on the cock side. Therefore, I select a nice clear, tight and typical buff hen and a heavily variegated yellow cock; and I may say that I am a great believer in yellow variegated cocks, as they generally carry a regular fountain of colour.

There are other methods of pairing besides the orthodox fashion of yellow to buff, viz., double-buffing, double-yellowing, inbreeding and Sib-breeding.

Double-buffing has many good points, or advantages, but it is not advisable for the beginner, or even for the experienced, to dabble in it, unless he knows the stock really well; then, and not till then, he may pursue this path carefully, with a hope of gaining much advantage. Of course, this method could not be carried on continuously, but now and again only, and with beneficial results. Never forget what I have already said, that you must know the stock you are working with; herein lies the secret of all successful matching and breeding.

Inbreeding, again, is a valuable help in maintaining and fixing the various points in a stock, but great care must be exercised in this manner of matching, putting only the most perfect specimens together. One should be careful to avoid all hingy tails, narrow or wedge-shaped skulls, long rakish necks, or birds that are long in flights and tail and stilty in leg. Here let me say "Beware," for remember that after a year's fixing of bad points in the above manner it will take three or four years to breed them out; so study well before you match your stock, and make no hasty conclusions.

Double-yellowing and Sib-breeding are generally gone into with clear birds, with a view to raising a stock and strain of birds suitable for light muling. Many assert that this is the only means of obtaining the much-coveted light Mule.

Deciding When Birds are Ready.

Having now dwelt at some length and given my opinion on the various methods of pairing, perhaps a few words on how to know when birds are ready for pairing would not be out of place. It is always advisable, when possible, to have your hens enjoying themselves in large flights, so that they may be fit and robust in health, to undertake the onerous duties that devolve on them. You can easily tell when they are ready for breeding by the fairly plump condition they are in, and the persistent flap-flapping of their wings. A healthy specimen can always be told by catching hold of it, and blowing aside the feathers on the breast; the flesh of the underparts always presents a glossy and healthy appearance. The cock birds ought to be kept in stock cages by themselves, their condition being easily known by their song, in which they generally try to outvie one another at this time of the year. Be good to your birds, but be careful not to overdo it, as, if the weather should keep open for any length of time, the hens will come into breeding order much quicker than the cocks, and I never like to keep hens back when they are really ready, as I have had hens go clean out of condition altogether, simply through being kept back after they were ready. Give a good mixed diet (no hemp). A pinch of niger to the hens two or three times a week will help to keep them cool till the proper time arrives.

Blaming the Wrong Party.

I never like to pair my birds up before the third week in March, as by the time they get their little differences all settled up you are on the verge of April, which, in my opinion, is quite soon enough, when one considers the climatic variations we are subjected to; moreover, by this time of the year the days have lengthened sufficiently to allow the parent birds to pursue with some diligence their efforts and responsibility of rearing their young brood. Further, it is a matter of great importance to get your birds set off in smooth working order at the beginning of the season. I believe this is where a lot of the bad-feeding and "sweating" start. Birds are rushed together all too hastily, and just before they are properly ready to go the days are short, and cold snaps intervene, with the result that the hen, through care and anxiety for her young, is afraid to venture off the nest to feed, lest the young should suffer; consequently, they are both "sweated" and hungered, and in many cases the hen is spoiled for the remainder of the season.

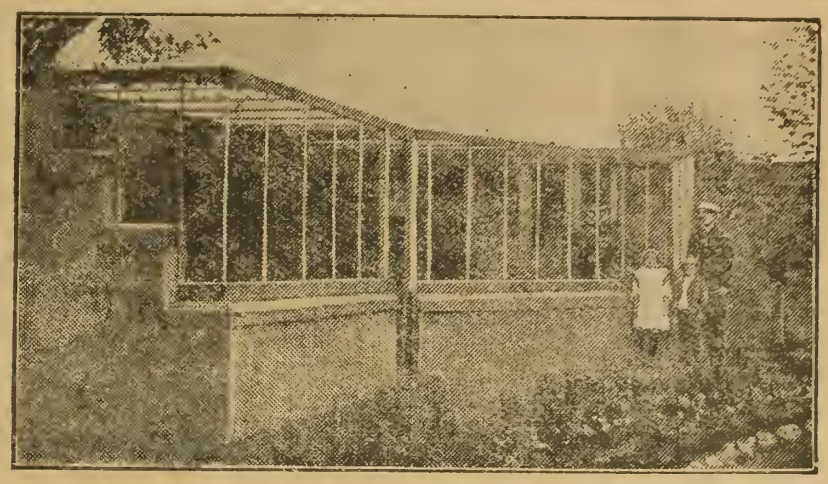
The blame falls on the poor hen, while it is really the fancier himself who causes the mischief.

We will suppose the breeding season is now on, and your hens are just hatching their first round. This is where the fancier is apt to feel in a little world of his own, and that success is bound to follow his efforts. But, oh! how easily all can be upset, if only at some unwary moment he should happen to forget himself. The young hatch, and all goes well for the first three or four days or so; the fancier, in the height of joyous excitement, goes out in search of green food, and returns after a few hours with a few smallish leaves of dandelion; he proceeds by way of kindness to invite the hen to partake of the cherished dainty, never dreaming that while he was out himself he felt the air very keen and frosty; the hen, of course, partakes of the proffered morsel, with the result that inflammation sets in, and in most cases she is gone ere the unwary fancier can realise what is the matter. Maxim: Beware of all green meat gathered in the springtime. Anything green ought to be gathered the day previous to its being given to the birds; this will allow of its being free of frost, and will prevent much trouble and loss.

Regarding the method of feeding while the hen is rearing her brood, I may say I am a firm believer in the old and well-tried egg-and-biscuit fashion, with plenty of good mixed seeds, hemp included in plenty, but only so long as the hen is feeding the brood, with plenty of green, carefully selected dandelion leaves or ripe apple, the former preferred. The hemp and green food I take away as soon as the youngsters are weaned, putting the hen on plain seed diet after she lays her complement of eggs until near the time of hatching again.

I continue the egg and biscuit with the young until they are nearly one month old; then I crush hemp and canary seed; I boil a little German rape, fill up the egg drawer three-quarters full of egg and biscuit, and mix a little of the above seed amongst it. The moisture of the egg softens the kernels of the seed, and I find this an excellent way of bringing the youngsters on to seed.

I have kept on in this way since I first joined the Fancy about fourteen years ago, and I think in all my experience I have not lost more than three birds after I got them on the perch; so I never care about experimenting in any of the various new ways of Canary-raising, as I consider it is always best to leave well alone. Much more might be said regarding the treatment, housing, feeding and general management of the birds, but all I would venture to say further is: "Exercise great patience." This is a quality that must ever be predominant in the fancier, if he means to tread the path of success. Coupled with attentiveness to his stock in the way of cleanliness and general management, with a "chunk of luck" added, he may do well. If what I have penned is the means of stimulating and helping any poor plodding fellow-fancier, I shall feel deeply gratified.



A CHARMING OUTDOOR AVIARY.

This photograph is of our Children's Aviary, writes Mr. I. Irving (Maryport). It has frequently been contended that there is no tree which will flourish successfully, owing to birds eating the buds. I had this aviary built two years ago, and you will observe that it is full of growth, and the trees healthy. We have in it ever sixty British birds and Canaries.

Is it Cruel to Keep Birds in Cages?

By H. J. FULLJAMES.

One other instance must suffice. A Russian Bullfinch had developed a growth over one eye, and as it appeared to be gradually getting worse, I was on the point of putting an end to the half-blind bird when a friend suggested that I should let it fly. This I did, by putting it through the open top of the bird-room window, but before dark the bird had returned by means of the same aperture. Afterwards it came and went as it chose; some days it would not go out at all, and some nights it would stay out in the neighbouring trees. The tumour over the eye gradually disappeared, and the bird recovered its full sight. As winter approached the window was only occasionally opened, but Bully did not trouble; if opportunity were given him he would sometimes take a short flight around the garden, but in inclement weather he much preferred indoors. This went on for nearly two years, but one evening my "homer" failed to return; some tell-tale feathers at the bottom of the garden showed that "kindly Nature" had been at her work again.

A Summing Up.

It was my intention when commencing to write this answer to our question, to consider the keeping of birds in captivity from the point of view of aviculturists who are more ambitious than the ordinary bird keeper, and who, for amusement or study, have at one time or another "tried their hand" at the keeping of a collection of British or Foreign birds whose varied requirements in captivity differ as light does from dark, but I have already gone to such length that I must dismiss this in a few words. Such owners know that they have occasionally been tempted to endeavour to keep in captivity birds which are not amenable to confinement, either in separate cages or in an aviary, and they know from experience that to attempt the impossible or the supremely difficult in bird-keeping is to inflict suffering upon the objects of one's endeavour. In this connection, therefore, the third answer, "Sometimes," has an application, as in the other cases, and we will sum up as follows: Cruelty is undoubtedly practised by a very small minority of ignorant and unscrupulous dealers. These brutes are a disgrace to their calling, bring disrepute upon the very great majority of well-informed and humane bird-sellers, and should be wiped out. Discomfort to a degree is inflicted unknowingly by novices in bird-keeping, this being entirely remediable by a wider dissemination of the knowledge so easily procurable, and some amount of equally avoidable cruelty is consequent upon the attempt to keep in captivity birds which by nature of their food or their habits are hopeless subjects. These things being granted, it is to be emphatically claimed that the hobby of bird-keeping is not cruel in itself, but, on the contrary, is, when properly practised, more humane than Nature herself, and affords an innocent and instructive amusement to thousands upon thousands of Englishmen of all classes, and a means of living to other thousands of workmen and workwomen engaged in the trades which have for their being the existence of the hobby now threatened by faddists who know nothing whatever about the true aspects of the question.

In this essay competition, articles which were considered by the judges to be very high in merit were received from: the Hon. Mrs. G. Bourke (Taplow), Mrs. E. M. A Bird of Good Omen.

Among the ancients the Eagle was considered a bird of lucky omen. The populace were delighted when they saw the huge bird wheeling and sporting in the air.

Rooks in Winter.

Rooks are among the most easy birds to study, especially during the winter months, when the trees are devoid of leaves, and the birds are mostly in the open fields, where they undoubtedly do a lot of good, as there are no crops to injure.

A Novice's Experiments in the Management of Yorkshires.

By J. C. CAINE (Birmingham).

Having decided on the Yorkshire for my first attempt at Canary breeding, my thoughts naturally turned to the procedure I should follow during the breeding season, which was about to commence. Knowing practically nothing about them or their requirements, I proceeded to collect all the information I could respecting this particular breed from the various books written on the subject from fanciers who, I knew, went in for my favourite, and last but not least, from the different articles which appear from time to time in that valuable—I might almost say indispensable—journal, CAGE BIRDS.

The information gathered in this way was of such a varying nature that I hardly knew what to do, and began to think I should have been wiser had I read less, until the idea occurred to me, why not try more than one method? This I soon made up my mind to do, and to give each of four methods recommended a fair trial. I divided my little lot (eight pairs) up into four sections. I numbered off my cages and labelled pairs one and two section one, three and four section two, and so on. About the end of March I began pairing them up, and was soon "in the thick of it."

Section No. I.

For section 1 I covered the cage bottom with good clean sand mixed with plenty of sharp grit, used the deep terra cotta nest pans lined with swansdown. I gave no nesting materials, but in its place supplied them with short lengths of string, teased out to play with, removing any they had carried into the nest pan each morning when replacing egg with a dummy. The eggs I returned to the nest on the evening of the day the third egg was laid.

I made best Spanish Canary seed their staple food, giving in addition a teaspoonful per bird of mixed seed, composed of the following: Rape, inga, maw, gold of pleasure, hemp, dandelion, and linseed on alternate days and a like quantity of egg food—one fresh egg to four biscuits—on the days they did not have mixed seed. Fresh green-food was given daily until the hen had completed her clutch; then nothing but plain canary seed until the young were hatched. Hard boiled yolk of egg was then given for the first three days in quantities of about half a teaspoonful at a time and replenished three or four times a day as required. The white and yolk were mixed up together and given for the next three days, a little more liberally each succeeding day; a little hemp was also given now in a separate vessel.

When the young were seven days old, one parts biscuit was added to three parts egg and gradually increased until by the time young were twenty-one days old, the proportions of egg and biscuit were reversed.

Green food was supplied fresh daily from the day the young were hatched until they were taken away from the old ones, which period varied from twenty-one to twenty-eight days; then I discontinued it entirely.

The young were now gradually weaned on to powdered biscuit slightly moistened with water. Crushed canary seed was next introduced, then a little whole rape added; and when the birds were seen to be shelling the latter freely whole canary three parts and rape one part formed their diet, with the addition of half a teaspoonful per bird of egg food weekly.

This was continued until they were between six and seven weeks old. They were then put on colour-feed. Clean water was supplied daily, to which was added fresh lime water in the proportion of one of lime water to four of plain water.

Result: No clear or addled eggs, 60 per cent. of young reared; I lost the other 40 per cent. the last round when they were a day or two old, owing to old birds dropping into moult, and not being capable of feeding them.

Section No. II.

Sand, grit and nest pans, as for No. 1, were given to this lot, but the nest pans were not lined, penny bags of nesting material being supplied, the birds being allowed to construct their own nests. One pair built a beautiful nest. The other I had to assist. Seed I gave similarly to No. 1 lot, but green food was given much more sparingly, and continued throughout to both old and young. The egg food for the young ones began with the whole of the egg instead of yolk only. No water was given until they were on hard seed; then lime water as for first lot.

Result: 10 per cent. clear or addled eggs; 10 per cent. young died in nest; and 80 per cent. reared.

Section No. III,

For this lot I used sawdust in the cage bottoms, and supplied them with sand in a separate vessel. Shallow nest pans lined with felt and nesting material were given. Food until young were hatched the same as for No. 1 lot. Then for young, instead of egg alone I started straight away with equal parts of egg biscuit, and continued it until they were ready to take away from the old ones, when they were put on to crushed canary seed with a little milk sop added occasionally. When four weeks old a little rape was added to their fare, and the canary seed was given whole. Green food was supplied on alternate days, and plain water only, fresh daily.

Result: 10 per cent. clear or addled eggs; 85 per cent. reared; but when between five and six weeks old they began to drop off one by one until they were reduced to 60 per cent. I now added lime water to the drinking water, as for others, and had no further losses.

Section No. IV.

Sawdust, but no sand, was used for these. A piece of cuttlefish bone between the wires was all that was given in the way of grit. Boxes were used in place of nest pans, and nesting material was given.

These I found made the best nests. I left the eggs in the nest as laid. Food up to the time young were hatched consisted of plain canary seed with a little rape and inga, given separately; the green food was supplied daily, and half a teaspoonful per bird two or three times a week of one of the largely advertised egg and biscuit mixtures.

The young were also started on this mixture and gradually weaned on to powdered biscuit and bread crumbs, to which was added a few drops of cod liver oil emulsion, just sufficient to make it crumbly. Whole seed was eventually given, as for others, and lime water as for lots Nos. 1 and 2.

Result: 25 per cent. clear or addled eggs, 40 per cent. reared, except one bird dying when five weeks old; 35 per cent. died in nests.

The green food employed in all methods was chiefly chickweed, but anything in season when at hand was given, such as dandelion, watercress, young lettuce, etc.

The conclusion I have come to is that a good percentage of young may reasonably be expected from either treatment; but the one I prefer is that applied to method 1, although I did not have the largest percentage of young from this lot, the fault being that of the birds and not the treatment. I found them to be almost entirely free from red mite, due, no doubt, to the fact that the nest pans, containing nothing but the swansdown, were easily kept cleau, and the insect powder, which I used frequently for all, was kept in closer contact with the birds, thereby allowing the hen to sit tighter on the eggs.

The fact of having no addled eggs in this lot forces me to the conclusion that red mite are responsible for a lot, for by constantly worrying the sitting birds, they do uot sit tight enough, the result being that some of the eggs get chilled. I found that the birds in sections 3 and 4 got on just as well with the sawdust as those in Nos. 1 and 2 did with the sand; but I have one strong objection to sawdust, viz., its being so light that it flies about with every little movement of the birds; and on more than one occasion I had it get into the young ones' eyes.

False Economy.

I noticed that the birds in sections Nos. 1 and 2 whilst fed on egg alone, when young were hatched, ate every scrap, whilst those fed on the mixture of egg and biscuit wasted a lot, which on examination proved to be entirely composed of biscuit, showing that they preferred egg to any other kind of food, and that it is false economy to give anything else until the young are three days old at least.

In lot No. 3 I attribute the loss of young to their drinking too much water; they were the only lot that had plain water.

Lime water I found answered a threefold purpose. It is a capital bone-former, and not being altogether to their taste it was the means of preventing their drinking too much, thereby keeping down diarrhoea.

Lot No. 4 were troubled with mite to a greater extent than any of the others; the pests got into the joints of the nest boxes, and were very hard to dislodge.

The cages used in each instance were of the box-pattern, with wire fronts; those numbered 1 to 4 were single cages, each measuring 18in. high, 18ins. long, and 9ins. deep. Nos. 5 to 8 were double cages, each division measuring 14ins. high, 18ins. long, and 11ins. deep; in No. 5 and 6 the division was a fixture, in Nos. 7 and 8 moveable. Nos. 1 to 6 were enamelled pale blue inside, Nos. 7 and 8 being whitewashed.

The single cage, 18ins. high, is undoubtedly far and away the best to use for Yorkshires; nothing short of this height is sufficient for them to show themselves off. It is more portable, too, than the double one, and on that account can easily be cleaned out without disturbing its neighbours.

Enamel I consider preferable to whitewash, because, in the first place, it looks neater, and if properly done to begin with the cages require nothing further than a washing out with soap and water, to which has been added about 2 per cent. of carbolic acid; this I apply with a paint brush, and finish off with water containing about ½ per cent. (three teaspoonfuls to half a gallon) of water.

The young of the four different lots I kept separate, making with the old ones five lots, which I proceeded to colour-feed, using different food for each lot.

All who contemplate making a start next season I advise to go on the lines followed in Section 1, not forgetting the lime water. The result, I feel sure, will be pleasing.

GOSSIP FROM THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN SECTIONS.

At the L.C.B.A. Show.

By HENRY J. FULLJAMES.

The most talked-of bird in the British section was Mr. H. G. Page's Kingfisher. He certainly looked very well, and the wording of the heading of the class justified his entry, as it would have justified the entry of a Swift or an Eagle. The class was headed "Continental birds," but, as its title read, "Any species of European birds," etc., British birds were eligible, Britain being, of course, part of Europe. So we had the anomaly of otherwise barred English birds competing with the Continental birds, for which the class was presumably designed.

There were many enquirers for the "Spanish Magpie," entered in this class by Mr. Goodchild, but absent, as we were all anxious to see wherein a Spanish Magpie differed from our own well-known "Mag." I have myself seen Magpies in the extensive gardens of the Royal Palace in Madrid, but I am fain to confess that they never struck me as being anything special.

Mr. Puck's Icterine Warbler (Sylvia hypolais) took us back a good many years in memory, as did the same gentleman's Sprosser, or "Thrush Nightingale." It is an oft-told tale, but will perhaps bear repetition, that a Sprosser of my own was once "passed" in a Continental class, the judge mistaking it for a Nightingale! It is somewhat curious that the pretty Icterine Warbler, sometimes called the Melodious Willow Wren, does not oftener come to us. It is quite a common bird on the Continent, and gets as near to us as France and Holland. The same may be said of the Great Reed Warbler exhibited in the same class. This bird also is common in the South of Europe, and breeds as near to us as France. To us it is a very scarce visitor, although cases, more or less doubtful, have been reported of its having nested in our islands.

Not many of us had seen a Little Owl until this show; it is one of those birds which may be considered accidental visitors. The class in which it was shown was an innovation, although some of the older hands remembered a class for Hawks, Owls and Ravens in days long past. If it were known beforehand that such a class would be included in the schedule, it might be better supported in future, but I "hae ma doots." Fanciers of cage-birds do not generally keep birds of prey.

Among the birds in the Rare-feathered class was one catalogued as a "various coloured Blackbird, red breast," and the lay Press "bit" at once. In many of the papers it was described, and given as one of the special attractions of the show. It was an ordinary American Robin! "Wrong class," of course.

Talking of the representatives of the lay Press, one of these gentlemen was quite surprised to find that the British birds were wild caught. He thought they were bred in cages like Canaries, and that those in the abnormally feathered class were the result of careful selection in breeding. When he learned that all the British birds had once been flying wild, he thought it was cruelty to keep them in cages. Of such are the opponents of aviculture!

It was very generally thought that the two luckiest birds in the British section were the winning Nightingale and the winning Yellowhammer. The third-prize birds in these two classes are outstanding wonders, and they must have shown themselves very badly to be beaten by those above them.

The most unthankful task that may be imagined is that of judging the Foreign Section. No two judges would place the birds alike, and there would be grumbling however they were placed. A very old suggestion of my own was revived by one of the exhibitors. He thought, as do I, that it would be a good idea to inform the judge directly entries have closed of the species of birds that would be placed before him. It is absolutely unfair to expect a judge to rightly place unique birds of whose very existence he probably does not know till he sees them. It would perhaps be not too much to say that no living person could even name more than half of the birds which were at this show. If he were told beforehand what would come under his judgment, he would at least be able to look up authorities, if he wished.

With all the wonderful rarities exhibited, none excited so much interest among the experts as the Blue Budgerigars shown by M. Pauvvels. The Greater Bird of Paradise certainly was the great attraction to the ordinary public, but most of us had seen the species at the "Zoo," while few had ever seen a Blue Budgerigar. My friend Mr. Frostick remembered some in the possession of the late Mr. Abrahams, the foreign bird dealer, of Ratcliffe Highway, some twenty years ago. I was buying birds of Mr. Abrahams nearly as long ago as this, but personally I cannot remember ever seeing one in his shop. Anyway, M. Pauvrels is to be congratulated on his possession of this beautiful pair, and, I believe, of more of their kind.

If I were to say all I should like of Mr. Townsend's exquisite Yellow-winged Sugar Bird, I should exhaust all the superlatives in the dictionary. This is the sixth year of this marvellously beautiful bird upon the show bench, and every year it absolutely improves upon its own perfection.

In the class for common-named species of foreign birds, the winners were a pair of Red-headed Finches. If these birds had been named in the heading, the fear of their presence would have kept away many of the others, but they were not so named, and their winning in a class for which they were not entitled to be entered was one of the surprises of the judging.

Once again there was the usual talk of Continental Bullfinches and Goldfinches in our British classes. It is undoubtedly the case that the presence of these keeps away many genuine Britishers, and if the judges in only one season would "pass" birds which were otherwise than undoubted British specimens, instead of giving them "the benefit of the doubt," the classes would be much better filled in the future.

A well-known judge, Mr. Geo. Bennett, of Luton, with a trio of his winning Crests and Crestbreds, and some of the special prizes they have secured.

Wild-Bird Life.

In the Woods in Winter.

The woods in winter seem to possess a peculiar charm for anyone who is at all fond of wild Nature and Nature's ways. The leaves have fallen, and the bare trunks and branches cut sharply against the winter sky. Where the trees are not unduly crowded, one is able to see some distance ahead, and to note here and there birds either feeding upon the ground or moving among the branches overhead. As the days shorten, wild birds appear to utilise all the daylight in hunting for food, and during frost the fallen leaves in the thick of the wood become a happy hunting ground for almost all the species resident with us during the winter. What they find is sometimes a mystery. If anyone with ordinary eyesight will take the trouble to carefully move the leaves over, say, a square foot of ground, he will find very little in the way of bird nourishment to reward him for his trouble. It is evident, then, that a bird's eyesight is considerably sharper than ours in detecting minute insects and seeds that are useful as food, and although they do not require a great quantity at a time, they want it pretty frequently, and at this time of the year they have not much time to waste if they are to keep the body in fairly good condition.

A Fortunate Nest Finder.

A reader was exceptionally fortunate in his "nesting operations" this past summer, and among his finds was an unusually large number of nests of the Yellow Bunting. A record of the number of eggs shows only one nest containing five eggs; the majority had four. These were mostly full clutches, partly incubated. The writer's experience has been that second nests seldom contain more than three eggs. There are few wild birds' eggs to equal those of the Bunting for colour and peculiarity of mark-Bunting for colour and peculiarity of markings.

Face Value versus Pedigree.

A paper on the mating of birds read by Mr. Frank Cole before the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. on October 8th.

One simple test: Can anyone tell with any degree of certainty the amount of green blood there is in a rich-coloured clear? No. Yet, forsooth! some of our critics advice face value. If face value fails, then, on this simple test, where would it be in a much stronger one? One of the greatest advocates of selection from the show bench said last May: "Birds may become tainted in constitution though not observable to the eye." Surely, this is directly adverse to the selection by face value which he recommends?

Breeding Winners Made Easy.

If selection were the sine qua non of success, breeding winners would be as easy as shelling peas. The first prize cock would be paired to the first prize hen, and there you are—winners in every nest. But I am glad to say that this is not so. If it were, our hobby would lose more than half its interest, and the battle of brains versus money would be over. Like will not always produce like, unless, as a very prominent Yorkshire breeder remarked, "it is handled on scientific lines." Why is it the exhibitor of yesterday who purchases his winner cannot produce their equal, and must purchase again? Simply because he does not know how they were bred. To illustrate what I mean, one of you have a pair of birds which we will call A and B. A is weak in neck and was mated to B, who was strong in that point. The result was C, a winner. Apparently C was a good bird, but although it did not appear on the surface, it had an inherent tendency to neck weakness. C was purchased by the "Selectionist" and possibly mated to another bird with a like tendency; consequently those birds could not produce their equal. Both of them possessed a fault which was not apparent but inherent.

To further illustrate what I mean, we will suppose your birds are weak in head properties. You go to one of the largest shows and select from the bench a bird for one reason alone—it is good in head. But I ask you, as practical fanciers, can you tell by looking at that bird whether its parents are good in head? If not, the element of luck is there, and wise men leave nothing to chance or luck. Would it not be better to go to someone whose birds you know to be strong where yours are weak, tell him what you want, and having selected your bird and ascertained that it was bred right, take it home, not hoping for but assured of success?

Some few months ago I wrote "by pedigree you have a greater power of discerning the possibilities in the breeding cage and a far greater control of their points than selection alone can give." For this I was termed "a novice who had not cut his teeth." A short while after in the same paper, Mr. Shackleton wrote: "Face value and mere selection are very weak reeds indeed to rest upon, and I have yet to find the fancier who can gain a leading position and maintain same for any length of time who works on the principle of face value and selection."

Mark you, I said "selection alone"; and Mr. Shackleton says "mere selection." Where is the difference?

You will also find on the show bench animals and birds utterly incapable of producing their kind—animals that will "savage" their young, barren hens, non-feeders, and the like. Their place is the show bench; they are fit for nothing else. And so far as I am concerned I leave them there. Remember the old adage, "Beauty may be only skin deep," and the next time you are advised to make your selection from the show bench take the advice of "Punch" and "don't." I do not say this without careful thought, but from personal experience in the breeding of both fur and feather, having learned that selection may at times prove a passably good walking stick, but a decidedly risky think to depend upon as a crutch.

What is Pedigree?

So much for Selection. We now come to Systematic Breeding, and as pedigree and inbreeding form parts of this, let us first ask ourselves what is Pedigree? Some tell us it is a geneological table, such as "Isaac begat Jacob," etc. This is not my interpretation. There can be no objection to your calling your birds "Isaac" or "Jacob," or you can have "Little Jim" if you like; but what you do want to know is whether "Little Jim" was good in head or whether he and his predecessors had long tails or short ones. "Pedigree," then, is a complete record of a given family. By this I mean a short description of the parent stock, a record of the defects or good points in that stock, a table of nests taken, of eggs laid, fertile and unfertile, hatched and dispatched from natural or unnatural causes. Each bird reared is marked or numbered with a ring, and by comparison of this mark with our register, we ascertain at once where the bird came from, its tendency to inherent weakness, or otherwise. We are able also to see from where our best birds are coming, and whether they produce quantity or quality. All these points are of paramount importance to the breeder if he would succeed.

We are told by some that they keep their pedigree book to avoid the mating of relations. If that is all the use it is to them, I am not surprised to know that they "give preference to selection over pedigree." I have also heard it remarked that what applies to one species of animal does not apply to another; in other words, one is selected from pedigree, the other from face value. But I have yet to learn that Nature has different rules for each of her children, and that they are not all governed by the same unwritten laws.

If there is nothing in Pedigree, why is it the breeders of horses and dogs are so particular about it? The owner of the pedigree sire is always careful that the mare shall be in all ways suitable, so that the sire may have a fair chance of reproducing in the offspring those good points in which he excels. In this way does the horse breeder protect his stud. I would that Canary breeders were half as careful. Some are, but they are in the minority; and it is the careless pedigree breeder who brings discredit to the word.

By way of an illustration of the advantages of pedigree breeding, I ask your attention to an occurrence of some seven or eight years ago, when I was giving this subject careful thought, and when Mr. C. A. House was publishing a most remarkable series of articles concerning it. I am sorry the case does not concern birds, but I have not yet been able to get a photograph of birds that would so clearly illustrate my meaning. You will notice that the picture I have here is of a couple of rabbits—the black and white English variety. I may explain that the larger one, the doe, is an absolute waster, so far as appearance goes; but she was well bred. In the first place she was absolutely devoid of chains, those spots seen in the youngster running from the base of the ear to the loin. She is deficient in the butterfly smut on the nose. She is broken in saddle and heavy in eye and loin markings. If I had told any breeder of English rabbits that this dam could produce a winner, he would have suggested I meant "dinner." Yet there is the picture of her daughter. You will see that the sire had made up the deficiency. Had I mated the dam to an unrelated sire I have no hesitation in saying I should have had self blacks—I mean perfect blacks without a white hair on them.

"Blood Will Tell."

It is in the breeding of marked varieties that one learns the full meaning of the words "blood will tell." I do not wish you to think I intend to imply that any mediocre specimen pedigree-bred is equally as good to breed with as the more perfect specimens, or that all animals and birds possessing the same blood can be absolutely relide on to produce similar kind of young. We know that in many cases a given pair of animals or birds will produce a much inferior youngster. This is a sport or reversion to a more or less remote ancestor and would naturally not be so reliable for breeding with as its more perfect brother.

But I place such value on reliable pedigree that if I were given the choice of this well-bred sport or another more perfect specimen bred by chance I should choose the sport or reversion, as I should at least know what material had been recently used, and have more power of making the blood "toe the line" as it were, and of bringing the outside form more in keeping with the blood that was running through it.

I have said that inbreeding forms a part of systematic breeding. Once again I warn you to be careful who is about when you mention this word. To some it is another name for asthma, liver complaint, unfertility, undersized weaklings, and the like. I have no hesitation in saying it is the most abused word ever used by Canary breeders. Why, I do not know. To others it means the indiscriminate mating of blood relations; and they point you to the table of affinity. Has it ever struck you what a truly pathetic picture one of these conscientious breeders would make, holding in one hand his stud book, and in the other the Table of Affinity? Think you the birds and the so-termed lower forms of life do not inbreed? Ask yourselves in how many cases does the male moth mate with its sister? We know that the parent moth lays a number of eggs. These in turn hatch into the caterpillar, which has practically no means or desire of leaving its feeding-ground and in turn emerges into the moth male or female. Oftentimes these are born within a few hours of each other, and Nature asserts herself without any questions of affinity being asked. Are they not as perfect to-day as when we chased them, cap in hand as boys will do round the hedge or lamp-post?

To come nearer home: why is it birds from one district are not exactly the same as those from another? Their form and colouring are the same to the inexperienced (although not to the practised eye). Again, how many of these Tables of Affinity will you find posted up in a Rookery? Yet we know that here blood relations do inter-breed. To my mind, there should be as many Tables of Affinity hung on the tree tops as there are notices in our factories of the regulations under the Factory Acts; and even then the Rook would be wise enough to ignore them. One notice for every nest would not be too many. Yet are not the Rooks of to-day as strong as ever? Has inbreeding caused loss of stamina or sterility?

Our Every-Day Bird Seeds.

A Lecture before the Highgate, Hampstead and District C.B.S.

By E. S. LUGG.

A Wonderful Medicinal Seed.

Teazle seed is not used sufficiently for our Canaries. It is really a wonderful medicinal seed. It contains a large amount of ash or mineral matter, which is so necessary to our birds. Say, for instance, your birds have been over-indulged with oily seeds, such as hemp, linseed, niger, etc. You should use a fair quantity of teazle, when you would be gratified with the results. British-bird fanciers on no account miss having this valuable seed for their stock, and I can recommend its liberal use in your stock mixture. I use a fourth part in both my Linnet and Finch mixtures, only remember to put it through your sieve two or three times before mixing.

The usefulness of hemp seed in the dietary of our birds we cannot deny, but more care needs to be taken in regard to the quantity given, it being rich in oil. It is grown extensively in Europe and America. Its many commercial uses I will not go into. When you buy it, be sure and have it ripe; avoid the green seed, or trouble is sure to follow its use. I am no lover of crushed hemp, and I attribute to its use, if it could only be traced, the loss of many a would-be prize winner.

Flax, or linseed, well-known enough, also needs care in using, especially for Canaries. In the case of British birds it is essential. Its properties are of a laxative, oily nature. For Canaries, given through their moult with their soft food, it is really fresh crushed, and is undoubtedly a grand help and a fine "conditioner."

It is cultivated throughout the whole of Europe, and in many parts of America. Dutch flax, or linseed, is the best to buy. Linnets, Siskins, Redpolls, and Twites do not require so much as do the larger kinds of Finches.

A "Pick-me-up" for Goldies.

Niger is yet another seed that requires care, and must not be liberally used unless it is in the case of hens that you are preparing for breeding, say from January to March. For British birds I certainly recommend it; as a "pick-me-up" for Master Goldie if he is a bit "off." In Finch mixtures I use a sixteenth part of the whole. Like all the aforesaid seeds, there are good, bad, and indifferent kinds, so when buying see that the seed is coal-black in colour and shiny. It is better bought fresh. (Taste it and see that it is sweet.) India is its home.

Maw seed is so well-known that I hardly need describe its uses, but just a few words on the component parts. It contains nearly equal proportions of water, carbo-hydrates, albumenoids, a bigger amount of sweet oil, and a smaller of ash, which make it very stimulating. It can be used fairly liberally all the year round. Maw seed cake is very good, and is used in some parts similarly to caraway seed cake.

Gold of pleasure is really a recent addition to our birds' bill of fare. In many respects it resembles maw seed in its properties. It contains rather a bigger amount of bland oil. Its too generous use will produce the opposite effect to what would be obtained if the seed were properly administered. Its appearance is very like that of cress seed, only it is rather larger and rounder. It is grown in France, Germany and Holland, and one of its uses is for food, such as salad oil. For British birds a pinch given two or three times a week will be found beneficial.

Charlock is one of Nature's wild seeds, and if mixed with black rape equal parts can be given with every advantage, instead of all black rape in your Finch mixture. But by no means must it be given alone, as it is too relaxing.

Dandelion and thistle I will mention together, both being expensive. They are well-known as wonderful "conditioners" for our British birds. I prefer giving them separately and not in stock feed.

Lettuce is much cheaper, and can be given with advantage to Canaries and British birds on the same lines as gold of pleasure. It acts as a cleanser to the bowels.

Sunflower for British-bird men is an excellent "conditioner" for moulting out their larger species. Hang up a green head in your cage or aviary, and its effects are lasting. I favour the small striped grey dry seed, and include a sixteenth part in my stock mixture.

The Discussion.

This concluded the lecture. Mr. Gardner opened the discussion with: What was Mr. Lugg's opinion of soaked rape seed?—Soaked rape seed is a grand thing if soaked overnight and then dried before using and mixed with soft food or given separately. The soaking has the effect of starting germination, and so making it easy of digestion.

Do you agree with the use of sprouting rape?—Yes, if it is allowed to attain the height of about an inch; then cut and used more as a vegetable. But I advise the changing of the water during the course of growing, as it gets rank, and smells very bad. If it is grown in soil (which takes longer), cut and give like cress.

How do you advise rape seed to be stocked?—In a cool, dry state, and turned over occasionally to prevent weavels and germination taking place, caused through both heat and damp.

Do you also hold with soaking canary and hemp?—Canary, yes; hemp, no.

Why don't you like crushed hemp?—Crushed hemp, in my opinion, is an abomination. Crushed and allowed to stand releases the poison contained in the husk or shell, which impregnates the kernel, and here you have the root of the evil.—Don't you like it fresh-crushed and given?—I am no lover of it, even then, unless I can get the kernel only, abstracting all the husks.

Are you in favour of shepherd's purse?—By all means. Get as much as you can; bunch it together, and give it occasionally to both Canaries and British birds. The stalks will have no ill-effects.

Are there not two kinds of plantain?—Yes. The seeds are much alike. The rats'-tail variety, I believe, is the one you can now buy somewhat like dandelion and thistle—from most of our corn merchants, but it should cost considerably less.

Many more questions and answers were given, but as time was passing, the Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Lugg for the enjoyable evening he had provided; this was duly seconded and carried with applause. Mr. Gardner remarked that he had heard many lectures, but this was one we could all appreciate, for Mr. Lugg had used no technical hard names or hard-to-grasp words. Samples of different seeds were then placed on the table for inspection, and many explanations given.

The Great L.C.B.A. Horticultural Hall Show.

A Magnificent All-Round Success.

The London Cage Bird Association at its 22nd Annual Exhibition upset all past records in every Department. There was a splendid entry, a wonderful attendance of visitors and fanciers, and never a hitch of any description.

The London Cage Bird Association held a remarkably successful show on Friday, Saturday, and Monday last, Nov. 25, 26, and 28, in the Horticultural Hall, Westminster, S.W. It was the twenty-second annual event, and the Association issued a splendidly attractive schedule, the prize money being on a liberal scale, and the list of special prizes an excellent one. A grand entry of 2,014 was the result, this constituting a record for the shows of the L.C.B.A., beating last year's total by a small margin, which, however, was very much larger than appeared on paper, for all the 2,014 were actual competitive entries, no dealers' birds (on the stalls) being included in the stock classes, as was the case at the last fixture. There would, we believe, have been an even greater response but for the unfortunate situation with regard to the Cage Bird Union and its members, for we heard of several teams in the Hybrid, British, and Foreign sections which were absent owing to the show not being held under C.B.U. rules, and no doubt the Canary section was affected in the same way. Considering this adverse circumstance, the L.C.B.A. certainly achieved a triumph.

The Good Ship's Crew.

The officials are a splendidly enthusiastic body of fanciers, and in Mr. R. L. Crisp they possess a really ideal President, a bird-lover to the core, one of the hardest of workers, always urbane and tactful, and with the happy gift of ingratiating himself into the good graces of all classes of bird-keepers. Mr. Crisp is indeed deservedly popular, and it is no matter for surprise that the Association should flourish while he is at the helm. In their show managers, Messrs. W. H. Mugford and J. Tyson, also, the society are more than ordinarily favoured, for these gentlemen cheerfully sacrifice many hours—days, rather—of valuable time in the interests of the show. They are well fitted to run "in double harness," that old experienced warhorse Mr. Tyson finding a worthy colleague in his younger mettlesome friend, Mr. Mugford. We heard that the latter (partly owing to the late entry nuisance) had found it necessary to devote several nights to work instead of slumber, but both gentlemen looked very cheerful and perky, the admirable success which crowned their labours no doubt supplying the needful stimulant. We tender them our congratulations on a grand exhibition.

In their fellow members and the committee they found many willing helpers, and the arrangements, the staging, the feeding, the unpacking, and repacking at the close, were all accomplished in a style to which no exception could be taken, even by the most critical. The expeditious way in which the huge hall was cleared on the Monday evening was an eye-opener, and once again proved that "system" is a trump-card. We noticed, working like niggers, Messrs. Attridge, Angear, Boxall, Cook, Dickinson, Dewhurst, Easterling, French, Franz, Harper, Knight, Lazarus, Mooney, Mitchell, Miller, Norris, Peverall, Penton, Percival, Rocul, Richardson, Randall, H. Smith, F. Smith, Soper, Shepherd, Turner, Townsend, Tringham, Wright, and Yeo, while two of Mr. Tyson's sons, with Master Mugford and Master Wright, lent assistance, and several visitors could not resist the temptation to "join in the fray," notably, Messrs. F. W. Barnett (Fakenham), Elsmore (Yeovil), T. Taylor (Gateshead), H. H. Towers (Shipley), R. J. Pretty, and R. J. Watts (Watford) a goodly list, though no doubt there were other helpers who escaped our notice.

The birds throughout were fed upon seeds and foods supplied by that well-known London firm Messrs. Frower and Co. And in the victualling dept. a special word is due to Mr. J. Dewhurst, who fed the insectivorous and other birds in a very thorough and skilful manner, a task for which his lengthy and extremely varied experience with all kinds of birds well fits him. The exhibits were very comfortably staged, the Horticultural Hall being just about the "last word" in excellence of light, spaciousness, and comfort—it well justifies the society's description as the "finest hall in the kingdom.

Many New Records.

The attendance created another record. Both on the Friday and the Saturday the takings at the gate set up new figures, and as visitors were equally numerous on the Monday, it is expected that the receipts from this source will be well over £100! And the sales of catalogues actually brought in another £51 odd—record number three! To pass on to record number four, this was set up by the sales, which come to the large sum of £217 18s. The highest price paid was £35 for the winner in the young Crest cl. (Mr. Martin's); and other Crests realised £5, £12 10s., and £7 10—to say nothing of minor items, and a "parcel" secured by one buyer which amounted to £13 5s. The rare Temminck's Robin fetched £10; several Yorks and Norwich went for £5 each (including one unnoticed Yorkie), and many changed hands at slightly smaller prices; pair Gouldians £3; white Sparrow, £3 3s.; the first prize Tanager £4 15s.; Bullfinch £2 10s.; Yellowhammer £2 2s.; Thrush £2; while a remarkable number of the Roller Canaries out of the £2 selling class found purchasers. Many titled personages were amongst the buyers, including Lady Pilkington, Lord William Cecil, and Sir W. Eden; and many notabilities paid a visit to the exhibition.

Busy Stall Holders.

The stalls of seeds, foods, accessories, etc., made an excellent and interesting feature of the show, and the attendants there-at seemed to be doing good business with the numerous visitors and fanciers. Amongst the firms represented whose names have become household words with keepers of birds for the splendid quality of the goods they supply, were Messrs. J. Carter and Co., Hyde and Co., Spratts Patent, Ltd., and Trower and Co., all of whom made exceptionally fine displays of the seeds, foods, and specialities associated with their names. Mr. Dawson, the well-known naturalist, of Sloane-street, had a fine stand of birds, etc.; Messrs. Palmer and Son, of Selater-street, a huge exhibit of their well-known cages and appliances, distinguished by excellence of workmanship and remarkably moderate prices. The International Patents Company showed the "King" anti-mite perch, a most practical appliance, adaptable to all kinds of cages; and the H.D.S. Syndicate, Ltd., had a handsome stand demonstrating the utility of their "Ever-ready" movable bracket for hanging cages, etc., in windows, or on walls, at will. CAGE BIRDS staff, we may be permitted to mention, also secured its quota of attention, the demand for our practical handbooks on bird-keeping, picture postcards, etc., being very brisk and gratifying.

The opening morning saw the weather fine and bright, and in the splendidly-lighted hall the judging was carried out under the best possible conditions. The gentlemen officiating were Messrs. H. D. Astley (Foreign), H. W. Battye (Yorks.), R. L. Crisp (part of the Crests, deputising for Mr. J. S. Clarke), J. F. Dewar (Hybrids and British Hardbills), M. Jacquemin, F. A. Lester, J. Lyons, and C. Rocul (Rollers), J. Robson (Borders, Clins., Lancs., Lizards, etc., and part of the Crests), J. H. Rye (Norwich), and A. Silver (Brit. Insectivorous). The placing of the birds in one or two of the sections seemed to arouse a "surprised feeling," so to speak, amongst exhibitors, but with a few rather glaring exceptions we saw nothing in the awards at which one could legitimately cavil, or write down as an absolute mistake—genuine differences of opinion there must ever be.

The Crests and Crestbreds.

The Crests and Crestbreds were a wonderfully good lot, both in respect of numbers and quality. Most of the foremost breeders and exhibitors put down teams, so that competition was exceptionally keen. The awards were well split up, the South Country and Midland fanciers holding their own with the men from the North. No doubt the outstanding bird was the young Crestbred staged by Mr. J. L. Martin, which has already distinguished itself this season at Newcastle, Plymouth, and other shows. An interesting controversy raged around the sex of this bird. The owner considers it a hen, and, we heard, had a cock bird in his eye for its mate next season; several other well-known fanciers, too, thought it of the feminine persuasion, but others, again, felt sure it was a cock. Among the latter was Mr. F. W. Barnett, the noted breeder. Anyway, cock or hen, it so captivated a well-known London fancier that he planked down the catalogue price, £35, so that Mr. Martin and the Tyneside lose a notable bird. A regular "buying mania" seemed to set in, and in quick succession birds at £12 10s., £15, £7 10s., and a lot totalling £13 5s. found new owners, all, by the way, being London Crest fanciers. We believe that all Mr. T. Taylor's (Gateshead) team got claimed, with three solitary exceptions! There'll be some "vacant chairs" on the Tyneside, now! Let's hope the birds won't be missed. We noticed a marvellous beaded buff Crestbred standing cardless (through being blind); and Mr. Brotherton (who ought to know better, eh?) got a "yellow" Crestbred wrong-classed for being a buff. Mr. J. S. Clarke was to have officiated, along with Mr. Robson, as judge of this section, but he failed to put in an appearance, telegraphing on the morning of the show that he was detained in Switzerland. So Mr. R. L. Crisp stepped into the breach, and the awards of Messrs. Crisp and Robson met with very little adverse criticism. The latter took the odd, and the former the even numbers up to class 14, Mr. Crisp doing all the remaining classes.

CL. BODY BUFF (6): 1, Ley, the noted grizzle crest, a real grand bird, very big spread, well radiated, excellent texture; 2, Tyson, dk. crest, not quite the expanse of leader, but thickly built, of nice leafy feather, grand shape and droop; 3, Taylor, a hen amongst the cocks, and holds her own, too, large, neat, symmetrical headpiece, lovely broad feather, thick and well drooped, claimed at catalogue price £12 10s.; 4, vhc, Franz, two splendid birds, leader fine grizzle crest, very neat and shapely, nice droop; hc, King. A.O.V. BUFF (6): 1, Taylor, variegated body, topped by a rare good crest, wide spread, well centred (though a trifle open hereabouts), thickly built and nicely drooped; 2, Bale, wing-mkd. dk., well built body, good expanse of crest, made up of excellent leafy feather, inclined to be weak at one side, but a really fine bird; 3, King, almost green, heavily built, good big crest, nice veiny feather, gutters a little one side; 4, Oldaker, has an excellent headpiece for radiation, texture, and neatness; vhc, Sadd, grand crest, slightly oblong; hc, Lilley. BUFF HEN (17), a stinging class, rightly headed by: 1, Ley, magnificent hen, lovely expansive crest, well centred, very dense, drooped to perfection, wonderfully leafy feather, a few still in "pipe" at centre; 2, Taylor, almost green, another charming hen, great spread of crest, good centre, very veiny and neat in feather, a strapping bird, claimed at £15, catalogue price; 3, Mills, wing-mkd. dk, big fine hen, well clothed, carries a splendid crest, which excels in frontal and droop; 4, Dobson and Son, not the largest bodied, but wonderfully good in crest properties, very round and neat, nicely centred, grand droop; vhc, Evins Bros., very fine hen, too; hc, Broad; c, Gibbons. BUFF C.B., GREEN, ETC. (12): 1, Franz, green, rare body and skull, wonderfully well thatched with the right quality feather, a move up from the Nottingham Show decision; 2, Lazarus, very similar stamp of bird, massive body, wide cushion skull, fine feather properties; 3, Gale, almost green, good body carries a wealth of feather, very nice dome skull, but looks inferior to 4, Dobson and Son, heavily variegated, wonderfully wide, well-clothed skull, grandly lashed, good entrance, fine built body; vhc, Tyson; hc, Taylor; c, Harrison; all the "carded division" looked to be grand birds; so, too, did No. 2, Mills, though, apparently, out of condition. A.O.V. BUFF (10): 1, Ley, a clinker, good body, tremendous width of skull, splendid entrance and lashing, and a grand turnback of leafy feather, perhaps a shade deficient in cushion, but hard to find fault with, a rise in the scale since Nottingham; 2, King, lightly variegated, remarkable skull properties, grand width and rise, rare good feather; 3, Franz, grizzled on wing, lovely wide dome skull, very fine quality of feather, few "pens" in head yet, thick-set body, good one; 4, Tyson, heavily variegated, splendid head, good lashing and turn-back, grand leafy feather; vhc, Taylor; hc, Mrs. Litchfield; c, Bale. No. 5, Harrison, mkd. "blind," about the best headed Crestbred in the show, marvellously wide, well-cushioned head, grandly lashed, hard lines. BUFF HEN (9): 1, Bewick, the celebrated "Duchess," a really wonderful green, scores well in every property, grand skull and feather; 2, 3, Lazarus, lightly variegated head mkd., respectively, two winning good birds, very massive frames, grand heads, heaps of feather, latter wonderfully well browed; 4, Martin, grandly feathered variegated, good body, excellent dome skull; vhc, Tyson; hc, Ley; c, King. YELL. CREST (8): 1, Mrs. Crow, green, very good crest, neat, well centred, nicely ribbed feather, ruffles through rage wires, which are too wide; 2, Ley, cl. body grey, very near thing with winner, fine bird all round, trifle faulty at back of crest; 3, King, very neat wing-mkd., good headpiece, lovely quality; 4, Shearman, nice heavily variegated, shapely crest; vhc, Evins Bros.; hc, Mrs. Litchfield; c, Culver and Son. HEN (6): 1, Shearman, wing and tail mkd., good sized, very neat crest, lovely feather; 2, Faux, also a really smart bird for a yell., trifle weak at side of crest, good body; 3, Mrs. Litchfield, "Queenie," runs 2nd very hard, and some preferred her, big spread of crest, good feather texture, little flat; 4, Ley, very good and neat, hot on the trail of leaders; vhc, King; hc, Broad. YELL. C.-B. (8): 1, Brotherton, splendid thick-set body, very wide, well domed skull, lovely feather properties, appropriately named "Model"; 2, Mrs. Crow, almost green, rare good cushion head, fine entrance and lashing, appears to carry a wealth of feather; 3, Linder, not quite the same texture of feather, but a grand bird for body and skull properties; 4, Watcham, pressed hard, lovely clear, exceptionally good head and cushion; vhc, Lazarus; hc, King; c, Mrs. Litchfield. HEN (5): 1, Mrs. Crow, lovely green, very broad feather, excellent body and skull; 2, Franz, better browing than winner, good build and wide, rising skull, close up; 3, King, trifle narrower in entrance, fine cushion and feather; 4, Ley, very dull when we saw her, great skull properties, apparently a real good one; vhc, Evins Bros. BUFF CREST, 1910 (15), and a wonderful lot, too: 1, Martin, the noted wing-mkd. dk., one of the best youngsters ever seen, good upstanding bird, wonderful thick-set body, topped by marvellous crest for density and size, round as a florin and built up of exceptionally wide, leafy feather, claimed at catalogue price £35, not dear, either, the Plymouth, Newcastle, etc., winner; 2, Dobson and Son, quite overshadowed here, but a grand youngster nevertheless, splendid frame, very large, finely shaped and drooped crest, excellent feather; 3, Lazarus, lovely green, crest well radiated, large, and of grand leafy texture, fine body; 4, Shearman, grand spreading headpiece, trifle flatter than leaders', well built up of good feather; vhc, he, Greenwood and Burson, two splendid all-round birds, leader a shade open at centre; c, Taylor. C.-B., 1910 (14): 1, 4, Tyson, leader almost green, very thick-set, big body, fine neck and head, wonderful entrance and cushion, rare lot of broad, veiny head feather, 4th another grand skulled youngster; 2, Dobson and Son, varieg., wonderful texture of feather, great width of skull, lashed to perfection and nicely domed; 3, Greenwood and Burson, simply smothered in feather of real good quality, nice dome and browing, perhaps hardly so bold in head and neck as the leaders; vhc, Bale, the most striking headpiece in the class, marvellous width of skull and entrance, lovely rise, wealth of silky feather, not so wide and leafy, however, as on those above it, very massive body, the position of this bird gave rise to some controversy, on its "face value" it being worthy of a higher place; hc, Lazarus; c, Bewick. YELL. CREST, 1910 (8): 1, Evins Bros., mkd. wings and tail, very nice, neat crest, lovely quality; 2, Dobson and Son, mkd. wings, also exceptionally good quality, very decent spread of crest, trifle shield-shaped; 3, King, well built, good sized crest, somewhat weak one side; 4, Faux, also a good crest for a yell., nice texture, shorter at frontal; vhc, Shearman; hc, Ley; c, Sadd. No. 3, Brotherton, "wrong-classed" as a buff. YELL., C.-B., 1910 (6): 1, Ley, head mkd., real beauty, fine body and head, nice rise, well clothed, lovely quality; 2, 4, Evins Bros., varieg. and almost green, leader a grand bird for head and feather properties, splendid cushion and lashing; 3, Mason, varieg., good body, splendid wide head, well browed; vhc, King; hc, Mrs. Litchfield. NOVICE CLASSES—CREST A.V. (9): 1, 2, vhc, Guy, smashing good team for a novice, leader real beauty, massive body, crest well over beak end, large, beautifully radiated and drooped, exceptionally neat, 2nd fine hen, grand veiny feather; 3, Braund, also apparently a hen, very good, neat, dense headpiece, fine size and shape; 4, Pickard, wing mkd., rare good body and headpiece, fine quality, trifle loose at centre when we saw it; hc, c, not given in catalogue. C.-B. (10): 1, Guy, almost green, wonderfully good all-round bird, big body, very wide cushion head, wealth of feather, worthy companion to the Crest; 2, vhc, Morriss, variegated, grand bird for texture of feather, splendid body and skull, well lashed; 3, 4, Gabriel, two romping good birds, massive frames, fine heads, nice lot of broad feather; hc, Mills; c, Pickard.

The Yorkshire Classes.

As usual the Yorkshires formed a big section of the exhibition, and very attractive they all looked ranged at the top of the staging running the whole length of the hall. The quality was well up to the high standard of excellence seen at shows in the Metropolis recently, and although some Northern exhibitors gathered in a few of the plums, it was done with birds evidently selected with great care for the occasion, for now when North meets South it is by no means the one-sided battle it was in the old days. Mr. Rennie's team included two of the best unflighted birds (a yellow and buff) seen out this season. So closely do they run each other that it is only a question of colour that places the yellow on top. Mr. Shackleton sent down some grand birds and secured first and second in the clear class with two clinking yellows. Other notable birds were staged by Messrs. Crisp, Pattrick, H. Knight, Thomas, Rorke, Ogden Bros., Towers, Dykes, etc. The entries were fairly good in the novice section, and some really typical birds were put down.

YORKS. CL., ETC., YELL. CK. (14): 1, 2, Shackleton, wonderful length, grand head, good shoulders and back, splendid wings, 2nd very close up, fine long flights, good tail, well up on legs, excels in condition and finish; 3, Pattrick, good back, not quite the length of winners, grand position and flights; 4, Rennie, big, upstanding spec., good head and neck, beautifully drawn; vhc, Crisp; hc, Thomas; c, Parrott. BUFF (9): 1, Shackleton, slim type, wonderful length, grand head, beautifully rounded back and front, long flights and tail; 2, Parrott, not quite so long, but wonderful quality and condition, good head, perfect wings, very taking; 3, Rennie, lovely spec., beautifully rounded, grand type, perfect back and wings; 4, Beguey, another real good one, but just a shade unsteady, lovely quality; vhc, Binns; hc, Easterling; c, Knight. YELL. HEN (16): 1, Knight, smart lady, good length, nice position, free neck on good shoulders, perfect wings and tail; 2, Shackleton, rare length for a lassie, perfect head and neck, grand position, wings, and tail, red hot col.; 3, Forse and Son, slim and smart, full of "go," without wildness, lovely contour, beautifully drawn; 4, Whittome, A1 position, good head, nicely drawn, capital wings and tail; vhc, c, Rennie; hc, Pattrick. BUFF (17): 1, Thomas, a little gem for position, style, shape, and feather, plenty of nerve, well up on leg; 2, Shackleton, very close up, lovely head and neck, grand shoulders, back, and wings, neat tail; 3, Crisp, sweet spec., grand type, beautifully drawn, full of quality, beaten only in col.; 4, Pattrick, grand, big bird, wee shade stouter, fine back, in rare condition; vhc, Rennie; hc, Rorke; c, Mrs. Owen. A.V., 1910 (30): 1, 2, Rennie, 1st red hot one, wonderful length, well up on leg, beautiful contour, sweet head, grand shoulders, good first, 2nd grand bull, beautifully rounded, splendid position, A1 quality; 3, Whittome, slim build, good head and neck, fine position; 4, Knight, another buff, good size, nicely rounded, lovely quality; vhc, Crisp; hc, Jeffries; c, Mabey. CINN. TKD. YELL. (10): 1, Ogden Bros., red hot spec., good position, lovely type, fine shoulders, grand wings; 2, Smith, wee shade smaller, slim type, stands well, nicely drawn, A1 feather; 3, Dykes, fine, long, slim bird, beautifully drawn, nice pipe tail; 4, Hodgson, smart, plenty of leg, good head, grand col.; vhc, Knight; hc, Cooper; c, Drake and Son. BUFF (7) 1, Ogden Bros., wee shade stout, but grand length, good head and neck, well filled back, lovely wings and tail, A1 quality; 2, Towers, grand length, beautifully rounded, good shoulders, close whip tail; 3, Dykes, smart, fine quality, good head and free neck; 4, Cooper, fine length of wing, stands well, nice quality; vhc, Drake and Son. YELL. HEN (10): 1, Towers, fine long bird, lovely type, grand position, beautifully rounded front, magnificent quality; 2, hc, Cooper, smart bird, nice contour, good head, capital legs and tail; 3, Dykes, grand head for style and type, beautifully drawn, A1 quality, beaten only on head points; 4, Smith, neat, well finished spec, lovely back, nice close tail; vhc, Ogden; hc, Cooper; c, Rennie. BUFF (8): 1, Towers, grand bird for position, style, and finish, perfect head, beautifully rounded body, A1 wing and tail; 2, Hurst, grand type, good position, capital shoulders, lovely quality feather; 3, Pattrick, wee shade smaller, but equally as good otherwise, beautifully finished, in pure form; 4, Ogden, smart lassie, grand position, tip-top quality; vhc, Rennie; hc, Drake and Son; c, Knight. VARIEG. YELL. (16): 1, Shackleton, fine slashing bird, grand position, beautifully drawn, good head, neck, back, wings, and tail, real topper; 2, Cook, fine bold spec., stands well, grand head, good shoulders, lovely wings; 3, Rorke, grand length, A1 position, beautifully rounded, in fine form; 4, Dykes, very smart, nice head on a free neck, set on good shoulders, hot col.; vhc, Mabey; hc, Sutcliffe; c, Hodgson. BUFF (13): 1, Ogden, smart, upstanding bird, beautiful type, lovely back and wings, well up on legs; 2, Crisp, another smart spec., wee shade stouter, but beautifully rounded, lovely head, perfect wings and tail; 3, Towers, hot col., stands well, very sleek, well filled throughout, grand quality; 4, Dykes, fine, big spec., fine head, well rounded front, good back; vhc, Thomas; hc, Shackleton. VARIEG. YELL. HEN (13): 1, 3, Shackleton, 1st very smart, lovely type, well mkd., good front and back, A1 wings, 3rd long, bold bird, grand length of wings, good head and neck; 2, Sutcliffe, very slim and neat, but good size, beautifully moulded, grand feather, must have pressed; 4, Dykes, smart, lovely quality, grand back, A1 feather; vhc, Ogden; hc, Thomas. The Norwich Classes.

The Norwich classes were fairly well filled, and many winners at previous shows contended once more for premier honours. In this matter, to the surprise of most of the "knowing ones," Mr. T. Irons' grand buff had to be contented with a fourth position. He received far more notice during the show than the winner, although he, too, is undoubtedly a good one. Mr. Baker (from Cowes) had out an exceptionally fine lot, including last year's winner, the ticked buff; his yellows appeared to us to be particularly typical and full of quality. Other exhibitors of note were Messrs. Pickering and Wright (with two lovely yellow hens), Gill and Pethick, Humphries, Thomas, Keech, Holder, etc. Some good birds were to be found in the novice section, which has undoubtedly advanced in merit this season, particularly in yellows.

NOR. CL. YELL. (12): 1, vhc, Gill and Pethick, grand shape, good full head and neck, capital wedge shaped body, hot col.; 2, hc, Baker, grand bird, good head and front, best of feather, fine wings and tail; 3, Rippon, bonny bird, good type, beautifully rounded, capital colour and condition; 4, Thomas, big bold bird, capital type; c, Midgley. BUFF (14) 1, Humphries, bonny bird, capital type, nice head, back, and chest, tip top condition; 2, Oliver, good one, nice quality, fine head, shade weak in wing carriage; 3, Baker, big bird, good body properties, nice wings and tail; 4, Irons, real good one, grand type, splendid head, beautifully rounded back, A1 condition, Wimbledon winner, some made first. TKD. YELL. (10): 1, Humphries, grand bodied bird of good col. and quality, wee bit weak in head; 2, Midgley, lovely type, grand head and neck, nice wedge shape, magnificent quality, sound col.; 3, Gill and Pethick, shade small, good col., nice feather; 4, Ellis, big, bold bird, nice full head and neck, sound col. and quality; vhc, Irons; hc, Keech; c, Morris. BUFF (10): 1, Baker, the cream on top once more, a beauty, hard to find fault with; 2, Rennie, rattling good variegated, topper for stock purposes, quickly claimed; 3, Humphries, head and wing mkd. bird of rare type, grand head and body, wee bit brown; 4, Morris, big, bold bird, rare size, good wings and tail; vhc, Keech; hc, Gill and Pethick; c, Bullen. YELL. HEN (14): 1, 2, Pickering and Wright, 1st small lady, grand type, nice full head, very short all over, 2nd another fine one, just a shade smaller, but good type and well furnished; 3, Irons, good bold bird, we liked equally as well, grand head, full front, A1 feather; 4, Keech, very neat, lovely type,

All Other Canary Classes.

Borders were a smart lot, and as typical as any seen in the Metropolis this season. Mr. Simpson, from far Fort William, still patronises Southern shows, and to-day gave admirers of the dainty little ones another opportunity of seeing what some of the Northern birds are like. But the South is steadily creeping up, and good birds were staged by Messrs. McGuffie, Smith, Owen, Mrs. Thynne, and others.

The Dutch Frill classes were mainly composed of old birds, the two youngsters exhibited coming from the same aviary. Much cannot be said respecting the London Fancies, as there still seems to be the old difficulty of getting the clearness of body, although Mr. Tilby's winner gets fairly close to the desired goal. The Cinnamons made two fair classes, but the situation was dominated by Mr. Godley, who took the bulk of the prizes.

The Lancashires were a grand lot, with plenty of size, length of side, and quality of feather. The Lizards were particularly even, and must have needed some sorting out. Mr. Rukin did well. Other well-known exhibitors represented were Messrs. Oliver, Hampshire, Dewsnap, Ollerenshaw, Barnes, etc.

DUTCH FRILL CK. (4): 1, 4, Mrs. Young, rare size and position, splendid frill and mantle; 2, Minty, big, bold yell., grand position, full of feather, splendid front; 3, Brooks, another good one, fine size, splendid frill, nice full mantle. HEN (6): 1, Brooks, grand size, good shape, full of feather of lovely quality, beautifully frilled; 2, Minty, mkd. bird of rare size and shape, splendid frill and mantle; 3, vhc, hc, Young, grand bird, rare size and shape, feather of grand quality. YOUNG FRILL (3): 1, 2, Mrs. Young, two fine birds, capital size, the leader a foul green, will make a stormer, wonderful frill of grand quality.

LOND. FCY. (7): 1, 2, 4, vhc, Filby, 1st small and shapely, grand col. and quality, nice wings and tail, 2nd nice size and shape, grand cap and ground col., good wings; 3, hc, Tyson, not quite so clear in body, nice size and col.; c, Malcolm. BORD. FCY., CL., ETC., YELL. CK. (10): 1, Wilson, grand, well filled bird, nice head, lovely wings and tail, A1 quality; 2, Smith, smart bird, good type, grand feather, nicely balanced, wee bit open at back; 3, Simpson, fine bird, lovely shape and quality, perfect wings; 4, Dixon, little beauty for type and position, A1 quality; vhc, Mrs. Thynne; hc, Miss Robinson; c, Owen. HEN (5): 1, 2, Wilson, very smart hens, grand typical birds, lovely wings, nice free style and quality of feather; 3, Simpson, grand col., nice type and condition, free, moves well; 4, Smith, fine position, good wings and tail, beaten only in head qualities; vhc, Lathbury. BUFF CK. (9): 1, Wilson, grand type, beautifully moulded, lovely head, well braced wings, close tail; 2, Dixon, smart bird, grand col., nicely rounded, A1 quality, close up; 3, Owen, good type, nice position, grand wings; 4, McGuffie, head tkd. bird of grand position and shape; vhc, Mrs. Thynne; hc, Richard; c, Smith. HEN (5): 1, McGuffie, lovely type, good head, well braced wings, beautifully moulded; 2, Simpson, wee shade flat on back, but in lovely condition; 3, Malcolm, nice type, good head and back, capital wings; 4, Richard, neat but hardly the finish of winner, lovely head; vhc, Owen. EVEN MKD. (5): 1, Meekley, grand yell., smart bird, capital eyes and wings, old winner; 2, Mrs. Maher, good cinn. mkd., capital markings, nice type, wants tubbing. UNEVEN (15): 1, Wilson, grand bird of good size and position, beautifully rounded, lovely quality of feather; 2, vhc, Owen, smart yellow, nicely drawn, lovely type, grand col. and quality; 3, Dixon, another good yellow, nice size and position, A1 condition; 4, Mrs. Thynne, smart buff, nice quality; hc, Jenkins; c, Richard. GREEN, ETC. The Roller Canaries.

The British Roller Canary Club show has again been held in conjunction with the London C.B.A.'s exhibition, and has proved one of the most successful, we think, ever held in London. All classes were well represented and patronised, especially class 110, Novice Young Birds which had almost a record entrance (59 birds) for a specialist clubs. The judges, Messrs. Lester, Roehl, Lyons, and Jacquemin, must have had a hard task in listening patiently to all the various tours, and they evidently went through their duties in a thorough business-like manner. This was plainly evidenced by all the exhibitors being satisfied with their decisions. Great credit must also be given to Mr. Norris, the worthy secretary, who had the working of this club show almost entirely in his own hands. The little steward, Master Harold Roehl, gave every satisfaction to the judges. The Roller Club appears to have many very useful helpers. We noticed, after the closing of the show at 6 p.m., how busy and careful they were in packing up and dispatching the birds, so that by 9 o'clock not a single Roller was left in the hall. We hope that all these birds, after having been so thoroughly cared for, have arrived safely to their owners.

Messrs. Lyons' and Roehl's Classes.

CHAMP. YOUNG BIRDS (43): 1, F. E. Fisher, holl roll 10, holl bell 7, bass roll 6, schockel roll 8, flute 5, water gluck 7, bell tour 1, bell roll 2, gen. eff. 10, one off for slight aufzug, total 56 pts.; the breeder of this bird was much congratulated, his being the best bird out of such a large number; 2, Dr. A. E. Read, holl roll 12, holl bell 6, bass roll 6, schockel 7, flute 5, water roll 6, bell roll 2, bell tour 1, gen. eff. 9, 2 off for hard aufzug, 52 points; 3, Dr. A. E. Netherwood.

The Hybrid Section.

Mule and Hybrid classes are always interesting to look over, and though the L.C.B.A. show did not reveal any absolute novelties, yet the crosses on view were fairly representative of the Hybrid breeders' art, and in many instances of high merit. The Redpoll-Bullie staged by Mr. Dann (from 'Bonnie Scotland") was perhaps the gem of the collection. It is an excellent example of the cross. A curious circumstance was the entire absence of Canary-Bullfinches, of which at London shows we generally see a choice collection. Even Mr. Shellam's specimen was missing from amongst his team; and his clear Greenfinch Mule was another notable absentee. The wording of the classes might well be improved. The first class read: "Clear or even-mkd." This threw the ticked birds into the variegated class, to the obvious handicap of the heavily-marked birds, which, maybe, had its effect upon the entry. We noticed, by the way, that quite a number of "crack" Mules appear to have changed hands recently, and are doing well for their new owners. The old champion Clear Goldie (late Colton and John Williams) continues to win, though he himself has seen more than one generation of winning Mules come and go. He is just about qualified for an "old age pension." A said-to-be clear Greenie-Canary got a "wrong class" ticket, the judge considering it simply a Canary; and a "hybrid" caught wild turned out to be a Black-headed (American) Siskin. The judge, however, failed to put "w.c." against a Siberian Goldfinch entered in the pair class, this class being restricted to British birds. Mr. J. F. Dewar placed the cards, and handled the section with conspicuous ability.

CLEAR OR EVEN-MKD. (5): 1, Bond, the well-known clear Goldie, must surely now be in his "teens," how many firsts has he annexed in his long career, we wonder? looking very fit, though less tight and nimble than we remember him long years ago; 2, Coffey, six-pointed Goldie, bonny bird, big, shapely, nice quality, trifle heavy in markings; 3, Dixon, neat and pretty 6-pointed jonque, fair size, very hot colour and silky feather; 4, Lamb, very nice 4-pointed, if a little bigger would take beating; "wrong class." Lawson and Burmison, said to be a clear Greenie-Can., but looked to us just a plain, everyday Canary. VARIEG., ETC., GOLD-CAN. (11): 1, vhc, Longden, eye-tkd., a really beautiful Mule, excellent size, shape, and style, charming col. and quality, polished like silk, we seem to remember his face behind a first-prize card at the Palace, should do well for his new owner, undoubtedly an improved bird; 2, 4, Callear, both wing-mkd. birds, and look like twins, the former is a bit the best for colour, and has the pull in lightness of markings, otherwise it would be hard to tell t'other from which, two very nice Mules, staged in grand form; 3, Bond, uneven jonque, rare-sized shapely bird, red-hot col., grand blaze, in splendid condition, must have run 2nd a tight race; hc, Edwards; c, Mortlock. A.O.V. VARIEG. (3): 1, Longden, even wing mkd. Linnet-Can., somewhat of a rarity, splendid size and shape, very stylish, pale col., pity it is not a cock; Nos. 2 and 3 absent. DK. GOLD-CAN. (9): 1, Coffey, nice size, rather slim in build, very hot, sound col., beautifully mkd. and polished; 2, Longden, looks like a youngster, not yet at his best, bit "brassy" in the face, good one for size and shape, rare quality and markings; 3, Hullen, smart buff, good quality, full of col., splendid flush face; 4, hc, McLean, very good big bird, nice condition, loses a trifle in col.; vhc, Kitchener, fine, hot-coloured jonque, bit twisted, or rough, at throat; c, Ayling. DK. LINNET-CAN. (13): 1, 3, Shellam, two magnificent specimens, leader unquestionably about the best of its kind out, a wonderful jonque, 3rd almost equal, hardly so neat and wax-like in plumage, we fancy we have seen this couple before, like the eye-mkd. Goldie they have migrated from Scotland to gallant little Wales; 2, hc, Morton, good buff, excellent size, stoutly built, well mkd., nice col., very trim all over; hc, a grand jonque, will do better than this later; 4, Ramsden, grandly built, teeming with col. and quality, very nice exhibit; vhc, c, Pope, former a strapping big Mule, grand head and chest, fine col., close up; Nos. 11 and 12, Coffey, two real good ones, the latter much too wild to do itself justice. A.O.V. DARK (13): 1, 2, Coffey, leader rattling good Jonque Greenie-Can., wonderful rich, sound col., on a well built, shapely body; 2nd, Siskin-Can., a worthy companion, finely mkd., lovely col. and quality, good size and shape; 3, vhc, Longden, Clnn.-Greenie, nice tone of col., big, well built, attractive bird; vhc, hot Siskin-Can.; 4, Lamb, an old friend, one of the biggest Twite-Can. Mules ever seen, good col. and markings; hc, Andrews; c, Edwards. BULLFINCH HYB. (6): 1, Dunn, charming Redpoll-Bullie, fine size and shape, very dense markings, neat all over, excellent col., looks like a youngster, if so should make a topper next season; 2, vhc, Adamson, very fair Goldie-Bullie, nice size, excellent shape, good blaze and body col.; 3, Lamb, romping Greenie-Bullie, grand body and head, good feather, bit flat in col.; 4, Andrews, Goldie-Bullie, very nice bird, close on heels of 2nd; abs., Coffey. A.O.V. HYB. (10): 1, Longden (No. 6a, see note at end of class), one of the best Goldie-Greenies ever seen, wonderful blaze and col., grand size and shape, a gem, unfortunately had one lot of wing-flights but partly grown, so lucky to beat 2, Lamb, the noted Goldie-Redpoll, a real little "toff," grand shape and style, beautiful col. and markings; 3, Coffey, smart Bramble-Chaffinch, very good col. and polish, nicely mkd.; 4, Ramsden, one of the nicest Redpoll-Greenies out, gem for style, shape and col.; vhc, Lyle; hc, Maxwell; c, Beard; "wrong class," Harold Blackett, not a Mule at all, but the well-known Black-headed (American) Siskin. There was a "mix-up" in the awards in this class (for a time, at least) owing, we believe, to a duplication of numbers, the 1st prize card being on Mr. Ramsden's Redpoll-Greenie (No. 6), No. 5 (Lyle) being placed 4th, though actually unnoticed. It appears so in the catalogue, but we understand our report corresponds with the judge's actual placings. PAIRS FOR HYB. BREEDING (10): 1, Lyle, very nice cock Bramblefinch and hen Chaffie; 2, Longden, a decent Siberian Goldie and very fine yell. Nor. hen, this pair should have been "wrong-classed," the schedule clearly stating for British Finches only; 3, Dalling, exceptionally good pair, Linnet and hen Bullie; 4, c, Page, another fine couple, Goldfinch-Linnet; vhc, Mrs. Cooper; c, Weston.

The British Birds.

Mr. J. F. Dewar's Classes.

The British section throughout was hardly patronised in the way the extended classification deserved, but no complaint could possibly be made against the quality of the birds on view—in many classes they were magnificent. The pick of the Hard-bill section was undoubtedly the Goldfinch staged by Mrs. G. E. Weston—absolutely the ideal Britisher in every point, and with a blaze which needs to be seen to be adequately appreciated. This bird provided quite a topic of conversation for the British enthusiasts present, and its owner came in for many congratulations. Messrs. Prior, Francis, Marley, Howe, J. M. Walsh, Hoyle, Maxwell and Longden, had splendid teams out, and fought many tough battles in the various classes, the prizes being very evenly divided. The awards were made by Mr. J. F. Dewar.

GREENFINCH (11): 1, McVay, bonny big Greenie, fine quality feather, sound col. throughout, capital yell. flights and tail, well put down; 2, Howe, grand big Greenie, very massive head, rich yell. body col., nice cl. flights and tail, silky plumage, carries a beautiful bloom, a trifle larger than winner; 3, Walsh, big bodied, a little narrower across skull than 2nd, bold carriage, good body col., nice flights; 4, Mrs. Weston, nicely fed Finch, good size and shape, rare quality of plumage, appears to have a slight cold; vhc, Marley, buff, smaller than winner, good feather; hc, Dalling; c, Prior. HAWFINCH (5): Small class for quantity, but all birds of fine quality and well up in col.: 1, Walsh, rare size, massive head, fine, clean cut bib, rich col. on head and back, perfect feather, carries a splendid sheen on flights, col. well defined, very forward in condition, wins well; 2, Miss Bousfield, another good bodied bird, shade paler in col., fine bib, shows well, rare quality feather; 3, Marley, very fine specimen, rather larger head than 2nd, good col., nice bib, slight chip on forehead, stands well, not quite in such high condition of feather; 4, Maxwell, an old winner, very tame and in splendid order, but beaten to-day; vhc, Mrs. Adams, nice Finch, perfect feather. GOLDFINCH (19), grand class, and almost all the birds could win in good company, all very forward and well up in col.: 1, Mrs. Weston, wins easily, perfect shape, immense square blaze, very rich col, beautifully tanned, rich yell flights, lovely silky plumage, shows itself well; 2, Morton Gill, another grand Goldie, last year's 3rd, we think, fine blaze, slightly rounded at corners of underblaze, richly tanned, deep yell flights, very evenly buttoned, clear in whites; 3, Mortlock, rare square-cut underblaze, broad skull, splendid wings, good buttons and moons, shade paler in breast tanning, correct carriage; 4, Maxwell, fine bodied bird, good square head, wants a little longer to come up in blaze, good brown back, clear in whites; vhc, Andrews, capital wings and blaze, nice shape, rare size, fails only in breast tanning; hc, White, old winner, we believe, but beaten to-day capital breast tanning; c, Hoyle, good size and quality, rich. SISKIN, REDPOLL, ETC. (22): 1, Maxwell, bonny Twite, nice size, rich col throughout, plenty of pencilling, shows whites in flights well, good quality feather, very steady; 2, Longden, hot-fed Siskin, fine size, capital cap and wing bars, dense flank pencillings, very faint trace of a bib, steady and shows well; 3, Howe, good Lesser Redpoll, capital head, good bib, nice thigh marks, good carriage, stands well on perches; 4, Coffey, again a fine Twite, rich in markings, good size, shows well, an old winner; vhc, Marley, Lesser Redpoll, the noted "Kruger" (seems to have found "Majuba Hill" twice this week), good size and shape, large rounded head and bib; hc, Hoyle, another Siskin, col. fed, smaller than 2nd, but nice quality; c, Bewick, rare big mealy Redpoll; No. 11 (Carr), rich col. Twite; No. 15 (Prior), lovely nat. col. Siskin, hard lines to be cardless. CHAFFINCH (13): 1, Francis, good big shapely Finch, nice head, rare bold chest, rich back and breast col., good green rump, shows clear whites in flights, very steady; 2, 4, Prior, real good pair, little to choose, former fine bodied Finch, capital carriage, rich blue head, very clear in whites, splendid quality feather, shows to perfection, 4th shade lighter in breast col., good head, cl. whites, nice green rump; 3, Hoyle, very steady, typical Chaffie, narrower head, good chest, stands well; vhc, Page, deep col. bird, in nice condition; hc, Longden, very compact, shade paler in col.; c, Leighton. BRAMBLE-FINCH (10): 1, Hoyle, very hot rol. one, col. running well down breast and flanks, nicely pencilled flanks, good black flights and nice shoulders, very even spangling; 2, Francis, larger, rare size and shape steady as a rock, very fine spangling on head and mantle, deep breast extending well down shoulders and wings, well mkd., well up in col.; 3, Longden, looks like his old champion, wonderful size, good col. and even spangling, fine wing marks; 4, Carter, last year's winner here, a bit further down to-day, hardly up in full col. yet, very even spangling, good head; vhc, Mrs. Weston, stylish Bramble, paler col, nice markings, in capital condition; hc, Prior, another shapely bird, c, Jordan, good rich col. LINNET (11) Good class, most visitors were quite unable to follow the awards. 1, 3, c, Marby, "Old Brownie," seemed out of condition, and somewhat sluck in feather, lacks throat work and pencillings, many seemed to prefer 3rd, "His Majesty," fine bodied Linnet, stands well on perches, plenty of throat markings, and deep pencillings, nice whites in flights, rich col. throughout, c "Young Brownie," nice shape and markings; 2, Longden, trifle larger than 1st, good back col., fails only in pencilling to 3rd, shows well; 4, Prior, very shapely Linnet, plenty of fine work, rich back and throat, good pencillings, nice flights, shows well; vhc, Weston, bonny Linnet, in lovely feather, good pencillings; hc, Burrows, good back and shoulders. BULLFINCH, C'K. (16), very good class, all well up in col., but one or two in the class, we thought, of doubtful nationality; 1, White, typical Britisher, well polished, chan cut, ebony cap, grand carriage, perfect flights, showing white bars well, cl. bluish-grey back, rich breast and a snow white rump, claimed at catalogue price; 2, Miss Bousfield, another grand Bullie, shade larger, and a trifle clearer in whites of flights, rich pink breast, bonny cl. cut cap, carries plenty of bloom; 3, R. J. Howe, very steady, typical bird, grand cap, very cobby in body, good cl. back, rich breast, nice white rump; 4, Francis, larger altogether, rare head, jet black cap, flight and tail, good body col. throughout; vhc, Prior, bonny Bullie, lovely cap, rare bloom throughout, not quite so rich in breast col., but perfectly col. back; hc, Jordan, capital Finch, massive head; c, Weston, very hot col. one, splendid cap, little unsteady; absent, Vale. REN (7): 1, Lohr, sweet little Bullie, well polished ebony cap, tight as wax, good size and shape, beautiful sheen on flights and tail, wins (stated to have bred Can. Hybrids on two occasions); 2, Francis, larger bird, good quality of feather, nice cap and flights, good wing bars, cl. white rump, well put down; 3, Dalling, nearly twice the size of the winner, and not such a typical specimen, good hold chest and head; 4, Prior, Britisher, without a doubt, full of bloom, fine carriage, very cobby, good col. throughout, some thought might have gone up a bit; vhc, Frostick, capital Bullie, paler in col. than some, but clearest wing bars in class; hc, Lack, nice size, good feather; c, Mrs. Jeye, very steady. BUNTING (11), very good variety class of high merit; 1, Longden, good col., and markings, nice cheek marks, rather narrow head marks, fine size and shape, very steady; 2, Wynn, bonny Cirl Bunting, capital cheek and throat marks, rich in yell., rare size, good body marks, nice carriage, very steady; 3, Prior, well-known winner, and certainly it might have changed places with leader, perfect head marks, rich col., dense cheek markings, ideal 'Hammer in every respect; 4, Francis, Lapland Bunting, another old winner, nice size, good markings, will improve in col. yet; vhc, Frostick, very white Snow Bunting, and as steady as a rock, good size; hc, Howe, big, well mkd. Yellowhammer, rich head and cheek marks; c, Botting, large Corn Bunting, good col. HARDBILL HEN (14): 1, 2, Mrs. Weston, former capital Hawfinch, fine quality feather, large clean-cut bib, nice collar, square head, splendid shape and size, 2nd rich col. Corn Bunting, well mkd., steady as a rock, good quality feather, both well staged; 3, Taylor, showy Bramble, throws its crest up and shows well, nice and steady, perfect in feather; 4, Howe, big Yellow Bunting, good thigh pencillings, nice wings, perfect feather and steady; vhc, c, Prior, Siskin and Lapland Bunting, respectively, former nicely pencilled, good wings, latter very good specimen; hc, Frostick, Chaffinch, good wing bars, but unsteady.

Mr. Silver's Classes.

The insectivorous section was something of a disappointment, only 61 birds being entered in the seven classes which stood, and one class, for Redwing and larger, being cancelled, only one entry having been received. SONG THRUSH, ETC. (6): 1, vhc, Prior, leader Blackbird, in lovely condition, beautiful colour of beak and eye cere, very dense glossy plumage, a really good one; vhc, an exceedingly good Song Thrush, extra fine in gloss of plumage; 2, Howe, very perfectly mkd. Song Thrush, it is rarely that one sees a bird with such symmetrically-disposed breast and flank markings, these being displayed in wonderful regularity right under the body of the bird, must have been a close fight for 1st place; 3, Askew, large and good Thrush, very plentifully mkd., but not so symmetrically, perfect condition; 4, Lott, beautifully spangled Starling, feather perfect, nothing better of its kind could be desired. LARKS OR PIPITS (11): 1, McVay, very perfect and beautifully steady Skylark, lovely markings and condition; Mr. Lott showed a nice team of six, two each of Skylarks, Tree Pipits, and Shore larks, and captured 2, 3, 4, and hc, respectively, an exceedingly good Tree Pipit, wonderful col., nice breast and back markings, perfect tightness of plumage, steady to a degree, beautiful exhibit, very close up for 1st honours; 3rd, well shown Shorelark, at present much too slim in condition, will make a good one; 4th, nice Skylark, bit too "gay" at present; vhc, Frostick, nice steady Tree Pipit, primaries of one wing not fully grown; c, Laidlaw. CHOUGH, ETC. (only three entries): 1, Maxwell, the old champion Cornish Chough, looking better than ever; 2, Dewhurst, beautiful Magpie, large and well mkd.; 3, Dr. Snell, nice Magpie, much smaller than the 2nd. ALBINO, ETC. (14): The biggest class in the section; 1, Schluter, perfect Albino House Sparrow, really white, in beautiful condition, wins well; 2, hc, Pauvvels, a very fine Cinnamon Greenfinch and a Pied Blackbird (reversed descriptions in catalogue), the Blackbird much more prettily mkd. than is usual with this kind of freak, at present somewhat untidy in plumage, and a bit unsteady; 3, Laidlaw, fine Albino Thrush, not quite pure white, however, the breast markings show slightly; 4, Mrs. Moore, Black Bullfinch hen, very black, looking a bit thick to-day; vhc, r, Raynor, pretty Pied House Sparrow; c, Mrs. Owen, slightly pied Robin; c, Nicholls, very nice Cinnamon Redpoll, bit unsteady, or might have been higher; our old friend the pretty little Cinnamon Redpoll (Lamb) out of the cards. NIGHTINGALE, ETC. (11): 1, Jackson, giant Nightingale, beautiful depth of back col., but too fat, and too tame to pull himself together; 2, Miss Wait, marvellously fine Blackcap, excelling in quality all round, extra size, beautifully tight in plumage, good cap, and fine sheen of back plumage; 3, hc, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, the leader a wonder indeed, nothing better could be imagined in a Nightingale, exceedingly shapely, stands up well on the perch, steady to a degree, and sprightly withal, absolute perfection of plumage and body col.; the hc, a veteran 'Gale, still looking well; 4, Briscoe and Son, another excellent Nightingale, showing age somewhat, but still one of the best, well shown, a beautiful exhibit; vhc, Puck, beautiful Blackcap, in fine plumage, loses to the one above him only in size, c, Frostick, nice Blackcap. AOS. SMALL INSECTIV. (10) Two Dartford Warblers this time; 1, Frostick, well and away the better of the two to-day, perhaps not so even in breast colour as the 3rd, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, but much more sleek in jeunage, and better in the slate blue of the head; the Dartford Warblers were split by 2nd, an absolutely perfect Red-tint, Taylor, marvellous steadiness and gloss of plumage, a beauty indeed; 3, Frostick, nice Lesser Spotted Woodpecker, not in best of condition at present; vhc, Blackett, perfect Golden-crested Wren, beautifully shown, we liked this for fourth on condition; hc, Puck, Whitethroat, "perfect" again; the only word for it, nothing could be better; c, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, very fine Wheatear. HENS, INSECTIV. (6): 1, Howe, Blackbird, real good one, in fine feather; 2, Miss Shepherd, Bearded Reedling, pretty and sprightly, looks like a Britisher, and, therefore, not nearly so good in colour as 3, Morris, which is of the Continental type, very beautiful colour and perfection of plumage; 4, Lowne, very nice Black Red tait, a rare exhibit; vhc, Castree, yet another Bearded Tit, nice condition. EUROPEAN BIRDS (not included in N.B.B. and M. Club's list): 1, Page, Kingfisher, for the present in very perfect plumage; 2, Frostick, fine Two barred Crossbill, is it not rather the American White-winged Crossbills? Anyway, a pretty exhibit, cage-moulted, and very tame; 3, hc, Puck, "Yellow" Warbler in catalogue, really an Insectiv. Warbler, a lovely specimen of its kind, he fine Sprosser, the first we have seen for several years, in fact, since old aquarium days; vhc, Weston, Pine Grosbeak, wonderful condition and perfection of plumage, a fine exhibit; c, Maxwell, Greater Reed Warbler, very rare, we think the first ever exhibited, plumage on head somewhat knocked about, should win later. OWLS, ETC. (4 entries, 2 absent): 1, Dewhurst, Barn Owl, in fine plumage; 2, Askew, Little Owl, much rarer than the winner, in perfect plumage, but seemed somewhat scared at his unusual position.

The Foreign Birds.

The features of this section were perhaps the fine teams of rare and unique birds sent by Messrs. R. Pauvvels and C. T. Maxwell, while other unique and exquisitely beautiful exhibits were sent by Mrs. K. L. Millar, Messrs. S. M. Townsend, A. Ezra, A. Sutcliffe, and others. There were 125 entries (practically the whole of which were from members of the Foreign Bird Club), spread over 15 classes, two of which were reserved for members of the L.C.B.A. Mr. H. D. Astley again judged this section, but this year certain of his awards did not seem to be well received. To attempt to pass in review all the beautiful and unique exhibits that were here gathered together, is quite beyond the limit of our space, so we must reserve this honour for those which we believe appear on the show bench for the first time of these the most enquired after by the visiting public were the Greater Bird of Paradise, Blue Budgerigars, and Purple Sunbird—the two former exhibited by R. Pauvvels, Esq., of Belgium, and the latter by the well-known exhibitor, Mr. C. T. Maxwell.

THE GREATER BIRD OF PARADISE, a truly grand exhibit, in absolutely perfect plumage—a spectacle to feast the eyes upon. It is, we understand, but one of several specimens which, with other species of Paradise Birds, adorn the aviaries of this enterprising aviculturist. Paradise Birds are at once both gorgeous and regal in appearance, and a perfect male in nuptial plumage (see plate in another portion of this issue), as was the case with this exhibit, is a spectacle to be remembered. The general plumage is a grand arrangement of ruddy-browns, golden-yellows, and glistening green. Beautiful as it is in a cage, its beauty is even more remarkable in an aviary, where light can play at will as the bird disports itself amid the branches in all the wild excitement of the nuptial dance, when the glorious plumes are spread out laterally, a shivering or tremulous motion pervading the whole. It is a native of the Aru Islands. Though unique on the show bench, it has been known for several years to visitors to the Zoo. We congratulate Mons. Pauvvels on this grand specimen, and also on his enterprise in risking so valuable a possession on so long a journey at this season of the year. It rightly takes premier honours in its class, and the Trower Gold Medal for rarest Softbill, but by a most unfortunate omission on the entry forms Mons. Pauvvels' entries were deprived of their right to compete for the Foreign Bird Club specials.

THE BLUE BUDGERIGARS.—This beautiful variety has loomed before Budgerigar breeders for the past twenty years, about which time we heard of the first specimen (the writer did not see same). None has appeared in the interim, though the late Dr. Greene frequently alluded to it in his writings, but these references evidently applied to a mere sport of a nondescript blue, and not to a fixed variety, as with this lovely exhibit. Mons. Pauvvels, the fortunate owner, has them breeding true to colour in his Everberg aviaries. We gather that the result has been achieved by a period of careful selection, and that the variety is now permanently fixed. Doubtless other varieties will reward the persevering breeder, who is prepared to breed for a period along the lines of careful selection for a well-defined purpose. This beautiful variety has the typical markings of the common green variety, with yellow areas replaced by white, and the green by a lovely soft sky blue. They were rightly awarded premier honours, and the Trower Gold Medal for rarest Seed-eater.

PURPLE SUNBIRD.—This unique exhibit was unfortunately out of colour. When in nuptial plumage it is a gorgeous creature indeed; it is also a difficult species to keep in captivity, and it certainly merited a higher position than was awarded it (v.h.c.). If this beautiful species had but been in nuptial plumage it would have been a centre of attraction.

TEMMINCK'S ROBIN.—This lovely exhibit is the first living specimen to reach this country alive, and though not clad in what we term gorgeous hues, yet it is a beautiful and striking bird, and one which would at once catch the eye in any company. It has all those traits and qualities which make our indigenous Robin so dear to Englishmen. Its plumage is a beautiful contrast of rufous-brown, rich black and pure white; it is a typical Robin in form and movement, as will readily be seen from our figure in another portion of this issue. It rightly received premier honours in its class, and Special No. 205.

The following also, we believe, appear on the Loulon show bench for the first time, and are all beautiful species, but we are unable to notice them further save in their respective classes: White Minah, Cuban Woodpecker, Uvean Parrakeets, and Black-capped Lory, exhibited by R. Pauvvels; Yellow-bellied (Vieillotts') Tanager and Banana Quit (C. luteola), A. Sutcliffe; Blue and Black Tanager, Black-throated Chatterer, and Manicode, C. T. Maxwell; Jerdon's Green Bulbul, S. M. Townsend. There were a number of others also, which only made their bow to the public last season, or earlier in this season. The L.C.B.A. are to be congratulated upon another great success, the management was, in the usual L.C.B.A. style (further compact is unedited for), while the Horticultural Hall, for exhibition purposes is beyond criticism, warm and without draught, and the exhibits all seemed quite comfortable. There was a gathering of the clan from far and near. BUDGERIGARS (13) All the exhibits of exceptional merit with not a single unconditioned bird among them. The features of the class being the beautiful Blue Budgerigars and exquisite Blue-crowned Hanging Parrot. 1, vhc, Pauvvels, Blue Budgerigars, lovely and unique exhibit, perfect condition, and Guiana Leaflet, very uncommon. 2, Townsend, Blue-crowned Hanging Parrakeets, tightest and richest coloured specimen we have ever seen; 3, Maxwell, beautiful pair of Red crowned Hanging Parrakeets; 4, Mrs. Miller, perfect pair of Peach-faced Lovebirds; vhc, r, Mrs. Cooper, Black faced Lovebirds and Yellow Budgerigars; c, Countess V. Hahn, Mr. Hodgkin, D. Steer. PARRAKEETS, LORIES, ETC (13) A very strong class, and with some of the awards we could not quite agree—the merit of the class is indicated by the fact that the judge felt it incumbent to give a vhc to every exhibit (not prize winners), with one exception. The unique Uvean Parrakeet rightly received premier honours, a beautiful species, well shown. The Rev. Raynor's exhibit, entered as an Adelaide Parrakeet, appeared to us to be a hybrid between that species and probably a Yellow-rump. 1, 2, 4, vhc, Pauvvels, Uvean Parrakeet, unique and perfect; Red-naped Lorikeets, perfect pair, but very fortunate; Black-capped Lory, beautiful and unique exhibit, might have been higher; Blue-winged Grass Parrakeets, very beautiful, rare and perfect, hardly treated; 3, vhc (2), C. T. Maxwell, Mitchell's Lorikeet, unique, perfect exhibit; good pair of Brown's Parrakeet, and lovely Queen Alexandra's Parrakeet, the latter a wee bit soft, but very hardly treated, its exquisitely soft colouration defies description, not been exhibited for many years; 4, Mrs. Miller, Sun Conure, very rare and beautiful like a gorgeous sunset; vhc, Williams' St. Thomas' Conures; T. Miller, Purple-capped Lory; C. B. Row, Violet-necked Lory; c, Rev. Raynor, Adelaide Parrakeet a probable hybrid. PARROTS, ETC. (4): 1, Rev. Raynor, well known Meyer's Parrot, beautiful and rare exhibit, of almost patriarchal age, in excellent condition; 2, Thorpe, Yellow-naped Amazon, very fine condition; 3, H. Smith, Greater Sulphur-crested Cockatoo, in good feather; 4, A. Stubbings, the well-known Blue and Yellow Macaw, it did yeoman service in shouting "Catalogue," and should have its entry fee returned. COM. WAXBILLS, ETC. (10): A class like this ought to draw three or four times this number of entrants, if keepers of the commoner or freely imported species will not avail themselves of the classes provided, they cannot expect to get them increased! There was a most unfortunate oversight by the judge in this class—the first prize winners, a pair of Red-headed Finches, should have been marked "wrong class," as, though an exquisite pair of birds, quite one of the best pairs we have seen, it was unfair competition for the correctly entered birds. This class was again an illustration of what a beautiful series the freely imported and cheaply purchased foreigners are. 1, Miss M. Bousfield, the Red-headed Finches; 2, 4, Howe, Golden-crested and Grey Waxbills, in order given, richly coloured, very tight; 3, Row, very good pair Orange-cheeked Waxbills; vhc, Watts, Golden-crested Waxbills; c, Allum Bros., Williams. MANNIKINS, ETC. (6): One of the smallest classes we remember. The most notable entrants were a rare Jamieson's Waxbill (closely resembles a Firefinch), and a lovely pair of Melba Finches. 1, F. Howe, Melba Finches, one of the best pairs we have seen, markings very clean, rich colour, very tight; 2, Watson, Jamieson's Waxbill, an uncommon exhibit, perfect condition; 3, Meadows, Aurora Finch, rich colour, plumage very silky and tight; 4, Rev. Paterson, Chestnut Finch, markings very clear, rich colour, plumage silken and tight. GRASSFINCHES, ETC. (12): Interesting class of brightly plumaged birds, the rainbow-hued Gouldian Finch claiming its usual share of attention. The most notable entrant here was Mr. Maxwell's rare Red-rumped Weavers. 1, 4, Maxwell, the rare Red-rumped weaver and exquisite pair of Painted Finches; 2, vhc, Miss Bousfield, Tri-coloured Parrot Finches, very beautiful and uncommon; Black-headed Gouldian Finches, rich colour and very tight; 3, c, Rev. Paterson, Long-tailed Grassfinches, perfect, and Pin-tail Nonpariel; c, Watts, Row—very fine Gouldian Finches in each instance. A Black Weaver entered in class was an abnormally coloured Orange Weaver, and consequently in its wrong class. GROSBEAKS, ETC. (10): A strong class, though few of the exhibits were entirely free from signs of the moult, which has been unusually prolonged and irregular this year. 1, Mrs. Miller, Rainbow Bunting, still the only living specimen of its kind in this country, and an exquisite example of gorgeous, yet soft and chaste colouring; 2, Sutcliffe, good pair Colombian Siskins, very uncommon; 3, Maxwell (regret we failed to note species); 4, Meadows, Black-headed Siskin; vhc, Williams, good Yellow Sparrow; Mrs. Hodgkin, good pair Green Cardinals; c, Mrs. Cooper, nice pair Green Singing Finches; also exhibited, a true pair of Fire-red Finches, little rough in plumage, but uncommon, and worth a card. TANAGERS (12): This class, as usual, was a marvel of gorgeous tropical colouration, and attracted much close examination and admiration from the visiting public. The judging here was very hard to understand three exhibits of outstanding merit, viz., Black-throated Chatterer, Blue and Black, and Yellow-bellied (Vieillot's) Tanagers—all of them unique, in good condition, and making their first bow to the public—yet two of them have to put up with a vhc and c! The Black-throated Chatterer calls for a few remarks here it is the first living specimen to reach this country. It is a hen, with beautiful plumage of olive-green, marbled with a pattern similar to that of the Wryneck; the male is clad in shining black and richest of blues. It is worthy of remark that the Rufous-throated Tanager, rare last season, was represented by 4 specimens. It is really a Sugar Bird, but owing to its popular name has always appeared among the Tanagers at exhibitions. 1, 2, 4, vhc, c, Maxwell, Blue and Black Tanager, Black-throated Tanager, Rufous-throated Tanager, and Black-throated Chatterer—a grand and rare team, the latter of which was hardly treated; 3, Pitchford and Stocker, Necklace Tanager, beautiful exhibit, but very favourably treated in this strong class; vhc, Mrs. Miller, grand pair of Festive Tanagers, very difficult to keep, and hardly treated; Watts, Mrs. Hodgkin, Townsend, Rufous-throated Tanagers; Sutcliffe, unique Yellow-bellied Tanager—another case of hard treatment—perfect condition; c, Sutcliffe, Desmarest's Tanager, a rare exhibit, but still in moult. SUGAR BIRDS, ETC. (12): Another magnificent class, worth a long journey to see. The most notable entrants here were the Purple Sun Bird, Banana Quits (C. flaveola and C. luteola), and Purple Sugar Birds. The rarest of the Banana Quits, exhibited by Mr. Sutcliffe, is a first appearance, but unfortunately the journey to the show tried it, and it did not do itself justice till the second day. A female Jerdon's Green Bulbul was also shown—another first appearance. 1, vhc (2), Townsend, Yellow-winged Sugar Bird—getting patriarchal—but the intensity and richness of its hues appear to increase with each moult; Jerdon's Green Bulbul very uncommon, a beautiful soft emerald green with a pallid sky blue U. cut Banana Quit, rare and silken, 2, 3, 4, vhc, c, Maxwell, Purple and Yellow-winged Sugar Birds, Banana Quit, Black-headed Sugar Birds, and Purple Sun Bird a grand team, of which two were hardly treated, yet, c, Sutcliffe, Banana Quits rare and unique, vhc, Pitchford and Stocker, good Gold-fronted Tanagers. AOS. SMALL (9): 1, A. Ezra, Tennant's Robin, a unique and beautiful exhibit (noticed elsewhere), 2, 3, Maxwell, Blue-winged Siva and Goat-billed Fly catcher, the latter of which is unique, though not a bit appearance, grand couple; 4, Puck, nice Indian Shama, 4, Frostick, Indian Shama. AOS. LARGE (8): Pages might still be written regarding the exhibits in the class without exhausting our subject. Particularly worthy of notice, but little less than a reading their first bow to the public this season Mons. R. Pauvvels Greater Bird of Paradise (motto el—elucie) was the feature of the class, the gangway in its vicinity being continuously more or less blocked. Another fine exhibit, and equally rare, was a Cuban Woodpecker, which also attracted a lot of notice. Another unique exhibit was a Manucode (C. T. Maxwell), really a Bird of Paradise without side plumes, etc., whose iridescent plumage reflected every shade of purple, steel blue, and green, according to position. 1, 3, vhc, Pauvvels, Greater Bird of Paradise, without blemish, and in full nuptial plumage; Cuban Woodpecker, very interesting and unique; Tonconette (Sott billed), very uncommon—a gang and team; 2, 4, vhc, Maxwell, Mexican Trogan, rare, and very steady, Crested Wood Partridge, a beautiful and unique exhibit, which has previously appeared this season; Manucode, a first appearance—should have been higher; vhc, Townsend, Giant Barbet, well known specimen, very fit; c, Sandy, Mexican Green Jay, exquisite colour, very tight and silken. An excellent pair of Californian Quails were also exhibited by the Countess Van Hahn, which were really remarkable for their tameness.

FOR. HYB.: Cancelled. SELLING, Limit 25/- (9): Mr. Maxwell exhibited a hen Manakin, a first appearance on the show bench, though the hens are but plainly clad in olive green, the males all rival the most gorgeous Tanagers for brilliant tropical colouring. 1, Mrs. Miller, Blue-wing Lovebirds; 2, vhc (2), Maxwell, Crimson Finch, hen Manakin, and Cuba Finch; 3, 4, Clarke, Ring-necked Parrakeets; c, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, Watts, Mrs. Hodgkin.

The Cage Section.

SHOW OR STOCK (not to exceed 6/6) (17): Messrs. Palmer and Sons made a fine show of 13 cages, and captured all the awards. Messrs. Mullins and Co. entering the remaining 4: 1, Wagtail show cage, with 4 perches, glass food and water vessels, bow front, well finished inside and out, very cheap at the entered price, 5/6; 2, an equally good Thrush show cage of high finish; 3, Nightingale or small insectivorous show cage; all were on the accepted model of the N.B.B. and M. Club. BREEDING CAGE AND FITTINGS (not exceeding 6/6 single, 10/6 double) (13): Same exhibitors and same results: Palmer, 11 entries: 1, a double breeder, convertible into a flight 33 ins. long, cheap at 8/-; 2, single breeder and nursery, at 6/6; 3, another double breeder, very similar to 1st, but with larger drinking and seed vessels, this was priced at 9/6. A.V. CAGE (priced at more than above limits) (10): 1, 2, 3, vhc, hc, c, Palmer and Sons. 1st very nice cage, designed for a Jay or large insectivorous, good finish, cheap at 15/6, 2nd Crystal Palace aviary, on a nice table, 3rd nice roomy cage for small foreigners, would accommodate half a dozen nicely; 4, Mullins and Co., Wagtail show cage, not every one liked the arrangement of the perches, five of these, all close together in the middle, centre one being the highest, the occupant would have to go to the bottom of the cage to reach food and water vessels. In this class was exhibited by Mr. O. Puck, a stock cage for small insectivorous birds, with the title of "The Ideal"; for such a bird as a Nightingale or Blackcap this cage would be ideal indeed. It is some 30 ins. long, 9 ins. deep, and a foot high, large food and water vessels are provided at each end, reaching from front to back; these are of glass, and the one for food is divided into two unequal parts by a glass partition, so that grubs or tit-bits of any kind may be given without becoming mixed with the stock food. The cage is fitted with five perches, these being ingeniously made detachable from the front. The roof is of American cloth, easily renewed, and is entirely removable for special washing or repainting. The whole is beautifully finished in polished walnut, and although the price is high, two guineas, the cage is really good value for the money.

"CAGE BIRDS" GUIDE TO THE SEASON'S SHOWS.

PART II.

Paste this List up in your Bird-room for reference purposes.

We have taken great pains to make this list of the 1910-11 shows which offer open classes for cage-birds accurate and complete, and shall be glad to be notified of any inadvertent omissions. This year we have adopted the plan of publishing in two parts in order to ensure that this list (covering the latter part of the season) shall be complete.

The fixtures in heavy black type are those of Societies participating in the benefits of CAGE-BIRDS "Guarantee Scheme." Shows marked (*) are under Cage Bird Union Rules; those marked (†) under the rules of the Yorkshire Union of C.B.S. As fresh shows are constantly being licensed by the Cage Bird Union, however, exhibitors should refer to the official list published monthly in CAGE BIRDS, for those additional fixtures adopting Union rules.

STOCKTON HEATH & DIS. O.S.

Second annual show held Church Institute, Nov. 19th. The society were fortunate in securing the large room through the consideration of the secretary of the Institute, Mr. W. McIntyre. The catering for teas and refreshments was admirably carried out by Mr. J. Arnold, who was assisted by an able staff of ladies. An interesting feature of the show was a draw for a bird and cage by the caterers, which were drawn for at the close. There were a good number of the public present, and the show proved quite a success. The exhibits were indeed a credit to so young a society, which goes to show there are some enthusiastic bird lovers in Stockton Heath and District. The awards were placed by Mr. J. Guy (Runcorn), who gave entire satisfaction. There were upwards of 110 birds staged.

WISHAW AND DISTRICT C.C.

Annual show held Watson's Hall 19th Nov. Owing to a bad breeding season in this district the entries were not so numerous as in previous years, but what was lacking in quantity was made up for in quality. Mr. A. Allerdice, sen., won medal for best Scotch Fancy, and Mr. W. Robertson that for 2nd best. Mr. G. Chalmers won Crest medal, Mr. D. McAllister Plainhead medal, Mr. R. Richmond medal for best Border, and Mr. A. McAllister medal for 2nd best Border. Mr. W. Watson had best Britisher in hall. Judges, Mr. J. Kean (Edinburgh), for Scotch and Border Fancies; and W. Connelly (Glasgow), for Norwich and British.

A VISIT TO A FOOD FACTORY.

The Works of Messrs. Spratt's Patent, Ltd., Poplar.

We recently found ourselves by design and malice aforethought in the salubrious but work-stained vicinity of Poplar, London, E. Looming large upon the horizon, with its imposing exterior of brick and iron, and stone, we came across the colossal food factory of Messrs. Spratt's Patent, Ltd., universal providers to the dog, poultry, pigeon, and cage bird fraternities.

A Gigantic Enterprise.

There is not a reader of this paper who has not been familiarised with the name of Spratt's Patent. There can scarcely be anyone connected with dog, poultry, or bird shows in either the old or the new world to whom the word Spratt is not of household use. And the concern's notoriety is as deserved as it is world-wide. There are, of course, many firms that compete with them in individual directions, but no other house, however huge its scope, can claim to cover the same wide area of supply; and no other firm within our knowledge attempts, or has ever attempted, the task of competing with them in all the ramifications of their business. Spratts are "universal providers to the Fancy" in the widest and completest sense of the phrase.

The business, roughly speaking, goes back half a century. Mr. James Spratt secured a patent for his world-famed biscuit in 1862. The first works were started in Bermondsey in 1868, and since that date its development has been little short of phenomenal. The reason for this rapid and remarkable growth is not far to seek. Spratt's have always laid themselves out to combine the highest quality of article with the greatest economy in price. Their products are the result of a spirited combination between the practical manufacturer, the expert buyer, the skilled organiser, the analyst, and the experienced workman. Every department of their business, every detail in its control, is inspired by that regard for system and conscientiousness that one inevitably finds in big and successful undertakings.

A Look Round.

The first feeling of the spectator on approaching all these huge blocks of buildings which make up Spratt's factory is one of intense surprise. The general public have in a vague sort of way a general impression that Spratt's control a tremendous business, but it requires a visit to this marvellous producing centre to comprehend exactly the immense importance and great size of their operations on the animal food market. We instinctively wonder, pausing on the threshold of this impressive edifice, where the output of such a factory can go to. We see in imagination myriads of dogs, cats, fowls, and cage birds anticipating eagerly their respective portions of Spratt's food, and we slightly shiver as we think of the huge responsibility thrown upon the heads of such a unique business in catering for so many expectant birds and animals.

The mills, bakeries, and packing houses give out, as we approach them, the roar and smoke of industry. Every building is alive with the hum and stir of diligent workpeople, the whirr of the stamp of machinery, the roll of the trolley and the crash of the packing case. Mr. Mason, the works manager, extends to us a friendly hand on our arrival, and proceeds with us on our peregrinations. First of all we enter the bakery that was the first to be built by Spratt's at Poplar. Puppy biscuits are in the course of manufacture. A most appetising odour comes from the brown dough as it revolves through the huge breaking machine. The biscuits are stamped and cut out at the rate of 540 to the minute, 18 biscuits are cut with each stamp. A remarkable feature about these ovens is that they make the bakery in no way uncomfortable for the employees. An almost perfect system of ventilation is in force. Notwithstanding the fact that there are two fires to each oven, and sixteen ovens going all together, the temperature in the bakeries is preserved at a moderate and agreeable figure. Each oven is capable of holding about 8 cwt of biscuits. The machinery has been brought to such a pitch of excellence, for example, that it is possible to turn out no less than 6,000 of the small biscuits every minute of the clock. Roughly, about 4,000 tons of coke are consumed every year. The buildings are fitted throughout with an elaborate system of water sprinklers in case of fire. The fire appliances are everywhere in evidence and looked after with scrupulous care. Altogether there are about eleven large blocks of buildings, and most of the ground floors of these are given up to the bakeries. Not only do they turn out their renowned dog biscuits from these ovens, their ships' biscuits are also widely noted for their excellence. During the South African campaign Messrs. Spratt supplied our troops with nearly 40,000 tons of biscuits, a feat no other firm of biscuit manufacturers in the world could accomplish. The striking cleanliness and freshness of every bit of machinery and every article used in the manufacture of these biscuits is one of the chief points upon which Messrs. Spratt's have a right to claim the highest praise.

Foreign Trade.

All the biscuits, seeds, etc., are mostly packed by clean-looking and well-developed factory girls, and very facile and skilled all of these young women are at work. In the packing department we notice cases being sent off to almost every quarter of the globe. Messrs. Spratt's huge factories in Berlin and New York, of course, cover the field for them so far as Germany and America are concerned, but the immense demand for Spratt's specialities in other parts has to be satisfied by the Poplar establishment. Lying in front of us at our feet were boxes of mixed live stock foods, awaiting dispatch to Penang, Bermuda, Stockholm, Toronto, Yokohama, Cape Town, and Natal. In the packing department the manager forced open for us a tin of Yachting Saloon Biscuits; the make and taste of these could not possibly have been bettered. Most attractive in appearance and delicious to eat, we were not surprised to hear that these marine delicacies were always in very large demand.

Appliance Manufacture.

From the manufacture of the biscuit we come to a series of workshops for the construction of the poultry house, the pigeon cote, and the dog kennel. Here was a deafening whirr of saw mills, a smash of hammers, and a clatter of timber. Log upon log of wood lay piled in huge heaps waiting to be set up in the attractive and well-made style the appliance department of Messrs. Spratt's Patent, Ltd., are so justly celebrated for. The firm now make all their own packing boxes, and the manufacture of these is naturally a tremendous undertaking. The blacksmith's shop with its rows of poultry burdling and iron fencing for kennels, yards, etc., was an interesting sight. There is also a special department for the wire workers, the establishment making all its own pens and benches for shows. Hard by are a number of nailing machines busy at work making boxes. This is a most ingenious labour-saving contrivance. It turns out with a minimum of difficulty at a maximum rate of speed twenty times the number of boxes that a man could complete in the same time.

The Cage Birds Food Department.

The catering for cage birds is not the least important section of Messrs. Spratt's business. The quantity and quality of bird seed put through their warehouses in the course of a year is astonishing. There are at the present time, we need hardly point out, bird food mixtures on the market, retailed to the public in ordinary loose form, which are composed of the cheapest kinds of seeds and fradulent substitutes. One of the best guarantees of quality in connection with bird seed is to see the name of Spratt's on the packet.

Every bag of bird seed sold by Spratt's has gone through a most careful screening and drying process. All their food mixtures are made with selected seed of the highest quality on formulæ laid down for them by the most approved experts. Special machines for cleaning and polishing the seeds are hard at work all the time.

It is an interesting point in connection with the supply by Messrs. Spratt's of bird seed to Canada, that every packet of mixed bird seed they send over to the Canadian market has to have a special little bit of enttlelish in it, that being one of the Canadian Canary-keeper's requirements.

The medicine department alarmed us greatly with its queer aroma of the chemist's shop. Remedies for almost every character of ailment in dogs, poultry, pigeons, or cage birds were on view.

Free Advice.

Messrs. Spratt's issue gratis booklets dealing with the successful management of all kinds of live stock. These may be obtained on application to the offices at 24 and 25, Fenchurch Street, London, E.C., and the applicant in each case should state the particular bird or animal that information is required upon.

The Workers in the Factory.

We had just completed our somewhat hurried travels over this mammoth factory when the steam whistle sounded at 12.30 for the hands to stop work. It was quite a sight to see all the workpeople thronging from the buildings to go to their lunch. Special mess rooms are provided where, if they desire it the workmen can foregather. It is one of the management's principles to study in every possible way the convenience and comfort of their employees. Many of their workpeople have been engaged with them all their working lives, and one of them, Mr. Timothy Gregory, now aged 78, can boast of being in the concern for the past 44 years, starting every morning at six o'clock. He seems a most hale, cheerful, and energetic old fellow, with many years of useful work still in front of him. The huge staff, of course, is not entirely confined to the works at Poplar. There are, in addition, all the hands employed at Bermondsey and the clerical workers in the office at Fenchurch Street.

Exhibition Caterers.

Before concluding our comments on this most interesting visit, we may draw attention to the great extent to which Messrs. Spratt's cater for the exhibition side. In 1904 they supplied the National Poultry Show at the Crystal Palace, and the International Exhibition at the Alexandra Palace, both events coming on the same days, with a tremendous total of 12,000 pens. They have a hiring system by which shows throughout the country are supplied with pens at a comparatively insignificant cost. A special department supervises the importation and exportation of prize stock, all trouble and anxiety to both parties being thus removed. The firm also has a sanatorium for dogs at Beddington, Surrey. They hold his Majesty the King's royal warrant for dog biscuits, game foods, and incubators. The present managing director of the company is Mr. Stephen Wingrove, and it is to this gentleman's commercial acumen, persistent attention to his duties, forethought, and enterprise, that the firm may be said to owe its present huge dimensions and successful conduct. He has the Napoleonic skill for selecting able lieutenants to see his ideas carried out. Live stock owners everywhere owe a debt of gratitude to him, and through him to his firm, for the masterly way in which the requirements of their pets are studied.

The Future of the Firm.

Ever since our first introduction (now many years ago) to this firm, we have always been greatly impressed by the thoroughness and reliability of the products of Spratt's Patent, Ltd. We have watched the growth and development of the business with the greatest possible interest and pleasure. And in the knowledge of that past we venture to express the belief and the hope that the extension and growth will continue at the same marvellous rate in the future, for, to quote words used by a brother journalist, "Wherever civilisation has penetrated and pets are valued, the name of Spratt is honoured."

Claimed!

As usual there was a rush to secure the winner in the thirty-shilling Yorkshire selling class, which proved to be a grand buff, and profits on the deal were offered and refused.

Lost, Stolen or Strayed.

There were several enquiries for the "Cumberland Raven," which, alas! was absent. Had it escaped, or had its would-be exhibitor forgotten to catch it? We once saw one at a Northern show exhibited in a chicken coop—but that's another story.

A Society Craze.

The West-End lady delights to consult the catalogue, find out the name of the exhibit, and call her friends in a not very modulated voice, to "come and look at the so-and-so bird. What a gem; isn't it lovely?" as though she has been on speaking terms with it all her life.

Not the Cold Shoulder.

Discussions on "shoulder" were constantly heard among the Yorkshires. Some talked about square ones, others rounded. It's a good point, but in danger of being over done if not watched. The standard says "Narrow-rounded and well filled." Novices, please note.

In Paradise.

Chatting with Mr. Browning from Lydford (a one time well-known Mule exhibitor), he told us he was now living in quite a paradise of wild-bird life. Among his collection he has four lovely Ring Ouzels exceedingly tame and confiding, which he hand-reared this last season.

GOSSIP FROM THE L.C.B.A. SHOW.

They All Said —

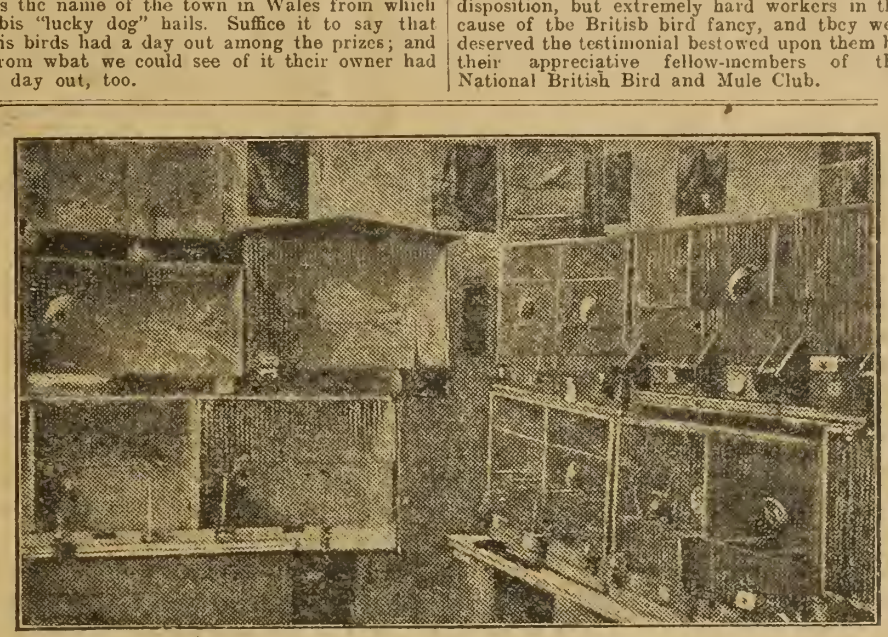
Mr. Dewar, judging the Hybrid section, was "caught napping" in the class for pairs matched for Hybrid breeding. Evidently the class heading escaped his notice. It read: "Either two British birds or Canary and British bird." Yet second prize was given a Siberian Goldfinch and hen Canary! The owner laugbed, and admitted that he bad read the schedule hurriedly. The owners of the pairs lower down in the prize-list, bowever, did not laugb.

You Lucky Dog!

How often it happens at a show that some fancier or other has the "luck of the very old lad" right through the classes in which be is exhibiting. We remarked it a fortnight ago at a London fixture; it cropped up again in the British bird section at the L.C.B.A. show last week-end. Wild horses will not drag from us the name of the town in Wales from which this "lucky dog" hails. Suffice it to say that his birds had a day out among the prizes; and from what we could see of it their owner had a day out, too.

Secretaries Deservedly Honoured.

A pleasing interlude was the function at which a testimonial in the shape of a marble clock bearing a suitable inscription was presented to each of the hon. secs. of the N.B.B. and M. Club, Messrs. Plumbridge and Carr. The chairman, Mr. Robson, presided over a well-attended meeting, distinguished by the presence of quite a number of ladies, and, in introducing the business, eloquently eulogised the services of the two gentlemen. Mr. Trower, hon. treasurer, endorsed the remarks of the chairman, and was supported by Mr. Silver, who followed on similar lines. Mr. Longden, of Swansea, also spoke as representing the country members of the club. The hon. secs., in reply, each contradicted all the pretty things that had been said about them, and attributed all the success of the club to the untiring endeavours of the committee of which they had been so long the willing servants. However, they said the presentation marked a "red-letter day" in their experience, and all ended happily. Messrs. Plumbridge and Carr are two gentlemen of retiring disposition, but extremely hard workers in the cause of the British bird fancy, and they well deserved the testimonial bestowed upon them by their appreciative fellow-members of the National British Bird and Mule Club.



A Corner of the Bird-room of Miss H. Walker (Frome.)

A Border Club.

A little knot of Border admirers were discussing the question of a club for the South of England. Is the time ripe yet? Such a club if properly managed would popularise the "wee gems" and assist the novices who at present can only show at club shows.

Another White Canary.

Having a word with Doctor Galloway, from far Aberdeen, we learned he had this year bred a White Canary. With a little more luck, a new variety for the show bench will come along in the near future. At present the type is Yorkshire; and it is doubtful if a more popular one could be turned out.

Chase Me!

Every year we have the "Derby Dog," and every show has its escaped bird. This time it was a Waxbill, and although Friend Dickinson was smart with his "trilby," the Waxbill was smarter. This was an "extra" amusement thrown in free; another occurred on the Monday, when a Cockatoo took a fly round the Hall.

A Real Enthusiast.

The genial Norwich enthusiast from the Isle of Wight as usual was an early visitor. His heart is fixed on the chubby ones, and it is doubtful if be saw anything else. A journey to the tea-table was as far as Mr. Baker got from them (and then only with Norwich men). No wonder he comes out on top. How he studies them!

A Point Worth Noting.

Thirty-shilling and two-pound birds of any kind were readily snapped up by visitors. It is a pity there are not more of them on the show bench. Why will exhibitors persist in putting on a figure about three times the actual value of the bird when they send it to the show? In one case we heard of a "five-pound bird" being sold for twelve and six after it got home. If priced at thirty shillings at the show it would probably have sold.

Hard Lines!

Said a well-known bird lover to the writer: "I was reading CAGE BIRDS at breakfast-time when I noticed an advertisement stating that certain foreign birds would be entered at most reasonable prices. So I left my morning rasher cold and neglected and rushed off to the Horticultural Hall after one bird I would cheerfully go without my dinner to get. It was there, sure enough, but the price—£100—made me feel a sad and ill-used man!"

Some Special Winners.

Members' challenge bowl, best Crest or C.B. (current year), J. Tyson; silver cup, best Crest hen, bred by a novice, H. H. Belsey; cup, best bird, classes 24 to 27, H. H. Sutcliffe; two gold medals (presented by T. R. Trower), R. Pauvvels.

Fair Exchange.

A curious episode was the exchanging of two exhibits. Two fanciers purchased a bird, both at the same price. Upon comparing their purchases at the end of the show, they each admired the other's bargain, and after chatting a bit about it, and saying how they intended to pair them, they came to the conclusion that they had each got the bird which the other ought to have. So, like good fanciers, they there and then made an exchange, and each went home smiling.

The N.B.B. and M.C. Specials.

The following are the winners of the club medals, etc., at the L.C.B.A. show, write Messrs. Plumbridge and Carr, hon. secs., National British Bird and Mule Club:—Hybrid section: D. A. S. Longden, gold medal and silver Hybrid cup; E. J. Lamb, silver medal; A. Shellam, bronze; G. Morllock, silver (for member who has never won a medal). Hardbill section: W. Francis, gold medal; D. A. S. Longden, silver; A. J. Marley, bronze; Mrs. G. E. Weston, silver (for member who has never won a medal). Insectivorous section: W. A. Lott, gold; J. Frostick, silver; R. J. Howe, bronze; novice medal not awarded.

Under the Wrong Flag.

Last year a bird we made out to be a Canary purely and simply was awarded a prize as a Mule. This year a bird which we think is undoubtedly a plain, every-day Canary, appeared in the Mule classes as (vide catalogue) a Greenfinch-Canary. And the judge this time marked it "Wrong class." In the Hybrid classes a bird shown by Mr. H. Blackett (catalogued as "caught flying with Redpolls") also got "wrong-classed." It proved to be a Black-headed (American) Siskin, an escaped cage or aviary bird, doubtless. Another bird to be "wrong-classed" was the "various coloured Blackbird, with red breast" (this is the catalogue description), exhibited in the class for albino and rare-feathered birds by Mr. C. Burrows. This also proved to be a foreign (? escaped) bird, viz., the so-called American "Robin," which is in reality a Thrush (Turdus migratorius). Fanciers must really beware of strange-looking birds caught in their gardens and back-yards.

CANARY QUERIES.

Crestbred with Diarrhœa.

Mrs. A. Woodward.—First see all your seeds, especially hemp and rape, are sweet and sound. Keep in a cosy and equable place, but do not overheat it. Feed on a staple of plain canary only. Every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of summer rape and a morsel of ripe banana. On the alternate days give a few grains of hemp and a morsel of bread scalded with milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and a third of a teaspoonful of maw sprinkled over it. Keep a piece of cuttlefish in the wires for it to peck at. Limit the diet solely to this for a fortnight. Give no green stuff. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence for one day, and after this give twenty drops of whiskey, six of tincture of gentian, and four of laudanum, daily until diarrhœa ceases. Then stop the laudanum, and substitute the same quantity of aromatic sulphuric acid, and continue giving the mixture every second day for a fortnight. If the vent appears sore and irritable, drop one drop of lukewarm castor oil on it, and gently work it in with a small feather for a day or two. If there is any doubt of the purity of your water supply, well boil all before use.

Crest Queries.

Norwich Crest.—(1) There is no royal road to the certain production of clear body dark Crests. There is always a large element of chance in it. Assuming you do not know the pedigree of your birds, the best method is to mate a clear or grey Crest hen without body markings, to a dark capped crestbred cock. The opposite mating would make a good alternative, though not quite so good. Secondly, a clear body dark crested hen, and a clear crest-bred cock would be a good mating for the purpose. (2) The pair suggested would produce a large majority of variegated birds, but there would be just a slight chance of your object being achieved occasionally, or possibly an even or uneven marked dark Crest. (3) No: It spoils the shape and radiation, and often considerably dwarfs the size of the crest. It is only useful for some special object in the production of stock birds. (4) Depends upon how they are kept. If in a cosy or warm room the bath may be offered daily, as in summer. If in an unheated room, two or three times a week on bright, mild days, is sufficient. (5) Any of the usual greenstuffs which can be obtained quite free from frost and snow, or water-cress, tops of the inner stalks of celery, or rape seedlings, lettuce, or chicory forced up under glass. Plantain stalks will not hurt them, but my experience is Canaries do not appreciate them when the seed is ripe.

To Recover Lost Plumage (John Reardon).—You do not say how you feed and treat the bird, where you keep it, nor even where or to what extent the feathers are off, which precludes my giving a really helpful reply. As the plumage has been lost so long, I suspect something must be wrong with your general management, and I doubt whether any permanent improvement will be made. Keep it fairly warm, but let the heat be equable, and strictly avoid draughts. Let bird bathe freely in mild weather. Feed as advised "W. J. L.," but omit the oil and sherry from sponge cake, and dust it over instead with a mixture of two parts flowers of sulphur and one part chlorate of potash. Instead of giving hemp alone as an extra, give twice a week a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, linseed and millet. In the drinking water give six drops lemon juice and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and afterwards six drops of tincture of gentian and four of aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a fortnight. At the end of a month report result, referring to this reply, and give the particulars asked.

Care of Border. (A.B.C. Boy.)—(1) Yes, to prevent this waste give a staple diet of plain canary seed only, and every second day give half a teaspoonful of rape separately. Other items as previously advised. (2) It will do no harm at all to throw a light cover over the cage when the lights are put out at night during the cold wintry nights, and although not absolutely necessary, it will but be a safeguard against chills. Examine the cover each morning for any stray red mites, for which it will help you to form a trap.

Coming in Song. (Nemo.)—Although by no means as common as appears to be the case with you, it is still a very usual thing for cocks over a year old to remain silent a few weeks after moulting, and as long as they are robust and healthy there is no importance to be attached to this. At the same time there is nothing to fear if they come into song at once, though few birds will resume their full singing powers until the spring is approaching. To get them in song, cage separately, give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it, every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days give a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, maw, and gold of pleasure.

Injured (?) Foot. (Miss Putz.)—Assuming that the bird has not actually broken its foot by getting caught fast in the cage wires, you should bathe the foot for a few minutes in a quite warm concentrated solution of boracic acid. When quite clean and well bathed if the swelling appears to contain pus open it carefully with a quite clean needle, gently press out contents, again wash clean, dry, and anoint foot well all over with zinc ointment. If no pus appears to be present after first bathing, dry gently and paint with a feather dipped in Friar's Balsam. Repeat treatment daily in either case until swelling has disappeared. If, on careful examination, you consider the swelling to be a fracture, leave it severely alone. Its position precludes any useful interference. See that claws are not overgrown.

Moulting Again (W. J. L.).—See bird is not in a draughty position, nor exposed to extremes of heat and cold or the fumes of burning lights. Feed on a staple of three parts canary to one part summer rape. Give separately half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry mixed in it, and sprinkled with maw seed, every second day for a month. Twice a week on the alternate days give half a teaspoonful of hemp and three times a week a morsel of ripe banana, or green top of inner stalks of celery. A mealworm a day, if available, would also be very beneficial. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for two days; and after this six drops of tincture of gentian and four of tincture of steel every second day until the moulting is stopped. See that there are no red mites.

Wheezy and Mopy (Hairdresser).—See the bird is quite free from cold draughts and extreme fluctuations of temperature, and is not exposed to the fumes of burning lights. Keep it in a fairly warm place for the present, but do not overheat it. In addition to the usual seed diet, give it a morsel of bread, the size of a hazel nut, scalded with hot milk, drained, and sprinkled with soft sugar, every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days give a pinch of maw seed and a morsel of ripe banana. In the drinking water give six drops syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for three days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, six each of oxymel of squills and glycerine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, two days in every three for a week, and every second day for another fortnight, if necessary.

Order of the Bath. (Amateur.)—Unless the room is large, and has a good system of ventilation which will prevent the retention of steam when bath is in use, you might expect to find the birds quickly dropping in soft moult and going out of condition generally. You would find the subject fully dealt with in the early parts of "Our Canaries." For tightening up the birds, you should have said how you are now treating and feeding them. Try a small teaspoonful of a mixture of two parts each hemp, teazle, and millet, and one part each maw, inga, and gold of pleasure, three times a week, and in the drinking water six drops of tincture of gentian and four of tincture of steel, on the alternate days. A week or fortnight of this treatment should have the desired effect, if your other treatment is correct.

Limits of an Aviary (R. Miller).—To stand any chance of success you will have to considerably curtail your ideas of utilising the aviary. Its full capacity, not allowing for any breeding operations, is eight birds of average size, or, say, ten Rollers or Border Fancy. For breeding you should not put in more than one cock and two hens, and four or five nesting receptacles, not too near each other. It is not necessary nor advisable to have an equal number of sexes in such a case, and to include other seed-eating birds would simply be to make failure still more certain, unless you turned in hen Canaries and a Finch of some kind, and tried only for Mules. But to attempt both at the same time in this space means certain disaster. Even with only Canaries success is by no means assured, as they are too apt to spoil each other's plans by interference and squabbling. A much better plan would be to divide the aviary into four separate compartments of 2 ft. by 1 ft., keep a hen in each, and run one cock with two hens alternately next season, then running two cocks and four hens. But do not introduce any other birds.

A Weakling. (Hopeful.)—I suspect this youngster was the youngest of a brood hatched at intervals, and therefore never got a fair start in life. Keep her in a moderate-sized cage, and move her to a more comfortable temperature. But do not put her in a quite warm place, or it will throw her into moult again. Just keep her off the chilly, cold side, that's all, and free from draughts and extreme variations. Keep cage clean, free from red mites and well strewn with gritty sand. Feed on a staple of plain Canary only. Every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of summer rape, and on the alternate days a piece of bread the size of a hazel nut, soaked in cold milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion dropped on it, and sprinkled with maw seed. Twice a week give a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, millet, teazle, inga, and broken groats, and three times a week a morsel of green food, banana, apple, or raw carrot. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a fortnight. Report progress in a month.

Nut Singing (F. Green).—Treat bird same as advised "W. J. L.," and make yourself quite certain it is free from draughts and extremes of heat and cold. Keep it in a comfortable temperature, but do not overheat it. If the bird is fairly young, which I think may be unlikely, it should begin to sing in a month or so on the above treatment; but if it is an ancient one it may not recommence until the weather is getting mild in the spring.

A Suitable Partner. (A. S. Dexter).—The bird is not too old for breeding at five or six years. If healthy and active there is no reason why it should not breed very successfully. Mate it next season at end of March or beginning of April, if in condition, with a healthy, vigorous 1909-bred hen. If your bird is a yellow, get a buff hen, and if it is marked at all get a clear hen, and vice versa in both cases.

A Report. (C.J.U., Handsworth.)—Thanks for report. Am glad to hear bird is improving. Do not attempt to stop the moulting. Continue treatment previously advised, and keep bird just comfortably warm, and out of reach of all draughts, and let the moult follow the natural course now. If it should not have stopped in, say, another two or three weeks, follow the advice given "W.J.L." for a week or two. When the moulting is finished, and the bird well again, feed and treat it as advised to "Carte Blanche."

Mites in Sand. (Enquirer.)—I cannot quite understand from your description what the mites are, unless they are identical with those not infrequently found in leads, and similar damp situations. Are there any similar places, or water-butts, flower-pots, or boxes, in proximity to your cage? You might examine the cages and scrape out any joints or cracks to see if any red mites are there, and if so treat cages thoroughly as fully described in recent issues. If no red mites are discovered send along a sample of the sand containing these mites securely packed in small box and sealed with gummed paper for examination. Meantime spray inside of cages twice a week with a solution of one ounce of camphor in half-pint of methylated spirit.

Canary Sneezing (Beginner).—It is quite possible the bird had been improperly treated before you had it. Do not keep it too near the fire, nor over or near burning lights in the evenings. Aim at a comfortable and equable temperature. Keep cage clean and free from red mites. If available give a mealworm each day for a time if he will eat them. Give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake, with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry mixed in it every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days add to its drinking water 20 drops of whiskey, six each of glycerine and oxymel of squills, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together.

Husky Hartz Mountain. (Trilby.)—You certainly should not give cod liver oil as a practice, but only when required for some particular object. Feed as you will have seen frequently advised lately for Rollers in this column, and see that the bird is kept quite free from draughts, and is not pestered with red mites. Give a morsel of bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar every second day for a week, and in the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence every second day for a week, and in the following week 20 drops of whiskey, 10 of glycerine and a small chlorate of potash lozenge every second day. You should not keep cock and hen in the same cage at all, except during the breeding season, and then only in case you wish them to go to nest. It is quite the usual thing for the cock to go off song, partially or totally, when caged with hens.

Food for Canary (Carte Blanche).—As a staple diet a mixture of three parts Canary to one part summer rape. As a tit-bit once or twice a week give a pinch of a mixture of two parts each hemp, inga, millet and teazle, and one part each maw, gold of pleasure, linseed, and black rape. Once a week give a half teaspoonful of sponge cake crumbs, or plain crushed dry biscuit, and now and again as a special treat a morsel of bread soaked in milk, drained and sprinkled with soft sugar. In summer give green four or five times a week; at this season give a little three times a week when obtainable in good condition. At other times substitute a morsel of ripe banana, sweet apple, raw carrot, or even a tiny scrap of mealy boiled potato for groenstuff. This bill of fare will be quite extensive enough for all purposes. As a rule the less luxuries these pets get the better they are in health and condition.

Heating Bird Room (I.B.T.)—Whoever told you it was impossible to have Canaries in good show condition without heat was drawing the long-bow with a vengeance, or did not know what he was talking about. Read up the early parts of "Our Canaries" if you want to see what has been done in this direction. Everything depends upon the breeding. If they have been brought up under these artificial and enervating conditions you will have to heat the room for the winter. But if they have been bred in a normal temperature there is no reason whatever why they should not succeed without heat. You may let the appearance of the birds guide you in the matter. If you honestly believe they are running down in condition through cold by all means heat the room; the best means of doing so will be to instal hot-water pipes, with the boiler and furnace outside the room, under a separate cover for economy in fuel. If gas is available a portable hot-water coil would suffice, and perhaps be more convenient. If you apply heat, keep it as regular as possible between 50 and 60 degrees.

Losing Feathers, etc. (G.H.F.)—You ought to have said how you feed and treat the bird, and whether it has moulted in the usual course or not. See that it is quite free from red mites, and, if not, thoroughly eradicate this pest as described in detail many times just lately. If there are any bare places anoint them once or twice a week with sulphur ointment. Otherwise treat the bird for a month as advised to "Hopeful," and if not better, write again and give above particulars. Taming is too large a subject to deal with here. Briefly: the secret lies in a quite methodical manner, constant and devoted attention, unlimited patience, and dogged perseverance. Keep bird in moderate-sized cage where it will be near you as much as possible, talk to it, and offer it dainty tit-bits frequently, and carefully avoid making any sudden noises or violent starts and jumps. Be specially attentive just when the bird is about settling down to roost. With time and patience these tactics will succeed, but when birds are adult it is a slow and trying job.

Four in One. (Star.)—(1) No, you can do nothing for it. It is cataract, and quite incurable. (2) No, the Canary is of very good size plump, clean, and sweet, and a good sample, providing the bulk is not soiled by mice. I mention the latter because sample showed slight indications that this may be the case. No. 2 Canary is much thinner, not as well refined, and is consequently inferior to No. 1, if the latter is free from mice. The summer rape is a very fair all-round sample. The hemp is light, old, rancid, and consequently not fit for use. (3) The effect of the tincture of iron and quinine would be practically the same, but birds take it less readily, as a rule, than the citrate. Of course you could dissolve the citrate of iron and quinine in water and keep for use as required, but it will not keep good long. A better plan is to dissolve twopennyworth in one ounce of sherry, and give 20 drops of the solution when needed. This keeps good indefinitely. (4) The following dietary would be an improvement. Staple, plain Canary. Half teaspoonful of summer rape every second day. On the alternate days twice a week a small teaspoonful of a mixture of two parts each hemp, inga, millet, one part each teazle, black rape, and linseed, and a half part each maw, gold of pleasure, and yellow mustard. A little green food or fruit on the other days.

Yorkshires Ill (A. Morrison).—Your treatment is not very good. See also that the birds are not in an occasional cold draught, nor subject to extreme fluctuations. Keep in a fairly equable place, but not too warm, and see that red mites are not troublesome. Feed on staple of plain canary only. Every second day give separately half teaspoonful of summer rape. On the alternate days for a fortnight give a morsel of bread and milk, with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with maw seed. Twice a week give a small teaspoonful of mixture of hemp, inga, millet, and teazle, and three times a week a scrap of green food when fit for use, and at other times substitute a morsel of banana, carrot, or apple. Keep cage supplied with clean, gritty sand. In drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb, and a pinch of Epsom salts, every second day for a week, and in the following week give four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day.

Norwich Hen (Amadis).—Although the bird has a different cage it is quite possible for the mites to have become installed in it. Examine it carefully, and if necessary, thoroughly overhaul it, as frequently described of late. Allow her to bathe freely and anoint the bare places twice a week for a month with sulphur ointment. Give a morsel of bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar every second day for a month, and on the alternate days a pinch of maw seed. To the drinking water add 20 drops of whiskey, ten of lemon juice, and a pinch of Epsom salts, every third day for a month. If otherwise quite strong and healthy, there can be no objection to mating her next season. Select a large stout bodied clear buff cock with plenty of size in front of the perch, and a short tail as a mate for her.
